Odd Experience

BURGESSVILLE, Ont., December 29 (C.P.). — Rev. D. B. Cohoe, retired minister of this village, has had the unique experience of having officiated at the baptismal service, the wedding, and the funeral of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Singer. The deceased were formerly of Cornell and Hatchley.

On Friday Rev. Cohoe conducted the funeral service of the late John W. Singer. Three years before, he preached the sermon at the burial of Mrs. Singer. Approximately 49 years earlier he married the couple, and about 55 years ago he baptized Mrs. Singer, then Leaita Moore, and John Singer, in the Otter Creek, near Otterville.

Though Rev. Mr. Cohoe is retired, he is still active. For some years prior to his retirement he had charge of the pastorate of Springford and Otterville.

RECENTLY someone asked me to print some new games which one might play at a New Year's party.

* * * * * *

"Not the usual games; we want to play something different!" they said.

* * * * * * *

Just at the present time I do not know any games that are really new ones, but here are a few old ones which have not been played to any great extent, and which are being revived.

* * * * * * *

"Gossip" may be played about the dining-room table after dessert has been served. Grown-ups enjoy it as much as the kiddies.

* * * * * * *

One person whispers a bit of news to the neighbor on his right. The neighbor quickly turns to the one on his right and passes on the message or what he thinks he has heard, and so on around the group.

* * * * * * *

Of course, it is against the rules for anyone to ask to have the information given him repeated.

* * * * * * *

Then the last player states aloud what he has heard. Amusing variations of the first piece of news are often reported. Sometimes not a single word of the original statement is left.

* * * * * * *

"Up Jenkins" is a very old game which the younger gneration should not forget. This is played at the table after the cloth is removed. There should be from ten to twenty players, who divide into equal groups, with a captain for each.

* * * * * * *

One side has a small coin which they pass, or pretend to pass, from one to the other. They attempt to conceal from their opponents the final location of the coin.

* * * * * * *

The leader of the opposition cries, "Up Jenkins," and all the closed hands of the playing side are raised for inspection. At the command, "Down Jenkins," all the clenched hands are brought down to the table with a bang, the fingers opening as the hands strike the table.

* * * * * * *

The opposition then endeavors to guess under which hand the coin lies. Their leader, with suggestions from his team, orders hands raised, one at a time, from the table, leaving the hand they believe to cover the coin until the last.

* * * * * * *

If a mistake is made and this hand is ordered up too soon, points are counted against him. Every hand still on the table counts on point against the guessers and one point for the playing side.

* * * * * * *

Twenty-one points count as a game. The sides take turns in the possession of the coin, keeping account of their scores. No one may give orders for the raising of the hands except the captain, although he may take suggestions from his team mates.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

"DEAR MISS GLAD: I've been doing my own manicuring during the past few weeks, and the results are quite satisfactory. However, when I use clippers to trim the excess cuticle, I sometimes cut too deeply. Can you tell me how to keep such cuts from becoming infected?

"BOOTS."

To prevent a cut of the sort you mention from becoming infected, press the bleeding area with a piece of cotton that has been moistened with peroxide or dilute alcohol. Then apply a bit of white iodine to the cut. It might prove beneficial, also, to then cover the cut with collodion. This prevents the entrance of any germs ino the open area. If the wound is thus antiseptically treated, it will heal quickly.

"Dear Miss Glad: Through the excellence of the reducing routine outlined in your 'New Figure' booklet, I have succeeded in losing weight uniformly from every part of my body. I have lost 34 pounds in all, and certainly look much younger. My hips, however, are still out of proportion to the rest of my body, and I'd like to speed up their reduction. Do you think that a rubber girdle might help?

EX-TUBBY."

When used alone for reducing purposes, a rubber girdle probably would not have much effect on your weight. But when it is worn as a supplement to a well-planned reducing course, I think that a rubber girdle will help to remove excess flesh from the hips. Wear the girdle while you are vigorously exercising or taking long, brisk walks, as it is the induced perspiration that brings about the reduction. Be sure to wear a cotton or glove silk vest beneath the girdle to absorb the perspiration. Otherwise the girdle might irritate the skin and cause the formation of a rash. Wash the garment daily in warm water in which a bit of borax has been dissolved. Then pat it dry and powder it. This will help to keep the girdle clean and fresh.

Dear Miss Glad: I have a number of gray hairs in my head, and they detract quite a bit from my appearance. I've been thinking of using a henna to color these hairs, and was wondering if there is any difference in the sort of henna one uses. Could you enlighten me?

"MRS. K. C."

At present, there are two kinds of henna—the natural and the chemical. These two differ greatly in their activities. The natural, or pure, Egyptian henna, is a pure dye made from the leaves of the henna shrub. It is a harmless dye when properly used, and does not interfere with the natural gloss of the hair. The chemical henna, however, is composed of a number of chemical salts. It acts rather like varnish, forming a coating over the hairs, and the hair follicles. This is anything but beneficial to the health of the hair and scalp. Only the best and purest of dyes should ever be used on the hair. And a skilled and experienced operator should be engaged to do the work, if the best results are desired.

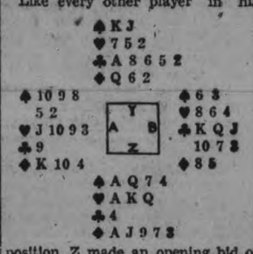
STUPID ALL AROUND

PLAYERS who should know better sometimes do very stupid things. The hand shown appeared in a recent duplicate match at the Knickerbocker Whist club. At the various tables some pairs made a small slam at no-trumps, some made a small slam at diamonds, and one table made five-odd at spades. What happened at one table was most peculiar, reflecting no credit upon any one of the four players.

Like every other player in his position, Z made an opening bid of 1-Diamond. A passed. Y bid 2-Clubs. B doubled. Z redoubled. Nobody attempted to change the declaration. Z's idea in redoubling was to drive either A or B into some declaration that could be doubled for something worth while, as A-B were vulnerable, and Y-Z were not vulnerable. Nobody can blame A-B for not shifting, but why Y did not shift into 2-Diamonds is hard to understand.



Of course B should not have doubled the 2-Clubs, as he has not prepared to double any shift of make, and his double was strictly a business one. He had no wish for his partner to bid, and his partner knew it, because B had not employed the expression, "I challenge," which is used at that club to request a bid from partner.

The opening lead was the 8 of hearts. Dummy won the trick. The declarer led a low diamond from dummy, towards the Q. The K won the trick for A. Seeing dummy should have warned A that the business double was based solely upon great length and strength in clubs, and A should have led the 9 of clubs That was the only possible way to beat the contract. A-B then would have won one diamond trick and five club tricks, putting down by one trick the doubled and redoubled contract. That was the one error chargeable to A, but it was a very serious error, giving Y game.

Instead of leading back a trump, A led back a heart, on the ground that the lead could do no harm, because dummy held solid tops in that suit and could win three heart tricks at any time.

The declarer made no attempt to lead trumps, of course. Instead of that the declarer took two spade tricks in his own hand. Then he took his Q of diamonds. Dummy won a third trick in hearts.

At the end of the seventh trick there had been taken from B's hand every non-trump card, leaving him only his six clubs, with which he had to win five tricks to defeat the redoubled contract.

A spade was led from dummy. A followed suit. The declarer discarded his last diamond, leaving him his five clubs only. B had to trump the trick.

Had B led his lowest remaining clubs, his partner's 9 either would have won the trick, or B would have been obliged to play his Ace, which would have given the remaining four tricks to A-B, thus defeating the contract. But B did not stop to think that his partner held one club, as Y plainly could hold only five clubs. B dashed out with his K of clubs, and in turn he led each of his four honors. Y won the fourth honor led, and his 8 won the last trick, just giving him two-odd.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

EAT FOODS RICH IN MINERALS AND VITAMINS DURING COLD WEATHER

If you are of average weight and find that you put on five or more pounds during the cold weather, don't let these few pounds give you any concern.

It is only natural that you should eat more food during the cold weather as that body of yours needs more fuel, more food to keep it warm. During the warm weather food must also be eaten to keep your body warm, but not as much is needed as you do not lose heat from the body so easily.

Another reason for eating more food in the cold weather is that you feel more like moving around, more like taking exercise. During the warm weather there is not the same desire for exercise.

Thus the cold weather makes you want to eat more food, and eat more of the rich foods—meat, rich desserts, and fatty foods.

As your appetite leads you to eat more food during the cool weather, the amount needed to keep you warm, and to supply that required by the extra exercise, is usually eaten without any thought on your part.

However one thing is apt to be overlooked and that is the need for vitamins and minerals.

Dr. L. Jean Bogert points out that the body needs just as much of the vitamins and minerals during the cold weather as at other seasons of the year, just at the time when the foods which supply the minerals and vitamins (fruits, vegetables, eggs, and butter) are especially scarce and high priced. For this reason many people get a reduced supply these necessary food elements in the winter months and often begin to show evidences of vitamin shortage by Spring (poor appetite and indigestion, decreased vigor and resistance to infections, pains in the legs and joints and so forth). These are the symptoms which formerly called for the "spring tonic," but now we know that it is better to get the tonic out of the grocery basket than from the drug store.

Dr. Bogert suggests that the following precautions be followed so that you'll be sure to get sufficient minerals and vitamins during the cold months.

(1) Use larger amounts of the few fresh vegetables and fruits available.

(2) Use larger amounts of canned or dried fruits and vegetables.

(3) Use larger amounts of whole milk and cheese, especially if eggs and butter are too expensive for the purse.

(4) Use some vegetables raw which usually are cooked.

(5) Use more whole grain products.

(6) Add a little vitamin in concentrated form if necessary, such as cod liver oil, tomato juice, oranges, bananas, and yeast extract.

"Gossip and Such"

(By "Mac.")

The Garden-Johnston-Carey-Sharkey combine has opened up and is blasting away right merrily on th Jacobs-Dempsey-Baer-Schmeling union along the Eastern Front where the pluguglies battle for glory and lucre. But the latter combination is sitting pretty, and as the "Boy Bandit" and the Garrulous Gob dig up the dirt and throw it around angrily and foolishly the old Manassa Mauler and his cohorts just chuckle to themselves.

James Joy Johnston, once known as the Boy Bandit, and later as the Wise Guy, is the matchmaker for Madison Square Garden. He has Sharky's contract, and was calmly sitting back waiting for Schmiling and his manager, Jacobs, to come to terms for another big titular thing in June. Just waiting for the plums to ripen and then pick 'em off....

But old Jawn Harrison Dempsey, who used to be quite a lad in the ring himself 'way back when a hundred grand was just chicken feed, pulled a fast one. He gets Max Baer's moniker on the dotted line and then goes into a huddle with Mr. Yussel Jacobs and Der Moxie Schmeling. And lo and behold! a surprised Mr. Carey, a startled Mr. Johnston, and an almost-speechless Mr. Sharkey read the sad words in the newspapers that it was Schmeling vs. Baer either 'n N' Yawk or Chi in June. Nice work, Promoter Dempsey!

Then came the blow-off. Jimmy Johnston was plenty riled at Dempsey, and also peeved at both Baer and Schmeling. He can't knock Baer much, as that lad is generally reckoned an outstanding contender. But both Sharkey and Johnston have come out flatly and stated that Schmeling was bothered by a saffron strip up his back at the idea of meeting the Gob again, that he is picking his spots, and that the Garden is all washed up with him for now and evermore.

The fact that Schmeling was fouled by Jac kin their first scrap can't be used against him, supporting the others' word that he's yellow. He didn't hesitate to tackle Sharkey in a return match, and clearly defeated him but for dumb — we wouldn't go so far as to say they had been bought with dirty dough — judges who ru'ed Sharkey the winner, thereby killing the fight game with a flock of good fans. Sharkey certainly fouled him, the Lithuanian being noted as a shady bird in the ring, as well as a squawker.

Johnston also takes a sock on his ex-friend Dempsey, saying he was afraid to fight Wills in his prime. This is the bunk. Rickard refused to make the match, and when other promoters defaulted, and these facts are on record and can be backed, Sharkey doesn't dare say Dempsey is afraid of him, as Jack climbed into the ring when he was nearly through and pasted the Gob so hard he was seasick the next day. Dempsey maintains he'll always be able to flatten the "mouthy sailor," claiming the latter hasn't the heart.

There you are, folks, just a bunch of nice boys talking it over in the only language they know. You pay your dough, and you take your choice. Personally, we wouldn't get hot under the neckband over any of these ham-and-eggers' squabbles, as there isn't a real champ in there throwing leather today, but he had to be boosted on to it, and he is carefully watched all the time so that he won't do a Brodie before some of the up-and-coming pugs.

• • •

Meantime, Der Moxie and the Yank Max will tangle in June, with Jack Dempsey promoting, and, we'll bet, making a good thing out of it, too. And Sharkey is sort of holding the well-known empty sack along with the Garden people. In fact, Mr. Carey is just a bit peeved in general with the so-called Wise Guy Jimmy Johnston, and we wouldn't be surprised shortly to see him eased out and replaced by either Jimmy Bronson or Tom McArdle.

VICTORY SENDS TIGERS INTO TIE WITH NIAGARA FALLS IN O. H. A. SENIOR "A" GROUPING

T.C.C. LOSES 7-5.

Galt, Brantford and Cataracts Mark Up Wins in Senior "B" Division.

(By the Canadian Press)

Marshaled by young Toe Blake, high-scoring centre from Sudbury's junior Wolves of a year ago, Hamilton Tigers are up in second place today in the senior O.H.A. race. Blake snared two goals in the Bengals' 3-0 win last night over Kitchener Empires.

The triumph sent Hamilton into a tie with Niagara Falls but Tigers have played one game less than the Cataracts and two less than the group-leading Toronto Marlboros. Cain got the other Bengal goal. Galt, Brantford and Niagara Falls marked up wins in the Senior B. division. The Terriers had to go 20 minutes overtime to down Hamilton Patricias 4-3 at Hamilton but Brantford drubbed Stratford Indians 6-0 and Niagara Falls tripped up Fort Erie 6-1.

Games Postponed

Only four of nine scheduled intermediate games were played. Contests at Barrie, Waterford, Port Dover, Watford and Orillia being postponed due to lack of ice. Point Edward marked up the most impressive victory, overwhelming Strathroy 9-1.

Glencoe won from St. Thomas 4-2, Harrison upset Palmerston 2-0 and Listowel defeated Arthur 5-3.

Toronto Canoe Club's flashy team put up a great battle against Toronto Marlboros before they succumbed after 20 minutes of overtime 7-5. The juniors staged a double-header here and in the first half of the bill Nationals won from Parkdale 1-0.

Other junior results were: Lindsay 3, Bobcaygeon 2; Oshawa 4, Danforth 3; Collingwood 4, Stayner 3.

SYRACUSE STARS TIE WITH TECS

Leaf Farm Hands Battle to 3-3 Decision With Windsor Bulldogs Last Night.

TORONTO, Dec. 29.—(CP)—Taking advantage of London Tecs' absence from the hockey wars, Syracuse stars today had crept into a tie with the Londoners for top position in the international hockey league.

A single point derived from a 3-3 tie with Windsor Bulldogs last night, gave the Stars the necessary total which entitled them to share first place with the team that dethroned them less than two weeks ago.

The Bulldogs took a first period lead of Roger Cormier's tally. Earl Miller tied it up in the second and Windsor moved ahead again on Jack Armour's lone scoring sally. Whitey Fields and Bill Thoms punched in quick goals in the third session to put Syracuse in the van for the first time but Roche's goal evened the count.

HONUS WAGNER, the great shortstop of the old Pittsburg Pirates, who is now a seller of hats in Pittsburg, assisted in the invention of the air brake.

In 1912 Honus made a fall-away slide into third while playing at Forbes Field. Max Carey, Dodger manager, tells the story that the chief of staff of the Westinghouse labs in that city, saw the slide, and from that gained the principle which made the air brake possible.

That slide was worth about $30,000,000 in three months, the income from the invention. Wagner didn't see it.

The famous short side football play, now a fundamental in grid-iron tactics, was discovered back in 1899 when Harold Weeks, a back on Columbia's eleven of that year, missed a signal, which called for a sprint around end.

• • •

Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers' hockey team, was probably the first hockey player to become a rushing defense man. He argued his directors into letting him try the play and it has become a great defensive measure since.

CANZONERI IS PICKED AS BEST IN FISTIC RING

Thirty-five Sports Writers Choose Italian in New York Sun Poll.

LEAD LAST YEAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (AP) — Fifty-five United States experts, making their choices in the annual New York Sun poll, to-day picked Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, for the second straight year as the best fighter for his weight and inches in the world.

Disdaining Max Schmeling, nominal king of the fistic realm because of his choice over champion Jack Sharkey as the outstanding heavyweight, as well as such a spectacular puncher as Jimmy McLarnin, the welterweight from Vancouver, 35 of the experts voted for Canzoneri while the remaining 20 split their ballots among nine men.

The ten men and the votes they received were:

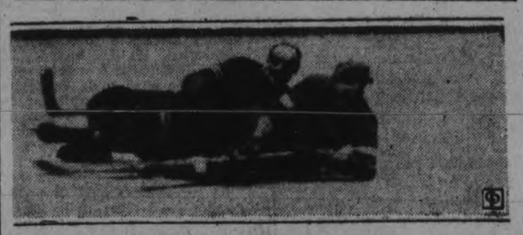
Tony Canzoneri, lightweight, 35. Max Schmeling, heavyweight; Billy Petrolle, lightweight; Mickey Walker, lightweight, each 4. Kid Chocolate, featherweight, and Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight, each 2. Max Baer, heavyweight; Baby Arizmendi, featherweight; Young Corbett, welterweight, and Midget Wolgast, flyweight, each 1.

Lead Last Year

Last year, when 64 votes were cast, Canzoneri led with 27, with Walker second with 21 and Christopher (Bat) Battalino, then featherweight champion, third with 6.

The highlight of the flashy little Italian's campaign during the past year was one-sided conquest of Billy Petrolle, in Madison Square Garden, in a match that showed Canzoneri, former bootpolisher on the streets of New Orleans, at the peak of his form. He is a brilliant boxer and a cutting, damaging puncher.

He dropped two decisions during the 1932 campaign, both disputed and both to Johnny Jadick in Philadelphia. He knocked out Lew Kirsch, Frankie Petrolle and Battling Gizzy, and won decisions from Ray Kiser and Harry Dublinski.



THEY'R EDOWN! — Burly Ching Johnson, Rangers, and Frank Carson, Red Wings, collide and fall in New York ice battle.

STEW ADAMS PLAY CENTRE

FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (C.P.)—Certain of starting 1933 at the top of the National Hockey League's international division, Toronto Maple Leafs, with a dash of old-age thrown into the "Kid" line, plan to consolidate their first position station tonight at the expense of Monreal Maroons.

In the last game here this year, the Leafs will be without young Charlie Conacher, bullet-driving right winger, who cracked up when he smashed into the boards at Chicago Tuesday night. It may be early in February before Conacher is back with Joe Primeau and Harvey Jackson on Toronto's heaviest scoring front line, so Boss Conny Smythe has effected a reorganization.

Darragh at Centre

Primeau and Jackson will team with veteran Harold Darragh against Maroons. Brought up from the Leaf farm at Syracuse, Stew Adams will play centre between Ace Bailey and Hal Cotton.

Ousted from second place two nights ago when Ottawa Senators passed them, Maroons also will try out a new forward. He is Earl Roche, high scorer of Windsor Bulldogs of the International League, who will replace Hugh Plaxton. The former Toronto Varsity Grads Olympic star is expected to go to Windsor.

Ottawa at aRngers

Pressing the Leafs hard, Ottawa takes on a tough assignment tonight when they meet New York Rangers in New York. The Senators held Lester Patrick's Blueshirts to a 2-2 tie at Ottawa in the first seasonal clash between the teams, but they may find Rangers a harder foe in Gotham, particularly as they can slip into first place ahead of Boston Bruins with the two points a victory would bring.

Detroit visits Montreal and the Canadiens in the other contest—a rubber. Canadiens hold a 1-0 win over the Red Wings, scored in Montreal, and Detroit got a 2-1 triumph over the Canucks at the border.

EIGHT TEAMS HOCKEY LOOP

Strong Possibility of East Seymour Hockey League This Winter.

PLAY DOUBLE-HEADERS.

BURNBRAE, Dec. 29 (Examiner Correspondence),—Whether prompted merely by the holiday spirit, or of more important significance, there is a strong possibility of an East Seymour Hockey League in the near future. Street-corner gossip links up as many as eight teams; those suggested are Hoards, English Line, Menie, Sixth Line, Brae "Bootleggers", Pethericks, Crow Bay and Stanwood. Of course some of these teams rather overlap, but it is expected that a good four-team league can be organized to play a double-header one afternoon or evening each week in Davidson's Arena if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the rink management.

The Menie and Hoards teams as lined up in former years are too strong for any of the other squads, but the proposed Sixth Line team comprising Oddie brothers, Hume, Hobbs, K. Milne, Craighead and Nelson and possibly one or both of the Whittons would give a well-balanced squad, leaving Menie and Hoards much weaker. Pethericks and Stanwood may amalgamate, but Crow Bay and English Line are doubtful. The Brae team could be organized only by encroaching on at least three other outfits, so is only a remote possibility. Shillinglaw, former Menie defence star, is the man behind the proposed English Line organization, and an enthusiastic booster of the league. Rev. F. G. MacTavish, pastor of Seymour charge of the United Church, believes that the proposed league would promote good, clean winter sport in the community and has offered his home for any meeting toward the formation of a league.

When Gloria Swanson filmed "Queen Kelly" as an independent producer and then refused to show the picture because it was not up to her usual standards she faced bankruptcy as a result of the failure. Gloria's credo demands that she keep up a "front" at all times and while she had been financially embarrassed several times during her career she has never consented to retrench on her lavish style of living This, because she contends that the spells of Hollywood go to those who appear the most prosperous. After the failure of "Queen Kelly" she borrowed $25,000 from Constance Talmadge to hire a private railway car for a trip to New York City.

Schmeling's Manager Presents Heated Reply to Sharkey's Statement.

AFRAID OF NO MAN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Gotham's fistic circles rocked dizzily to-day from the counter-blast turned on Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion, by Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling. Yesterday the Bostonian issued a scathing statement anent the ability and courage of the black-browed German which followed quickly on the heels of an equally scathing statement by James Joy Johnson, Madison Square Garden matchmaker.

Answering to-day, in several hundred words, Jacobs said "baloney" to Sharkey's declaration that Schmeling was afraid to meet him again. Jacobs contends the German heavyweight will meet Sharkey any time and anywhere except for the Garden, to which Sharkey is tied by contract.

Old Time Ballyhoo

The Greeks may not have a word for it, but the Americans certainly have, ballyhoo. The whole melange of statements, declarations and somewhat startling accusations undoubtedly belong under that heading. Anyway the fans are enjoying it and they make good reading. Jacob's verbal rights and lefts flew this way to-day.

"Sometimes called world's heavyweight champion, the truly forgotten man, Sharkey, has finally broken into print, via the man 90 per cent. of fistic experts still figure as champion heavyweight — Max Schmeling.

Sharkey's Statement Dictated.

"Sharkey is seldom referred to as the champion, yet he takes it on himself to rule out the man who will knock him out the next time they meet. True the story Sharkey sent out was dictated to him, but it had such a pleasant ring to it from the Sharkey angle, that the latter lost no time in issuing it."

"The story was dictated by none other than J. J. Johnston, old man poison himself. Mayhaps, after all, there is some truth to the oft repeated story that sinister Johnston did manage Sharkey into the championship. Now he is trying to keep him from losing it."

A Worthy Match

Referring to Johnston's statement that Schmeling signed to meet Max Baer because he was afraid of the Bostonian, Jacobs asks: "Why should Schmeling want to avoid meeting Sharkey. The night Sharkey was "declared" champion 90 per cent. of the newspapermen at the ringside thought the verdict was wrong. They were open in their denunciation of it.

"The real point to the matching of Baer and Schmeling, is that it was a match of its own worth. Far better than one with Sharkey. Anyway there was no chance of a bout with Sharkey because it is necessary to box under the promotion of the Garden, which I refuse to do. Sharkey can have his chance in September with Jack Dempsey as promoter."

As for him quitting, says Jacobs, Schmeling has never quit: he will meet any man in the world. As for Sharkey, in that respect, "I sat at the ringside and watched him quit to Dempsey," he concluded with a snort.

Johnston, answering the charge, said: "Jacobs is talking through his hat." The dapper Garden manager was interested in whether Jacobs had spelled his name right.

CUB STAR HAS BEST WIN MARK

Warneke Won Twenty-two Games and Lost Six for an Average of .786.

HUBBELL IS SECOND.

NEW YORK. Dec. 29.—Young Lonnie Warneke, the kid who almost won his World Series game against the Yankees, was the most effective pitcher in the National League this season, official pitching records released yesterday indicate.

Although he couldn't quite beat "Lefty" Gomez in that memorable second series game, Warneke did succeed in winning enough ball games to complete a better season than did his conqueror.

Gomez finished third in percentage standings in his league and twenty-third in earned run averages. Warneke, on the other hand, topped the National League in both these departments.

.786 Average

Warneke won 22 games and lost 6 for an average of .786 and had an earned run average of 2.37 per nine-inning game.

He also shared honors for the most shutout games, four; with Steve Swetonic of Pittsburg and Jerome "Dizzy" Dean of St. Louis.

"Dizzy" pitched the most innings, 286; faced the greatest number of batters, 1,203, and struck out the most players, 191.

John Pincus Quinn of Brooklyn, survivor of the now almost extinct race of spitballers, created a new record by finishing 31 games. This is two better than the old mark made in 1926 by Lloyd Davies of the Giants.

Carol Hubbell of the Giants was second in earned run averages with 2.50, while Wallie "Hock" Betts of Boston was third with 2.80. Steve Swetonic of Pittsburgh was runner-up in the percentages for games won and lost with .647, while Guy Bush, Chicago, was third with .633.

Ties League Record

"Wild" Bill Hallahan of St. Louis finally earned his nickname. He tied the league record for wild pitches in the twelfth frame against Brooklyn on May 11. The record had stood since May 10, 1903 when Jacob Weiner of Chicago let fly a similar number.

Paul Derringer kept wild pitching honors in St. Louis by throwing nine bad balls during the season. He also allowed the most runs, 133.

Van Mungo, Brooklyn, was the most consistent wild pitcher, allowing 113 bases on balls. Owen T. Carroll, Cincinnati, headed the losers' column with 19 defeats and at the same time hit nine batters to take that "honor" also.

Combination Attack Features 8-2 Win

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Dec. 29. — (C.P.)—The bewhiskered hockey axiom that a passing puck gathers goals came to mind to-day in reviewing the 8-2 victory to which McGill's team coasted last night over the men of Dartmouth. Five of the goals came from the smooth combination attack of the Montrealers.

The seven other victories the Big Red team had already scored this season were also largely due to co-ordination—free passing of the puck and unselfishness in goal-getting.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

To be quite frank, we're starting this colyum with grave doubts as to its ultimate outcome. For one thing, there doesn't seem to be anything to write about today. A little thing like that doesn't bother us as a rule, as we can generally pinch some of the ideas expressed by sportswriters of other papers, or maybe there's a letter or two in the day's mail for us. But what with sports just marking time till the basketball and hockey loops open up, nobody writing to us lately, and every other sports' scribe apparently just as void of ideas—well, we're on the spot.

* * * * * * *

Add to that a cold in the head, and you have a picture of a guy that feels low enough to walk into a dog kennel with a top hat on. It's bad, all right. Feeling kind of desperate, we called up a few fellows just to get a little sport dope. The first bird used to be quite prominent in several lines of athletics. We asked him what he thought of the Peterborough intermediates' chances this winter. "I don't know," he comes back, "where do they stand now?" And the schedule not even started.

* * * * * * *

Better luck with the second chap. Asked what we could use in today's pillar, he suggests discussing the new screwy O.H.A. rules. "Why do you think they're screwy?" he was asked, and right away we heard plenty. "Are they trying to put amateur hockey on a par with football?" this man wants to know. "That bodychecking potential puck receivers will kill the game, and maybe kill some of the young fellows, too. It's a different thing for the pro players or for senior amateurs, but it's N.G. for youngsters!"

* * * * * * *

He said he was glad that some of the local leagues (City League, C.G.E. Shop loop, and Southend circuit) had ruled against this for their schedules. He added that he wasn't fussy about the other new rulings either, small ice surfaces not speeding up the game much, in his opinion, as the bell-ringing was just transferred from around centre ice to the attacking zone for offsides. "And you should have two referees to handle the game properly," our friend states, "it would help the unemployed as well as hockey." What an idea!

* * * * * * *

Well, the game may be rougher this year, but the rules will stand till the end of this season, anyway. And the oldtimers who've been ankling around and making cracks about the daffodil-like sports of to-day compared with those of their youth soon won't even be able to convince themselves. Yeah, we string along with modern sports, figuring they're 'way ahead of the games of yesteryear. At that, hockey shouldn't be too rough once the players get hep to the newer rulings. There! we've been so interested over this matter, that the cold in the head was clean forgotten till a violent sneeze pretty nearly banged our brains out on the typewriter. Fortunately a sportswriter's head is thick. Meantime, the old colyum is about half full!

* * * * * * *

Upon inquiry concerning the boxing situation here, Dave Cowan of the Cowan A. C. said he'd probably run another show toward the end of January, meantime taking part in one or two outside Peterborough. "The fighters don't get the support they deserve," he informed us, "as some really good shows have been staged, with those present going away more than pleased and more than getting their money's worth. But not enough attend to keep the club out of the red. There is all kinds of promising material here, and we'd give them plenty of real cards if they'd attend. The town is full of fight fans who wouldn't pay a quarter these days to see Tunney stage a comeback with Sharkey!" We couldn't get hold of Gord Garwood of the Alpha, but doubtless he'd speak along the same lines.

* * * * * * *

Thirteen of the intermediate lacrosse players are sporting brand new leather windbreakers, a souvenir of a great lacrosse year for the Petes. The boys had to kick in about twenty-five per cent as the club finances wasn't enough to cover the purchase. Soft black leather, trimmed with red, and with a crest bearing the letters P.L.C. in white, also trimmed with red—it is a smart jacket. Obtained through the Teco store here. The team also should have had a group photo made.

* * * * * * *

Color and fight, we've often argued, are just as important for a team to possess as natural ability. And they're what brings the fans back time and again, whether the team is winning or losing. It's true of hockey, baseball and almost any game. Reading a piece lately concerning McGraw recalls the story of him when he was at the peak of his belligerency. His habit of flaring up into vocal or physical battles at the slightest provocation, plus the driving fighting spirit he instilled in his players, packed the parks wherever the Giants used to play. Umpires, opponents and fans all hated McGraw and the Giants, but they were one of the greatest drawing cards in the game.

* * * * * * *

Another pet hate of the fans was the fiery Georgian, Ty Cobb, and Detroit teams haven't drawn much since he quit baseball. He and Ruth had a bitter feud for years, and he and the whole Athletics' team fought on sight. And what about scrappy hockey players like Sprague Cleghorn, Coutu, Lalonde, etc.? Although the N.H.L. has seen a few good fights so far this season. Some fans ask for straight hockey or baseball, but it isn't long then before the crowds start dwindling. And severe penalties have tended to curb the fights of other days in both games—consequently sporting magnates are getting bald worrying about small gates, and players are yelling over big cuts.

$12,000 Gift Puts New Pep Into Manchester United

Machester United of the second division owes its very existence to a benefactor, who, when the club was in sore straits in the close season, advanced $12,000, put some heart into the management, and now the team is climbing to former glories. Scot Duncan, the manager, bought four Scotsmen, including Brown, Chalmers, Frame, and Stewart, and matches are now being won regularly. Stewart is not in the picture as he only united a couple of weeks or so ago. Brown played in United States and Frame was with Cowdenbeath. Manchester United used to be in the first division and possesses one of the finest grounds in the world, at Old Trafford, near the county cricket ground. Reading from LEFT to RIGHT the players of Manchester United Football club, 1932-33 are: Back row—Mr. A. Scot, Duncan, manager, Spence, Frame, Moody, Reid, Manley, J. Pullar, trainer. Sitting—MacKonald, Brown, Chalmers, Silocck, Ridding, Gallimore, Warburton, Pitton. On ground—Mellor, Vincent, McLenahan, Jones.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

WAS JOHNNY CHUCK DEAD?

Peter Rabbit wished he never had thought of entering Johnny Chuck's house. He wished that Sammy Jay never had put it into his head to want to see Johnny Chuck asleep for the winter. But for this he would have been satisfied to enter Johnny Chuck's house only far enough to escape from Bowser the Hound. He never, never would have thought of keeping on his way down to Johnny's bedroom. But Sammy Jay had put it into his head, and curiosity had done the rest. He had gone down to Johnny Chuck's bedroom and he had found Johnny Chuck curled up there in his bed. But there had been something very queer about Johnny Chuck. He hadn't wakened when Peter had touched him. Peter had such a queer creepy feeling that he had hurried back to doorway of that house where he could see and hear Bowser the Hound and feel that things were just as he always had known them.

Peter resolved that just as soon as Bowser went away he, Peter, would hurry home to the dear old Brier Patch and never again would he enter uninvited anybody's house. But as he waited for Bowser to grow tired and go away he kept wondering about Johnny Chuck. Curiosity kept urging him to go back for another look.

"Of course," thought Peter, "to sleep all winter anyone would have to go very, very sound asleep indeed, but still I can't imagine anybody not waking when they were pushed the way I pushed Johnny Chuck It doesn't seem to me natural. Besides, now that I think of it, Johnny felt queer. I—I—I wonder if it can be that Johnny Chuck is dead?"

The idea that Johnny Chuck might have died down there in his bedroom took possession of Peter. He couldn't, think of anything else Finally he just had to go back to make sure. He found Johnny just as he had left him. Johnny hadn't moved so much as a hair. Peter called him softly, but Johnny didn't answer. Peter stamped with all his might. Many times he had warned Johnny Chuck of danger by stamping like that. Johnny remained just as he was, curled up in his bed. Peter listened for the sound of breathing, but there was none. Neither could Peter hear or feel Johnny's heart beat. More than all this Johnny felt strange to the touch. He felt cold. To touch him gave Peter an uncomfortable feeling. Finally to make quite sure Peter struck Johnny Chuck sharply.

"Wake up! Wake up!" he cried.

Johnny didn't wake up. Johnny remained just exactly as he had been. Then Peter Rabbit softy tiptoed away. Why he tiptoed he didn't know seeing that he hadn't been able to waken Johnny Chuck in spite of all his efforts. On Peter's face was a worried look. When he reached the doorway he found that Bowser the Hound had given up and left in disgust. Peter hopped out into the sunshine with a little gasp of relief. Then he turned and looked back at Johnny Chuck's house and his forehead was all wrinked with perplexity. Was Johnny Chuck dead? Was that just his cold lifeless body down there? It seemed so, and yet supposing it wasn't so. Peter wished he knew.

You are a person of great moral and spiritual strength People turn to you for help, but seldom do they try to take advantage of you. You are honest, straightforward, understanding, forgiving and loving. You would seem to have a message to give to the world. You would go far in the ministry or in any type of work wherein you cou'd devote your efforts to benefitting mankind.

If December 29th is your birthday, you are a person who is held in high respect and esteem by those who work for you, as well as by those with whom you come in contact in business dealings You are inclined to be a bit backward about pushing yourself. Do not stay too much in the background. The world needs people like you and you belong out in the swirling currents and eddies of life. You are constantly seeking to express yourself in some artistic form. You should be able to write. If you do not yourself play some instrument, at least you derive much pleasure and enjoyment from hearing good music. If you are to advance yourself far in this more or less turbulent world, you will probably find it necessary to cultivate a slight degree of worldliness. You have many friends.

TECHNOCRATS WOULD DIVIDE 'PROFITS' BY MEANS OF TOKENS

But Noted Scientists Scout Conclusions of Theorists.

ENERGY FOR COIN.

(By Bonita, Witt, Central Press Canadian Writer.)

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 29.—Conclusions of Technocrats, whose language is proving just so much complicated jargon to thousands of persons, are being contested by the presidents of two of the larger technological schools in America.

Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, and Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, both assert that man, not the machine, will conquer.

"The development of machines is an inevitable result of man's inherent urge for progress, whose satisfaction is an important element in his happiness," says Dr. Compton.

"I do not know whether civilization will be destroyed, but if it is destroyed, the blame will rest on man's stupidity and cussedness and not upon the machines which he creates."

Human Aspirations Lost

Dr. Wickenden outlines the theory of the technocrats, then proceeds to point out that it takes no account of human aspirations in spite of its statements that our mechanical energy should provide for each man an approximate income of $20,000 a year with a four-hour day and a four-day week. That is the Eden the technocrats say we could have. They add:

Instead of applying our newfound energy to a distribution of this mechanical wealth, we continue to endeavor to go forward individualistically, with those controlling the energy trying to garner all the returns. And, since production can be determined only by buying or trading power, those controlling the energy merely are piling a mass of machines and debt on people virtually enslaved because they do not share in the benefits of the machines.

To share in the benefits of the machines, the Technocrats would not have the present system of price and purchase, but would issue tokens to persons entitled to share in the products of the machines. These tokens, based on energy, would be used as currency.

Stripping the statements of Howard Scott, chief of the Technocrats, of their newly-coined and unfamiliar terms, we find, simply, that production has increased much more rapidly than population, but that available energy (machines) has gone way beyond production.

In short, in the past century, man's use of outside energy has increased his usefulness 750-fold. One man to-day, with machines, can do the work of 750 men of 100 years ago.

"Now," says Dr. Wickenden, "we suddenly have come to a point where we are prepared with knowledge and machinery to provide everybody with a decent percentage of comfort.

What Stands in Way

"Technocrats contend that the available workmen in this country, employed four hours a day, four days a week, could supply every normal want of the population with commodities ranging from homes and automobiles to the most elaborate foodstuffs and apparel.

"Technocrats believe that what is keeping every one of us from getting the advantage of this possible abundance is the system of prices and values which we have built up on the gold basis. In the past the economic world has gone on the supposition that what mattered most was giving the next generation ahead of us a better living than we enjoyed. If folk had a dollar the idea was not to spend it but to keep it and invest it in increasing means of production. Society was most concerned in increasing its capacity to produce and saving was a moral virtue.

"Gold as a basis of value was useful in an era of economic scarcity.

"Now we have come to a time when the problem is not to save but to find a use for what we produce. Technocrats believe that to meet it we must change our system of measuring values and distributing the products of production. They assure us this new condition is not a matter of choice but inevitable."

In a recent speech Scott maintained, "It is an interesting question whether this system can go on creating debt. If it can it has a little lease on life. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is trying to keep the omnibus moving. The going has been good up to now. But technology has caught up with the debt method of wealth creation. We are faced, in the near future, with a situation in which employment will decline, the substitution of machine for man energy will go on, and in which the creation of debt can go little farther. So, the sooner we consign the debt method to the ash can, the better it will be for all of us.

Energy for Coin

Dr. Wickenden further explains: "The Technocrats would substitute energy for coin as a measure of value. They would distribute things that are produced by issuing script or tokens instead of money to the persons entitled to a share. Just how this share is to be determined the group never has explained. If society is reorganized on this basis then all of our man-power will have to be set to its task."

Concerning technocratic currency Scott explains, "It would be in units of measurement and not of value. It would not be transferable. It would be valid for two years because that is the time it takes on this continent for a balanced load of continental operations. The individual would not be compelled to spend this currency in two years, but if he didn't spend it it would be null and void."

Dr. Wickenden believes that technocracy is based upon a non-political Fascism which would mobilize the working capacity of the country. But Technocrats have left out the human elements, man's aspirations and desires—and these may govern the world of the future as in the past, Dr. Wickenden believes.

Christmas Entertainments

BETHANY TOWN HALL.

BETHANY, Dec. 28 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Christmas festival of St. Mary's, Lifford, and Trinity Church, Marsh, Manvers Parish, was held on Friday evening in the Town Hall, when the stage was prettily decorated for the occasion and a large Christmas tree held a gift for every scholar.

The evening was spent socially, and at six o'clock tea was served. The long table occupied one side of the hall and was attractive with white linen cloth, brass candleholders with red candles and centrepiece holding a Christmas tree.

Games were played, and prior to the commencement of the short program a Quaker scramble was held. The following numbers were heartily enjoyed: Chorus by the school, supervised by Mrs. Carscadden; monologue, Albert Drumm; recitation, Miss Yvonne Rowan; mandolin accompaniment to a cowboy song by Bert Casey; solo, Lawrence Staples, "My Task"; devotional serving song; monologue, Douglas Smelt, winner of a special prize for exemplary attendance at Sunday School of fifty-one Sundays, donated by the superintendent; dialogue, four boys; duet, Bert Casey and Karl Monk on guitar with violin accompaniment; recitations, Doreen Smith; solo, Lawrence Staples, "The Old Rugged Cross."

The treasurer's report for St. Paul's Sunday School showed a balance of $60 from collections for the year, which is very gratifying to the superintendent's faithful interest in the school.

FORSYTHE SCHOOL.

Disagreeable as Wednesday evening was, the Forsythe School was fairly well filled on Wednesday for the pupils' entertainment, under the direction of their teacher, Mr. Higgins. There were songs and recitations, as usual; a pretty flag drill by nine girls; a playlet, "The Scarlet Bomb"; exercises, and a pageant of the "First Christmas Day."

LIFFORD LINE

BETHANY, Dec. 28 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Christmas concert which marked the closing of the Lifford School for the Christmas vacation was held recently under the supervision of the teacher, Miss Vera Trimble, when the following numbers were given: recitations, Bruce White, Ruth Medland and Marjory Page; solo, Lawrence Staples; recitations, Agnes White and Marguerite Neals; recitation, Miss V. Strachan; duet, Roy and Agnes White; dialogue, recitation, Edward Neals; recitations, Roy White and Mae Mulligan; recitation, Audrey Mulligan; chorus, recitation, Mary White; monologue, Walter White; song by four pupils; monologue, Gerald Mulligan; chorus; chairman's address, followed by the distribution of gifts from the Christmas tree.

Y.P.S. Concert

The members of the Y.P.S. of the United Church held a Christmas concert on Wednesday evening when the hall was comfortably filled and the proceeds amounted to $25.

The concert was prepared under the supervision of the Missionary convenor and for the first time the new slide lantern was used. The pictures showed views of life in the far north among the Indians. The first number on the program was a pantomime, Hark the Herald Angels Sing, by Pauline Thorndyke, Madeline Whiteside, Mary Thompson and Dorothy Fallis; solo, George Fallis; playlet, The Village Choir, Vincent Jackson, Arthur Patterson, Misses Evelyn McKinnon, Frances McKinnon, Margaret Jackson, Miss H. Jackson acting as pianist and Carleton Patton, Norman Neals and Bruce Beer assisting. The Grandmother was taken by Miss Tanner who sat and knitted and rocked while the young people practiced and a story was told by a designing widow, much to the disgust of the Grandmother; quartet, Ted Welsh, Marsden Thomas, Misses Betty and Dillas Thomas; solo, Mrs. Scott, with Miss Helen Patton at the piano; wand drill, Pauline Thorndyke, Madeline Whiteside, Irene Weatherilt, Helen Rowan, Lorraine Jackson, Letty Vanderaygt, with Miss Tanner playing suitable drill music and was highly commended by the chairman, Rev. Mr. Scott.

A dialogue entitled, A Merry Christmas After All, was given by Mansell Wright, Lawrence Steer, Bruce Beer, Viola Gray, Clara Beer and Evelyn McKinnon; piano solo, Helen Patton, with encore.

FAIRMOUNT CHURCH

FAIRMOUNT, Dec. 28 (Examiner Correspondence) — The annual Christmas entertainment was held recently in Fairmount Church when G. Staples with his boys and girls gave a splendid program.

G. H. Hooton was chairman for the evening and called on Edward Ballantyne for the opening speech. A chorus by the school was followed by several good recitations and a duet by Cleve Gallagher and Roger Hanbidge. Other numbers included a dialogue, Uncle Hiram's Cold, by Jean Hanbidge, Jack Fair, George Kerr, Verna Belle Turner and Betty Allin, Jack Hooton taking the part of Uncle Hiram. A violin duet was given by G. Staples and H. McArthur accompanied by Mrs. McBain at the piano. Rev. S. H. Moyer gave a short speech, followed by a duet, On the Dreamy Otonabee, by Illean and Maurice Gallagher, accompanied by Mrs. A. McBain; recitations, dialogue, The Train tomorrow, Jack Fair, Maurice Gallagher and Jimmie Kerr; chorus by the school; violin duet, Staples and McArthur; dialogue, Farm for Sale, Harold Hooton, Morley Allin and Helen Earle; chorus by the school; recitations, dialogue, Mildred Ballantyne, Helen Earle, Illean Gallagher and Edna Morrison; chorus by the school.

Santa Claus arrived and after a few congratulatory remarks about the pretty Christmas tree, distributed the gifts, with the help of four girls.

ZION SCHOOL

The annual school concert of S. S. 13, Otonabee, was held the evening of December 22, at Zion Hall.

On the completion of the children's program, entertainment was provided by the young people of the community in their presentation of the "1932 Zion Minstrel Show." Interspersed with orchestra selections and "nigger wit," the young people showed their dramatic ability in two dialogues and one charade. The reward for discovering the hidden word "pseudo," of the charade was won by Tom Thomson.

Step dances by E. Orde, songs by C. Swan, and accordion selections by Harold Nurse, were well received by the audience.

A vote of thanks, moved by F. Greystock, and seconded by Mr. J. Jackson, extended to Miss Stalker, the pupils and the young people.

RESIDE IN DARTFORD.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Dec. 29.—Among the oldest and most respected residents of Percy Township are Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bailey of Dartford, who on Saturday, December 24th, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Ewing, which was at that time the parsonage. Mrs. Annie McCracken and her husband, the late James McCracken, were present at the wedding, going in sleighs, as cars were not thought of at that time.

From this union there were four sons: Marvin, Norman, Arthur and Floyd.

Marvin and Arthur served overseas, the latter being killed in action; Floyd was killed when only a young child.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sprung, Morganston; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Honey, Penella; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kelly, H. C. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Kelly and Patricia, Mrs. Annie McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. William Potter, Warkworth, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Copperthwaite and daughters Elsie, Jean and Barbara, Miss Lillian Copperthwaite, Miss H. Runnalls, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCracken, and Isobel, of Dartford.

Besides many beautiful gifts, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey received over 80 cards of best wishes and congratulations, from their many friends.

HAMILTON for Alderman

To the Electors:

The taxes paid to the city on the property that I own amounted to over $3,600.00 this year. Much of this property is unproductive at the present time, and naturally I do not want to pay any more taxes than I have to, and will endeavor as much as possible to keep the taxes down. This fact and my eight years experience in the council are good reasons why you should

Mayor Denne's Address To The Electors

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

In offering myself as a candidate for re-election to the Mayoralty, I am yielding to the request of large numbers of citizens who have urged me to do so. I am deeply appreciative of the honor they have done me and the confidence they have shown in me by their desire that my services should continue to be available.

It is not a particularly pleasant task to be at the head of affairs in times like these, and I realize the fact that next year is likely to be an unusually trying one. However, if this community feels that I am capable of rendering useful service in a period of stress, I am willing to do what I can to bring Peterborough safely through. I was born here; I have lived all my life here; my interests are and always have been here, and my chief ambition has ever been to make this a better, a more prosperous and more thriving city.

It has never been my practice to make extravagant promises; I am not going to make any now. My record as a servant of the people is before you; if you are satisfied with that record and satisfied that I have made an honest and diligent effort to contribute something to the betterment of this community and accordingly return me to office. I pledge myself simply to carry on as I have done during the past five years, seeking to improve Peterborough in industrial opportunities, in appearance, in living conditions, and in all else that goes to make a city worth living in and to exercise every economy consistent with maintaining the efficiency of necessary services and of making adequate provision for those who are unhappily victims of the serious unemployment situation.

With the whole-hearted co-operation of the City Council, progress along those lines has, I feel, been made during my term, and the added experience and closer acquaintance with the details of all branches of municipal activity that five years in office have given me are factors that should increase that progress.

The issue is in your hands, and I am content to leave it there.

May I, in closing, be permitted to wish all citizens of Peterborough a happy New Year, with the hope that ere another twelve months have gone the clouds of depression will have passed and this city will have felt the impulse of returning prosperity.

Sincerely yours,

Roland Denne.

Alderman

My Policy

Brought out by a large number of taxpayers as a candidate for Alderman, I have promised and am committed to a definite platform of rigid economy, with efficiency.

Taxes must be lowered to the citizens' capacity to pay, or disaster will result.

A square deal to all alike. If we cannot give the people work, then no one shall go hungry.

Season's greetings to all.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—In a quick recoil from new record low prices, grain markets the world over rescued themselves yesterday from effects of Argentine and Canadian distress selling. Evidence that United States grain-growers were withholding supplies to an unprecedented extent did much to bring about price rallies. Receipts of wheat at chief domestic centres were shown to have been curtailed yesterday to the smallest total this season, and arrivals of corn in Chicago were almost nil.

Before the price rallies, however, urgent pressure of Argentine wheat for an outlet in Europe swept the Liverpool market down to a fresh historic depth for quotations on wheat future deliveries in Great Britain, with Chicago May and July wheat contracts likewise reaching an all-time record low. Simultaneously May and July outdid season bottom records.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as Tuesday's finish to ⅝c higher, corn unchanged to ⅜c up, oats ¼c off to ¼c advance, and provisions varying from 2c decline to an equal gain.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—A fractional decline in butter provided the main feature of the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Light offerings sent No. 1 finest grass make down ¼c at 21½c a pound for carlots or less. Receipts were only 57 boxes.

Eggs in carlots or less held firm, while prices to retailers were irregular. Fresh extras in carlots or less were quoted at 33c to 35c, firsts at 29c to 31c and pullets at 27c to 28c a dozen. Storage extras were firm at 21½c to 22c, as were firsts at 19½c to 20c and seconds at 18c to 18½c a dozen. To retailers fresh specials and extras in cartons both lost a cent. Firsts and pullets were unchanged, while fresh seconds, storage extras, storage firsts and storage seconds were up 1c. Receipts were 352 cases.

Cheese was unchanged at 8¼c to 8½c for current Ontario white, 9½c to 9¾c for current Ontario colored, and 10½c to 11c a pound for Ontario early season. Receipts were 30 boxes.

Potatoes held steady at 85c to 90c for New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 90-lb. bag.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Dec. 29—Local buyers of eggs rearranged their prices to country shippers yesterday, and the result was lower levels on the top and low grades, and steady levels on those grades in between. The changes also gave a new list to retailers, who found some grades higher and the others unchanged.

Country shippers were quoted 27c to 28c for extras, 24c to 25c for firsts, 19c to 20c for pullet extras, and 17c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Brokers' prices were steady with those quoted on Tuesday, but wholesalers' quotations to the trade were slightly different at 36c to 37c for extras in cartons, 34c to 35c for extras loose, 30c to 31c for firsts loose, 26c for pullet extras loose, and 22c for seconds loose, with storage eggs at 28c for extras, 26c for firsts, and 22c for seconds.

Poultry

The new poultry lists contained few changes. Geese were off altogether, and the heavier-weight ducklings were quoted easier. Prices on chickens, hens and turkeys were the same as quoted last week.

Butter

Trade in creamery solids was not active, and prices were steady on the brokers' market at 21c to 21¼c for No. 1, and 20¾c for No. 2, with Western makes at 21¼c to 21½c, delivered, Toronto. Prices to the trade were unchanged at 24½c for No. 1 prints and 24c for No. 2.

Cheese

New makes of cheese were not plentiful, and prices were steady at 10c for large, 10¼c for twins, and 10½c for triplets. To the trade, prices were steady at 11c for new large, 11¼c for new twins, 11½c for new triplets, and 13½c for new Stiltons.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, December 29. — Limited selling during most of the session on the Grain Exchange, followed a brisk spell of export buying and wheat prices steadied yesterday to close ¼c to ¾c higher. No figure was available for foreign sales, but it was believed a substantial business was done from both seaboards. December closed at 40¾c, May at 42¼c, and July at 43¾c.

Heavy arrivals of wheat in Britain went into consumptive channels and stocks were not increased. Liverpool suffered fractional losses. There were reports of larger Argentine offerings there, but no particular demand dveloped.

A report from Italy that the quota of ofreign wheat permitted to be milled there has been raised to 15 per cent. confirms the gradual absorption of native supplies.

Spreads on all grades of cash wheat and coarse grains remained practically unchanged, and sales were again insignificant.

Caretaker Advises Parents Ice is Very Dangerous in the Park.

Carried under the ice by the strong current of the creek at Jackson Park Thursday afternoon, James Gibbons, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbons, 314 Frederick avenue, was rescued from drowning by his brother and three other boys.

From R. L. Orde, caretaker of the park, it was learned that while playing on the ice one of the boys lost his hockey stick which dropped through a hole. Young Gibbons tried to retrieve it, and in doing so the ice broke under him, and in a moment the swift water swept him under the firmer ice.

"Jimmy's younger brother and the other school boys", Mr. Orde told The Examiner, "succeeded in breaking the ice in the direction Jimmy had been carried down stream. They quickly found him and puled him out not much the worse of the danger he had just gone through except that his clothes were soaked, and he was chilled and frightened.

Almost Perished

The boys came up to the house, and Jimmy asked me if I would telephone to his mother to come after him. He looked almost perished and he was bleeding from a cut on one eye. I changed his clothes and put dry ones on him, gave him a hot drink and sat him on a well heated cushion at the

LOST STEAMER REACHES PORT

Craft With Crew of 30 Take Three Days for Trip, Detroit to Buffalo.

DELAYED BY FOG, ICE.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 30. (AP)—Emerging out of a heavy fog which delayed her passage almost two days, the steamer F. B. Squire, out of Chicago with a crew of 30, was sighted off the break wall of Buffalo harbor shortly after 10 a.m. to-day.

First word of the approach of the Squire, which had been unreported since clearing from Detroit Tuesday for the 24 hours passage to Buffalo, came from coast guardsmen who reported a vessel blowing about five miles off shore. Tugs were imediately dispatched to convoy the vessel and shortly afterwards the Flotilla rounded the breakwall.

The Squire started the passage down the lakes December 17 after navigation aides had been removed but was forced to tie up at Port Huron, Mich., four days later because of ice. Moderate weather of the past week broke up the ice and the vessel was ordered to make another attempt to reach Buffalo. After clearing from the Detroit River, however heavy fog was encountered and the vessel was forced to proceed at a snail's pace. Yesterday tugs were ordered out from Windsor Ont., to search for her.

Brooding of Soldier Over Demotion From Sergeant to Private Blamed.

FORT HUACHUCA, Ariz., Dec. 30—(AP)—The brooding of a Negro soldier over his demotion from sergeant to private was advanced today as a possible motive for the Negro slaying of two U. S. army captains and their wives at this historic post.

Another white officer was wounded late yesterday before the soldier was shot and killed by a Negro corporal of the Provost Guard. Although the official statement suggested no motive, the investigating board of officers was emphatic in stating "no breach of discipline" was involved.

The dead:

Captain Joseph R. Wessely, 45, of San Antonio, Tex., 25th infantry, assistant to the post quartermaster. Mrs. Wesley, wife of the slain officer, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Captain David A. Palmer, 42, of Beverly, Mass., in command of Company M., 25th infantry.

Mrs. Palmer, wife of Captain Palmer, the former Miss Mary Lowden of Dedham, Mass.

Temporarily Insane

"No motive for the crimes is known to the officers at Fort Huachuca, but Abernathy undoubtedly was suffering from temporary insanity", said an officer's statement. "He was employed at the filling station on the military reservation.

4 CANDIDATES FOR UTILITIES DISCUSS VIEWS

The Examiner Secures Interviews From Candidates For Commission.

LITTLE CRITICISM.

All Pledge to Give Full Attention to Commission's Business.

In order to give the citizens some idea of the program that each of the four candidates may adopt in the councils of the Utilities Commission, if elected, The Examiner yesterday interviewed the four candidates.

E. R. Shirley, who is seeking re-election to the Commission, pointed out the enviable record of the Commission during the time that he has sat upon it. All departments have been operating most efficiently he states, and rates have been consistently reduced wherever possible.

The other three candidates—E. G. Patterson, John J. McCabe and E. Bruce Fowler—do not attack the past management of the Utilities Commission but pledge themselves to give full attention to the Utilities' affairs in an endeavour to reduce rates. Mr. Patterson stated definitely his belief that economies can be made when the Utilities business is given proper study and the efficiency bettered in some instances.

E. B. FOWLER, former member and chairman of the Board of Education, stated that he was a native of Peterborough and had always the interests of the city at heart. In offering himself for election to the Utilities Commission, he considered that his services might be of value to the users of the utilities.

"I have no criticism to offer of the Utilities Commission or any individuals," he said, "but I consider that the utilities could be operated on a more economical basis without decreasing the efficiency in the least I am not pledging myself to any fixed platform except that if elected I will conscientiously serve the users of the utilities as their representative on the Commission, while using every endeavour to institute more economical methods."

JACK McCABE, 293 Burnham Street. In accepting nomination for the Utilities Commission I wish to say frankly that if elected I would be only one of three members of the Commission. Therefore I shall not make any large pro-

Verdun a Disaster, Not a Victory—French Losses Were Heavy.

REBELS SLAUGHTERED.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

PARIS, Dec. 21—How the Allies came within a hair's breadth of losing the war is shown by the newly published accounts of the secret sessions of the French parliament in wartime. These revelations, without question the most sensational documents that have come out of the mysterious archives of the big capitals, have thrown official Paris and especially the general staff into consternation. Verdun no longer appears as a tremendous victory, but as a terrific disaster which cost the French twice, if not three times as many men as the Germans. All the evidence is from authentic sources and cannot be disputed.

Pierre van Paassen

At one moment, the French army was so completely exhausted and the poilus so convinced that no victory was possible that there was but one single division between Paris and the front line on which the government could rely. One hundred and sixty regiments had mutinied and were ready to quit the line and march back on Paris to demand peace. It was only the

Beautiful Children

Prominently displayed in the main show window of The Roy Studio is a delightful series of photographs of Peterborough's beautiful children. This display of child portraiture has been an annual feature at Christmas time of this well-known studio for over twenty-five years. It is an interesting study, furnishing as it does a yearly cross section of the child life of the community. Peterborough's coming citizens are beautifully portrayed in every conceivable position and expression. Smiling babies and sober babies, blue eyes and dark eyes, curly heads and straight tresses, blondes and brunettes are all represented in this wonderful series of pictures. Mr. Fred L. Roy is the authority for the statement that there are no more beautiful children any place in the world than there are in Peterborough, and this wonderful display of pictures would seem to back up Mr. Roy's contention very vividly.

Garden of Eden 250,000 Years Old Say Experts—If Location is Correct

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., December 30 (C.P.). — If the Garden of Eden was where popular belief places it, an archaeological report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science to-day shows it probably existed more than a quarter of a million years ago.

It had a mild climate, some of the animals most likely were rhinos, hippos, deer, oxen, and horses, also rodents.

This archaeological report covers not the Garden of Eden, but events likely to have occurred long afterward, concerning the manner of men who lived in Palestine from 20,000 years ago back to a misty, uncertain past that some scientists would estimate at 250,000 years.

BOARD OF EDUCATION CANDIDATES EXPRESS VIEWS TO THE EXAMINER ON ISSUES BEFORE RATEPAYERS

Economy is Keyword in Planks of Many of the Candidates This Year.

OVERBURDENING TAXES.

Some Classes in Vocational School Not Under Scope of Municipal Enterprise.

Of the seven candidates in the field for the four vacant seats on the Board of Education, The Examiner was able to obtain interviews with each of the contestants and to obtain from them expressions of their views on which they hope to obtain the support of the electors at the ballots on polling day.

Economy is the frequently recurring word upon which each of the candidates interviewed placed strong emphasis.

Rigid Economy

Dr. A. Moir who has just completed four years' service on the Board of Education, stated he was seeking re-election with the main plank in his platform being that of "rigid economy consistent with efficiency." He advocates a complete revision of educational expenditures.

Asked what his attitude was regarding teachers' salaries, Dr. Moir, replied, I am for cutting expenditures wherever it is possible. I think it probable that the teachers may have to take another cut, but I believe there are economies that can first be made in several other directions that are not so apparent to the general public."

He stated that if elected he was going onto the Board with an open mind. He believed that every candidate should do that, and furthermore that in the consideration of any expenditure of public money, more care should be exercised than

FIND TWO MEN FEUD VICTIMS IN BLOODY CAR

Each Has Rope Round His Neck—Machine's Engine Left Running.

HIKERS MAKE DISCOVERY.

Sheriff Believes Both Involved in Gang of Toledo Racketeers.

MONROE, Mich., Dec. 30 (C.P.).—Two men, identified tentatively by Toledo police as Sam Kaplan and O. EE. "Skinny" Roberts of Toledo, were found shot to death and strangled with rope and wire to-day in the rear seat of an automobile near the Monroe city limits.

Possible retaliation by a rival liquor gang was ascribed by the police as the reason for the slaying as they began an investigation.

The authorities said they believed the men were slain probably in Toledo and brought to the lonely spot near the plant of the Newton Steel Company, over the state line in Michigan.

Sheriff's deputies from Monroe said the men had been strangled. They withheld an examination, however, until the arrival of finger-print experts from Detroit and Toledo to determine the identity of the men. They said blood was on the running board of the car, the motor of which was still running.

In an attempt to trace the ownership of the automobile, the police learned that the car had been sold by a Detroit dealer several weeks ago to a man who gave his name as James La Painte, Toledo, O.

Found By Hikers.

The bodies were found by Floyd and Eugene Traver, Monroe youths, who were hiking in the vicinity. They investigated when they saw the automobile parked on a side-road with the motor running. They advised sheriff's deputies, who removed the car to the office of Coroner Edward Rupp of Monroe.

Sheriff Joseph Bartley said the men apparently were from Toledo, as cards and telephone numbers of Toledo places were in their pockets. He said one of the men bore the initial "K" on a belt buckle.

One of the men, he said, carried in his pocket a newspaper clipping of a Toledo gang slaying of recent date. The sheriff said he was inclined to believe the men were involved in the Yonny Licavolt gang, formerly of Detroit, but now believed to maintain headquarters in Toledo.

13 MINERS KILLED

R.C.M.P. Officer Leads Raid on "Plant" in Abandoned Niagara House.

CAR CONFISCATED.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 30 (C.P.)—Five men were arrested and an automobile, a 40-gallon still and a quantity of "moonshine" were seized by Corporal Pat O'Connell and Constable Armstrong of the local detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police to-day at Fraser Station near here. The men arrested are Florian Pilipovich, Ness Cabor, Joseph Rudolph, Nick Tabar and Mathew Frenozan, all said to be Hungarians and former residents of Kitchener. They were arraigned before Magistrate Goodwin and pleaded guilty.

About a month ago it is alleged the men came from Kitchener and took possession of an abandoned house. According to police, they set up a still and were busily engaged in manufacturing illicit spirits when the Mounties swooped down to-day.

Two of the men were arrested near the scene of operations in a car that contained four gallons of liquor. The other three were found at the still, where there were eight gallons of spirits.

Prospects Are Good For New Industries

The following letter was sent to The Examiner by Mayor Denne.

Editor of The Examiner,

Sir:

You kindly published on Tuesday information from Ald. Cotton and myself respecting the by-laws to be voted upon on Monday next.

I would like to say a further word to the property owners who will vote on the by-laws. We have prospects for one or two new and important industries at this time, and the result of the voting on the by-laws on Monday may have an influence on their decisions. If these by-laws are carried it will show those we are now dealing with that the electors of Peterborough are willing to deal fairly with industries and encourage them to locate here. I would like the property owners to keep this in mind.

Yours truly,
ROLAND DENNE,
Mayor.

Give $10.00 To Relief If Writer Signs Name

The Examiner has received a letter signed "Just Another Taxpayer" several civic officials, their work and sever civic officials, their work and salaries paid. The writer of the letter thinks like a speaker at the Trades and Labor Council meeting that The Examiner is muzzled and bets a good cigar we won't print the letter. He is right, but only because he has not signed his name to the letter.

But if the writer will send in his name and authorize us to publish his letter with his name, we will give $10.00 to any relief association he names, and publish the letter. Now we will bet him a good cigar he won't let us contribute the $10.00 to relief in this manner.

Tramped Fields For Hours Trying To Find Way Home

Mrs. Henry McNaughton, 60, Lost For Nine Hours In Country Surrounding Lock 3, North of Nassau.

LARGE GROUP OF MEN AND BOYS FORMED PARTY—SEARCHED FOR HOURS.

For nine hours last night and early this morning Mrs. Henry McNaughton, aged 60, Douro, wandered hopelessly about in the dense fog that blanketed the countryside in a desperate attempt to find her way home. Familiar objects within a mile of her home were indistinguishable to Mrs. McNaughton in the thick mantle of black fog as she tramped bravely on over plowed fields and dark meadows and waded through icy streams. Wholly exhausted she was found seated, resting on a log by Robert Bolton, a neighbour, at 3 o'clock this morning.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. McNaughton, who lives with her husband, one daughter and son, on a farm near lock 3, north of Nassau, in Douro Township, had been visiting her brother, Alex Millage. About 6 o'clock she started back over the well-known path to her home.

When she failed to arrive at her home for supper inquiries were made, and as time passed without her coming home and as night and the heavy fog settled more thickly over the district, her husband and children became frightened for her safety.

Telephone calls were sent out to neighbors, and carrying lanterns and flashlights to aid them in

CREW ABANDON BLAZING TANKER

2 SHIPS STAND BY.

WILMINGTON, N.C., Dec. 30 (A.P.)—A cargo of crude oil aboard the tanker Doris Kellogg today was abandoned and in flames approximately 35 miles southeast of Frying Pan Shoals.

Forced by the fire to take to three lifeboats, the crew of the Doris Kellogg was picked up by the S.S. Delaware Sun which went to the burning vessel's aid yesterday.

The coastguard cutter Yamacraw was standing by the Doris Kellogg last night, while the Delaware Sun proceeded. It is carrying a cargo of oil from Gulf points to Philadelphia.

The Yamacraw reported last night the Doris Kellogg was ablaze "from midships to aft." The size of the Doris Kellogg's crew was not known here, but was estimated at nearly forty.

POISON KILLER PAYS WITH LIFE

Daisy de Melker Blamed for Son's Death Maintains Innocence to Last.

SENSATIONAL TRIAL.

PRETORIA, Union of South Africa, Dec. 30 (A.P.)—Mrs. Daisy de Melker was executed this morning for the murder of her son, Cecil Rhodes Cowle, by poisoning, for which she was sentenced to death November 25.

The case attracted countrywide attention and the trial, lasting nearly six weeks, was one of the most sensational in South African criminal history.

On charges of poisoning two former husbands, she was found not guilty.

Mrs. De Melker, a frail, diminutive woman, was unshaken by the final ordeal and met death bravely, maintaining her innocence to the end.

Since being sentenced, she has been ministered to by the Bishop of Pretoria and took the Sacrament just before executioners entered her cell at 7 a.m.

Mrs. De Melker was the second woman hanged in Transvaal since the Union was formed (in 1910). Eight hundred sentences now have been carried out by the chief executioner.

FIVE OLD REEVES BEEN RETURNED BY ACCLAMATION

Contests in Ten Out of the Fourteen Townships in County.

NORWOOD ACCLAMATION.

Short and Snappy Campaign is Being Waged in Otonabee.

Acclamations in five of the county's fourteen municipalities have reduced to nine the number of sectors that will be electorally active next Monday.

Warden W. H. Montgomery in Norwood and Reeve C. S. Tanner of Lakefield with their councils that have carried on the municipal affairs of this year have been returned without opposition.

Reeve Frank Leahy of Douro and Reeve Daniel Hickson of Ennismore are also sitting in the grandstand watching the engagements of their colleagues of the county council who have to fight for the retention of their seats. The councillors in both these townships have also been accorded a new mandate without recourse to polling.

Reeve Russell Hales and the members of Chandos council have also been re-elected by acclamation.

As already reported North Monaghan township's municipal stock-taking resulted in acclamations for Reeve John McIntosh and Deputy-reeve George Patton, but the three members of this council, John Barnes, Robert Dobbin and Wm. Whitfield are opposed by William Stevens and James Milby.

Contest In Otonabee

In Otonabee the ratepayers are offered a choice for reeve, deputy and council.

Reeve F. D. McIntyre is opposed by Ernest Deyell and William A. Anderson, a three-cornered fight that will give the prophets something to mull over.

Deputy-reeve Percy Davidson has an opponent in Alex Huston, former deputy who was a runner-up a year ago. The candidates for the three council seats are the present members, Joseph Burns, Gus Bolin and Harry Reid, with Fred Eason and John Hewie as added entries.

Reports from Otonabee indicate a short and sharp campaign with no present certainty as to what the selections of the ratepayers will be for next year.

In Smith, Allan B. Mann has been returned to the reeveship, but the electors have their annual municipal duty to perform with George Mullen in the contest against Deputy-reeve Herb McConkey, and Stanley Higgins seeking a council seat in competition with this year's councillors, Charlie Westlake, Harry Fowler and Fred Armstrong.

WOMAN GUARDS MINE WITH GUN

Once Beautiful Wife of H. A. Tabor, Bonanza King, Keeps Promise to Husband.

GOLD STILL UNCOVERED.

LEADVILLE, Colo., Dec. 30.—(AP)—"Baby Doe" Tabor, once beautiful wife of H. A. W. Tabor, the bonanza king, holds true to a promise to her husband never to relinquish possession of the Matchless mine.

Assured by mining experts there is a vein of rich gold still uncovered in the mine which startled the world with its output of silver in the days when the white metal was valuable, the aged woman guards it with a double-barreled shotgun. She holds possession through the right of Homestead, although a mortgage on the mine was foreclosed several years ago, under Colorado law mortgagees cannot take the property as long as Mrs. Tabor remains in possession.

Buildings Fired

"Two attempts have been made to burn me out," said Mrs. Tabor. "Some person or persons came stealthily upon my property during the night and set fire to some of the outbuildings in the hope of driving me out. There are many who doubt this statement but since last fire I have taken every precaution. I am prepared.

"During the mine's operations in the past the men erected a huge bulkhead which they claimed was for the purpose of eliminating a cave-in, but I know better. It was placed there to keep prying eyes from discovering a great sulphite vein which had not been uncovered. Samples had been taken and proved to be gold bearing. When assayed these were declared to run hundreds of dollars to the ton. It promised untold wealth in gold when operations should be resumed. Now do you understand why I am staying on?"

YOUNG MAN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Peter Maren, Lindsay, is Survived By His Wife and Seven Children.

LINDSAY BORROWS $12,000

LINDSAY, December 30 (Examiner Correspondence)—Peter Marren, 36, passed away on Christmas Day in a very tragic manner. The deceased, who was in excellent health, was enjoying the day with his family, and just before he died, remarked that all had enjoyed another Christmas together. He is survived by his wife, seven children, his parents, three sisters and one brother. His funeral took place on Wednesday.

The final session of the 1932 council was held last night for the purpose of taking the necessary action to borrow $12,000 to cover ordinary expenses to clear up the debt to the municipality. Most of it will be used to meet the county levy, which is $36,000.

Members of the Horticultural Society took advantage of the unusual weather conditions and planned a bed of tulips in Kawartha Park on Wednesday. The ground was in good shape.

William McDonald, of Cardiff, Haliburton County was placed under arrest by Provincial Constable Porter, charged with a serious offence. He came before Police Magistrate Jordan yesterday and was remanded, no plea nor election being taken. Accused may go before a higher court.

Survived Dramatic Escape From Siberia

A tragic story of the attempt of a group to escape from Soviet Siberia was disclosed when a small schooner was found on the beach at Yurimichigawa North Japan, bearing three survivors of the ill-fated expedition and the bodies of two men who died of exposure. COLORADO TOWN GROWS ALARMED AT ROCK SLIDES

Fear Moving Mountain May Push Its Neighbor Upon Their Homes.

READY TO EVACUATE.

Geologist Claims Only Sandstone Cap Above Coal Vein is Moving.

DURANGO, Colo., Dec. 30 (A.P.)—Carbon Mountain shook and groaned and tossed more tons of rock down its scarred slopes yesterday as Durango citizens gave serious thought to forecasts that it might nudge its neighbor, Smelter Mountain, over into the town.

Smelter Mountain, which rises steeply from the edge of the city, is between Durango and Carbon Mountain. Geologists said the fault causing the Carbon Mountain slides extended into Smelter Mountain and that the latter might become active at any time.

Durango folk who have been quite pleased with the back-door show of a full-grown mountain doing a tumbling act, hurried out to take another look yesterday when the possibility of damage to the town was revealed.

It was generally agreed that the prospect of Carbon pushing Smelter over into the town was not nearly so entertaining as the phenomenon had been when it was three miles away. No action has been noted in Smelter Mountain, but residents who live at the base of its towering cliffs were preparing to evacuate at the first rumble.

A heavy snow which fell on the torn and scarred face of the mountain was hurled off in showering cascades when the north and south fault became active.

The action began almost two weeks ago.

Geologist Investigates

James Wigglesworth, graduate of the University of Colorado School of Geology, made a detailed examination of the action of the moving mountain, and then said:

"In my opinion the phenomenon while on a very large scale, is of a local nature and it is not likely it will lead to a regional disturbance sufficient to cause slides to run on Smelter Mountain, at the base of which is situated the Durango plant of the American Smelting and Refining Company.

"Investigation disclosed two coal seams, surmounted by a sandstone cap that forms the crest of the long sloping ridge to the east of the slide proper.

"A distinct sulphurous odor could be detected coming from the crevices on top of the mountain, which in my opinion is coming from a burning coal vein. The coal vein in this vicinity is known to contain iron pyrites in large quantities which would account for the odor. If the burning coal theory is correct, then the burning of the coal vein under Carborn Mountain, which might have been in progress for a great period of time, has caused the caving or slumping of the formation. To what extent it will continue, no one can predict."

Food for Song

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(A.P.) The woes of Private Leo F. Whelen have added a new verse to an old army song. Whelen was convicted of stealing a banjo, a camera, an overcoat and $10 from the quarters of Brig.-Gen. Lucius R. Holdbrook, and was given a year. Now the U. S. 18th Infantry songsters are singing:

"The doughboy swiped the General's dough,
Parley-Voo.
His camera, coat and best banjo,
Parley-Voo.
He said 'of Generals I've no fear,'
Till the court passed out a kick and a year,
Hinkey-Dinkey Parley-Voo."

TRAMPED FIELD IN DOURO FOR HOURS

piercing through the blanket of fog, a large group of men and boys formed a posse and set out upon the search.

Hour after hour the searchers tramped the woods and fields of the district in ever widening circles without gaining any trace of the lost woman. More calls went out at 11 o'clock. By that time between 50 and 75 men were active in the search. Their "halloas" echoed hollowly across the lonely countryside through the fog.

Lights Are Supplied

A call for aid was sent to Douro and P. G. Towns, merchant there, rounded out some farmers to join in the search, also sending out to the searchers flashlights and gas lights to cast their gleams through the dense blackness of the fog. A call went out to Lakefield and the siren was blown in the village, which was answered by a large number of villagers who were prepared to join in the search.

As time passed with the zealous efforts of the ever-increasing number of searchers still failing to find any trace of the missing woman, her friends and relatives began to despair of her life. It was thought that she might have stumbled blindly in the fog into the river which flows close by.

However, the search did not halt but was carried on with renewed energy. At 3 o'clock Robert Bolton came across Mrs. McNaughton, weak and resting on a log about a mile from her home. She was found between Ed. and Paul Maloney's farms, and she had wandered some distance off her course.

When found Mrs. McNaughton said, "I didn't stop. I wouldn't permit myself to stop, although I knew I was lost, because I was afraid of going to sleep. No, I didn't hear any calls nor did I see any lights."

To-day she was resting in bed, little the worse from the effects of her frightening and wearying experience.

SOVIET TIMBER INTERESTS GET BRITISH MARKET

Contract For 870 Million Feet Shuts Out Canada, B.C. Exporter Says.

FEW DETAILS AVAILABLE.

Intimates Article 31 of Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa Violated.

LONDON, Dec. 30 (C.P. Cable).—Reuter's News Agency to-day said it understood an agreement between Timber Distributors, Limited, and Soviet timber interests had been virtually concluded and that Timber Distributors would import from Russia about 790,000,000 board feet of lumber during 1933.

Negotiations between the company and the Soviet interests have been going on for some time, but last night no details of the proposed transaction were available.

Canada Gets Word.

MONTREAL, Dec. 30 (C.P.).—Soviet Russia has just entered into a contract with a British firm to supply 870,000,000 feet of lumber, valued roughly at four million pounds, declared H. R. MacMillan, prominent British Columbia lumberman, in addressing the Montreal Wholesale Lumber Association yesterday.

Mr. MacMillan told his audience he had received a cable yesterday to that effect. The contract, he said, mean a "shut-out" for Canadian lumber export, to Great Britain as the amount was four times Canada's annual export to the United Kingdom.

The terms of the contract, as outlined in his cable, showed that the order was against the spirit of Article 21 of the Imperial Economic Conference pact hammered out last August at Ottawa, the speaker declared.

Russia had guaranteed to reimburse the British purchasing company for any competitive price which was lower than that at which Russia had sold. In other words, Mr. MacMillan added, the Russians absorbed any loss that might be sustained by the British company.

He did not state the name of the United Kingdom company concerned or the source of his cablegram.

Mr. MacMillan, who is president of the H. R. MacMillan Export Company of Vancouver, returned from Great Britain a few days ago. While there he investigated the lumber situation at length.

HAMILTON BOY DROWNS IN BAY

Eleven Year Old Lad Disappears Through Thin Ice While Skating.

RESCUE IMPOSSIBLE.

HAMILTON, Dec. 30.—Treacherous ice on the bay claimed the life of an 11-year-old skater, Robert Boles, here yesterday afternoon.

Enticed by its smoothness the boy had ventured too far from the shore between Wellington and Wentworth Streets. A young companion, James Creighton, saw him disappear and panic-stricken ran from the scene. Three other boys too far away to aid, also witnesses of the tragedy, made tracks for the nearest police station. A rescue crew set out for the spot but the ice proved too thin to enable the officers to get near the hole where the lad had disappeared.

Creighton, meanwhile, had been too frightened to report the tragedy and it was not until late last evening that the young victim was identified as the boy whose parents, at 543 Ferguson Avenue North, had reported him missing at 7 o'clock.

Gave Description.

The three lads, Harold Conway of 526 Wentworth Street North, Howard Fritch of 40 Lancaster Street, and Roy Stepcock of 36 Oliver Street, described the young skater as being red-headed and wearing a brown leather coat, and leather cap with goggles.

Parents of the Boles boy emphasized that he had not taken his skates when he left in the afternoon. He wore clothing very similar to that of the boy who was seen to fall through the ice. His leather coat was black, and so was the leather helmet, with goggles. He also had red hair.

Detective Duffy cleared up the boy's disappearance later last night when James Creighton, a playmate, said he was with Robert Boles on the bay in the afternoon when the Boles boy fell through the ice and did not come to the surface again. The Creighton boy became alarmed and ran home without telling anyone what had happened. The body may not be recovered before next April or May.

Parley Plan Refused By Indian Congress

POONA, India, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The outcome of the third Indian Round Table conference in London was said to be unacceptable to the Indian Nationalist congress in a statement issued today by Rajah Gopal Achariar, former congress resident.

Following a conference with Mahatma Gandhi in Yeroda prison, the rajah also issued an appeal for all Hindus to agitate at meetings and through other means on January 8 to urge Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India, to sanction the introduction of proposed legislation regarding "Untouchables" entering temples.

ELECT
BELL
For
Alderman
Brought out by a large number of taxpayers as a candidate for Alderman, I have promised and am committed to a definite platform of rigid economy, with efficiency.
Taxes must be lowered to the citizens' capacity to pay, or disaster will result.
Cities, large and small throughout America are today unable to meet their civic liabilities, much to the distress of civic officials and employees. Let us cooperate to avoid a similar situation in Peterborough.
A square deal to all alike. If we cannot give the people work, then no one shall go hungry.
Season's greetings to all.

HAMILTON
for Alderman
To the Electors:
The taxes paid to the city on the property that I own amounted to over $3,600.00 this year. Much of this property is unproductive at the present time, and naturally I do not want to pay any more taxes than I have to, and will endeavor as much as possible to keep the taxes down. This fact and my eight years experience in the council are good reasons why you should

MOONSHINE KING IN POLICE HANDS AFTER 5 MONTHS

Arrest Made During Early Morning Raid at Holland Landing.

STRUGGLE ENSUES.

Foster's Small Daughters Watch Fight—Wanted for Operating Still.

HOLLAND LANDING, Dec. 30.—Five months of tracking through the swamp and bush, raids under cover of dark, long vigils and dogged hunt, ended triumphantly for Newmarket constables yesterday when handcuffs clicked around the wrists of Tom Foster, reputed moonshiner king of these parts, wanted since July 24 on charges of operating a still.

Not without a struggle was Old Tom caught. When he found himself face to face with Chief Constable Orval Smart and Constable James Howard, he lunged for the club he invariably keeps near at hand. This time it was on the seat of a buggy to which he was hitching a mare in front of his house.

Smart dived at Tom to prevent him from getting the weapon, and repeated the episode of last July when he was injured on the arm just that way. The two went down in a heap. Howard piled on. They struggled desperately for several minutes, muffled grunts and oaths coming from battling trio. Tom's little daughters, Lillian and Verna, watched the fight from in front of the house.

The raid of the two constables had been craftily planned. At break of day, they set out from Newmarket by auto. They drove along the highway toward Bradford, and turned in to approach Tom's house from the west.

Fooled Too Often

They had been fooled all too often by the wily Tom, who knew every foot of the swamp and had friends in every farmhouse. Too often had they received word that he was at such and such a place, too often had they made flying trips there, always to find no trace of the quarry.

About two-and-a-half miles west of Tom's house, they parked their auto in the bush. With the two constables, as an aide, was Alfred Kirk, a son of the late Sergeant Thomas Kirk.

They walked cautiously in the early morning to within a few hundred yards of Tom's house. There they took to the bush. Reaching the edge of his property, they hid behind some stacks of spoiled marsh hay and watched.

Out in front of the house, harnessing his mare and buggy, was Tom. The two constables started, crawling silently on hands and knees. At the back of the house they separated, each going around a different way.

Suddenly, they were facing their elusive quarry.

"Hello, Tom!" greeted Chief Constable Smart.

Tom looked up from hooking the harness on the shaft, and grabbed for his club, the officers say.

Smart, and then Howard, closed in.

"Whut're you fellows doin'?" asked Tom once during the fight.

They took him into the house, handcuffed, then released him and allowed him to change his clothes.

A message was sent down to Tom's cousin, George Foster, to come up so as to provide bail. Alfred Kirk hurried back to where the police car was hidden and brought it to Tom's house.

Taken To Police Court.

Tom dressed, was re-handcuffed and taken into the police car. With George Foster, and the police, he was headed for York County police court in Toronto.

A group of relatives and friends had gathered around outside the fence of Tom's house, and they watched him depart.

"It's the last time ye'll ever git handcuffs on me," he told Chief Constable Smart solemnly.

At court Magistrate Keith set bail at $2,000 and remanded the case until early in the New Year.

From a confidential source, it was learned last night that Tom had been working diligently on the marsh all fall, cutting and baling marsh hay. His intention was to make enough money to pay a lawyer for the defence of his case. When the money had been made, he was going to surrender to Magistrate William Keith and plead not guilty to the charge of operating a still.

Royalist Coup Seen

A Royalist coup in Germany within the next few weeks is foreseen by Count Leo Keyserling, member of one of the most influential families in Central Europe. President Paul von Hindenberg will resign and facilitate the ascendancy of Crown Prince Wilhelm, eldest son of the Kaiser, Count Keyserling maintains, pointing out that the crown prince, not personally ambitious, wishes to reserve the monarchy for his eldest son, Wilhelm, 26-year-old student at the University of Konigsberg. The crown prince and his son are above.

Burnham and daughter, Dorothy, and her mother, Mrs. Lightheart, from being present. Mrs. T. H. Bradley spent the Christmas week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Baxter, Peterborough.

There are several cases of flu in the village at present, a number of family gatherings for Christmas being depleted because of the epidemic.

Mr. F. C. Scott, local furniture dealer and funeral director, again played Santa Claus at Christmas time to any children in the village and within a ten mile radius who were unlikely to receive a visit from good St. Nicholas on Christmas Eve, unless assistance were forthcoming. One hundred and fifty children were remembered with candies, nuts, oranges, games, toys, and suitable articles of clothing, and many little hearts were made glad because of this kindness on the part of a generous-minded citizen. This was the third consecutive Christmas that Mr. Scott has played Santa in this happy manner entirely at his own expense, and of his own free will, satisfying a desire that no boys or girls in this vicinity should lack the joy of Yuletide, the children's special festival.

Ruth Richards won the first prize in the doll contest conducted during recent weeks by the Rexall drug store, Mary Smith coming second. The votes were counted on Christmas Eve and the lovely 'babies' and their carriages given to the lucky winners. Natalie Jordan was in third place, and fifteen dollies in all, some with carriages, were given out to happy little girls.

Miss Jean Burnham entertained the members of her Sunday School class at her home, King street, on Tuesday, the lovely Christmas tree prepared for the family dinner-party the previous day being lighted up, and other seasonable decorations adding to the attractiveness of the large rooms. A practice for the dialogue the girls are preparing for New Year's night at the school entertainment took up part of the early evening, the tea table having a decorative scheme of red and green with tall red tapers burning in brass holders, and the service of the dainty supper being cared for by Miss Jean and sister, Mary. The young guests are entertained in this manner each year the day after Christmas, and before departure thanked their hostess very prettily for the good time enjoyed.

PLENTY TO KEEP HIM BUSY.

Premier Bennett, home from a brief visit to the Motherland, will undoubtedly discover plenty of problems awaiting his attention.

In the first place he'll find many Canadian farmers stirred up by the announcement that Russia is prepared to enter into a barter with Canada by which the Soviet Government will undertake to buy $7,000,000 worth of Canadian cattle and hides in return for the acceptance of oil and coal from Russia of a similar value.

There are several interesting angles to the rumored offer among them the fact that Russian coal is on the embargo list so far as Canada is concerned and in addition the barter could not be carried through unless the Canadian Government would guarantee Canadian sellers against loss, two points that are most certain to meet with strong opposition from Mr. Bennett and his associates.

Then there is the Tariff Board to be announced, the question of currency dump as its affects trade with Great Britain to be considered, the currency situation to be studied, the matter of a Marketing Board to be disposed of, a number of Senators to be appointed, unemployment relief to be carried on and a dozen and one other important matters to keep the Premier hard at work.

A SERIOUS RESPONSIBILITY.

When economic conditions are unusually depressed and many people are suffering from lack of income, and some entirely destitute it is not difficult to understand a tendency to try something new, to turn to something radical.

It is quite easy to get out of the frying pan into the fire; to bring about conditions much worse than those now existent.

Men in public office who have been in the thick of the battle against the unusual conditions of the past few years, men who have learned by experience, who have studied the ramifications of public business and are familiar with the problems and the issues of the day should not be lightly discarded.

The Examiner believes that a few municipal elections in the city history has there been a greater need than there is now for calm, thoughtful and earnest consideration of the qualification of the men who are offering themselves as candidates; the crisis is too acute for personal prejudices or pettiness to enter into the situation; these are unusual times and it is necessary to steel ourselves against doubtful counsel and against those who would rock the boat, no matter how serious the consequences of such recklessness might be.

DON'T MAKE THIS THE FORGOTTEN CITY.

Ratepayers of Peterborough should not me misled by misinformed attacks on the industrial by-laws which are to be voted on Monday.

For example there are those who would have people believe that the industries in question are seeking to be relieved of paying their taxes and that if they are successful the burden will fall upon the rest of the taxpayers.

That all of course is sheer nonsense; both industries have always been heavy taxpayers and under the new arrangement will both have to contribute considerably more to the civic treasury than they are now doing and the ratepayers generally will therefore be relieved to the extent of the additional taxation to be paid by the two companies.

Then there is the charge that the industries are seeking another term of fixed assessment without giving anything in return.

That complaint should deceive nobody, for the De Laval is contracting to take up new lines of manufacture here and to materially increase its working staff during the next two years, while the Raybestos Company has already completed an important addition to its plant, going ahead with the work without waiting for a by-law, trusting the people to treat it fairly when the matter was referred to the electorate.

The most important factor in regard to these by-laws, however, and this, The Examiner feels, cannot be too strongly emphasized, is that Peterborough's future as a manufacturing centre is at stake and that at a time when new industries likely to take up the slack of our unemployment are in sight.

If these industrial by-laws are lost we will have succeeded probably in frightening away new plants that would have proved a Godsend to this community.

We lose nothing by passing the by-laws, but if they are turned down we'll stand to lose a great deal for we will thereby advertise Peterborough as a city unsympathetic toward manufacturers and about kill our chance to land new factories that would put new life in our industrial fabric.

Citizens should take the long view of this situation for a pennywise, pound foolish attitude at this time can do injury that will take years to remedy.

Make sure of these by-laws; their passing is vital if we don't want to stamp Peterborough as the "Forgotten City" in the eyes of industrial executives.

ONE POINT TO REMEMBER.

There is more than the usual necessity at this time for giving earnest consideration to the calibre and quaifications of men who are aspiring to office in the City Council.

At Ottawa last August trade pacts of great importance were entered into by the units of the British Empire and these agreements seem destined to play an increasing vital part in the trade of the Empire countries.

As a result of the conference decisions American manufacturers who find these British markets cut off will be compelled to establish branches in Canada and it is an open secret that many United States concerns are already taking steps to find locations on this side of the line.

Peterborough is vitally interested in such industries and should be prepared to wage a vigorous campaign to secure some of the outstanding firms planning to establish themselves in this country.

It should therefore be the endeavor of every voter who has the best interest of this city at heart to consider which candidate for the mayoralty and which aspirants for aldermanic positions are best qualified to meet, negotiate with and impress the representatives of prospective industries.

In the light of the possibilities the future offers for industrial expansion it is only fair that such a test should be applied because it is obvious that there will be keen competition among Canadian municipalities for industrial plums and the city with the most businesslike, aggressive and wideawake mayor and council is likely to capture a big share of the prizes.

From the material that is offered us it is necessary to make the best possible choice, in view of this race for new industries that is bound to come as a result of the Ottawa trade pacts.

Size up the men in the field and then ask yourself the question, who among the candidates you would select to represent Peterborough in dealing with executives of big industrial concerns as most likely to make a favorable impression and most readily "sell" this city to prospective new manufacturers.

WORLD TRADE.

Mr. Stevens, speaking in Winnipeg, assures the country that Canada's trade is being well maintained.

Leaving the United States out of the picture, the Minister of Trade and Commerce said, our trade with the rest of the world for the first ten months of 1932 is equal to that of 1930; in other words we have not lost our trade with the world. He said also that statistics show Canadian trade to be holding up better than that of any other nation, save two. Further, the Minister denied that Canada had contributed to the acceleration of the world crisis.

This country's trade figures—like those of every other land—are far from satisfactory, yet our relative position, as Mr. Stevens says, is an encouraging one. If we are agreed, however, that excessive tariffs are a detriment to world trade, that such tariffs are holding back the return of prosperity—and people of all shades of political belief do subscribe to such a belief—then it would seem that Canada has contributed something to the acceleration of the world crisis.

On the other hand, Canada is, relatively, a small country. It is hardly for her to initiate drastic, radical changes in fiscal policy, hoping for other Governments to take note and follow. Such steps as these have to be taken by a nation like the United States. Happily, there are indications that President-elect Roosevelt has this matter very decidedly in mind. An international conference to discuss the whole question of tariffs and trade is scheduled for a leading place on his program after March 4.

It is interesting to note that the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Premier of Canada and one of the most distinguished figures of the Conservative Party, is thinking along much the same lines as President-elect Roosevelt. Speaking at St. Catharines this week, Mr. Meighen declared that a compact of nations to lower tariffs was part of a logical solution for the depression. The general level of tariffs the world over is high, Mr. Meighen pointed out. Lowering could be done by an arrangement into which all nations which pleased could come, with maximums which would not be exceeded among the nations participating in the arrangement.

"Patience is essential for these steps," Mr. Meighen warned, "and rash and foolish plunges might prevent, rather than hurry, relief from the present conditions. It behooves all Anglo-Saxon people to take a leading part in this advance." Perhaps the speaker had the United States in mind when he used the last sentences quoted.

Nearly everyone seems to recognize the desirability of getting an all-around lowering of tariff bars which now interfere so seriously with resumption of the world's trade. It is logical that the United States, as the chief builder of tariff walls, should take the lead in bringing about their reduction. For this reason there is a general hope that President-elect Roosevelt will not lose any of his enthusiasm.

Senator Hull, Tennessee Democrat, announced recently that he purposes to take early steps to secure action on his plan for reciprocal trade treaties with Canada and Great Britain.

Senator Hull is worried by the recent British Empire conference. He thinks it is unfortunate that Great Britain was "forced into a policy that we had promulgated and led the world into by our increased (tariff) rates."

There is no doubt that American business leaders and public men are anything but pleased by the decisions made at Ottawa. Few, however, are frank enough to come out and say that the United States, in initiating the high tariff war, made a great mistake—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If we hope to secure more industries for Peterborough we cannot afford to turn down the two industrial by-laws.

"Buy American," fairly shrieks the Saturday Evening Post. "With what?" pertly inquires another United States journal.

Mr. Bennett is back on the job after a stormy passage on the Majestic and another at the hands of New York newspapermen.

Somebody tossed a piece of raw beef on the platform at a Toronto political meeting. Evidently he must have thought there was not enough meat in the speeches.

More industries are essential to this city's progress. We cannot get them by an unfriendly attitude toward the industries already located here. It would be well to consider that fact in weighing up the by-laws to be voted on next Saturday.

HOPE FOR 1933

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: South Africa, the greatest gold producer in the world, finds that a monopoly of the means by which we do business (using one commodity only for it, gold) is destroying business, though, of course, gold shares rise.

If so, there can be no longer a Canada tied up to the gold monopoly. Other valuable means of doing business, such as silver will free business, and Canada will bound forward. Russian trade has also forced itself on our notice. But the rise in prices due to going off the gold standard will restore us.

The Harpell trial has been a great triumph for the Sun Life.

SOUTH WARD REPRESENTATIVE

The Editor, The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—As a taxpayer in the South Ward I would like to bring something of importance to the attention of all the voters of the city and particularly the South Ward.

While all the other wards have good representation, this ward which is by far the largest ward in the city has not had representation since the days of J. O. Fife and I am sure the other wards will see the injustices of this and give Mr. Sloan a boost.

I have known Max for a great number of years both overseas and in the contracting business and can strongly recommend him to the electors.

He and his family are heavy taxpayers in the city and he will certainly be out for economy in civic expenditures, so help yourself by helping Mr. Sloan.

Yours for South Ward representation,

C. H. Castle.

Who's Who in Ottawa

By CHARLESROSS, Jr.

COL. ARMAND RENAUD LAVERGNE, M.P.

Once he was a Laurier Liberal, later an irrepressible lieutenant among Henri Bourassa's Nationalists and now he's a good Conservative M.P. for Montmagny, Que. He's always been a stormy petrel. They say Premier Bennett made him deputy speaker to keep him quiet. Be that as it may, the experiment has not been a success, because whenever he is not relieving Speaker George Black in the chair, he amuses himself, if not the House, by heckling ex-Premier King and other Liberal orators. He is about as popular with would-be-orators on Parliament Hill as a prohibitionist at a meeting of the bartenders' union. Last year he established a new parliamentary precedent. He adjourned a debate on bilingualism as evidence that he was going to deliver a long speech. The Opposition maintained that a deputy speaker had no more right to enter into debate than a speaker. But the fiery Mr. Lavergne won his right after threatening to resign if not allowed to speak. He's very eloquent, not only as barrister, but also as a speaker in the House. Son of a judge who was once a partner of Sir Wilfred Laurier, he mad his debut in the House of Commons as a twenty-four-year-old prodigy of Sir Wilfred. He soon kicked over the party traces and then took more interest in provincial affairs. He ran for his old constitutuency of Montmagny in the federal general election of 1917, but was left at the post. He was again defeated in 1921 when he stood for election to Ottawa for Quebec county. Now he's back, with as much eloquence as ever, a hard-working representative of the French people, who has more than once announced a keen dislike for the term "French-Canadian."

ALL OF US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

QUESTION: Is there much difference between men and women?

Answer: Not very much, but what difference there is is tremendously important.

Question: How do they differ—in their thoughts or in their emotions?

Answer: In both.

Question: Are men more logical than women?

Answer: : How do I know? Men think they are more logical. They weigh this against that and arrive at a conclusion, but when they get there they find, half the time, that some woman has been waiting on that corner for years and years. Sometimes a man thinks it's logical to take a train, but a women thinks it's far more logical, if you want to reach a certain goal, to take an airplane. Men call their own thinking "reasoning"; they call women's thinking "intuition."

Question: Do you think that reasoning is superior to intuition?

Answer: I can't say. How do I know that intuition isn't a form of reasoning? Men allow themselves to be convinced by other men's arguments and pride themselves on their "fairmindedness." Few women boast of that.

Question: Are women kinder than men?

Answer: Some men think they are, but some men deny it hotly—and say they are shocked at the coldness of a woman's conclusions about life. Men are really much soppier in their emotions than women. But the dangers that a woman fears most are ones that imperil her children or a husband. While, in general, men fear most their own dangers. A woman, for example, fears infantile paralysis. A man shudders at the mention of Bright's disease.

Question: So, taking it all in all, you think men and women are quite different?

Answer: Yes, I'll gree to that. And I'm glad they are! That's why they are so interesting to each other. A woman thinks she understands men completely. A man boasts that he understands women, but far back in a corner of his mind there's a feather edge of doubt that he never overcomes. He would not want to be a women, and he does not believe any true woman wants to be a man. She'd rather be a woman.

Question: Do women pity men?

Answer: I think they do.

Question: Have you any more ideas or theories about women?

Answer:: Yes, thousands of them.

The principal leader of the English social revolt in 1381 was Wat Tyler.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

READ THIS FIRST:

They establish the fact that Bailey died at 9 o'clock, leave a detective to guard the room, and return to the city. On the way back the chief declares Bailey put up a desperate fight before he died. Kane disagrees with this, maintaining the director died without a chance to put up a struggle.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 4

The first thing Jere Kane did upon returning to the hotel from that ride to Hollywood was to cancel his reservations for the New Orleans Limited, due to leave the following morning. He had left MacQuarrie and Lee in the lobby with a promise to meet them at nine the next morning.

Back in his room he slumped down in an easy chair, without even so much as removing his hat, to think over the events of the night. His knowledge of Bailey's affairs was too meager to permit any deduction as to whom the murderer might be. But he had learned sufficient to enable him to reconstruct the crime.

That, however, did not satisfy him. It was his opinion that re-enactment of the crime was the simplest part of the investigation. But sometimes, he had found extraordinary success in the past, the simple re-enactment of the crime in the presence of those under suspicion was ample to bring a full and complete confession.

He considered this far more conclusive than the usual police methods of attempting to extract an admission of guilt by subjecting the suspect to the brutalities of the third degree. He had found that he could hypnotize—if that term might be used—the suspect by a cold, unimpassioned recital of the manner in which the crime was committed into revealing the truth, whereas he knew of unnumbered cases where the innocent had confessed simply to escape further torture at the hands of police inquisitors.

But here was a murder shrouded in utmost mystery. Kane was convinced that it had been carefully planned to the most minute detail. Obviously, it had been the murderer's intention to make it appear that Richard Bailey was shot down by some nocturnal intruder bent on burglary, or perhaps during a desperate struggle, and if two or three little details had not been carelessly overlooked that plan would have succeeded.

At least, that was Kane's idea. However, he was not willing to make known these facts to anyone until he was sure of his ground. More cases are wrecked, he thought, by undue haste than by any other reason.

As he sat there the strains of a raucous fox trot came bounding up to him from the dining room. He bolted upright; if he could only meet Nanette LeRoi and talk to her! He wondered if she was still there, if she had heard of the famous director's death.

Without further ado he tossed his hat on to the bed, smoothed his hair and descended to the lobby. But as he stepped out of the elevator another problem confronted him. How was he going to meet her? He couldn't be so rude as to go to her table and introduce himself; he did not want to enlist the services of the hotel manager nor any of his assistants, for his own reasons.

He strolled to the door and gazed into the palm-lined dining room toward her table. She was not there, though her wrap was still draped over the back of her chair. He studied the dancing couples, but she was not among them, nor did he see her at any of the other tables. She must have gone out for a breath of fresh air.

There was nothing to be gained by standing there. He turned back toward the lobby; it was filled with a milling throng of fashionably dressed men and women, with a smattering of men in the attire of the street: visiting police officials, he correctly surmised.

Even as he stared at this colorful scene an attitude of intensity fell over the lobby. The throng seemed to fall back, struck by awe, to open a path toward the entrance to the dining room. Down that opening, as a king and queen might walk between their royal guards, came Nanette LeRoi and her escort.

Kane started; he could scarcely believe his eyes. Once more, he told himself, Fate was playing kindly with him, just as she always had.

The exotic star drew near; she was almost abreast of him. Her escort glanced casually, almost disdainfully, at him. She cast a regal look at him. Suddenly, as though impelled by some unseen power, both stopped, their eyes resting on him. A smile spread slowly over the actress' lips. She extended her hand:

"Mr. Kane!" she cried. "What in the world are you doing in Hollywood?"

He was puzzled. Hiding his feelings, he greeted her warmly and explained that he was merely stopping over en route to his home in New Orleans. There was something vaguely familiar about her; her accent was peculiarly American, not French. He tried to place her, but it was a difficult task.

He had had the same feeling when he saw her picture in Richard Bailey's den, but then, under John Lee's laughing suggestion, he had partially forced himself to conclude that it was in some foreign theater that he had seen her, possibly in Paris, or Vienna or some other continental city on one of his world perambulations.

Nanette LeRoi's escort took Kane's hand and shook it warmly. "Jere Kane, I should hate you," he exclaimed, "but inasmuch as that affair back in New Orleans turned out all right I suppose my next move is to welcome you to the Garden of Eden."

Kane smiled broadly. "And if you hadn't been such an abominably good liar, Rodolf Holmes, I might not have lost so much sleep over the Banning case," he chided.

The actor nodded toward his companion. "Isn't it wonderful what a facial operation and a change of name can do to a person?" he almost whispered.

"Wonderful!" the other agreed, without a change of expression. "I don't believe I would have ever known her."

Kane was telling a part-truth, at any rate, although they were both certain he was bantering. At least, he knew now why the face in that photograph in Richard Bailey's den had intrigued him so, had seemed so vaguely familiar.

"I saw you come in earlier this evening, Mrs. Banning——"

Holmes looked about quickly and: "LeRoi," he corrected. "Judy Banning is a creature of the past."

"I get you," Kane laughed.

But he wondered if he did.

Both Nanette LeRoi and Rodolf Holmes insisted that he join them in the dining room. He protested mildly. He did not want either of them to know how anxious he was to join them.

"Oh, you're here on a vacation," Nanette pleaded. "You can sleep late tomorrow morning."

He gave in, wondering if they would have been so eager to have his company if they had known his business.

The music had ceased and the dancers had returned to their tables when they strolled into the large room. Now, Jere Kane saw that the subdued lights were responsible for his utter failure to notice the resemblance of Nanette LeRoi and Judy Banning when she first appeared earlier that evening.

This new woman was utterly different from the little musical comedy star he had admired when he saw her on the stage in the past. In those days she was bubbling over with vivacity and youth, and not impervious to the adulation of the throng.

But now hers was a strange personality, a pose, of course, but nonetheless the embodiment of something deep and powerful. That night Martin Banning was shot down in his own home he preferred to remember her as the dancing and singing star beloved by the public. Now, he could only think of her as but a cold, calculating woman whom he had seen—and met—for the first time.

Presentations Made To Cavan Students

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, December 30. — Presentation of the Baptie Scholarship Certificates and cheques, was an interesting feature of the nomination meeting for Cavan Township held in the town hall on Monday afternoon, seating capacity being entirely occupied.

Ex-Warden James L. McCamus was in the chair, and the clerk of the township, J. N. McGill, made the presentation, the pupil attaining highest marks out of those from Cavan schools writing on the High School entrance examination last June, being Allen Browne, of the Fairview School, Fourth Line, Cavan—Marjorie Swayne, of Fraserville, having second standing.

Allen Browne made a suitable reply on receiving the framed certificate, and the cheque for $23, ascribing the credit for the honor won to the faithful work of his teacher, Miss Dorothy Hall, who was also present, and in her brief remarks noted the fact that Allen's school career from the beginning had been covered in an unusually short time, and with marked application to his studies crowning it throughout.

Marjorie Swayne, who is the daughter of the Rev. E. F. Swayne, formerly of Fraserville, and since moved to Consecon, was not present, and her cheque for $17, and the framed certificate will be sent by mail; she was a pupil of Miss Reesor, and attended the school near Donaldson's Corners, on the Provincial Highway. The scholarship was a legacy of the late Miss Margaret Baptie, of Ottawa, whose interest in the township lay in the fact that the family were old residents.

BACTERIA GIVES RUM FLAVOR TO LOUISIANA CANE SYRUP

Tiny Organisms Are Imported From Barbados and Placed In Barreled Product.

IMPROVE AROMA.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 30 (A.P.)—An alcohol-making bacteria imported from the Barbadoes gives Louisiana cane syrup the "rum flavor" of West Indies syrups.

This bacteria was imported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and success in the scientific experiments with it was reported to the Society of American bacteriologists to-day by Lawrence H. James and H. H. Hull.

Certain West Indian syrups, they said, had enjoyed a wide sale in the United States on account of "their peculiar flavor." There was no domestic product to compete.

The alcoholic content imparted by the bacteria is far under any intoxicating percentage. In fact before they finish their work these Barbadoes bacteria take most of their self-made alcohol and convert it into some else, described as "ethyl acetate esters, etc."

Alcoholic Aroma

They merely "whiff" the cane syrup, with the alcoholic aroma. This work they do if the syrup is stored in barrels for some time.

Mr. James reported also that "frozen foods used promptly after defrosting do not constitute a health hazard to the consuming public."

The strange fact that in frozen blackberries, strawberries and raspberries in airtight tins microbes are killed faster at the comparatively high freezing temperature of 28 degrees F. than at four below zero, was reported by J. A. Berry of the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry, Seattle, Washington. He found also that the germ which sours milk can live for more than two years in a temperature of 15 degree above zero.

HANKOW, China, Dec. 30 (A.P.)—Communists under the leadership of the notorious Ho Lung, have captured and looted the town of Patung on the southern bank of the Yangtse River in Western Hupeh. The Catholic Mission was destroyed but the fate of the missionaries could not be learned immediately.

Dispatches from Ichang said 3,000 bandits swarmed across the Yangtse, sacked Patung and swept southward, looting and burning as they went. Missionaries at the Seventh Day Adventist Mission at Shihman, in Southwestern Hupeh were prepared to evacuate.

AVERAGE U. S. FAMILY CLAIMED WORTH $12,000

CINCINNATI, Dec. 30 (C.P.). — Believe it or not, the average family in U.S. is worth $12,000. That, at least, is the estimate of M. R. Neifeld, New York statistician, presented to-day before the American Statistical Association here

Neifeld said the average of 30,000,000 families will find current assets more than double current liabilities, despite the last three years. And he displayed a balance sheet to prove it.

Total assets of the American family at the end of 1929, he figured, were $421,679,000,000, while total liabilities were only $46,360,000,000. "In other words," he said, "for every dollar the American family owed, they had nine in their possession."

He worked three years past the time he could have retired on pension.

Now he plans to travel as a passenger. With his wife he will visit Muskoka, the Kawartha Lakes, Quebec, the Maritimes and perhaps even the West. He wants to see Canada—and ride trains.

BIG OVERDRAFT IN UTILITIES

Utilities Commission is $30,000 Overdrawn in Electrical Department.

WAIT 13TH BILL.

The electrical department of the Utilities Commission will be $30,000 overdrawn at the end of this year, Howard Clegg, accountant, told the Commission at its final meeting for the year this afternoon. Mr. Clegg pointed out that the whole reason for the large overdraft was due entirely to the difference in interest rate the local Commission had to make up to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the increase in the interim charged the local Commission by the Hydro.

G. S. Matthews, chairman, stated that expectations were that the 13th bill from the Hydro, which is the annual adjustment between the cost of power purchased from the Hydro by the local Commission and the real cost, will materially reduce the overdraft. He also stated that it was probably that some of the other extra moneys paid the Hydro would be returned to the Commission.

Other members of the Commission expressed the same hope.

STALIN SAYS CAMPBELL'S BOOK SHOWS "REAL AMERICAN FANCY"

GIVES OWN VIEWS.

MOSCOW, Dec. 30. — (A.P.)—Joseph V. Stalin, in a signed magazine article published to-day, accused Thomas D. Campbell, Montana's reputed owner of the largest wheat farm in the world, of showing "a real American fancy" in a book he wrote about Russia.

The head of the Communist party and "strong man" of Russia said Campbell, who was special agricultural adviser to the Soviet government, "invented" details of an interview he had with Stalin in Moscow in 1929.

Stalin's attack on Campbell's book, entitled "Russia, Market or Menace," appeared in "Bolshevik," the all-union Communist party's official magazine. Appended to Stalin's article was a written record of the interview.

The publication, the article said, "would be the most reliable means of establishing facts."

Not Published.

"Mr. Campbell, in his book, mentions the record of the interview with Stalin, which would be necessider it necessary to publish it in his book," the article said. "Why? Is it not because publication of the record would destroy Campbell's whole plan concerning sensational tales built around the 'interview' with Stalin, which would be necessary to create advertising for Campbell's book in the eyes of American petty bourgeois?"

"In the book Mr. Campbell exposes incidentally the 'interview' with Stalin which took place in Moscow in January, 1929," the article said. (Campbell, who was special investigator of Indian reservation farm lands in the United States during the war, became adviser for Russia in the operation of 10,000,000 acres in that country in 1929). "The interview is remarkable in that each sentence is an invention or a sensational misrepresentation having the purpose to create advertising for the book and its author.

"Mr. Campbell is obviously using his fancy when he says the conversation with Stalin, which started at one o'clock p.m., 'continued long after night into the dawn.' Indeed the conversation lasted no more than two hours. Mr. Campbell's fancy is a real American one.

Different Story.

"Mr. Campbell fabricates more and more when he ascribes to Stalin words like 'under Trotsky (Exiled Russian Bolshevik). They really tried to extend Communism all over the world and this was the first reason for the rupture between Trotsky and himself (Stalin), that Trotsky trusted world Communism while he (Stalin) wanted to limit his activity in his own country'."

In the published record of the interview, Stalin was quoted as saying to Campbell:

"It is very clear to me that the United States, more than any other country, has reasons to provide business relations with the Soviet Union, not only because the United States is rich in technique and capital, but because in no other country would our business and people have enjoyed such a cordial reception and hospitality."

COMPANY DINNER IS HELD IN ARMOURIES

Lieut.-Col. G. G. Winterbottom Presided and Gave Splendid Address.

Instructive and entertaining, a shoot and banquet was held by Headquarters Company of the Peterborough Rangers Regiment at the armouries last evening, presided over by Lieut. Col. G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M.

Two of the three prizes awarded for shooting were awarded to Lance Corporal Max Taylor with 92 points out of a possible 100; and to Corporal W. Murphy.

Following the dinner, the menu of which included turkey, Colonel Winterbottom gave an address on which he spoke of the theory of the army pay system. He also expressed pleasure at the manner in which the affairs of the unit were progressing, complimenting Quartermaster Fred Hart on the excellence of the arrangements he had completed.

Major A. B. Mills, second-in-command of the unit delivered an interesting address dealing with the relationship of the various regiments of the British Army. He showed how the Peterborough Rangers Regiment had close affiliation with the Imperial Forces, and referred to the privelege of membership in such a regiment that had a background of splendid traditions.

Captain Hart and Sergeant-Instructor W. Stuart, D.C.M. were also called upon for brief speeches. The latter tendered thanks to the members for the co-operation they had given him during the past few months.

It was stated by the colonel that he hoped to make such gatherings a regular monthly feature of garrison life.

LEE OPTIMISTIC OVER NEW YEAR

T. and N. O. Head Sees Signs of Revival in Northern Ontario.

LINE TO MINES PAYS.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 30 (C.P.)—George W. Lee, chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, said to-day there is "no doubt that 1933 will prove to be a better year in Northern Ontario than the one just closing.

"The whole North country seems to be looking into the New Year optimistically and confident that it will bring an industrial revival," he said. "Just now we are busy closing out the 1932 business year and while content with the result we are satisfied that the incoming year will show greater activity.

"We refined more gold this year in the mining camps served by the railway by $5,000,000 than it cost to build the line. The mining industry has certainly flourished this year and we look for prosperous times to return to the other industries common to Northern Ontario in the course of 1933."

Mr. Lee stated that in addition to the present facilities, a complete line of lake steamers will be operating on James Bay next year.

KIWANIS HEARS CHARLES SHAW

FACE PROBLEMS BRAVELY.

Impressions gathered during the course of his recent trip to Europe were given to members of the Kiwanis Club at their noon luncheon at the Empress Hotel to-day by Charles Shaw, general manager of the A. Wander Limited, Peterborough plant.

The address constituted a most entertaining travelogue, besides containing an inspirational message in keeping with the New Year season.

Mr. Shaw was introduced by Kiwanian Carl S. Browne, and at the close of his talk was accorded a vote of thanks on motion of J. J. Turner, chairman of the Program Committee.

After describing some of the outstanding sights he had seen at the heart of Empire, including the opening of Parliament by Their Majesties the King and Queen, Mr. Shaw said he had talked with some of England's outstanding business men. One of the most interesting facts was that during all the various conversations he had, he never once heard the word depression mentioned. What he did hear was such expressions as, "we have got to work together with a motive in view. That motive is going to be to carry out our obligations irrespective of what it may cost. Such obligations must be met unflinchingly."

That, said Mr. Shaw, was the spirit that seemed to have a firm foundation in the Old World, where a contract was regarded as a contract, and not something to be lightly broken or cast aside.

The English were a lot slower than their American cousins, Mr. Shaw believed, in making statements or promises, but once they had decided upon a course of action they went ahead unswervingly, and when they spoke they had something to say.

They are facing their probems bravely and are building well for the future, he believed. He had spoken with the head of a large printing concern. The business had been founded by the present owner's great grandfather, and he had told Mr. Shaw there were men empoyed in the plant who were doing exactly the same work that their great-grandfathers had performed before them. That was business on a solid basis, the speaker maintained.

He thought that if Canada was ever to occupy the same position in the years that lay ahead, she must put quality into her goods and institutions. Quality must not be sacrificed for speed.

The program was further augmented by the appearance of Mrs. Al. Gray, soloist. She was accompanied at the piano by Martin B. Chenhall. The two numbers which she sang were greatly appreciated.

door of the kitchen range. He seemed almost himself again when his mother arrived, but the lad had a narrow escape.

I would like to advise parents whose boys come up to the park on hikes and to play that they should be warned to stay off the ice on the creek as it is very dangerous in places where it is honey-combed, and also where the running water keeps it thin. This boy's escape shows there is real danger, for in some parts the water is four feet deep."

Mr. Orde said that Jim Gibbons had fully recovered this morning from the chill and shock of the death trap beneath the ice from which his young companions had bravely rescued him.

LIBBY HOLMAN AWAITING HEIR TO BIG FORTUNE

LIBBY'S RISE TO FAME

By MADELIN LEOF,
Central Press Canadian Writer.

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 30 — The capital of the second smallest state in the union, known until now as the seat of mighty corporations and the home of the multi-millionaire DuPont family, has a third claim to fame. It will be the birthplace of the scion of the R. J. Reynolds tobacco family, for Libby Holman, Broadway "blues" singer and widow of Zachary Smith Reynolds, has taken up her residence near Wilmington for the next few months.

The Reynolds baby is expected in late January or early February and whether it is a boy or a girl, the expectant mother has expressed her intention of naming the child "Smith." After the baby is born, Libby Holman, whose career on Broadway was meteoric, may return to the stage in a play with George Jessel, but for the present she refuses to divulge any plans, except to say that she wants to live the life of any average individual until the strain of the last few months has disappeared.

Libby's Rise to Fame.

There are few people who have not followed the story of this dark-haired, hazel-eyed charmer who obtained her college degree at the University of Cincinnati, took a small part in the "Garrick Gaieties," jumped to a salary of $2,500 a week in the "First Little Show," and then, on Nov. 29, 1931, a little more than a year ago, became the bride of Smith Reynolds, young heir to tobacco millions. Almost everyone knows how on last August 3, Smith Reynolds was found dead from a revolver shot. Then came the murder indictment for Libby and Smith's friend, "Ab" Walker. Later came release for lack of evidence, and the apparent closing of the case.

For the last month Libby Holman has been staying with her friend, Mrs. John Jenney, at the Jenney estate, Montchanin, near Wilmington. Mrs. Jenney, whose mother, Mrs. Carpenter, is the millionaire Pierre DuPont's sister, is a close friend of Libby Holman and has been seen in the shops of Wilmington with her as well as in the leading hotel.

Now Libby Holman has taken a house for herself for the ensuing months. Her mother has come from Cincinnati to be with her.

The place is situated on Owl's Nest road, approximately eight miles west of Wilmington, and belongs to Albert E. Ives, a well-known local architect, who is at present in the south. Libby pays $400 a month for the house, which is of buff-colored concrete, with brown shutters. The large grounds are covered with evergreens and holly bushes. Inside, the rooms with their green floors and colored walls, are witness to the fact that it was designed by one who knew his taste in houses.

Not in Hiding.

The neighbors say that Libby Holman does not act as if she were trying to disguise herself or make an impression. She wears shell-rimmed glasses because she is near-sighted, although, of course, she never appeared on a Broadway stage with them. She dresses in plain sport clothes and uses little make-up other than lipstick.

She does not shun society, however, for her home here is open to many of her young friends, who come and go all the time. She herself goes shopping, for baby things, mostly, and also for books, of which she is very fond.

Surrogate James A. Foley of New York appointed the Guaranty Trust Company of New York as temporary administrator of the estate of Zachary Smith Reynolds, until the birth of his heir. The will will be probated after the infant is born, and if the court appoints Libby Holman guardian to her child, she will receive approximately $200,000 a month until the baby comes of age.

ANDY'S HABITS KEEP TAILOR PROSPEROUS.

THE QUESTION of clothes is not the exclusive problem of feminine screen players. Although Andy Clyde, star of the Educational-Andy Clyde Comedies, can hardly be set ups as an example for "what the best-dressed man will wear," the cost of Andy's wardrobe is a very important item of expenditure. Andy wears a particular style of frock-coat, with tails, which was in style when Cleveland was president. He seldom has a suit fit to wear after one of his pictures is finished, and never gets through one picture with the same suit. However, aside from the expense, the suits involve no bother. And merely calls up his tailor and has suits delivered to order within an hour—the tailor keeping a supply of an extra dozen or two always made up.

SYLVIA AND FIRST LEADING MAN TEAM AGAIN

AFTER TWO YEARS of rising cinema fortunes, Sylvia Sidney will be teamed again with Gary Cooper, her first leading man in Hollywood.

George Raft

Back in January 1931, as a young actress, fresh from Broadway, Sylvia got a great thrill when they told her she was to appear opposite the tall star in "City Streets."

Now a star in her own right, she appears with Cooper in Vina Delmar's story "Pick Up", which B. P. Schulberg will produce for Paramount.

Not so long ago it was George Raft who, was supposed to do this picture, but Hollywood has a way of changing its mind. Schulberg thinks he has a great team in Gary and Sylvia. They almost did "Madame Butterfly" together but plans went awry.

"RED DUST" IN PRE-VIEW SHOWING

A PRE-VIEW SHOWING of "Red Dust" bringing together two of the screen's most magnetic personalities, Clarke Gable and Jean Harlow, features the Capitol Theater's New Year's Eve revue.

The new Clara Bow will be revealed in Tiffany Thayer's sensational novel, "Call Her Savage", which will have its premiere showing locally on the Capitol screen starting Monday. Gilbert Roland, Thelma Todd, Estelle Taylor and Anthony Jowitt will be seen in prominent support.

Screenland's most lovable character, Warner Baxter, is starred in "Six Hours to Live" at the same theatre in which he enacts the part of an international diplomat in his usual suave way. Miriam Jordon of the London stage and John Boles are in the supporting cast.

OUTFITTING HOLLYWOOD'S ADOPTED BABIES.

LATEST FAD in Hollywood is to give showers for the stars who have adopted babies. Colleen Moore got one up for Marion Nixon.... Dorothy Lee and Marshall Duffield are dating it again. They were dancing Tuesday night at the Kate Smith testimonial in the Cocoanut Grove. Helen Costell was out again, too, with Arthur Lubin....And later on, at the Wampus Baby Star dance, Bill Rankin was paying court to Lillian Bond. He says they're engaged, but the lady would not confirm it.

You should see Helen Mack's new nose....And where will the autographer-seeking stop? The other day Anita Louise received a gown from a local shop. When tyring to put it on, she was unable to get her arm through one sleeve. Investigation disclosed an autograph book with a note: "I am a wrapper at the store. Will you sign this and mail it back to me?"

ROBINSON A HIT IN "SILVER DOLLAR"

EDWARD G. ROBINSON does his finest work in the "Silver Dollar" which is being screened at the Regent Theatre starting New Year's Day. Gripping, dramatic, genuinely human, it is a story of Colorado's spectacular H. A. W. Tabor, senator, spender, prospector, whose gaudy career lent vivid color to the young state.

Robinson plays the central role with such intelligence, finish and conviction, he brings the fabulous man to life and makes him profoundly lovable.

"Fifty Million Frenchmen", starring Olsen and Johnson, famed radio artists, will be the second feature attraction at the Regent's New Year Frolic. The performance will start at 9.30.

POLICE COMMISSION ORDERS REVISION OF TAXICAB BY-LAWS

Present By-laws Are Old and Obsolete, Members Declare.

UNFAIR COMPETITION.

That the city by-laws regarding the control of taxicabs are absolete and should be revised giving police greater control over these vehicles was the decision reached yesterday afternoon at the final meeting of the year of the Police Commission.

A resolution was passed instructing the City Collcitor J. R. Corkery, to study the taxicab by-laws of other cities and to draught a new by-law for the city after conferring with Chief Constable Newhall.

Unfair Competition

The question of the need for changes in the taxicab by-law arose from a complaint read before the Commission that the taxicabs were proving unfair competition for the Peterborough Bus Company.

Chief Newhall stated that many difficulties had arisen over the control of taxicabs and that the whole by-law required revision and to be brought up to date. Many of the taxicab operators were just in business because they owned a car and did not give the proper service to the public. "No taxicabs in the city are covered by insurance for accident to passengers," he stated.

He advocated that when the by-law is revised that the license for taxicabs be increased and that some provision be made to enforce the taking out of insurance. There are some taxi companies are trying to carry on their business on a fair basis, he said.

The Commission did not fix the license fee, nor were the clauses of the proposed bylaw discussed, but the City Solicitor was instructed to draw up such a by-law to cover existing conditions.

Chief Newhall reported that he had just managed to keep within the $36,000 fixed as the appropriations for the year. There had not been sufficient money to purchase all the needed equipment for the force, but four overcoats, nine tunics and new trousers had been purchased.

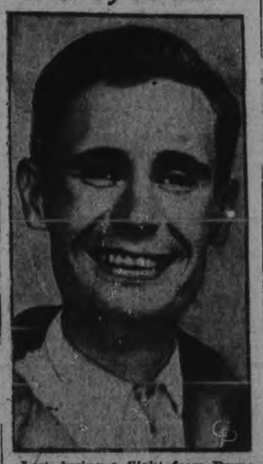
Held By Indians?



Lost during a flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, in 1927, Paul Redfern, well-known American aviator, was recently reported alive and well in the jungle regions of Matto Gresso, Brazil. Fawcett, the intrepid British explorer, has been lost for seven years.

BEAUTIFUL RUG IS MADE IN CITY FOR CLUB HOUSE

Brinton Carpet Company Manufactures Beautiful Rug for Kawartha Club House.

DESIGN IN RED AND BLUE.

Produced by local craftsmen in the workshops of the Brinton — Peterborough Carpet Company Limited to the order of the Canadian General Electric Company for use at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, a beautiful rug has just come off the looms and will be laid down at the clubhouse ready for use by Monday next.

On that day the members of the club are planning to hold a special New Year's social gathering, and it is a foregone conclusion that the magnificent Sarouk carpet will be the object of much favorable comment.

Measuring 19½ feet by 28 feet the rug has been made to special design to harmonize with the drapings and color scheme in the lounge at the club premises. It has a background of tan color, with a delicate blending of seven other colors which includes, terras, blues, sages and reds.

The design of the rug is what is known to the trade as the "Roman cart wheel design." It has motifs interspersed which are finished in red and blue.

The creation was made on a Jacquard-Gripper loom, the time taken for the weaving being one week or thereabouts.

It is interesting to note that the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company are at present engaged in the manufacture of two large rugs for the Notre Dame Hospital at Montreal. One of them which The Examiner was privileged to see in the course of manufacture is a beautiful design in two tones of blue.

DUKE OF MONTROSE IS LEADER FOR HOME RULE FOR SCOTLAND

All Grahams in New World Can Afford to be Proud of Chieftain.

KILTED ARISTOCRAT

That is, if they can boast of Scottish origin.

Thanks to the latest Duke of Montrose, the ancient and historic clan of Graham has already played a great role in the history of King George V.'s northern kingdom.

Honorary president of the Scottish Trade Union, he's now the leader for the second time of a home rule movement for the Land of the Thistle.

Formerly the Marquis of Graham, he was then president of the British Institute of Marine Engineers. Knows all about this business.

Has done good service in the army as a soldier, and in the Royal Navy, during the Great War, as commodore of the Royal Naval Reserve.

Won renown in the House of Commons as a recognized authority on merchant marine.

Meet him. The kilted aristocrat.

The kilt comes first with him. Engaging. Likeable. Genial. Unassuming. He holds his head on one side when talking. Because he's alert. And because his hearing is not of the keenest.

He bubbles over with schemes. He sees them clearly worked out—and it irritates him when people cannot grasp the ideas quickly.

Intensely business like, he always sees a joke. Never takes his friends' jests seriously. Always has a rich come-back.

He can be a bitter and pugnacious enemy.

A hard worker. Put in a long term as an able though unknown seaman before the mast. Worked his way up to the rank of a sailing master.

Then began all over again as an apprentice in the Glasgow shipyards of the important shipbuilding concern of which he is now a partner.

His wife, formerly the Marchioness of Graham, is in her own right one of the largest landowners in the United Kingdom.

The Scottish Isle of Arran in the Firth of Clyde, embracing an area of 165 square miles, belongs wholly and exclusively to her.

She is responsible for their home surroundings.

Neither old-fashioned nor modern, but unobstrusive and the best of their kind.

Both the Duke and Duchess prefer the existence of great territorial magnates among their own people in Scotland to fashionable life in London.

In the social activities of the court they cannot be said to take a part.

In fact, they have no London home.

Their sojourns in the south are mainly for the yachting season at Cowes, a sport to which they are both devoted.

Like her husband, the duchess has a sailing master's certificate.

But he prefers the palatial Brodick Castle on Arran Island, where the duchess is monarch of all she surveys.

It was his deafness which made him resign his commission in the Royal Navy as sub-lieutenant. It came upon him after he had passed out of Eton.

His love for the sea led him to sign up as a sailor, as plain James Graham, without revealing his real rank.

About 53 years old. Tall, with blue eyes. Pair of hair. A quiet, gentle disposition. An excellent and eloquent platform speaker.

His job now is to get home rule for Scotland. Aims at introducing a bill in the London Parliament granting the creation of a separate Scottish Parliament, which would be the final authority on matters affecting the country.

Some day he may unite with the National party of Scotland, a larger and stronger advocate of home rule. But he can't see eye to eye with their methods just yet.

Death duties irritate him. They're the cause of his campaigning. Periodically brings them before the attention of the rank and file in the United Kingdom. Once tried to auction all his land to demonstrate how burdensome was the lot of the land-owner. But nobody bid—enough.

Yes, he's typically Scottish.

Not only the kilts. But porridge, too. Pours the milk into a bowl and dips the porridge into it.

He's the hereditary sheriff of Dumbartonshire and lord lieutenant of Buteshire.

Still has the bagpipes play in his castle. Couldn't live without them.

A Presbyterian. An elder in his own kirk. Goes to the General Assembly at... sits as an elder.

Cannibals

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Dec. 30. — (AP) — E. A. Marchant of Wanganui has discovered a giant "cannibal" snail in the mountains of the north island of New Zealand. BOATHOUSES BURN.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., December 30 (C.P.). — Six boathouses and their contents were destroyed by fire early this morning. The firemen fought to keep the flames from spreading to another chain of boathouses a short distance to the north. Georgian Bay and Parry Island presented a spectacular sight in the light of the mounting flames.

After raging for an hour the blaze was extinguished. No estimate of the damage was available.

if spending ones own money. A man should go into public office with the idea of administering municipal affairs as he would his own business.

He concluded that he was not going to make any rash promises. It was unwise for any man seeking public office to make promises that he would probably be unable to implement. All he could say was that if returned he would continue to carry on with the best interests of the taxpayer at heart.

Overburdening Taxes

William Tinker, a resident of Peterborough for the past twenty years; a taxpayer for sixteen years, and now a comparatively large property owner, said: "Taxes in Peterborough as in other cities of Ontario, have in recent years become too heavy for the average taxpayer. Proof of that statement Mr. Tinker observed was to be found in the fact that $125,000 of this years taxes were unpaid in Peterborough as at December 1st.

"Education costs account for over 33 per cent of our expenditures," he remarked, "and I am very strongly of the opinion that these costs could be reduced considerably. The citizens are in the position of a family whose income has been reduced to about 50 percent over what it was a short time ago. We must 'pare until it hurts'. In view of the fact that the cost of living has been falling steadily, I simply cannot understand why the teachers and other employees of the Education Board should not have further reductions based upon the decrease in the cost of living. I submit there is nothing unfair in this thought," he contended.

Criticises Vocational School

"I am also of the opinion," Mr. Tinker continued, "that many of our classes in the Vocational School do not rightly come within the scope of a municipal enterprise. Take one class for example—that of motor mechanics for owners. Why should heavily burdened ratepayers, many of whom do not own cars, be compelled to pay for the upkeep of a free class to teach owner-drivers how to repair their automobiles, and take the work away from some mechanic who earns his bread and butter by repairing cars."

If the driver of a car wishes to learn how to repair it, he claimed, he should be willing to pay for that tuition and not expect the municipality to provide it free for him.

He was quite sure, he said, there were other expenses equally unfair, and he said, "I am strongly in favor of economy in all directions. The ratepayers of the city are having a most trying time to meet their obligations and if elected I will scrutinize every proposed expenditure."

Mr. Tinker believed that by careful estimating the budget could be so pruned that it would be reduced from fifteen to twenty per cent without impairment to efficient administration.

Appeals on Past Record

Mr. Reid said he appealed to the electors on the strength of his past eight years of service to the Board of Education, during which time he had been chairman of the Property Committee for four years, and chairman of Finance for one year. "It is a record that speaks for itself," he said. "I have always advocated economy, and that is what I am out for now."

His past record, he claimed, proved that he had never been tolerant of extravagance in the expenditure of public monies. Regarding school teachers' salaries, Mr. Reid stated, the teachers themselves had volunteered a five per cent. decrease early in the present year, and the Board had made provision for a further five per cent. reduction to come into effect on the first of the New Year.

Mr. Reid was absolutely opposed to cliques on any public body, he stated. He believed that a man should go into office with an open mind.

McKone for Economy

"Economy is the keynote of my appeal to the electorate," stated J. A. McKone, in the course of a brief interview with The Examiner during which he outlined the platform upon which he was seeking election to the Board of Education. "Taxation has become an almost overwhelming burden," he said, "and has got to be brought down."

He had served on the Board of Education, he pointed out, for a period of nine consecutive years, during which time he occupied the chair for two years; he was coming back after an interval of a few years for the express purpose of getting the cost of education to the taxpayer reduced. If elected, he promised, that with the support of other members of the board he would endeavour to pare the estimates of the board as far as was possible consistent with efficient administration.

Revision of Night Schools

Mr. McKone, who is principal of the Peterborough Business College, expressed the opinion that a great saving could be effected if the entire night school system in Peterborough was revised. He charged that there were approximately one hundred pupils attending night classes here who resided outside the city limits. They were not paying a cent towards their tuition, but were receiving it at the cost of the city taxpayer.

In Sarnia, Mr. McKone remarked the night schools had been done away with entirely, due to the existing need for economy. He was not proposing such a drastic measure here, although he did believe that many of the classes which he termed as nothing more or less than recreation for the students, should be eliminated, or else all persons requiring such tuition for any special reason should be asked to pay for it themselves.

Mr. McKone would not commit himself on the question of teachers' salaries, although he was of the strong opinion that there were several economies that could be effected to materially reduce the estimates without impairing the efficiency of the city's educational system.

Guard Public Interests

"I have endeavored in the four years of service I have given on the Board of Education to look after the interests of the public to the best of my ability. In that period I have never missed a meeting, and if re-elected I will endeavor to continue along the same lines," stated James Dutton in the course of an interview.

He was disinclined to make any promises as to the policy he would pursue if re-elected to office. "The problems facing all public bodies are so difficult. The only thing I can promise is that I will carry on with due regard to the present situation, but without any impairment to the efficiency of the system that is regarded as one of the best in the Province of Ontario," he said.

Mr. Dutton emphasized that he was not desiring to do anything that would increase the burden upon the taxpayers, yet he was not of the opinion that the city could afford to do anything that would decrease the efficiency of the schools. "Our boys and girls," he said, "must get the best education that it is possible for us to give them, in order that they may be prepared to go out and meet the difficult problems of life that are facing them."

Peterborough had been fortunate in the splendid teachers that had staffed her schools, Mr. Dutton believed, and it would be a mistake to hinder the work or to lower the high standard that had been established. There was a great deal of public money invested in schools and equipment here, and Mr. Dutton said that as a member of the board he had always realized that he was a steward of the people and that their investment in the schools must not be impaired.

Survey Expenditures

J. E. Smith, advertising manager of the Rural Publishing Company was of the firm opinion he said that a complete survey of expenditures made by the Board of Education should be one of the first duties to be undertaken by the incoming Board. There were certain changes that might be made in the education system in Peterborough by which a great saving could be effected.

"As a general policy expenditures must be curtailed in keeping with the decreased resources of the taxpayers. The taxpayer is bearing too heavy a burden and has simply got to get some relief" he remarked.

Mr. Smith who unsuccessfully contested a seat in the City Council two years ago, but who polled a comparatively heavy vote, is not unfamiliar with the problems with which the Board of Education has to contend. Before coming to this city nineteen years ago, he had taught school for several years. He was public school teacher in Grey County; principal of a graded school in Bruce County, and High School teacher at Simcoe.

Sane Administration

Isaac P. McNabb said "while on the Board of Education for the past four years I have always had in mind the best interests of all the citizens. I have no selfish motives to serve."

He was not, he remarked, going to make any special issue of "rigid economy" measures in his election platform. It could be taken for granted that he did not wish to see increased taxation any more than any of the other candidates in the field.

Mr. McNabb maintained that the Board had been operated on a sound and economical basis, particularly during the year now drawing to a close. "It is a fact" he contended, "that education costs have not increased in Peterborough in proportion to the city's assessment. On the contrary they have decreased in ratio."

"I stand for sane administration of school affairs and the safeguarding in an economical but efficient manner of the institutions which have for their responsibility the advancing of Peterborough's greatest asset—the citizens of tomorrow" Mr. McNabb explained. He added that he felt particularly well fitted for office on the Board of Education, having the necessary educational background and business experience, by which he could approach the problems of the Board in a spirit of sympathy and understanding.

REV. S. H. HILL IS INDUCTED

LARGE CONGREGATION.

HASTINGS, Dec. 30. (Examiner Correspondence).—Rev. Samuel H. ill, B.A., was inducted to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Thuraday night before a large congregation. Many members of other churches in the village were also present for this impressive service, the first one in Hastings Presbyterian Church in over fifty years.

The induction of the late Rev. Dr. Thomson, which took place nearly half a century ago was attended by Town Clerk A. Wilson and he was also present on Thursday night.

Rev. John Sutherland of Keene opened the service with prayer. The choir, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Harold B. Wilson, sang the "Doxology". Mrs. Wilson, who presided at the organ, and the choir are to be congratulated for their splendid singing on the special occasion. The choir and congregation joined in singing Psalm No. 19 "The Lord is My Shepherd". Rev. Mr. Sutherland read the Scripture from the Book of Genesis 28th chapter 10th verse. W. H. Flatman, soloist of the choir, sang "Jesus My Nearest Neighbour," followed by prayer and "O God of Bethel By Whose Hand".

Impressive Sermon

Rev. Mr. Sutherland then delivered a very impressive sermon, taking as his text "This is none other than the House of God" taken from 28th chapter, 17th verse of the book of Genesis.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland reminded the congregation that it was like a new beginning to them, a new new experience this auspicious occasion which was made necessary by the lamentable death of the late Dr. Thomson.

During his address he stressed that nothing could be too good for the House of God. First hand knowledge of God was needed, modern ideas may be what they are but you have to go back to the old masters for experience.

W. H. Flatman, assisted by the choir, sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

Unfortunately Rev. Todd of Bowmanville, the Moderator, was unable to attend; Rev. A. C. Reeves of Norwood took the place of Rev. Mr. Todd. Rev. Reeves in taking charge expressed that everyone was indebted to Rev. Sutherland for the very impressive sermon. An invitation was extended to Rev. Mr. McKenzie of Burnbrae Church of the Kingston Presbytery Rev. H. J. Bell of Trinity United Church and Rev. H. F. Battersby of St. George's Anglican Church.

Rev. Gordon Duncan of Warkworth, clerk of the Presbytery and interim moderator of St. Andrew's at Hastings, spoke of the steps taken to fill the vacancy early in July caused by the death of the dear pastor, the late Dr. Thomson. The last time the Presbytery met was at the funeral of the late Dr. Thomson and now again at the induction.

Arrangements for the necessary supplies were left in the hands of the Rev. Mr. Reeves. Rev. E. A. Thomson of Elora supplied during the month of July and Rev. Mr. Reeves during August. Rev. Mr. Duncan was appointed interim moderator and since September has won his way into the hearts of the good people of St. Andrew's. On September 14th the motion was read and on the following Monday a session of the Board was held and it was decided to hear five for the call and if not satisfied then an extension would be granted. The five were heard but before they had all preached for the call Rev. Samuel H. Hill, B.A., had won his way into the hearts of the people. When the vote was taken by ballot his name was by far in advance of any other.

In complementing the congregation Rev. Mr. Duncan who has acted as interim moderator on numerous occasions stated that he never received better co-operation than that of the Hastings church, which made it very easy for him and the work was completed in record time.

Pastor Inducted

Rev. Reeves then called Rev. Mr. Hill to the front of the church where the induction was carried out according to the rules of the church. The adherents of the church were also asked many questions.

Prayer was offered that grace would come to the Rev. Mr. Hill to lead and guide his new flock.

Rev. Reeves called on Rev. J. C. Robinson of Campbellford to address the minister, and good naturedly referred that the addresses would be brief. It was an exceedingly pleasant function for Rev. Robinson to perform, as he had been in the same Presbytery as Rev. Hill before coming to Campbellford; he had also the pleasure of assisting at a previous induction of Rev. Hill. In speaking of the qualities as a minister of Rev. Hill, Rev. Robinson cited one church where he took charge where there were two factions pulling against each other, each led by a brother; in a very short time he had the troubles smoothed out and a two brothers were united. In his opinion there was never a time when a minister was required to be on the job more than at the present. The congregation was not a field, but the minister and people one unit of power. Just before closing his eloquent address, Rev. Robinson stressed the point to the new pastor to treat every family alike; do not discriminate, but be fair to each one.

Another change in plans was made necessary when Rev. Reeves announced that James Dutton of Peterborough, who was to address the congregation, had got fashionable and got the 'flu."

Rev. Dr. Barr Speaks

Rev. Dr. Barr of St. Paul's, Peterborough, delivered a brief address to the congregation. Rev. Dr. Barr felt that it was his duty to come to Hastings for this occasion, as it was the last induction for the late beloved Rev. Thomson to officiate at when he was inducted on December, 28, 1931, at Peterborough. He gave up another very important meeting in order to be present. He described an induction service as like a marriage between the people and the minister, and if the new minister not not call around as often, always remember that it is like a marriage and be a little tolerant. It was his fervent wish that God's blessing would be upon them, the minister and the old church made so famous by the late Dr. Thomson.

The services in the church closed with the singing of verses 1 and 5 of Hymn No. 195.

Messrs. J. E. Taylor and J. A. Brown introduced Rev. and Mrs. Hill to the people at the front of the church, after which the congregation adjourned to the basement.

Dr. W. E. Wilson, on behalf of the congregation of St. Andrew's delivered an address of welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Hill, congratulating them on receiving the almost unanimous call; alyso that he had received the call to carry on God's work. Little Miss Betty Campbell presented Mrs. Hill with a bouquet of flowers.

Rev. Mr. Hill, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Hill thanked the congregation for the wonderful welcome they had extended them, and firmly hoped and prayed that he would be able to carry on the work so faithfully done before him by the late Dr. Thomson.

The ladies of the congregation brought this very impressive service to a close with the serviging of a very sumptuous lunch in the basement.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

WALLACE BEERY IN "FLESH"

Both Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery have noble, self-sacrificing parts in the pictures that came to the Capital this week.

The big, awkward man who can act any role so well as to make it appear absolutely real, is the star of "Flesh," a talkie with a title that fits it better than many of the names tacked onto moving pictures. As the champion wrestler of Germany, he is featured in a story that has many exciting moments.

Karen Morley is the unlikeable heroine who does a bad-woman role splendidly, and Ricardo Cortez is the mean villain of the piece.

Laura Nash gets out of a German prison and goes to a restaurant to eat a meal which she cannot pay for. Polokai (Beery) is the big waiter who befriends her and offers her a refuge in time of great need.

Then the girl and her lover play him for a sucker and lunkhead straight through, to the last dramatic moment.

Jean Hersholt is the frieldly Mr. Herman, proprietor of the German cafe, who comes to America with Polokai, and Jean Miljan is the rascally Willard, who introduces Polokai to the crooked system of running American wrestling matches.

There is action and drama and pathos and fun and romance in "Flesh." It is a typical Wallace Beery picture, and that amounts to a lot. 'Nuf sed.—Jeanette.

4 CANDIDATES FOR UTILITIES

mises to the ratepayers; but if I am elected I shall co-operate with the Commissioners in every effort to manage the light and power and the waterworks departments with the utmost economy consistent with efficient operation. With the complete equipment in both branches I believe that there is no need of furthur capital expenditure for the next few years, and that costs should be confined to maintenance. In that way I think that something surely can be done to reduce the cost of these utilities for the benefit of every householder. That is the definite promise which I make to the ratepayers, to do anything I can to lower the costs of light and water which are both necessary in every home.

For thirty-two years I was engaged until about a year ago with the Canadian General Electric Company in the armature department and in power house repairs and installation. With all respect to the present members of the commission and the other candidates I regard myself as an average householder, and I shall have in mind the financial interests of that large group in the community if I am elected. I wish to emphasize that I regard both the light and water services as a credit to Peterborough and it will be my aim if elected to maintain them as such, but I do feel that an extra effort should be made in these times to cut the cost so that the hard-pressed householders may have the benefit of any possible reductions in their light and power bills.

E. G. PATTERSON said that in permitting his name to go before the electors as a candidate for the Utilities Commission he was doing so because he thought there was considerable room for improvement in the management of the Utilities' affairs.

"There is place for more economy and an increasing of efficiency in the Utilities' service to citizens" he said. "I have considerable time on my hands now which I am willing to devote to the task of thoroughly studying the management of the Utilities with the view of making a saving to the users so that the rates may be lowered."

His long experience as manager of the Canadian General Electric Company's plant here, Mr. Patterson thought would qualify him to bring proper business methods into the management of the Utilities commission the same thoughtful attention as he did the C.G.E. when its manager.

E. R. SHIRLEY, a member of the Utilities Commission for six years, and who seeks re-election, said "My aim is the same as it always has been: to give the best and most efficient service at the lowest possible cost.

"Economy, efficiency and accuracy are part of an engineer's training and naturally these principles are always kept to the front.

"I have but to point to the record of the Peterborough Public Utilities during the six years comprising my term of office.

"This is a record hard to beat. Plants have been improved, service improved, rates lowered and a profit shown each year.

"The record of the gas plant is particularly noticeable. This was taken over by the Commission on June 1st, 1929. In spite of the fact that the H.E.P.C. had made a reduction in gas rates just a short time previous to the taking over of the plant by the Commission, we have been enabled to improve the plant; to show a profit each year; to build up a fund for plant replacement and obsolescence and to make three reductions in rates.

Waterworks Record

"The Waterworks Department can show the same record. The plants are in the best possible condition. Every precaution has been taken to ensure continuity of service and to furnish water that is absolutely pure and wholesome.

"The original purchase debentures of the Waterworks amounting to $230,000 were retired on Dec. 31st, 1931. In the same year an item of $347,000 for the filtration plant was re-financed at slightly better than 4½%. This was on a par with the refunding loan made at the same time by the Dominion of Canada and shows the fine standing our utilities have with the financial interests.

"A profit has been shown each year and rates regularly reduced accordingly.

"The electric department is no exception. This has shown a continual growth and has been kept in the best possible condition.

"Duplicate incoming service has been provided and arrangements made with the H.E.P.C. whereby Peterborough is assured of continuity of power supply under almost every conceivable condition.

Lighting Improved

"The distribution and street lighting system have been very largely reconstructed and improved.

"By the proper application of lightning arresters we have been enabled to give service under the most trying lightning disturbances and have rendered the replacement the lowest of any community around. This represents a saving to the electric department amounting to thousands of dollars per year.

"This department has also shown a profit each year and rates have been adjusted accordingly."

NO LIQUOR THIS NEW YEAR'S.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The writer like a great many others whom I know has been in the habit of buying a couple of bottles of liquor to celebrate the New Year. All I got out of it was a headache and a few sarcastic remarks from a well meaning wife.

This year I am not going to buy any liquor but am going to make a donation to The Examiner relief and I will be nothing out and somebody else will be something in. While I voted for Government Control, I am afraid control has been lost.

In these hard times one or two bottles at the most is enough for any man and half that quantity is twice too much for any woman.

Yours truly,
MODERATION.

New Electric Road Opened In Britain

LONDON, Dec. 30 (C.P. Cable).—The Lord Mayor of London and other dignitaries of city and state travelled over 62 miles of new tracking of the Southern Railway to Brighton and Worthing to-day, thus inaugurating the largest electric-powered stretch in Britain.

The work has been two years in completion, and now makes Brighton even more a suburb of London than before. The journey takes 59 minutes from the metropolis to the favorite watering place on the English Channel. This time is just six hours shorter than the first steam coach took to cover the same ground.

Emigres was the name given to the Royalists who fled from France during the Revolution of 1789.

DOCUMENT TELLS ABOUT MASSACRE

merciless execution of thousands of French soldiers by their own military police and the United States' entry into the war, which saved France from certain revolution—and defeat.

The revelations have just been published by M. Paul Allard, who was a press censor during the war. His book entitled "The Secret Committees," reports the secret sessions of the chamber. They have not previously been disclosed.

Exploded Myth

Lieutenant Maginot, later conservative minister of war, after serving at Verdun, spoke at a secret session of parliament and exploded the myth of Verdun. "We have been told," he said "that the enemy's losses are at least twice as large as ours. We are told that before very long Germany will starve, that her currency will collapse, that there will be a revolution in Berlin. It is all very different. Verdun has opened our eyes.... The figures of the German casualties have shown that they are, proportionately, nothing like ours—their losses on two fronts are not substantially higher than ours on one front." He continued: "Why, then, should our casualties be proportionately higher than those of the Germans? First of all because in the battles which take place every day our trenches and dugouts are much more poorly protected than theirs. Our war material is infinitely inferior to theirs. Secondly, we constantly go in for useless offensives. Our last offensive in Champagne has cost us 300,000 men—dead, lost and wounded—and all for nothing. France is being bled to death—and even if the war is won we shall be diplomatically in a weak position in relation to our Allies.

"The truth of the matter is that Verdun has been a great failure, and that only the heroism of our soldiers has counteracted the inefficiency of our high command."

Joffre objected to members of parliament who served at the front making reports about conditions at the front. It was for this reason that he was finally given the marshal's baton—and his dismissal. "Raise im to Olympus!" cried the deputy, M. Renaudel, at one of the secret sessions of the chamber. "Raise him so high that we will never see him any more!"

At the June, 1917, sitting of the chamber, Lieutenant Ybarnegaray, a deputy of the Right, described the horror of the ill-conceived offensive of the Aisne. "At 6 o'clock in the morning the battle had started, at 7 o'clock it was lost." The German artillery and machine-gun fire, coming from unexpected directions, was devastating. "I can still see those men—I shall see them all my life—chasseurs, fusiliers, colonial troops, Senegalese, running back like a crowd of madmen, thinking that our own machine-guns were firing at them." In an hour the German guns had wiped out the ambitious French plan. "That was the end of that terrible battle of the 16th," Ybarnegaray said. "How far away were the dreams of the morning! We could still see in the distance the towers of Laon, which were like cruel mockery." The deputy blamed Generals Nivelle, Mangin, Micheler and Mazel, those generals who, "dreaming of spectacular military glory, had engaged upon a hopeless venture which had cost France thousands and thousands of men."

On June 16, 1916, General Nivelle telegraphed the government in Paris: "There are no more Boches in front of us." And although he just had a disastrous defeat behind him he launched a new offensive, the result of which was nil. Thirty-two divisions had been left intact. Instead of being content, Nivelle decided on another even more disastrous offensive a week after the first. As for casualties, they amounted to 45,000 or 50,000 on the first day; by the second day they had risen to 80,000; By May 10, after a number of useless operations whose only purpose was to save the face of the commander-in-chief, they amounted to 160,000.

Causes of Mutinies

These two disastrous offensives of April-May, 1917, were the chief cause of the mutinies in the French army. The Russian revolution was a contributory cause. It was also after the Nivelle offensives that the chamber heard M. Diagne, the negro deputy, protest against the inhuman waste of black troops. "It was General Mangin," he said, "who started the false idea about the inexhaustible millions of blacks—no, gentlemen, not even the bodies of negroes are bullet or shell-proof." The offensive of April 16 had also revealed the deficiencies of the medical service and at its sitting of June 29 the chamber heard some horrible stories on the subject. M. Paul Lafont said that the commander-in-chief had made provision for 10,000 wounded on the day of the offensive. The medical service had increased this figure to 15,000. The offensive had resulted in 96,000 wounded. "For three days thousands of them could not receive even the most elementary treatment. The result was gangrene, amputation, and death to thousands."

The terrible stories of this medical disaster—one of the results of the Nivelle adventure—were more responsible for the mutinies in the French army than all the treason and pacifist propaganda with which the nationalist French writers have tried to explain them away.

Between April and June, 1917, 115 regiments, including 75 infantry regiments, were involved in the mutiny. Between the first and second Nivelle offensives the movement began to spread. "Acts of collective insubordination," Petain wrote at that time in a confidential document, "have been increasing in a most alarming manner for some days past." Painleve declared that there was a moment when there was only one division between Paris and Soissons on which the government could count. The French army had lost heart and wanted peace. There was a widespread feeling that the Germans could not be defeated. There were some deputies who demanded the opening of peace negotiations. Pierre Laval said that the Stockholm congress had been the poilu's one hope. "The disappointment caused by the breakdown of the Stockholm project is enormous." The French government refused passports to the Socialists who wanted to go and talk of peace in Stockholm.

In the trenches the feeling against the generals was intense. Albert Ferry, who was later killed in the war, said: "Can we stand a fourth winter of this war? The poilu is not what the papers make him out to be. He is a poor, heroic thing who suffers a great deal, and who has reached a state of physical and mental exhaustion which you can hardly imagine."

The sanctions which were taken against the poor fellows who could "stand it no longer" were ugly and brutal. Police spies were sent into the trenches to "untie their tongues." The story of the indiscriminate executions of the "rebels" (and how many good soldiers and innocent men were shot will never be known) is all too terrible to recount. They were massacred by machine guns, even as the 100,000 Russian soldiers whom the czar had sent to France were massacred, not because they had rebelled, but merely to prevent rebelling.

By July, 1917, the mutinies had practically come to an end. Not because of the sanctions, but simply because the entry of the United States into the war had given fresh hope to the French soldiers, and also because the French government had by that time removed the leaders whom the soldiers distrusted.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

FRESH INTEREST IN COSMIC RAY

Experts Consider Possibility it May Hold Secret to Future of Universe.

"BULLETS OF LIGHT."

(By F. B. Colton, C.P. Science Writer.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., December 30 (C.P.). — Two world-famed scientists debated on the cosmic ray to-day and charted new steps toward a possible explanation of the future of the universe—a secret that some believe the cosmic ray may hold.

Two possible explanations of the rays, which rain unseen from outer space and shoot like arrows of light through every living thing, were advanced before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in a general summing up of all available clues to the mystery.

The rays are electrons, highly charged particles of electricity, said Dr Arthur H. Compton, of the University of Chicago.

They are photons, or "bullets of light," of extremely short wave length, contended Dr. Robert A. Millikan, president of the California Institute of Technology.

Scientists now know only that cosmic rays are much like X-rays or radium rays, but far more penetrating. They will pierce 20 feet of lead and plunge 800 feet into the earth.

When their origin is decided if ever, it may help reveal to man the ultimate fate of the universe in which he lives. Some scientists have held the cosmic rays are "extra energy" liberated at atoms of new matter, and are being created somewhere among the stars replacing old worlds as they grow cold and die.

Compton and Millikan's debate brought together the latest knowledge of cosmic rays and provided a starting point for gathering more. The rays were discovered 21 years ago, though they had been raining down unheeded for no one knows how long.

Oppose Concessions To Separate Schools

SIMCOE, Ont., Dec. 30 (C.P.).—Rev. W. L. Lawrence, P.G.M., and L. H. Saunders, P.G.M., both of Toronto, were speakers at a largely attended banquet of Simcoe Orange Lodge last night. Delegations from Waterford, Guysboro, Port Dover and Teeterville Lodges were among the guests.

Mr. Lawrence in his address attacked the separate school system, describing it as one of special privilege which tended to split the populace into two groups.

The gathering, numbering about 150, unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"This gathering of public school supporters of the town of Simcoe and Norfolk County goes on record as being unalterably opposed to the granting of further concessions to roman Catholic schools in Ontario, especially the demand now made for a part of the taxes of corporation and public utilities, and we pledge ourselves unreservedly in defence of our public school system against the efforts of those who would hamper or weaken its usefulness and plunder its treasury."

WORLD WATCHES BARTER REVIVE

SCHEME SPREADING.

TORONTO, Dec. 30. — (C.P.)—Bartering—the most primitive form of commerce, turned attention of the world eager for methods to revive trade, to Canada to-day.

The swapping of Canadian cattle, hides, and railway equipment for Russian oil, petroleum products and anthracite coal was proposed.

The Soviet government already has agreed, Canadian reports said, to an exchange of $7,000,000 worth of cattle—about 100,000 head on hoof and 10,000 tons of beef hides—for gasoline and petroleum products.

The representative of an interested Canadian syndicate, just returned from Moscow, was in Ottawa to-day to talk the matter over with government officials.

Only a few months ago Canada consummated a similar deal with Russia. Tankers unloaded 40,000 tons of oil at Montreal and the Soviet government was paid $1,000,000 worth of Canadian aluminum.

Wheat For Coffee.

The United States' government participated in a big bartering deal this year. It made an outright exchange of 25,000.00 bushels of wheat to Brazil for 150,000,000 pounds of coffee. This followed closely upo sale of 15,000,000 bush-

FOR UTILITIES COMMISSION

E. BRUCE FOWLER

The Utilities Commission is a business body whose members are called upon to deal with business problems relating to Hydro-Electric service within the city.

All technical matters must be referred to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and the local Commission must be governed by their decision. The City thus has the advantage of the advice of the finest electrical engineers in the country. Moreover, the Utilities Commission has in Mr. Ross Dobbin an engineer adequately qualified and fully able to superintend all the technical affairs of the Commission.

In Peterborough it is impossible to have on the Utilities Commission, an electrical engineer who has not a close connection with a company which buys from the Commission and sells most equipment to the Commission. It is right that the Commission should purchase from a local industry and maintain the most friendly relations with it. But for a man closely associated with that industry, also to be a member of the Utilities Commission, must inevitably lead to a conflict between his interest and his duty—a situation in which he seeks to sit on both sides of the conference table.

It is therefore of principal importance that a business man be appointed to deal with the business problems that arise.

I stand for every economy consistent with efficient service in the interests of all users of electricity, water and gas.

els of Farm Board meat and flour from the Pacific Northwest to China—similar in effect to a barter by stimulating imports of Chinese goods and relieving farmers of wheat they could not sell for a profit.

A Winnipeg syndicate was making plans for the latest Canadian-Russian swap. One report said it would accept anthracite coal, as well as oil, from Russia. Another said Canadian railroad equipment would be sent to Russia as well as cattle.

Meanwhile a movement has been inaugurated in Nova Scotia for the bartering of fish and fish products of the farm. The plan was discussed yesterday at a preliminary conference of the shore fishing industry and government representatives at Halifax.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THERE IS A COMMON SAYING, and no doubt every one of you readers have heard it, that "we get what we are looking for."

* * * * * * *

It has become an adage, and a truth lies in every adage, hidden away in the quaint phrasing or so plain that "he who runs may read."

* * * * * * *

In this, the meaning is clear. What we are looking for returns to us with the insistence of a boomerang. We draw to us what we expect, as if our minds were magnets seizing upon each little thing similar to what we are looking for.

* * * * * *

It should make us thoughtful at the advent of the New Year. How shall we look upon it the day after to-morrow when 1933 arrives?

* * * * * *

Shall we see in it an opponent ready to thwart our efforts to advance to better things, or shall we see in it a friend who has a great desire to bring us every good thing possible? Shall we look on it as a carrier of depression and bad luck, or as a harbinger of success and good fortune?

* * * * * *

We have it in our power to look for and anticipate what we want. No one can prevent our doing this.

* * * * * *

We can put the adage to the test, for there is some great truth back of it. All of us know of persons who constantly feel slighted. They are looking for slights, and they get what they are looking for.

* * * * * *

If we are on the lookout for good things, we see every little thing with a favorable eye. We discover some good feature, where, if we are looking for trouble, we ferret out every unfavorable side.

* * * * * *

Another adage comes to mind. "Nothing succeeds like success."

* * * * * *

It is an amazing truth that success acts like a magnet to draw more success to those who have it. These people get what they are looking for.

* * * * * *

If we look for success in the New Year, we will inevitably draw some of it to ourselves, and the more we have the greater will be our likelihood of adding other successes to our accumulation.

* * * * * *

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

WHEN THE talented Norma Shearer first arrived in Hollywood, folks tell me, she was just an awkward Canadian girl with pudgy legs and too-broad hips. Norma, however, had energy, brains and ambition. She studied herself, located her defects and set out to correct them. She got down to proper exercising and slenderized her legs and hips. And she succeeded in transforming herself into the charming and very smart young actress we know to-day.

Over-broad hips certainly are a serious drawback, there are no two ways about it. But hips are so easy to keep slender, that no female should ever permit herself to acquire hefty ones. And while a diet such as the excellent one outlined in my "New Figure" booklet is most helpful in reducing fat hips, when the adipose tissue is so centralized, exercise is also most essential to slenderize and shape the hips. The following are especially effective for this purpose and are bound to bring results if practiced vigorously and faithfully every day:

Stand next to a wall, with your right hand resting on the wall. Bend your left knee upward. Then stretch your left leg forward at waist height, and with the leg straight, circle it to the side, then back, and then lower it to the floor. Repeat 10 times and then do it with the right leg.

Lie on your back on the floor, legs straight, knees stiff and arms extended sideward at shoulder level. Then, keeping the knees stiff, swing your right leg over your body and try to touch your toes to your left hand. Return the right leg to first position and repeat with your left leg, trying to touch the left foot to your right hand.

Stand next to a wall, with your hands resting against the wall and your left foot on a thick book or some like elevation. Then swing the loosely hanging right leg, muscles relaxed, vigorously forward and backward, kicking it as high in front and back as you can.

Lying flat on the floor, raise your legs and pedal as you would on a bicycle. Begin slowly and gradually increase your speed.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Superfluous Hair

Lillian: The superfluous hair bleach you refer to consists of two teaspoons of peroxide, and half a teaspoon of ordinary household ammonia.

Bluing

Babs: The bluing used in the bluing hair rinse is not the same product that is used in laundering. There is a special hair bluing that can be procured in most beauty shops.

Reducing

Mrs. K.: It is indeed possible to reduce the waist, hips and thighs, and at the same time develop and firm the bust. Full information on this is contained in my "New Figure" booklet.

Brown Spots

Dora: To eradicate brown spots, so-called "liver-spots," apply a solution of hyposulphite of soda and water, using one part of the chemical to eight parts of water.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SALT FREE DIET IN SINUSITIS

One of the distressing ailments that seems to show an increasing number of cases is sinusitis, or inflammation of the little hollows or caverns in the bony parts of the face adjoining the nose.

These sinuses lined by mucous membrane usually drain themselves without any trouble, but when infection arises, and the material—thick mucous or pus—will not drain out, the pain may become so severe that operation to give more free drainage may be necessary.

Many individuals suffer amost continuously and others suffer periodic attacks of sinusitis, without having any treatment other than a drug to deaden the pain, or by undergoing constant treatment by a nose and throat specialist.

Dr. V. E. Ullman, Portland, Oregon, remarks that as diet is considered such an important factor in the treatment of chronic diseases it seems strange that so little attention has been given to diet in the management of "that widespread, distressing, and often dangerous condition, chronic sinusitis."

He suggests that a diet poor in salt be used in these cases, because it is well known that most persons consume more salt than they require, and that every gram of salt in the body is capable of holding 70 grams of water. Experiments show that a larger part of this extra salt is contained in the skin and mucous membranes producing a tendency to swelling and an extra amount of fluid is also manufactured.

Roughly Dr. Ullman's diet is as follows: For the first week no salt whatever should be taken and the diet should consist solely of vegetables and fruits, raw or cooked. For the next three to five weeks, the patient should observe two salt free days each week. The intake of salt should of course be cut down at all times.

There is no need to cut down the intake of water in sinusitis because reduction of the salt will cause the kidneys to throw off more water in the form of urine.

Dr. Ullman has used this salt free diet treatment successfully in 33 cases. No patient can ever be harmed by this treatment.

When we remember the beneficial effects of cutting down on the salt intake in other chronic ailments of the skin and mucous membrane it does look like good sense to try this treatment in an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the lining of the sinuses.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OF KNOX CHURCH GIVES CONCERT

Main Item in the Program Was the Play, "The Fatal Quest."

ALSO TUXIS BOYS PLAY.

Members of the Sunday School classes of Knox United Church were responsible for a delightful Christmas entertainment given on Wednesday evening in the lecture room, to an interested audience of parents and friends.

The main items in the program were the plays, "The Fatal Quest" by a group of C.G.I.T. girls, and the farce, "Obnoxious Oratory" by Tuxis Boys and leaders.

The Rev. W. McDonald acted as chairman for the entertainment, which opened with a chorus by Junior pupils, followed by a recitation by Mary Pitchford, a drill by Miss Hazel Laing's girls, a vocal duett by Wilma and Wanda Lockie, a vocal duett by Marion and Gordon Juniper, a recitation by Lloyd Williamson, a mouth organ solo by Grenville Juniper, a piano selection by Gertrude Lancashire, a recitation by Marion Juniper, a dialogue by Miss Melrose' boys, a piano solo by Helen Ward, a drill by Hazel Huffman's girls, a duet by Velma Stewart and Merla Sproule.

The Star drill by C.G.I.T. girls was very pretty, with the young girls in appropriate robes. Taking part in it were Marjorie Thexton, Dorothy Dunford, Gracie Stewart, Jean Ralston, Jean Stevens, Nora Hughes, Jessie Scholey, Jessie Hutton Jean McDonald and Edna Dunford.

A campfire scene by C.G.I.T. girls followed, with Mrs. E. Huffman and Miss K. Benson as leaders.

The play, "The Fatal Quest" by a group of C.G.I.T. girls, was based on the romance of a lovely princess and a handsome duke, whose love was foiled by a hard-hearted king and queen. It had a farcial atmosphere and the action was carried on in the ancient manner of play-acting, as each one of the characters announced himself or herself individually. When the monarch disappeared from the stage, he announced: "Exit the king" and others in like manner. Two young girls proclaimed themselves as curtains, and little Nora Hughes was the bell-ringer for the different scenes. It was a charming little playlet, well enacted, with Edna Dunford as the lovely princess, Marjorie Thexton as the handsome duke, Jean Herd as the king, and Rita Sproule as the queen. Marguerite Wood and Annabelle Herd were the curtains.

The farce enacted by the Tuxis Boys and leaders, entitled "Obnoxious Oratory" was also a very bright and entertaining piece of fun, that included the 'taking off' of certain well-known people with little rhymes in which the audience joined. Those taking part included Walter Ward, Keith Hughes, Sam McKinley, Joe Daynes, Howard Cunningham, John Londerville, George Masters, John Cowling, Gerald Seabrook, Harry Murduff, John Donaldson, Don Charlton, Harry Anderson, 'Bud' Charlton, Ross Allen, Howard Hamill and Ormie Benson.

An interesting little play, "The Spirit of Christmas" was also enacted by Mrs. E. Huffman's group.

Taking part in the direction and drilling of the various items on the program, were Miss Muriel Benson, Miss Annie Crocker, Miss K. Benson, Miss Hazel Huffman, John Donaldson, Joe Daynes and Don Charlton.

Accompanists were Miss Muriel Benson, Miss Marion Ralston, Miss Alice Davis, Mr. W. R. Potter and Tom Allen.

After the program was finished, gifts were distributed from a large Christmas tree, with A. Watson assisting Santa Claus.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A GOOD STUDENT

A GOOD STUDENT reads understandingly and puts to practical use what he reads. Two years ago I explained a unique situation, and how my partner, Mr. George Kling, read the situation from my cues, and by beautiful play defeated an apparent lay-down for game. Among those who read and remembered was Mr. Ralph A. Day, manager of the Commodore Bridge club. In October we encountered a similar situation. By remembering what he had read, Mr. Day defeated an apparently certain game. The holdings are shown below:

With both sides vulnerable the bidding went: Z, 1-Heart; A (myself), 1-Spade; Y, 2-Diamonds; B, (Mr. Day), 2-Spades; Z, 3-Hearts; A, Pass; Y, 4-Hearts.

My opening lead was the Ace of spades. My partner dropped the 10, to inform me that he held the K of our suit. The declarer dropped the 4. To have led another spade would have been to give the opponents the rubber. All they could have lost would have been two spades and one diamond tricks.

It was not clear from what dummy showed who held the K of clubs, but had my partner both A-K of clubs he almost certainly woud have supported me once more. Evidently the declarer held one of the minor Aces and my partner held the other one, but unless my partner held the Ace of diamonds, and I could obtain a ruff, I did not see how we possibly could defeat the contract.

I stopped leading spades and shifted to my of diamonds. Dummy played the 8. My partner resitated for a second, and I thought that we were lost. Then he recalled the principle involved: if I would not give up control of spades, by leading a second round of that suit, so that dummy could ruff a third round, my partner must not give up control of diamonds, by playing his Ace to the first trick. He played his 9, as a come-one. Z's J won the trick.

The declarer was in a quandary. He could pull trumps, but then he must lose two more spade tricks and the Ace of diamonds, unless adversely help trumps fell in two leads.

The declarer decided to lead back a spade, hoping to shut me out when I was offered a ruff of diamonds. Had I held a singleton diamond originally, I would let my partner win that trick in spades, to obtain my ruff. As I held one diamond still I won the spade with my Q, and led my last diamond.

My partner's Ace of diamonds won the trick, and he led back a diamond for me to ruff. How many trumps had I, and what was my highest one, was the question that troubled the declarer. He decided to ruff with his Q, thus winning the trick. He led his Ace of hearts. My partner and I both followed suit. He led a low heart. Had he led his 10 I would have covered with my J, to make my 9 good. When the low heart was led through me my 9 forced the K, leaving my J good. This gave us two spade tricks, one diamond trick and one trump trick. Our four winning tricks defeated the contract by one trick. Z could not have helped going down one trick, as my partner had played correctly. Had he played his Ace of diamonds on the first lead of that suit the declarer would have won his contract.

Taking no Chances in VOTING FOR DENNE

When they vote for the re-election of Mayor Denne next Monday, citizens of Peterborough will not be voting blindly.

They know just what they are voting for.

They know the man, his record over years of public service, his absorbing interest in everything that tends to improve this city, his willingness to give unsparingly of his time and energy to the city's business, his intimate knowledge of every detail of public affairs.

They know that Mayor Denne has always been on the job for the past five years, that in fact for his whole term of office he has denied himself the yearly holiday that most other people seem to find necessary, that the city's business has always come before his own convenience.

They know that under his leadership there have been improvements made in all parts of the city, that an aggressive effort has been consistently made to provide work for the unemployed, that economies have been effected wherever possible without damaging the efficiency of public services.

They know that in Mayor Denne they have an executive who commands the respect of prospective manufacturers, a man who has the enthusiasm and pride in his home city to convince industrial heads of the manifold advantages of Peterborough as a manufacturing centre.

They know that under his administration there has been no discrimination on political class or religious lines, that the city's business has been free from all suspicion of such prejudices.

They know in short that Mayor Denne can be trusted to put the interests of the whole city before any sectional interest, and to carry out public business on a business-like basis.

They know he has been a hard-working, painstaking, dependable Chief Magistrate.

That is why on Monday they are going to vote

DENNE FOR MAYOR

Leafs Beat Maroons 1-0 for Five Point Lead

N.Y. RANGERS AN D BILL COOK LEAD GROUP AND IN SCORING

Lester Patrick's Outfit Takes 4-2 Decision From Senators Last Night.

WINGS-CANADIANS TIE.

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—(CP)—William O. (Bill to you) Cook and the New York Ranger craft from which he has been paddling these seven years had a nose out in front of one National Hockey League heat today and this time they may be there to stay.

With the big war-club he has wielded in 10 big league campaigns, the older of the celebrated Cook brothers from Brantford, Kingston and North Saskatchewan wheatlands drove the Rangers into first place in the United States division last night and himself into a three-point lead for scoring honors over marksmen of both sections.

The Rangers slipped past the idle Boston Bruins by beating Ottawa Senators 4-2 before a crowd of 14,000 in Madison Square Garden. At the same time Brother Bill slipped a pair of goals on the record book—or rather he had one chalked up for him and earned the other—to move well out in front of the somewhat subdued Baldy Northcott of Montreal Maroons.

As Cook and Northcott are fellow-Brantfordites it may be immaterial which one heads the list.

Baldy went scoreless last night along with his mates as Toronto Maple Leafs downed Maroons 1-0 at Toronto. In the other scheduled contest Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings payed to a 3-3 deadlock at Montreal.

But the leading figure of New York's goal-getting firm of Cook, Cook and Boucher, helped along by husky Allan Shields of Ottawa, gathered in most of the night's glory. Thirty-three-year-old Bill, among the most aged of National leaguers, brought his point-total to 20 with his twin goals against Ottawa and placed him where he stands to win major league scoring honors for the fifth time.

Since his three-year run in which he led the Western League from 1924 to 1926, then rode into the National and showed the way to its scorers the very first season, Big Bill has been kept consistently—though not far—from the top. He was fourth in 1930 when Cooney Weiland of Boston was leader. Fourth in 1931 as Howie Morenz topped the marksmen, and fourth again last season when young Harvey Jackson of Toronto finished ahead.

Now, along with Ching Johnson, Rabbit McVeigh, Bill Phillips and Flat Walsh, the oldest N.H.L. performer, Cook threatens to again come through.

Bill's first goal last night was scored for him by Shields, who swiped the puck into the Ottawa net after the old star had got through the Senator defence and seemed destined to lose the scoring chance. Shields then got it back, tallying for Ottawa on a lone rush, and Syd Howe put the Caps ahead.

Young Gordie (Gosh) Pettinger, up from the disbanded Springfield Indians, tied the count for Rangers near the end of the first period and the Cook-Boucher attack made it certain in the second session. Boucher scored on Bun Cook's pass and Bill counted from a play in which Bun and Frankie both assisted.

Toronto pulled five points ahead of the still-second-place Senators with their win over Maroons. King Clancy lined a shot from the blue line past Goalie Walsh late in the first period for the only goal, and while the Leafs maintained a territorial advantage over the skidding men of Eddie Gerard they couldn't get another. It was the fifth straight loss for Maroons and their third straight shutout.

Detroit kept Canadiens hopping to get an ever break at Montreal. The Red Wings took a two-goal lead in the first period when Eddie Wiseman and Ebbie Goodfellow scored. Morenz reduced it to one with a second-period counter and Pit Lepine wiped it away early in the third. But Goodfellow got another and it was late in the session before Gerald Carson knotted the score for keeps.

First Parliament Met During 1657

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (C.P.).—Canada's first Parliament, probably a miniature one, met as early as 1657, declared Dr. Gustave Lanctot, chief French archivist of Canada, at a joint meeting of the American and Canadian Historical Associations here to-day.

In 1657, he said, owing to Indian raids, there was in New France a severe business depression, and the people sought a change of administration. The King of France, Louis XIV., modified the composition of the Quebec Council, allowing it to consist of the Governor and four members elected by the inhabitants of the country.

These elected councillors, said Mr. Lanctot, were entrusted with the voting of public finance and passing of regulations concerning commerce and fur trade, the main activities then of the country.

Stars Score 3-2 Triumph Over Detroit Olympics at Motor City Last Night.

BREAK LONDON TIE.

TORONTO, December 30 (C.P.).—Syracuse Stars twinkled alone at the top of the International Hockey League to-day following their sparkling 3-2 triumph over Detroit Olympics at the Motor City last night.

The victory gave the Stars the necessary points to break their tie with London Tecumsehs and recapture the position which they relinquished to the Tecs two weeks ago.

It also marked the third straight time Syracuse have defeated the Olympics, the latter having failed to win a game from the Stars this year.

The scoring was well distributed, the teams getting one each in the first and second periods and Syracuse getting the odd counter after six minutes of play in the final frame.

Emil Hanson, bulky Detroit defenceman, and Jack Markle, Syracuse forward, clinched near the boards in the second period, and with difficulty were pried apart.

Ron Moffatt and Leo Goldsworthy scored for the home team, while White Fields, Dave Downie and Earl Miller counted for the winners.

FIDEL LA BARBA BEATEN BY PAUL

IN CHICAGO MATCH.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (C.P.).—A few more victories over opponents like Fidel la Barba and any lingering doubts as to Tommy Paul's right to the featherweight championship will have to be dismissed.

The clever little Buffalo boxer, who is recognized by the National Boxing Association as ruler of the 126-pounders, but who lacks the approval of the boxing authorities in his home state, last night gave a convincing demonstration of his ability by outpointing La Barba in a ten-round non-title bout at the Chicago Stadium. The chunky Los Angeles featherweight, who lost to Kid Chocolate for the New York brand of the title, by an extremely close margin recently, was favored to take a reef in Paul's claims, but did not have what it took to do so.

Paul will defend his title against Freddie Miller of Cincinnati at Detroit January 20, Matchmaker Scotty Monteith announced to-day. Paul's time limit, during which he must defend the championship, expires January 2, and the bout, originally scheduled for January 30, was moved up to fill the association requirement.

WRITERS FAVOR MONTREAL GIRL

Brought Most Honor to Canada in Feminine Athletics During 1932.

OLYMPIC TRACK STAR.

(By Elmer Dulmage, C.P. Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Dec. 30. — Sports writers across Canada are as unanimous as sports writers can be today that Hilda Strike of Montreal, trim little speedster who ran at the Olympic Games last summer, was Canada's greatest woman athlete in 1932.

The newspaper critics, replying to a Canadian Press query, voted overwhelmingly in favor of Miss Strike, who came within inches of winning the 100-metre championship at Los Angeles. She finished second to Stella Walsh of Poland after leading all the way in the final dash up to the final five yards.

Olympic Track Star

Miss Strike was the only Olympic track athlete mentioned in the polling. She received 40 of the 52 votes cast by writers from British Columbia to Nova Scotia, becoming queen of the Dominion's feminine sport stars by as wide a margin as the writers last week gave Sandy Somerville in placing the London golfer at the head of Canada's male athletes for this year.

First Canadian to win the Canadian Women's Open Golf championship in several years, Marjorie Kirkham of Montreal placed second with five votes and Jean Wilson, brilliant Toronto speed skater, was third with three votes.

One vote each went to Ada McKenzie, Toronto golfing star; Lester Bennie, until this season captain of Edmonton's famous Grads, world basketball champions; Mrs. Leila Brooks Potter, Toronto speed skater, and Edith Bauld, winner of the Maritime women's golf championship last Summer for the ninth time.

Miss Strike, whose Olympic performances gave her ranking with such famous Canadian sprinters of other years as Rosa Grosse-O'Neill, Bobby Rosenfeldt and Myrtle Cook-McGowan, tasted her first international competition less than a year ago.

Highlight of Summer

Miss Kirkam's triumph in the Canadian women's golf championship was one of the highlights of the Summer season, and Miss Wilson's record-breaking feats at the Olympic Winter Games at Lake Placid placed her among the foremost women skaters. Now stricken with a mysterious muscular disease Miss Wilson is fighting to regain her health here with slight prospect of doing any competitive skating this Winter.

Fenella

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Merriam and daughter Leona, of Harwood, are visiting at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. McNaught.

LESTER PATRICK, NEW RANGER PRESIDENT, STARTED ON COAST

HELPED MAKE HOCKEY A MAJOR SPORT.

By ARCHIE WILLS
(Written for Central Press Canada)

LESTER PATRICK, then 27, and his brother Frank, 25, came out of the woods of Nelson, British Columbia in 1911, to start professional hockey on its way to the front ranks of major sports. They were quite young for such an ambitious program, but they had half a million dollars in cash and they spent it.

The Patricks came west and set up palatial arenas in Vancouver and Victoria. They introduced artificial ice to hockey.

The Patricks might have retraced their steps to the east, where, up to that time, their hockey careers had been molded. They sometimes wonder what would have happened had they bought the old arena in Toronto and expended their energy ability and resourcefullness in the National Hockey League.

THE MINUTE the Patricks opened their league on the Pacific coast the first game being played in Victoria on Jan. 2, 1912, the dawn of big gates, big salaries, showmanship and fast play broke. It was not long before 10,000 spectators were packed into the Vancouver arena. The players saw these crowds and when the next season came around and the contracts were submitted they held out for more money. Players had two leagues to dicker with and sometimes a players was in the west one year and in the east the next. The Patricks, however, saw that the players were the only ones benefiting by this arrangement and made a working agreement with the National League, but when the agreement was broken in 1915 Lester and Frank decided to show the easterners their real strength and went into Toronto and conducted the biggest raid of all-time.

They signed the entire Toronto team, which the previous season had won the Stanly Cup by defeating the Victoria Aristocrats. The team included Happy Holmes, Frank Foyston, Jack Walker, Cully Wilson and Eddie Carpenter. This was a terrific shock to the east and

IN 1924, WHEN the Western Hockey League had been formed with Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary, and the Pacific Coast League was left with only Victoria and Vancouver, through the withdrawal of Seattle, the Patricks got the prairie clubs to take them in and they made a cracking good league.

When the fortunes of hockey threatened to bounce the Patricks once again down the toboggan they showed their smartness in 1926 when they sold five clubs, Victoria, Vancouver, Portland, Calgary and Edmonton to the National Hockey league for $300,000.

It was the biggest hockey deal in history. From that time on the Patricks were no longer active in executive capacities. Lester received a tempting offer from the New York Rangers and accepted it. He is now serving his sixth season with that club and has always had them in the play-offs. Frank stayed west and revived the Pacific Coast League, but it was a minor affair and died in 1931.

a new agreement was drafted and closely adhered to.

FINGLETON SCORES 83 RUNS TO MAKE THE BEST SHOWING OF AUSSIE BATTERS TO-DAY

Voge and Allen Were the Most Deadly of English Bowlers —Record Attendance.

SECOND TEST MATCH.

Bradman's Return Meets With Failure When He Was Bowled Out With No Runs.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Australia, Dec. 30 (C. P. Cable).—At close of play to-day Australia had scored 194 runs for the loss of seven wickets in their second match with the English cricket team. Fingleton scored 83 runs, the best showing of the Aussie batters, before Allen took his leg stump. The talented Don Bradman, who had been welcomed to the team as one who might greatly bolster the Aussie batting, proved an unhappy failure when he was bowled cleanly on his first ball with no runs.

Voce and Allen were the most deadly English bowlers. Voce had three wickets for 39 runs, and Allen two for 41.

The attendance was announced as a world record. It totalled 63,993.

It was apparent from the outset of the Aussie inning that the Australian batsmen did not intend to open right out upon the fast English bowling, but rather to play themselves in gradually. W. M. Woodful, the Australian captain, who won the toss, went to bat first with J. Fingleton. After 53 minutes of careful blocking Woodful was bowled by G. O. Allen for 10 runs, the first wicket falling for 29 runs.

High Bouncing Deliveries

Larwood and Voce were sending down high-bouncing deliveries that on several occasions caused the batsmen to duck. The fierce bowling aroused considerable barracking from the stands. The Aussie 50-mark was reached after 94 minutes of play and shortly after with the score at 59 Woodful turned one of W. K. Bowes' deliveries to leg and foolishly ran. The Nawab of Pataudi playing forward leg snapped in a splendid return to Ames who broke the wicket in lightning fashion, and L. P. O'Brian, who replaced Woodful, was run out. The score at the fall of the second wicket was 67.

And here it was that Bradman's "duck" occurred. He swung wildly at the first ball bowled by Bowes and had his leg stump cleanly taken. With three wickets taken the score remained at 67.

Make Good Team

Stanley McCabe, who had proved the one successful batter against the English team in the first test match, then joined Fingleton, and the two played a steady wicket for a long time, and at the tea-time adjournment had brought the score up to 120.

After tea Larwood and Voce resumed the bowling and McCabe cut a fine one from Voce into the hands of D. R. Jardine at slips, and was retired with 32. The score stood at 131 for four wickets.

V. Y. Richardson followed in and Allen replaced Voce on the English bowling. Fingleton missed a fast low ball from Allen and was dismissed with 83 for an admirable inning.

Richardson was joined by W. A. Oldfield, but the former lifted one of Voce's to Hammond at short leg and was out with 34. Richardson's inning was featured by his characteristic pulling to leg.

C. V. Grimmett joined Oldfield, and the two played doggedly until Grimmett was caught by Sutcliffe at fine leg off Voce and was dismissed with two. Seven wickets had fallen for 194 runs and play was closed for the day. Oldfield was not out with 13. The score card:

Australia—First Innings

W. M. Woodful, b Allen	10
L. P. O'Brien, run out	10

SCORES 273 RUNS

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 30 (C. P. Cable).—New South Wales scored 273 in their first innings against Queensland to-day of the Sheffield Cricket Shield match. Butt, with 58, and Solomon, with 47, were the best for New South Wales, while Brew, with three for 91, and Benstead, with three for 53, led the Queensland bowling.

The only player to make a triple play unassisted before the turn of the present century in baseball was Paul Hines, of Providence, who turned the trick in 1878. Although credited with it, it appears that it was assisted. Only seven major league players have made one.

SCHMELING-BARR BOUT AT CALIENTE

Jockey Head Wants Heavyweight Match for End of March.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Dec. 30 (A.P.)—James N. Crofton, president of Agua Caliente Company, said yesterday Jack Dempsey, former fisticuf king, had undertaken to promote a fight between Max Schmeling and Max Baer here next Spring. Crofton said Dempsey had telegraphed him asking whether arrangements could be made.

A telegram sent to Dempsey in New York by Crofton in reply said: "Let me know what offers you have. Understand you wish to stage the match in June. If you could arrange it for the end of March, we could put it on at the race track and undoubtedly draw tremendous crowd. Best regards and good luck."

The $50,000 added Agua Caliente Handicap will be run March 26, closing the Agua Caliente Jockey Club's fourth Winter meeting.

Dempsey has already signed the two Maxies to meet in June at 15 rounds. But up until the present only Chicago and New York have been mentioned as probable scenes of the bout.

TRINITY DROPS FROM JUNIORS

Second Half of Church Basketball League Gets Under Way Next Week.

OTHER CHANGES.

The first half of the Church Basketball League has been completed, and the schedule for the second half will be out next week, so that play may be resumed January 7th. The Junior Section (under 19) will likely have some changes. Murray Street, winners of the first half, will be back as well as Knox, Mark Street and St. John's. Trinity found the going hard and will drop out. St. Paul's is uncertain as they have plenty of good material but lack a guiding hand. George Street may come in, and St. Andrew's also have the material.

The Juvenile Section is under a single series, with Trinity in the lead. St. Paul's B team is dropping out leaving St. Paul's A, George Street A and B, Trinity, St. Andrew's and Knox. The schedule is not too far gone for any other team to break in, players being under 15 years.

Two rules of the league will make a difference in the second half. One is that no Senior City League player is eligible when that loop gets going. The Holmes' brothers of Murray Street, and Sagar and Smith of Mark Street may have to make a choice between two teams, as well as other players. Another rule is that Section 2 of Law 3 of the Constitution of the Ontario Church Basketball Association, allowing a juvenile to play one game in the Junior Section. This will be adopted.

The local church cage circuit was quite successful in the first half, and the second should be as good. The players have been getting on the floor on time, and good refereeing has marked the contests. Vince Holmes has officiated for the juvenile games, while the Leaders' Corps of the Y.M.C.A. has handled the junior ones.

What is needed to promote this league is older boys and young men to organize and start teams from their churches. These young men are also needed for the Church Hockey League, and other athletic and boys' work organizations. It is not necessary to be a good basketball player to manage a team, and this game is the least expensive one of all sports locally.

Every Sunday school teacher or leader of teen-age boys of the evangelical churches of Peterborough should see that his church is represented in this basketball league. Any new entries to the league should be sent in as soon as possible after this Sunday, as the schedule will be published around the middle of the week if possible. Don Charlton of 159 Rubidge street is secretary, and his phone number is 2208J.

The Y.M.C.A. has helped the church loop considerably, giving it the use of the gym for two hours each Saturday without remuneration, although only about half the players are members of the "Y." The Peterborough Boys Work Board also aids by sponsoring the league and presenting shields to the winners. The league was refused the use of the Collegiate gym two years ago at the time of organization, but intends to make another effort next September, as they would like two hours a week at the "Y" and about four at the other gym, with perhaps a section for church girls.

Radio announcers in Toronto have their hands full. One broadcasting an amateur game in that city became so excited he couldn't talk when a swell riot started between the players.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

The first scheduled intermediate O.H.A. game of the season which was supposed to be played here this evening had to be called off because of the mild weather. Bowmanville was notified yesterday, and the contest will have to be played at a later date. It was a tough break, but we could see it coming the past few days. Better postpone the fixture entirely than try to run it off on soft ice. Let's hope the weatherman is kinder the rest of the hockey season.

* * * * * * *

One dozen teams in the Southend Hockey League to date, both the bantam and juvenile sections closed, no juniors and the intermediate series still open—that's the way this loop stands now. There was a meeting last night, with a good turnout, every team but Maple Leafs having a representative out. All Saints dropped out of the S.E.L. in order to play with the West End Intermediate League. That leaves Quaker Oats, Pirates, Northenders, Canucks and Park Hill in this section. They'd like two more, but the entries must be in at the meeting to draw up the intermediate schedule at 7.30 next Tuesday in Duffus.

* * * * * * *

The schedules for the other two sections will be drawn up by the secretary within the next few days and published in the paper. In the bantam group are: Maple Leafs, Canucks, Empire Cubs and Warne Bros. The juvenile series includes Black Hawks, Rangers and Albion Knitting. No juniors are entered in this league for the first time since its inception, a larger City Hockey League probably making for a shortage of good boys of junior age, or else the young fellows being unable to get backing. But we haven't heard that this last is the case. At any rate, the Southend League will get away to an early start in January, if there's ice.

* * * * * * *

We stand corrected by the Oshawa sportswriter who points out that it was a junior game at the Maple Leaf Gardens which drew only 150 fans, and not a Senior B as we said. He adds that he might predict that when Oshawa's Senior B squad opens in Toronto against St. Mike's January 5th, there'll be a crowd of 2,000 present. We don't downt that, though that won't be an average crowd by any means, not this winter.

Here's five recommendations made at the opening of the annual meeting of the American Football Coaches which applies just as much in this district as anywhere: First—That longer preseason training periods be held, as most of the injuries to players occur early in the season; second—there is need for more thorough warming-up periods before the start of each game, investigation having shown that most injuries occur during the first ten minutes of play; third—there is a need for better protective equipment for the elbows, knees and ankles.

* * * * * * *

The fourth one is: Equipment to protect the neck between the base of the helmet and shoulder harness; and the fifth—stricter enforcement of the existing rules, investigation having proven that many injuries have happened during attempts at illegal play permitted by lenient officials. It was shown that the injuries and deaths had been cut down considerably last year, though still too high. And someone concluded the session by saying that officials wouldn't be necessary at football games if the coaches weren't imbued with the spirit of victory at any price.

Jackie Johnston, one of the Canuck boxers touring England, is back in Toronto for a visit. Among other things, he said that Jack Dane, who began his professional ring career a year and a half ago in Peterborough, benefitted most from the tour. "The rest of us," says Jackie, "were all experienced. It was purely a commercial proposition with us. Dane, on the other hand, was merely learning the trade and when he returns home you will see a different fighter. We all helped him, taught him the rudiments of the game, and now he is beginning to benefit from the instruction." Dane did his training for a long time at Keene and boxed here.

Entry date for the West End Intermediate Hockey League closes next Thursday, January 5th, when a meeting will be held at All Saints' rink at 7.30. Managers of all teams should attend as the schedule will be drawn up, officers elected and a trophy discussed. The loop would like a couple more entries before then. Those in now are: Peterborough Canoe, All Saints, Maroons, Keene, George Street, and an unnamed team from Ashburnham.

In an open letter to the Star, commending the C.A.H.A. for warning the amateur hockey "tourists", J. T. Sutherland, a past president of the O.H.A. waxes rather bitter against young Canadian hockey players who sell their puck ability for jobs. Among other absurd remarks, he says these boys haven't the nerve to come out straight and join the ranks of the pros, but resort to underhand methods to obtain their amateur standing. Did it ever occur to Mr. Sutherland that this is entirely the fault of such bodies as he O.H.A. and the O.B.A.A. and particularly the A.A.U. of C., which mix amateurs and professionals continually under the guise of amateurism? That's why so many of A.A.U. of C. officials have quit kidding themselves and want to let the athletes mix in the open.

* * * * * * *

Another thing, Mr. Sutherland perhaps does not feel the pinch of the times as the families of many hockey players. After all, when people have trouble getting three squares a day, they arn't wasting too much time worrying about the so-called ethics of a sporting organization which all of a sudden begins to enforce some rules that have gone by the board quite a while back. If a player is out of work and living on his folks, unless they have plenty of dough, and he is offered a job in some other town in return for playing hockey, we wouldn't blame him a bit for taking it. Work is even more important nowadays than sport, and besides it's just a matter of time till the different amateur bodies will come out in the open and permit what has been going on under cover for years.

GEROW WILL COACH NAPANEE BALL CLUB

Has Led Belleville Nations to C.O.B.L. Title Seven Times.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 30.—One of the most prominent men in local sport, Walter Gerow, coach of the Belleville Nationals senior baseball club, has announced that he is moving to Napanee shortly. Mr. Gerow has coached and played for the local team for 16 years, during which time he has won the C.O.B.L. title seven times and the provincial championship twice.

As a ball player Walter Gerow was without a peer at the first base position. His first local appearance was in a local city league. In 1910 he moved to Bloomfield and played in the Prince Edward County League. In 1911 he played for St. Mary's in Toronto, where he established a name for himself as first baseman. Offered a professional contract, he turned it down and returned to this city, where he played for three years. When the O.B.A.A. organized he returned to Belleville, and the Nationals won the provincial championship from the Hamilton Harvesters.

An accident in 1929 impaired his throwing arm; and he assumed the coaching duties. The league championship was won in 1922, but in the Ontario finals the team was defeated by Galt Terriers. In 1923, after winning the C.O.B.L. the Nationals were defeated by the Royal Canadians. In 1926, with Gerow still at the helm the Nationals won the provincial championship, defeating the much-touted Walkerville Chicks. League pennants were won again in 1929 and 1930, but Bell Telephone of Toronto eliminated the Nationals each time.

Coupled with the name of Walter Gerow is that of William ("Peeney") Mills, veteran catcher who has been with the Nationals almost as long as Gerow himself and who has been in the limelight in connection with the Nationals' long string of victories.

Gerow will take up the duties of coach of the Gibbard baseball club of Napanee next year, and his many friends in this district and throughout the province will remember him for his efforts to promote clean sport.

During his early youth Pat O'Brien left Marquette Academy, Milwaukee, where he was a student, to join Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. Later he served for a while in the Navy and then went to New York with Spencer Tracy, a chum of his boyhood, and entered the American Academy of Dramatic Art. Fellow classmates were William Powell, Monroe Owsley and Kay Johnson. After the war he sang in "Adrienne," and appeared in the Gleason's "Is Zat So." He was the managing editor in the stage version of "The Front Page" but film producers thought he was Hidy Johnson, the reporter, and signed him for the picture. Lee Tracy was Johnson in the stage play.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

PETER DECIDES TO HOLD HIS TONGUE

When you're uncertain what you know,
Hold still your tongue and keep it so.

Peter Rabbit says that he can give no better advice than that. Peter ought to know, for his tongue has led him into all sorts of trouble. He says it is all right to talk when you are absolutely sure of what you are talking about, but that if there is the least doubt in your mind it is far wiser to let others do the talking.

When Peter finally left Johnny Chuck's house he was so upset he didn't know what to do. You remember he had found Johnny curled up in his bed down in his bedroom and that nothing Peter could do brought the least signs of life from Johnny. So Peter was terribly upset. It seemed to him that his old friend Johnny Chuck must certainly be dead. To Peter he had every appearance of being. If he was dead Peter wanted to spread the news. You know there is nothing Peter so delights in as beingthe bearer of news, be it good or bad? Aren't some people funny that way?

Then, again, if Johnny was dead Peter would feel dreadfully, for he and Johnny were such long time friends. But he didn't want to feel dreadfully over nothing. No, indeed. He didn't want anything like that. And if it should happen that Johnny wasn't dead and he, Peter, had spread the news that he was dead, he never, never would hear the end of it. So Peter wisely decided to hold his tongue for a while. It would be safer.

Once back in the dear old Brier-Patch, Peter tried his best to forget all about Johnny Chuck. But there are things that won't be forgotten. I guess you know all about that. It was just so with Peter. He kept thinking and thinking about Johnny Chuck and wondering and wondering. Every day he visited Old Orchard in the far corner of which is Johnny Chuck's house, and there he would sit staring at the doorway for the longest time. Once in a while he would venture down inside for a look at Johnny Chuck. Always he found Johnny just as when he had first seen him there. So far as Peter could see there was nothing, absolutely nothing to show that Johnny was alive.

Each time Peter went away more doubtful than ever. That is, he was more doubtful of Johnny being alive. He just couldn't believe that there could be life in that cold little body curled up underground.

"If he's asleep it's the funniest kind of sleep I've ever heard of" muttered Peter after one of these visits. "At one time or another I've seen most of my neighbors asleep, but never one that didn't wake up at the least sound close by. Johnny

There he would sit staring at the doorway for the longest time

Chuck can't be wakened and that is all there is to it, and anybody that can't be wakened must be dead. So Johnny Chuck is dead and I'm going right away to tell everybody, so there!

Peter took two or three quick hops, then a few slower ones and finally stopped altogether. Doubt once more wrinkled his brow in little worried puckers.

"If he shouldn't be dead, if he shouldn't be, I'd never hear the last of it," muttered Peter. "I guess I'll hold my tongue a while longer.

He did and it was well he did. Johnny Chuck wasn't dead, but was in that strange and wonderful sleep called hibernation, a sleep which is not at all like ordinary sleep and from which sometimes there is no waking for many months. It is one of Old Mother Nature's greatest wonders. How Peter would have been laughed at in the spring when sweet Mistress Spring came had he gone about telling that Johnny Chuck was dead!

If December 30th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 8.15 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and from 4.30 p.m. to 5.45 p.m. The danger periods are from 10.20 a.m. to 11.40 a.m. and again from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Influences are such on this December 30th, that you will appear to act and to make decisions without knowing just why. You will not be playing hunches; rather, you will probably feel that your actions are being guided by some power outside yourself. You should encounter much good in your path on this day. You may possibly be called away on a trip of some kind, or you may have a visit from a friend or relative who comes from a distance.

Born on December 30th, the child will be brisk in his thinking and acting. Begin early to cultivate in him a sense of fair-play. Tendencies toward deceitfulness and untruthfulness will have to be guarded against most carefully. Love alone will guide this obstinate little one.

If December 30th is the date of your birth, you are inclined to be hot-tempered and argumentative. All your life you have liked a good fight; in your early years you were not averse to physical combat while later in life a verbal fray is always to your liking. Unfortunately your talents along this line are wasted, for you do not generally seek to maintain or establish a worthwhile principle, nor are you careful to be on the right side of the question. More often than not your obstinacy leads you to shift your own views just for the sake of warring with some one. A legal career would seem to suit you; possibly a career as a politician. Your ready flow of words never fails you and you have the faculty of phrasing matters in an appealing way.

If you are a woman and your birthday is on December 30th, you are the type who is ever on the jump doing things in your home; cooking, cleaning, sewing, caring for others, all these follow in quick succession and you keep yourself happy by keeping yourself busy. You like people and enjoy entertaining; but you feel that you do not have the time to devote to playing hostess. Your children, and you would like to have many, are often set up as examples for other children to follow.

Christmas Entertainments

AT CENTREVILLE

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 28. — The Sunday School hall at Centreville was filled with interested parents and friends on Friday evening for the annual entertainment by the scholars and the presenting of the awards won during the year, the arrival of Santa Claus and the distribution of gifts from the gaily-trimmed tree completing a most successful and enjoyable occasion.

R. O. Larmer, superintendent of the school, occupied the chair, and the opening chorus was by the massed pupils, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", the accompanists of the evening being Misses Gwen Hutchison and Grace Johnson. Little folk, distinguished by quaint red caps with big green bows and tinsel, gave a "Clock Drill" that was greatly enjoyed, a big clock at the back of the platform having its hands sent round the dial as each of the twelve primary children, in turn, moved them the movements and dialogue being quite effective.

Pupils who were heard in recitation numbers included Dorothy Hoad, Elmer Rowe, Mary Larmer, Doris and Ray Falls, and the primary girls in the Snow-Flake Motion Song won warm applause, each little maid wearing white with long streamers from skirt edge, wrists, and neck tipped with cotton batton balls and sprinkled with 'snow'.

Some of the older boys and girls took part in the humorous dialogue, "The Train to Loon Town", and the "Bell Drill" by the girls of Mrs. Clifford Hall's class was most effective.

The concluding number was a pageant, "O Holy Night", but previous to its performance Robina Tait played as a piano solo the selection she had recently given at a recital in Peterborough. The pageant was in two scenes, familiar hymns and carols being sung at intervals in its rendition, the shepherds tending their flocks as the curtains parted being Isaac Larmer, Gerald Larmer, Willie Lackey, and Gerald Anderson, while the angel who came as a messenger, Katie Anderson, wore the traditional filmy white and silver. Robina Tait was the reader for the story as it unfolded and the church choir assisted with the singing.

The Manger Scene

The manger scene was depicted in the second half, Muriel Whittington being a lovely Madonna, the only light for this section being from the lighted manger-cradle, the Wise Men coming with their gifts while the choir sang, "Silent Night", and as the kings walked off, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

In the intermission between the two scenes Miss Alice Berry sang "The First Nowell", and in the final tableau the chorus was, "Joy to the World".

Previous to the presentation of the prizes the chairman invited the teachers to the platform each to give the awards to her own pupils, Mrs. Stewart Hall's primary children having Mary Whittington first for attendance, with Alvin Tate and Mary Larmer tied for second place. Mrs. Hall donated special prizes for memory work, Marian McGill and Ray Falls being the winners.

In Miss Dorothy Hall's class Phyllis Larmer came first for attendance, and Bernice Falls and Robina Tait tied for second. For catechism the honors went to Robina Tait, and to Bernice Falls. In the class of boys taught by Rev. Mr. Williams Isaac and Gerald Larmer were first and second respectively for being present, and in Mrs. Clifford Hall's class Muriel Whittington and Margaret Larmer had the highest standing.

The lovely appliqued quilt made by the girls of Mrs. Hall's class was on display, Rev. Mr. Williams drawing the ticket from the hat which revealed Mrs. David R. Fowler as the holder of the lucky number. Santa Clause made his arrival soon afterward with much jingling of bells and proceeded to divest the tree of its load of gifts, the jolly old gentleman (James Whittington) seeming to enjoy the event as much as the younger folk.

FATHER TALKS WITH HIS SON ON QUESTION OF TECHNOCRACY

Perhaps You Will Enjoy the Conversation Between the Two.

DON'T BLAME MACHINES.

(By Leslie Eichel, Central Press Canadian Writer.)

Technocracy, the newest "ism," is discussed by a son and his father, a businessman:

Son: Dad, have you been reading up on technocracy, mankind's machines destroying mankind's chance to earn a living under the present price system?

Son: But, Dad, this is something new—technocracy, led by a young engineer named Howard Scott, director of the Energy Survey of North America, with headquarters at Columbia University—

Dad (yawning): And I suppose he says machines have conquered man, and the civilized world will collapse in two or three years—

Son: Yes! Unless we scrap all debt claims, wipe out the price system to set the engineers to work on a co-operative commonwealth to produce and distribute everything anybody wants.

Dad (turning to amusement section): I'm for him. But how is he going to turn the trick?

Son: "Turn the trick?" Why, he'd just throw the political system overboard.

Dad: Hum—no good shows in town. . . . Throw the political system overboard, huh? You mean that these technocrats would seize power and provide the redistribution?

Son: I don't know; they don't say. I suppose that's it.

Dad's Conclusion

Dad: Then they'd merely exchange one political system for another.

Son: But, Dad, that isn't the important thing. They'd junk our outworn economic system and install a new one.

Dad: Son, you learn bright things in college—

Dad: That's the reason I even stop to consider the idea. I should be a criminal if I did not examine every idea, every hope for the rescue not only of those millions out of work, but my own business.

Son: Dad, under technocracy, debt would be as impossible as philanthropy, currency would be based on the amount of energy converted into necessary production, and the American people would attain a standard of living 10 times as high as that of 1929, each working only four hours a day, four days a week. Imagine that!

Dad: Now please do not call me a mossback, but I believe your Mr. Scott, whoever he is, is misleading the people with false hopes, even though he reiterates some old fundamental truths we had almost forgotten—

Son: Dad, you have no idea how machines have displaced man as instruments of production—

Don't Blame Machines

Dad: My boy, it is not machines that have brought man to his low estate and me to the verge of bankruptcy. It is man's failure to live in the narrow paths of economic righteousness, his failure to rise in achievement. He destroyed his wealth by rushing emotionally into a consuming war that enslaved virtually all peoples with a crushing debt for years to come.

Son: But, Dad—

Dad: Let me finish. And what is the way out? Not, my boy, by giving false hopes, by promising a sudden turn into a fairyland. It is true that if we cling to the past, we go over the precipice with the past. But the past, through its thinkers, may guide us to the future.

Son: How?

Dad: You will be disappointed at this: By the slow process of simplifying matters and trudging back over the lost road.

Son (in horror): And keep the outworn system?

Dad: No. By shedding it, step by step. If debts, tariffs, taxes, price systems are crushing us, then let us, from the bottom up, simplify them—and they will be simplified, or deflated, or removed, my boy, they will be, and then the machines may not be able to keep up with the demand.

But Our Political System?

Son: And the political system?

Dad: Oh, one government is as bad as another. We still need much education on that score. But hope as to that lies with the people.

Son: The people? They are helpless, burdened under.

Dad: Even so, whatever forward movement there is will come from those who carry the burden. They will trudge on, and every step they trudge will be toward the light, toward education, to better government, to shorter days, to leisure, to inspiration for the finer, nobler things of life. No heaven suddenly will burst upon them. Whoever promises that to the people is false to them, desires to bask in his own glory and tries to sway them emotionally rather than with sober, simple thought.

Son: Dad, you surprise me—for a mossback.

Dad's Advice

Dad: When you get time, read the thoughts of great intellectual leaders of the past. I used to read them in my earlier days when I was working up. They seemed like guideposts to me. And I suppose that's what we need most of all—guideposts. . . . No, sir, not a good show in town. . . . Who is this fellow Scott?

Son: Oh, I don't know. He has a mysterious background. Some say he was in Germany, Turkey, England, Canada, Mexico, the son of an American engineer. Some say he wasn't. It's even said he never did get a college diploma—

Dad: That doesn't matter in the least—to a thinker.

Son: No. Of course, he picked up the ideas of technocracy—

Dad: Yes, he picked up the fundamental truths that have been stated and restated for ages, and that is good—

Son: Then, what's wrong?

Dad: He's trying to produce a fantastic heaven with them—he's trying to find a royal and easy road, when in truth there is only a long, hard road—but that will get you there.

Son: But Scott says—

Dad: Yes, my boy. He is a good talker. . . . Well, how about going to a boxing match?

Christmas Entertainments

ST. GEORGE'S S. S.

The annual Christmas party of St George's Church Sunday School was held in the basement on Wednesday evening. Children of the Primary Department assembled at 5 o'clock and enjoyed a dainty supper under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Tucker. At 6 o'clock scholars of the main department sat down to an appetizing hot supper, prepared and served by the teachers. At 7.30 a number of parents and friends gathered for the short program provided by the scholars and to witness the presentation of prizes to the scholars who had reached the required percentage of marks for the past year.

Rev. J. L. Hughes, rector acted as chairman for the evening. The program consisted of the following:

Two choruses by girls and boys of the junior classes; recitation, "Little Boy Jesus," Thomas Panter; pianoforte duet, Doris and Betty Ferguson; two choruses by scholars of the Primary Room; harmonica selections, William Joiner and Howard McBride; duet "Stocking Song," Aileen Hughes and Lois McBride; recitation, Mae Pickles; two choruses by members of the Junior Woman's Auxiliary.

Before presenting the prizes to the successful pupils, the rector referred to the past year as being gratifying in its results. There were now more classes in the school and a larger staff of teachers. He extended to the teachers his sincere appreciation for their loyal and devoted service in this important but difficult work, and askd for the co-operation of the parents. The rector also impressed the fact that memory work is necessary to obtain the required standard.

Girls — Hilda Curtis, Doris Fer-Mae Pickles, Ruth Farr, Mary Parkes, Betty Ferguson, Theodora Johnson, Elsie Martin, Doris Styles, Ethel Sims, Evelyn Ranger, Lois McBride, Aileen Hughes, Betty Cooper, Edna McCormick, Beatrice Dolman.

Boys — James Ferguson, Eddy King, Roy Cooper, Leonard Styles, James McCormick, Dougles Johnson, Fred Johnson, Cecil Johnson, Richard Dolman.

Through the kindness of the Peterborough Canoe Company, four sets of Skooter Skils, donated by them, were presented as prizes to the two boys and two girls in the Primary Room who had gained the highest marks, the skils taking the place of books. At the conclusion of the happy evening, bags of candies were presented to the scholars.

New Settlers Spend Cheerful Christmas

OSHAWA, Dec. 20. (CP)—There are brave hearts among the former city dwellers who spent their first Christmas in Northern Ontario in the back-to-the-land movement. Thus writes a former Oshawa woman from Hawkesville, Ont.: "Christmas here was spent as never before by some of us. Each one understanding their own feelings about broken family circles, kept a cheery smile for the other and so we overcame that difficulty and had a very nice day." The letters tell of a cheerful Christmas, of new experiences and the hospitality of the neighbors. One family sleigh broke through the ice while crossing a creek but the quick team in the hands of a resourceful driver, "soon landed us up on the bank and all was well."

Y.P.S. HAS SERVICE BY CANDLE LIGHT

Brief Talk on Spirit of Christmas is Given by H. Dean.

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 30 (Examiner Correspondence). — A candlelight service featured the regular meeting of the local Young People's Society in the United Church on Tuesday evening, when the meeting was in charge of the Literary and Recreation convenor, Mrs. M. Perrin.

A brief talk on the spirit of Christmas was ably given by H. Dean, and M. Perrin gave an explanation of the Scripture reading.

F. Barnard gave the talk during the candle service, which explained that the tall lighted candle in the background was a symbol of the Christ. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world." The twelve smaller red candles carried by members of the society represented the twelve disciples, each of whom carried their candle to the platform and lighted it from the large candle, placing it on a stand in front of the larger symbol. They then told which disciple it represented, and for what that particular name represented in the lives of men and women today.

The singing of "Joy to the World, the Lord Has Come," and the Benediction brought to a close an ideal Christmas service. This service was recommended by the president of the Peterborough Presbytery, Y. P. U., Mr. Homer Borland, and was the first of its kind staged by the local society.

The Markets

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. — (A.P.) — Stimulated by official reports of precarious prospects for winter crops in large sections of Kansas and Nebraska, wheat prices turned upward late yesterday. Gains were in the face of the fact that the Liverpool market had virtually failed to reflect Wednesday's price upturns on this side of the Atlantic, and that British exchange rates had fallen. Helping to strengthen wheat were New York Stock Market rallies and a better export demand for wheat from Canada.

Among the adverse official crop reports from the west and southwest yesterday was that Nebraska winter wheat condition estimates were as low as 33.3 per cent. in the western part of the state. No rain of consequence was reported in the western third of Kansas. Some local unoffical authorities said moisture now would be of little benefit in drought districts. Traders here continued also to give attention to the fact that buyers were able to obtain May and July wheat at present without payment of a carrying charge. Mississippi River points reported sales of No. 1 hard winter wheat to-day at prices equal to three cents over May, delivered in Chicago, an advance of two cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, December 30. — Further improvement in the wheat values was shown yesterday when export business, unimpeded by any substantial body of offerings, left futures ¾c to 1c higher.

Volume was light, and there was still a good deal of holiday spirit in trading that brought dull periods. Export was estimated at something under 400,000 bushels, most of it out of Vancouver, but hedging and other pressure was practically absent, and prices went up at every purchase.

Argentine wheat was pressing with lower prices on the Liverpool market and an upward trend there was checked, but the market closed higher. Canadian grain still holds an edge by virtue of the British preference.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO Dec. 30.— Fresh eggs generally were easier again yesterday, due to noticeable increase in arrivals and dealers lowered prices in some cases as much as three cents per dozen. While ungraded eggs, cases returned, marked time at Wednesday's close, graded eggs, cases free, were lower at 30 cents for fresh extras, with fresh firsts off the day's maximum at 25 cents and pullets down two to three cents at 22 cents. Prices to the retail trade held relatively steady although a scarcity of seconds firmed the price a trifle to 22 cents. Storage eggs were unchanged.

Butter prices held unchanged, with 21¼ cents being asked for top scoring Ontario creamery solids as well as for western makes. No. 2 held unchanged at 20¾ cents.

No further changes were announced in cheese, churning cream or poultry.

LIFFORD LINE.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LIFFORD LINE, Dec. 30. — The annual school meeting of the ratepayers of Lifford School Section No 5, Manvers, was held on Wednesday forenoon in the school house, with a good attendance. Lawrence Staples acted as chairman for the meeting.

The several improvements made during the past year in school property received due discussion. The installation of the Kaustine toilet system was highly commended in the latest report of the inspector of the school, it being the most expensive change made during the year.

W. A. Neals was re-appointed as chairman of the school board, with Leslie Lang and George Page as trustees, and Archie Wilson as secretary-treasurer.

Lawrence Staples agreed to put in the supply of wood at $6.50 per cord.

MAYOR R. DENNE AND ALD. TUGGEY OUTLINE VIEWS

Mayor Denne Appeals to Voters on His Record as Public Servant.

NOT MAKING PROMISES.

Re-adjustment of Financial Structure Necessary Declares Alderman Tuggey.

The political pot which has been simmering since the candidates for election were declared at the nomination proceedings, is steadily coming to the boil. The lid promises to blow off on Monday.

More than usual interest is being shown by the electors and if present indications may be taken as a criterion, heavy votes will be polled.

At few times in the city's history has greater interest been shown in the Mayoralty contest than that which has been exhibited since Alderman Frederick T. Tuggey, representative of labor, threw down the gauntlet to Mayor Roland Denne, who has just completed his fifth consecutive term as the city's chief magistrate, and who has a record of twenty years' unbroken service in the municipal life of the community.

Alderman Tuggey received his first nomination for Aldermanic honors in the year 1927. He was again nominated in 1930, but it was in the year following that he first entered into the City Council.

Since 1930 he has had unbroken service in the Council, and has the distinction of still having a seat although a candidate for the Mayoralty. In the event of his election to office, the need will arise for the appointment of an alderman, and The Examiner understands that in such case first choice would go to the runner-up in the Aldermanic contest.

Alderman Tuggey is a member of Peterborough Branch of the International Bricklayers' and Masons' Union, No. 17. During his residence in Peterborough, he has served as the Bricklayers' representative to

11,468 VOTERS.

With one of the most important municipal elections in many years facing the voters and the ratepayers being asked to endorse or disprove two important by-laws dealing with the expansion of two large industries, it is to be expected that a large percentage of citizens will journey to the polls to use their franchise.

As one main street philosopher said, "Get out and vote. If you don't go to the polls you haven't any right to kick afterwards".

For the election of the mayor, city council, board of education and Utilities Commission, 11,468 citizens have the right to ballots. But on the by-laws only property owners can vote. On the by-laws question 4,533 ballots can be cast. It was pointed out today by City Clerk Armstrong that property owners have a vote on the by-laws in every ward in which they own property, but can vote only once on the municipal candidates.

In connection with the vote for City Council members from the 11 candidates, that the voters must mark "X" opposite at least four names and not more than five or their ballot is spoiled.

For Board of Education they can vote for one candidate, or two, or three or four, but not more than four.

Of course for the Utilities Commission and Mayor only one is to be elected and the voter has but a single choice for each.

It is two years since Peterborough had a municipal election. At that time the figures show that only 5,173 citizens or a little less than half the total number used their voting privilege. It is hoped that a larger number will journey to the polls on Monday so that there can be no doubt that the successful candidates were elected by a majority vote of all the citizens and the questions also answered by a true majority vote.

The polls open at 9 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

11 CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMEN OUTLINE PLANKS

City Due for Strong Regime of Economy By Promises Made.

THREE SEEK RE-ELECTION.

Promise to Endeavour to Reduce Taxes in City in 1933.

The city is due for a strong regime of economy in the councils of its Aldermanic Board if the platforms of the eleven candidates seeking election to that important body are taken as any criterion.

Experienced aldermen seeking re-election and new candidates in the field sounded the same loud tocsin "economy" when The Examiner interviewed them yesterday to secure for the electors some conception of the candidates' platforms.

Three of the candidates are aldermen seeking re-election and while defending their past administration they advocate continued economical jurisdiction, while the new men, one a veteran alderman, are all strong for a tightening of the city's purse-strings in an endeavor to reduce taxes. The new candidates also stand for a close scrutiny of civic administration departments with an effort to secure increased efficiency.

Born In City

George Benton, of 782 Water street, said that he was born in the city and had spent 25 years in working in various machine shops here.

"While not making an effort to enter municipal life until the present time, I have always had a deep interest in the city's welfare. We are passing through very trying times, and as none of us know what the future may bring forth, I feel, I would be unwise to make

HINDU-MOSLEM SPLIT OCCURS

Unity Conference Agreements, Believed Almost Achieved, Collapse

BENGAL HINDUS BLAMED.

CALCUTTA, India, Dec. 31 (A.P.)—A political agreement between Hindus and Moslems which hitherto was believed to have been almost achieved at the protracted Unity Conference has collapsed, and the Hindus decline to accede a constitutional majority for Moslems in Bengal.

Abdul Mauid Sindi, Lieutentant of Maulana Shaukat Ali, the Moslem leader, broke off negotiation with Pundit Alaviya and returned to Bombay.

"In view of the attitude of Bengal Hindus towards Moslem rights in Bengal, no useful purpose would be served by prolonging the discussion and maintaining an outward show of unity," he declared.

FIRST SECTION LEADERS ARE EASY WINNER

Arsenal Defeats Birmingham 3-0 While Villa Wins From Middlesborough 3-1.

STANDINGS UNCHANGED.

Rangers Regain Lead in Scottish League First Division.

LONDON, Dec. 31 (C.P. Cable)—Leaders in the English soccer league first division swept through their matches in fine style to-day, evidently recovered from the heavy Christmas schedule.

Arsenal defeated Birmingham, 3-0, Aston Villa took Middlesbrough, 3-1, and Sheffield Wednesday won from Blackpool, 4-3.

This left the positions at the top of the standing unchanged, with the gunners in first place, five points ahead of the Villans and Wednesday, tied with 32 points. Derby County drew up on even terms with Leeds United by defeating them 5-1 and Newcastle United made it a three-cornered tie behind the trio of leaders by taking Bolton Wanderers 3-1. Leeds, Derby and Newcastle now each have 29 points.

Albion Breaks Tie

West Bromwich Albion broke their tie with Everton by defeating them by the odd goal in three, and Huddersfield went into a tie with Everton by picking up a point in a 2-2 tie with Portsmouth.

Bradford City consolidated their slim lead in the second division by beating Preston North End 2-0, while Stoke City, whom they displaced a week ago, were being held to a tie by Manchester United. Bradford City now are two points ahead of Stoke. Tottenham Hot-

FLOUR COMPANY MANAGER.

LINDSAY, Dec. 31 (Special to The Examiner).—Provincial Officer Joseph Nelson and Chief Lawler are this morning investigating the death of Leslie Mark, who was found dead in his car, on a lonely road, at the end of a swamp, between Lindsay and Mariposa station. He was found in the rear seat. It is stated he left Lindsay Thursday morning. A rural route letter carrier saw the car Friday morning and again this morning, when he reported to the police. Mr. Mark was manager of the Victoria County Flour and Feed Company in Lindsay.

CANADA - SOVIET CATTLE FOR OIL BARTER IS OFF

Col. Mackie Makes Statement After Seeing Red Official in New York.

DOMINION TRADE IGNORED.

Russia's Policy is to Sell for Cash and Buy on Long Term Credits.

OTTAWA, December 31 (C.P.).—The deal so far as it was ever started to exchange 100,000 cows for Russian petroleum is off. Col. Herbert J. Mackie, who returned to Ottawa after a visit in New York with Peter Bogdanov, chairman of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, admitted the accuracy of the Soviet reports from New York that there was no prospect for such a barter.

"Russia's policy is to sell its products for cash and to buy what it requires on long term credits," Col. Mackie declared. "And it is only on these terms that a deal could be put through either with Canada or any other country.

Col. Mackie, a well-known Canadian with considerable experience in Russia has been the intermediary frequently in the past between the Soviets and Canadian interests. The Amtorg Company is the official trading agency of the Soviet Government.

Not Considering Canada.

"Mr. Badganov told me" said Col. Mackie, "That Soviet Russia is not giving much thought to Canadian trade. Canada is undoubtedly aware that an embargo exists on the part of Russia against all Canadian exports. This measure was brought about as an outcome of Canada's embargo against certain Russian products. This order is still in existence and exclusive of the recent Aluminum Corporation barter no transaction has taken place between the two countries, nor is any transaction contemplated by the Soviet Government for the present.

"The Aluminum Corporation's transaction," Col. Mackie proceeded, "is not to be taken as a precedent. Mr. Bogdanov told me, as this idea was one of a personal nature. Russia has made only two barters. The one with the Aluminum Company was of considerable magnitude, and the other was with a United States firm, and only entailed a few thousand dollars.'

Scheme Proves Success

"The Russian system of contract is to sell for cash and to buy on long-term credit. In both such operations they have been extremely successful and reputable Canadian corporations have found the long-term credit payments sufficient inducement to do millions of dollars of transactions prior to the embargo."

When asked if it were possible to reinstate trade between the two countries, Col. Mackie said he saw

Mexico Enters 1933 With Signs Of Peace

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 31 (A.P.)—Mexico enters 1933 with a four-fold program of agricultural, educational, industrial and roadbuilding development and no indication that any serious internal disturbance may develop.

The Catholic religious issue has become more or less dormant. Radicalism apparently has been curbed by the Government's recent firm policy in the agrarian controversy in Vera Cruz. There was no presidential campaign scheduled until 1934.

So it was fashionable in Mexico to-day to talk of progress, peace and accomplishment and wise leaders quickly have followed the lead in this regard of President Abelardo Rodriguez.

Historic Old Hotel On Brink Of Falls Smouldering Ruins

Buildings Still Burning Fiercely In Early Afternoon And All Available Brigades, From Both Cities, Battle Desperately To Prevent Spread In High Wind.

FIREMAN BADLY HURT IN FALL FROM ROOF; DOG WAKENS CARETAKER IN NICK OF TIME.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., December 31 (C.P.).—With damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000, fire to-day destroyed the historic old Clifton Hotel on the brink of Niagara Falls, swept through several stores in the hotel block, and was still burning fiercely hours after all available fire equipment of two cities had been called.

One fireman, William Donald was seriously injured when he fell from the roof, while numerous other firemen were overcome by smoke. Gilbert Heck, Niagara Falls, N.Y., suffered several broken ribs and other injuries when a blazing partition fell across his body.

Damage to the hotel itself was estimated at $500,000, while other losses were: Waldker drug store, $4,000; Moe Scwartz souvenir stand, $20,000; Woolevers, $3,000; Miss Helen Langmuir's china shop, total loss; Dominion Cigar Company store, total loss.

Barking of their dog saved the lives of James Jones, his wife and son. Jones, caretaker of the hotel, was awakened by the dog and managed to get his family to a fire escape from which they were rescued by firemen. There were no other occupants of the hotel, which is closed in the winter time.

Brigades From 2 Cities.

Fire brigades from this city and from Niagara Falls, N. Y., worked side by side in an effort to prevent the blaze from spreading. The fire was still burning early this afternoon.

Large tanks of ammonia, used in the hostelry's refrigeration plant, were drained to prevent an explosion.

The entire wall of the hotel along the river fell at noon. At that time a north wind was blowing the flames towards the Lafayette hotel and firemen redoubled their efforts. Many large embers fell on the Falls view bridge, some distance from the burning structure.

The Clifton was one of the most famous hotels on the continent King Edward VII stayed there, as did the Prince of Wales and numerous other members of royalty.

Abandon Hotel to Flames

All attempts to save the hotel were abandoned at 1.30 p.m. and only a heap of blazing ruins are left. Here and there parts of the walls are standing gaunt and solitary.

The fire made an impressive spectacle. The five-storey building, mostly of frame construction, shot

IRELAND SWEPT BY FIERCE GALE

RIVER LEE OVERFLOWS.

COBH, Ireland, Dec. 31 (A.P.)—Heavy damage in the Cobh district has been caused by an intense gale which has been sweeping Southern Ireland since last night.

All six piers here were extensively damaged. Many small boats were wrecked or damaged. Houses throughout Cobh suffered severely, many losing roof slates.

Mountainous seas pounded along the coast. At one time gigantic waves broke over houses in the lowlying area of Cobh. In Cork the wind forced the River Lee over its banks at high time, and the entire shopping area in the centre of the city was flooded.

TERRIFIC QUAKE SHAKES AFRICA

Houses Are Cracked Open in Natal and Citizens Rush Out in Panic.

NO CASUALTIES.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, December 31 (C.P. Cable).—A severe earthquake felt practically throughout the Union of South Africa, to-day caused property damage, but no casualties were reported.

Hundreds of presons rushed from their homes in panic at Johannesburg when the first of four tremors was felt. The duration of the main tremor was one minute and 40 seconds. There had been no preliminary warning rumbles.

Solid brick buildings rocked in Natal, and several houses were cracked open. So far as could be learned, however, the damage was confined to properyt, all centres reporting no one was injured.

In view of the severity of the tremor the fact no casualties occurred was remarkable. At Newcastle a homestead collapsed in ruins, but the occupants had all escaped. In Johannesburg cracked walls and furniture was the extent of the damage.

Besides being felt in all states of the Union, the tremors extended into Zululand, north of Natal. The epi-centre was believed to be about 300 miles from Johannesburg in the Moffyfontein area of the Orange Free State, but no damage was reported there.

SLAYS WOMAN, NEGRO SUICIDES

Note Found Near Couple Stated Three More Were to Have Been Slain.

INVESTIGATION ON.

MONTREAL, Dec. 31 (C.P.)—Edward Warren, 38, a negro, killed Gladys Johnston, 24, his common law wife and then committed suicide early to-day. He failed, however, to kill three more persons as he threatened in a note. The two bodies were found by Mrs. Louisa Johnson, mother of Gladys Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson told police that early to-day Warren telephone her and said her daughter was very sick. He asked her to come to his rooms right away and not to knock but walk right in, she said.

On her arrival at Warren's home she found both Warren and her daughter dead. She telephoned police who found that Warren's body was still warm while Miss Johnson was cold. Police believed that Warren shot himself a few minutes before Mrs. Johnson arrived at his room.

Scrawled in pencil on a half crumpled brown paper bag a note was found in the room. It was in Warren's writing and said, "I shot her at five o'clock and I shot myself at——," here the note was illegible with writings being scatched out again and again. "I loved her and I couldn't get her. I have three more to kill——". Police are withholding the rest of the note pending further investigation.

Isaac Roosevelt, great-great-grandfather of Franklin D. Roosevelt, president-elect of the United States, was a sugar refiner, and built the first refinery that existed in America before the Revolution.

MANY CITIZENS GIVE SUPPORT TO TWO BY-LAWS

Examiner Reporter Interviewed More Than Score of Ratepayers.

ONLY THREE OPPOSED.

Factories Should Be Encouraged to Expand Citizens Declare.

In order to secure some expression of opinion from a representative group of the ratepayers upon their support or opposition to the two important factory by-laws which are being placed before the property owners on Monday to endorse or disprove with their ballots, The Examiner during the past two days interviewed more than a score of ratepayers.

Of the large number interviewed only three were against the endorsation of the by-laws, and only one of these would permit his name and views to appear in The Examiner. A large number of those who said they were supporting the by-law were shy also in having their names appear in print.

Those supporting the by-laws said they were doing on the ground mainly that every factory should be encouraged to expand, and by endorsing these by-laws other plants would be more disposed to locate in Peterborough. It was emphasized that the request the companies are making to the ratepayers will not cost the taxpayer anything, but rather that the city is a large gainer.

The views of 15 well-known citizens upon the by-laws follows:

CHARLES G. KINGAN, manager of the Kingan Hardware Co, said: "I think every ratepayer should support the two by-laws. Every factory brings a great deal of business to the city. They are the city's lifeblood and every assistance should be given them."

LOAN IS REFUSED TO CALGARY CITY

Dominion Declines Gold to Pay U. S. Exchange on Debentures Due Jan. 1.

WILL DEAL WITH ALBERTA.

CALGARY, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Calgary will not alter its stand for the time has arrived "for a final showdown in this matter" is Mayor Andy Davison's reply to demands that the city meet its obligations in New York in American currency. In a statement today Mayor Davison declares the city will persist in meeting $2,135,000 debentures maturing in New York, Jan 1, in Canadian funds only.

The Dominion government absolutely refuses to loan the city of Calgary sufficient gold, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Dominion Minister of Finance, has informed Premier John Brownlee of Alberta of this decision and Mr. Brownlee in turn has informed Mayor Andy Davison of Calgary.

The Finance Minister however said his government would consider making a loan to the Alberta government "designed to meet the situation" but it would not deal directly with the city.

Government Fall Seen Over Issue Of Civil Wage Cut

Free State President Refuses To Modify His Policy Regarding Bonuses And Situation Rapidly Reaches Crisis

LABOR PROMISES FIGHT AND SUGGESTION OF COMPROMISE EMPHATICALLY REJECTED.

DUBLIN, Dec. 31. — Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish Free State, was faced to-day with a situation which may lead to his overthrow when the Dail reassembles February 1.

De Valera has broken with William Norton, leader of the Labor Party, who wields the balance of power over the Government's decision to cut bonuses of civil service employes January 1.

Reaches Climax

Norton has been trying for the last two weeks, it was learned, to dissuade de Valera from making the reduction. The matter came to a climax at a final conference last night when the Free State president told the Labor leader and other members of his party that he could "hold out no hope that the Government's decision will be modified."

Norton then pledged his followers to fight the bonus cuts to the last ditch, and unless he is placated before the Dail reconvenes, it will mean that de Valera probably will be overthrown.

The bonus reductions mean a cut of approximately one-thirteenth in civil service incomes.

De Valera pointed out that the cost of living index figure had fallen by 10 points in the last six months.

All civil servants, particularly the lower grades, were profoundly disappointed and Labor Party leaders are accusing the Government of breach of faith.

Mr. Norton, who is secretary of the Post Office Workers' Union, proposes calling a meeting of the union in Dublin to-morrow.

Slight Change Rejected

The executive council discussed demands of the Labor group at some length last night and informed Mr. Norton it had decided to suspend operation of the reductions "as to 50 per cent. on the basic remuneration not exceeding 40 shillings a week" pending a report by the committee studying the cost of living.

Spokesmen for the Labor group declared that this arrangement was not satisfactory.

Norton was quoted as saying, "It is a very puny attempt to meet a grave situation. It would involve an all-around reduction, but in some cases the cuts would be double those of others." Norton was said to have declared further that the Government's proposal did not meet their demand and could not be regarded as a settlement.

Other trade union leaders said that the Government's offer was most unsatisfactory.

ALL OF US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I HAVE A friend who is exceedingly wise, although he thinks he knows little.

He is young in every way that counts, but he thinks he is older than the hills that he loves.

He thinks he despises mankind, but he is kind to all men and women.

He sits, whenever the day is fine, in his yard, among the ducks and the doves and the chickens, and the ducks and the smaller birds climb to his shoulders and eat from his hands. And he talks boldly about everything in the world.

And hearing him talk is like standing on a great height or listening to a great symphony, magnificently played. There are organ tones in his conversation that are deep and strong and true.

You go away and try to repeat some tale he has told you, but you always fail, because he does something to words and ideas that is beyond imitation; and you can not describe him any more than you can describe a great mountain peak or a tall tree. He is, and if you do not know him that is your loss forever.

Once as we sat in his yard he talked about all the feathered people that scratched and fed and quareled at his feet, and he lamented the fact that none of them really knew each other. They lived together, breathed the same air, ate of the same grain, drank from the same troughs, but they were as apart as if they lived on different planets.

There was only one cry that was common, and that was the cry of fear....If a hawk flew over and a chicken saw that bird of death, she gave a harsh cry, and all the birds in the yards understood and stiffened to stillness or scurried for cover. The dove understood the duck, the duck the pigeon, the chicken the bantam hen.

But that was the only time they understood and talked together, when their own lives were at risk. My friend seemed somewhat melancholy as he talked of his small, brainless friends.

But it seemed to me as he talked that he was not talking of chickens and doves and ducks at all, but of human beings who live so closely together and breathe the same air, too, and eat of the same food, and walk the same earth and are so far apart from each other almost all the days of their lives.

He seemed to be saying that too often the only cry that draws men and women together is the Cry of Fear—when they fear for their money or their health or their happiness or their vanities or their lives. He was melancholy about that, and it seemed to me he was gently despising of his fellows who had only the common language of Fear.

Because, in himself, as deeply as I could see, there was no fear at all.

TORONTO, December 31 (C.P.).—Numerous residents of York Township are nursing black eyes and other bruises to-day following a riot which broke out at an election campaign meeting last night. Sixteen police officers were called to break up the fight, which started when a 16-year-od youth endeavored to upset the tabe upon which Reeve Alfred Gray was delivering a speech. About 1,000 peope were in the hall at the time.

The disturbance lasted for half an hour ,and while none were seriously injured, dozens of participants received bloody noses, discolored optics, and minor bruises.

No arrests were made.

AUSSIES HOLD M. C. C. BOWLERS IN FIRST MATCH

Dismiss Visitors For 161 Runs in Nine Wickets in Test Series.

SCORE 228 FOR 'SELVES.

Herbert Sutcliffe Only Batter to Make Creditable Showing Against Antipodeans.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 31 (C.P. Cable).—Australia took the upper hand in the second cricket test match with England to-day when, after knocking up 228 runs in their own first innings, Australia dismissed nine of the English batsmen for only 161 runs at the end of Saturday's play.

Herbert Sutcliffe, the Yorkshire pro., proved the only one of the M.C.C. batters to make a creditable score against what proved deadly bowling of the Antipodeans. Sutcliffe scored 52 in a long innig before he was caught by Wall, but the prompt dismissal of his teammates unexpectedly turned the tables for the Aussies, who had made only a mediocre showing in their first innings.

The crowd at to-day's game totalled 35,000, more than half of yesterday's record-breaking attendance, but on seeing the collapse of the English batsmen before the Australian team, the crowd grew most enthusiastic and sustained applause fell upon the silent field as each wicket fell and further enhanced the home team's chances.

Score 194 for Seven

With the Aussie score standing at 194 for seven wickets, play was resumed this morning. W. A. Oldfield, veteran wicket keeper, continued his inning in partnership with T. Wall. Oldfield boosted his yesterday's score of 13 up to 27, and was unbeaten. Wall played a single, and then in a nervous call for a run was out when far from his crease. W. J. O'Reilly gave the tail of the Aussie a good twist by knocking up 15 before he was bowled by Harold Larwood. H. Ironmonger, the last man in, scored 4 and was then taken by Larwood.

Total Count of 228

The Aussies were dismissed with a total of 228, including a fine stand of 83 by J. Fingleton. V. Y. Richardson, with 34, and Stanley McCabe, with 32, were the only other Aussie batsmen to get past the 30 mark. Don Bradman, whose talented bat was looked upon to lead the Australian attack, was out first ball for a "duck" when he swung wildly at one of Bowes' deliveries.

Herbert Sutcliffe and R. E. S. Wyatt, vice captain of the team were again the first wicket pair for England. They were still in at lunch time against the bowling of Wall and L. P. O'Brien with scores of 12 and 11, but Wyatt was given a life when he hit Wall to short leg just over O'Brien's head.

After the luncheon W. J. O'Reilly replaced O'Brien on the bowling team and after successfully surviving two leg before wicket appeals with his score at 11 Wyatt walked

FATHER OF SIX GOES TO PRISON

Given 6 Years, 20 Lashes for Offense Against His Daughter.

SCORED BY MAGISTRATE.

CHAPLEAU, Ont., Dec. 31.—(C.P.)—William Corboy, 53, Father of six children between the ages of eight and 21 years of age, is en route to Portsmouth penitentiary to-day to serve a sentence of six years and 20 lashes, imposed upon him when found guilty of a serious offence against his 13 year old daughter, Iola.

He was tried at Oba before Magistrate T. H. Wolfe of Chapleau. He will receive 10 lashes at the end of three months and the remainder one year from date of commitment.

The daughter Iola made a voluntary statement to the police in which she stated that the offenses commenced in the summer of 1931 and had been repeated many times since.

When confronted with this evidence Corboy broke down and in an alleged signed confession admitted that his daughter's accusations were true.

In passing sentence Magistrate Wolfe stated that in committing this crime Corboy had branded himself unfit to associate with other human beings and the ends of justice would not be served with the imposition of lashes.

BUSINESS MAN FALLS TO DEATH

Loses Balance Adjusting Device to Signal Chauffeur —Drops 7 Storeys.

WATCHED BY CROWD.

MONTREAL, December 31. — From the seventh floor of the Bank of Toronto Building here, Isidore Crepeau, 60, vice-president of the United Amusement Corporation and special agent for Atlas Assurance Company, fel to his death yesterday. He lost his balance while adjusting an ingenious device to the window of his office whereby he could easily signal to his chauffeur stationed in a nearby square.

The body was taken to an undertaker's late yesterday, and an inquest will be held to-day.

The accident occurred about 5.30 p.m. and a large crowd of homebound office workers gathered about the scene of the tragedy. Crepeau was killed instantly, physicians said when he suffered a fractured skull, fractured arms and a broken leg.

Visiting Crepeau's office after the accident, police found nails, a hammer, a long piece of string, and several pieces of wood on the window sill. A half-burned cigar had been carefully laid on the edge of the desk near a white flag.

Crepeau's secretary, advised of the accident as she was walking home returned to the building and explained to police she had left the premises shortly before the accident. Mr. Crepeau had explained to her, she said, that he was going to rig up his flag on an arm of wood controlled by a piece of string so that he would not have to lean so far out of the window when he wished to signal his chauffeur.

Mr. Crepeau was a brother of Jules Crepeau, former director of Public Services for Montreal.

Alberta's fur production for the year ending June 30 last had a value of $987,331.

Experts Discover Depression Worries Less Fatal Than Those Of Prosperity

MONTREAL, Dec. 30. (CP). Are the worries of prosperity greater than the worries of depression? Is the age-old bromide "Worrying himself into the grave" just a bromide after all? or perhaps people are not worrying about the depression?

These are all good theories but we don't guarantee they explain the following figures, vouched for by the Quebec Bureau of Statistics:

Deaths in this province in 1929 touched the high-water mark of 37,221; 1930 "The dawn of the depression" scaled them down to 35,945; complete figures for 1931 are not yet available. Comes the startling announcement, however, that in November 1932 there were only 2,499 deaths in Quebec, a new four-year low.

If we believe the above figures—as believe we must—then old man depression had depressed the death rate. In other words people are not worrying themselves ragged about financial difficulties.

Undertakers all refuse to hazard an explanation of the phenomenon. They claim to be worrying too

Peace Restored

DETROIT, Dec 31 (C.P.). — The Rev. Charles A. Hill, pastor of Hartford Avenue Negro Baptist Church, hereafter will preach without interruptions from either the choir or the congregation.

OTTAWA, Dec. 31.—Agnes Macphail, M.P., who this month told what she would do if she were Prime Minister, may be the first woman to lead a parliamentary party in the House of Commons if present plans mature.

The belief here is firm that J. E. Brownlee is leaving the premiership of Alberta to become a member of the Tariff Board, and that Robert Gardiner, now leader of the co-operating groups in the House of Commons, will retire to become Premier of Alberta.

In the event of that shake-up, Miss Macphail, as one chief evangelistof the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, has strident support for the House leadership. J. S. Woodsworth, Labor M.P. for Winnipeg, is president of the federation, but that does not, ipso facto, make him House leader.

TWEED, Dec. 31 (Examiner Correspondence).—Had it not been for the presence of mind of Dan Lafontain, who is spending Christmas at his home here, and Harry Grier, Clifford Frobear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forbear, would have met a watery grave Thursday afternoon.

The six-year-old boy was playing on the ice along the river north of the bridge when it suddenly gave way, hurling him into the stream. Mr. Lafontain was attracted by the cries and immediately went to his assistance. The latter was unable to negotiate the treacherous ice, and was thrown in himself.

Fortunately Mr. Harry Grier, who was passing at that time, was successful in pulling young Forbear and Mr. Lafontain to shore. Mr. Lafontain is holidaying at his home from Queen's University. Although receiving a chilly bath they are none the worse for their experience.

CALGARY FIRM IN ITS REFUSAL PAY EXCHANGE

Emergency Session Hears Bank's Threat to Withdraw Credit.

FEDERAL AID POSSIBLE.

Saskatoon Decides to Pay Interest in Canadian Dollars.

CALGARY, Dec. 31. — (CP) — Bucking pressure from financiers, Calgary civic officials last night pondered two avenues of escape from the predicament caused by their refusal to pay $300,000 in exchange charges in meeting debenture and interest obligations in New York January 1.

Gathering at an emergency session late yesterday and continuing into the night, the city council heard a second offer from the Bank of Montreal to provide funds to meet the exchange charges in return for one-year city of Calgary treasury bills. At the same time bank representatives intimated at last-minute move might be made by the Federal Government to assist the city in meeting the obligations.

Declining to act until official word was heard from the finance minister or some other Government representative at Ottawa, council adjourned, still firm in refusal to pay the exchange charges unless aid was provided from some source.

Technical default on the entire redemption for a few days at least became a possibility as an aftermath of threats from the Bank of Montreal to withdraw all city credit unless the exchange payments were made. Removal of Canadian funds deposited in New York to meet the obligations exclusive of exchange charges, was effected by the city to avoid attachment, Mayor Andy Davison informed council.

Threat of the bank to withdraw all credit from the city after December 31 this year was handed Mayor Davison yesterday and immediately the emergency session of the council was called. The mayor declared the city faced suspension of all activities after January 1 if the threat were carried out.

Saskatoon's Decision.

SASKATOON, Dec. 31.—(C.P.)—Contending debenture forms called for payment of interest in dollars, and did not specify United States' currency, the semi-annual interest payment on some $900,000 worth of Saskatoon bonds held in the United States, payable January 1, will be made in Canadian currency, the City Council has decided.

Semi-annual interest payments total less than $25,000. At present exchange rates, the total would be from $3,000 to $4,000 more if paid in United States currency.

By paying in Canadian funds, the city will in no way be defaulting. Commissioner Andrew Leslie explained to council, emphasizing that the wording of the bonds clearly specifies dollars, and makes no mention of gold payments in New York. In the past, interest payments have been made in United States' currency.

Other Saskatoon bonds, totalling $3,400,000, are payable in gold. No payments of principal have to be made at New York in 1932. Next year about $300,000 falls due.

"Make ye ready the way of the Lord; make his paths straight."

Will There Be No ForesightUntil the Bombs Begin to Rain On Us?

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

The caption of this article was the subject of a November broadcast by that noted writer, H. G. Wells, over the British radio lines. His broadcast was packed with timely warning. The warning was to more than the British. Well would it be if all the world heard his warning and heeded.

This is what he said: "Either we must make our peace throughout the world, make one world-state, one world-pax, with one money, one police, one speech, one brotherhood, or we must prepare to live with the knife of the stranger, always, at our throats, in fear, and in danger of death, enemy neighbors with the rest of our species."

H G. Wells then went on to tell how half a century ago we used to talk of the abolition of distance because of the then comparatively recent triumphs, the telegraph, the steamship, the railway train. Some of us already knew of the possibility of radio, but nobody believed we should live to take a ticket and fly around the world.

All who have kept in touch have seen that abolition of distance at the hands of the scientist become more, and more complete. To have forecast the present possibilities of the radio would have been in those days of our youth considered visionary and fantastic. We must not let the prospect of our being able in brief time to talk with our friends anywhere in the world as easily as we now do with out next-door neighbor, be obscured by the least doubt. That day is near. Not alone will we be able to talk thus with anyone anywhere in the world, but we will be able to see the person to whom we wish to talk. The seeing will be as clear as if the person stood directly in front of us.

To think of what has been accomplished already to bring the peoples of the world closely together is exhilarating. The prospect of what is in the near future is entrancing. Knowing the human, well, who does not hold his breath, when all the possibilities stand out in bold relief. The higher civilization climbs the greater the danger in the going. If the abolition of distance be not made secure by a moral integrity, that means stable peace, then we have missed providing for the most urgent human need. In checking up our age Mr. Wells says: "It seems an odd thing to me that though we have thousands of professors of history there is not one person anywhere who makes a whole time job of estimating the future consequences of new inventions and new devices. There is not even one professor of foresight in the world." But why shouldn't there be? See how unprepared the world was for the motor car. The motor car ought to have been anticipated at the beginning of this century. It was bound to come. It was bound to be cheapened and be made abundant. It was bound to change our roads, take passenger and goods traffic from the railroads, alter the distribution of our population, and congest our towns with traffic. It was bound to make it possible to commit a robbery in Devonshire overnight and breakfast in London.

"This is what I meant by want of foresight. In the case of the motor car we have let consequence take us by surprise. Then we have tried our remedies—belatedly. And exactly the same thing is happening in regard to every other improvement in locomotion and communication. We are abolishing distance, heedlessly, recklessly. Is it not plain that we ought to have not only one or two professors of foresight but whole faculties and departments of foresight, doing all they can to anticipate and prepare for the consequence of this gathering together, this bunching up, which is now going on, of what were once widey dispersed human reationships."

"Urgently, we need to organize foresight in these matters. It is not only that men will be able to get at and see and talk to their neighbors anywhere in the world. They will also be able to get at those they suppose to be their enemies with equal facility. How long do you suppose it will be before this is possible? That men will be able to pack up a parcel of explosives, or poison gas, or incendiary matter, or any little thing of that sort, and send it up in the air to travel to just any spot in the world and drop its load? For my own part I do not think it is going to be so very long before that is practicable."

This dire foreboding of the able and gifted writer, H. G. Wells, to this writer, is more of a deterrent from war than an incentive. Mankind will never undertake its own destruction and complete annihilation by countenancing another World War, with present deadly weapons.

Harry came home the other day all het up about something or other. "I'm not going to play second fiddle to anybody!" says he. "I ought to be the leader, anyway, and not Joe." "Well," says I, "the greatest man I know of was willing to take the second place." "Who was that?" "John the Baptist," says I. "And the Saviour gave him the highest praise any man ever got." "Oh, that's different," says he. "Not a bit," says I. "It takes a big man to be wiling to play second fiddle when it's needed. Does anybody think the less of Earl Haig, the Commander-in-Chief of the British Army in France, because he put himself under the orders of Marshal Foch, the Frenchman, in order to win the war? No, sir! It was the only way to win out, and it did the trick.

"I suppose you don't know that Sir Walter Scott was the biggest poetry writer of his time, till Byron came along and began to get all the popularity. Did Sir Walter growl? ? Not a bit of it. He just said, 'Well, Byron beats me, it seems.' So he stopped writing poems and took to writing stories instead, and folks are reading 'Ivanhoe' today who scarcely know there ever was such a fellow as Byron.

"I suppose you wouldn't want to be a foghorn or a signpost. One's just a voice and the other's only a pointer. But a sailor out at sea in a fog is mighty glad to hear the foghorn that guides him into safety. And you'd be mighty glad to find a signpost if you were travelling, so you'd know you were heading right, and how far you had to go to reach your destination. Well that's all John wanted to be. A voice crying out 'Prepare the way of the Lord!' and a pointer directing people's eyes to the Saviour, 'Behold the Lamb of God!' We need lots of Johns today who are big enough to play that sort of second fiddle. The way to be great in God's eyes is to be small in your own."

Cathedral Musings

Civilization is the product of man's creative mind. From the elements of the earth has man shaped it. As man has given into civilization, so shall it give unto him. It shall advance only to the degree that man is it's master.

Whenever civilization shall enslave the human mind that gave it existence, then it will crash, and beneath its weight will humanity be crushed.

Man is primarily a spiritual being using an earthly body; not an animal with a problematical soull somewhere in the background, and only to the extent that civilization supplies the needs of his real nature will that civilization contain the seeds of endurance.

WEEKLY BIBLE LESSON

JOHN PREPARES THE WAY FOR JESUS—Mark 1:1-11

Golden Text: "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight."—Mark 1:3.

Sunday, the first day of the new year. Surely that should give us a true start for 1933.

For us who teach the Word of God, there should be a real inspiration in the day and its outlook. We should determine to be gate-openers into the ways of truth and leaders into the activities of life.

Our classes are living bundles of intelligence presenting to us the material out of which we may produce the men and women who will push forward the Word of the Kingdom.

As there are no more important workers than the teachers, it is well that at the beginning of the new year we should have a little self-examination. Just how are we going to measure up for the year? We should have our classes in our hearts. We should be there every Sunday and on time. The lesson should be so prepared that we will have something worth while to give to the boys and girls entrusted to us. We should see the future and make for it.

For the first six months of the year we are to study the life of Jesus as told by Mark. It would seem that Mark wrote first and got his information at first hand and from Peter. His purpose in writing was to tell certain facts about Jesus. He tells us more what Jesus did than what He said. If we sit down and read the gospel through we fell that he knows what he is writing about and that in his own soul Jesus is the Son of God.

The little child or the keen scholar may ask the question: "Mark, is it true?" and Mark replies: "Yes, every word of it."

Mark does not tell us about the birth or childhood of Jesus. He begins with the preaching of John the Baptist and the baptism of Jesus and John.

John was a great character. He fulfilled the prophecy as to the forerunner or announcer of Jesus. He was roughly clad and ate the food of the wilderness. He was a great preacher. He had no fear and was ready to proclaim the truth to everybody. He called everybody to repentance. That was his way of getting prepared for the coming of Jesus. The people were to forsake their sins and return to God. He pointed Jesus out as "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world."

It was a great happening when John and Jesus met at the Jordan River and John baptized Jesus. God Himself took notice and the Spirit descended and Jesus was acknowledged.

John's arrest and execution at the hands of Herod was a fitting climax to his rugged living and daring preaching.

When Jesus ascended to Heaven was John the first to greet Him?

John Prepares the Way for Jesus — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Mark 1:1-11

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

John Mark, whose gospel we study for the next six months, learned the story of Jesus from Peter, whose servant he probably was. He wrote particularly for the Romans and pictures Jesus as the wonder working servant of God.

Mark begins his gospel with the story of the ministry of John the Baptist, that strange character who lived out in the wilderness of Judea, clothed in rough garments of camel's hair and leather belt and living on locusts and wild honey.

John preached to the people to repent of their sins because the kingdom of heaven was at hand. He claimed to be God's messenger to prepare the way of the expected Messiah. Crowds went out to hear him preaching and to be baptized of him.

Jesus also came into the wilderness to be baptized, not that he was sinful but to show that he was identifying himself with men who were sinners.

SELECT THE BEST.

On the eve of the municipal election little remains to be said except to again point out that there is need of careful consideration as to the men to be elected to the various offices.

Under present day condition the strongest candidates in the field shoud be chosen and their ability to give good service should be the only yardstick by which their candidature should be measured.

Personal prejudices on petty little matters should be forgotten in view of the vital necessity of equipping our civic bodies with the best qualified men available; we cannot afford to give consideration to non-essentials at a time when conditions demand the best we can obtain.

THE NEW YEAR.

Tonight the old year passes into history.

On the whole it has not, from a material point of view, scored much of a triumph; the world has more or less staggered through the months of 1932, struggling with depression and its results and hoping for a break in the clouds and a return to something approaching normal prosperity.

The year has not been without its bright spots; from a British viewpoint the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa and the arriving at important trade pacts among the various devisions of the Empire was perhaps the brightest.

While it is too soon to realize many of the beneficial results of those agreements the possibilities for greatly increased trade within the Empire are there and those possibilities offer perhaps the most hopeful sign before this country and the Empire generally as we enter upon the New Year.

Let us hope that 1933 will see the trade pacts working successfully, that our trade with other parts of the world will also be increased, that the present era of sacrifice prices for farm commodities will have been succeeded by a period of adequate prices, that in short the world will get close to normalcy.

For us, as citizens of Peterborough, it behooves us to swing into the new year with stout hearts, determined to work together for our common interests and for the betterment of this community, and ready to help those to whom the battle proves too severe.

CAN WE AFFORD TO TAKE A CHANCE?

It is easy to understand a property-owner who because of the unusual conditions has been having a hard time paying his taxes, looking questioningly at fixed assessment for industries.

His own struggle in the face of difficulties has a tendency to make him cold toward all such propositions. And he is inclined to lash out without thinking of what is involved.

To all such citizens The Examiner submits that an attitude of that kind is liable to have serious consequences.

New industries, fresh opportunities for employment, more jobs available and bigger wage envelopes, these are the things we'll have to count on to pull us out of the hole and to make the paying of tax bills and the meeting of current expenses easier.

Several of these industries are within sight; and their coming here would have a tonic effect on the whole situation.

Can we afford to take a chance on losing these new plants by turning down industrial by-laws at this time?

Would it be good business to thus risk the loss of additional industries?

These are questions that should be considered carefully when Monday's by-laws are being weighed; in the opinion of many people they are the most important factor in the whole situation, a factor that ought to be faced fairly.

HAS EARNED SUPPORT.

The De Laval Company by its record since it was established in this city has surely entitled itself to favorable treatment at the hands of the community.

It has more than lived up to every promise it made when it was first granted an exemption on part of its assessment, employed more hands than it originally contracted to do, built a far bigger plant than it had promised to build and has put millions of dollars into circulation here in the form of wages, salaries, and orders for other local industries and business concerns.

The De Laval record of achievement is the surest possible proof that its present pledges will be fully redeemed.

In return for a fixed assessment for ten years on $60,000 of its assessment, the company now promises to increase its working staff by 50 per cent. within the next two years or sooner if conditions permit, and to begin new lines of manufacture here.

The De Laval under the exemption that expires this year has been a very substantial taxpayer and seeing that it will have to pay full taxes on an additional $10,000 for the next year under the terms of the by-law to be voted on Monday, the company's tax bill will be heavier than ever.

What it is now asking, in view of what it promises to do and what it has done, seems a fair and reasonable proposition and The Examiner is sure that all thinking ratepayers who study the De Laval record and weighs up what is involved in the by-law now before the people will decide that it would be indeed good business to endorse this measure on Monday.

A concern that has been such a lavish contributor to the community's wealth as has the De Laval Company has earned such endorsation from the property-owners.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS:

With a contest for positions in every elective municipal body to be fought out and the fate of two important industrial by-laws to be decided by the property holders there is a fine menu for the citizens at the municipal election on Monday and The Examiner hopes that there will be a full expression of public opinion.

Electors have already been notified through the mail where they will vote, but if by any chance some voters have not received these official notices a telephone message to one of the candidates will put them into possession of the necessary information.

A few points that should be well known but perhaps are being overlooked by some of the electors may be emphasized.

Eleven candidates are in the field for five positions on the council. It should be understood that the electors must vote for at least four candidates and that they can vote for five. Those who vote for fewer than four or more than five will, of course, invalidate their ballots.

For the Utilities Commission there are four candidates and the electors will be called upon to vote for only one of the four.

Seven aspirants are running for four places on the Board of Education. In that contest the voter may vote for one, two, three or four candidates as he sees fit—he must not, of course, vote for more than four.

In regard to the industrial by-laws only property-owners are qualified to vote and an important point to remember is that they are entitled to vote—on the by-laws of course—in every ward in which they own property; that is, a citizen who pays taxes in all five city wards is entitle to five votes.

GAIN IN GOLD.

There have been some good things on the credit side for 1932. One of them is that the gold mines of Canada have yielded more wealth than ever before in their history; $60,000,000 for the world, more than $17,000,000 for their shareholders.

Time was when Canada's position as a gold producer was negligible. In the last few decades, thanks to the opening up of Northern Ontario, she has become the second largest gold producing nation, with the grand total of dividends from her mines reaching $151,000,000. Her ultimate annual production of gold will, according to competent observers, exceed $100,000,000.

The importance of this is immeasurable. In all parts of the world the search for gold has been stimulated by the increase i nits price, measured either in relation to the general commodity level or to the depreciated currencies of many countries. The search has been facilitated by declining costs of production, particularly during the last three years. The United States Federal Reserve Board recently called attention to the fact that improvements in mining and metallurgical technique "have rendered profitable the expansion of operations in mines already producing and also the reopening of some abandoned properties." The result has been a substantial increase in the amount of gold produced, despite the frequent assertion that production is declining.

During the fifteen years from the outbreak of the Great War to the crest of post-war prosperity in 1929 the average annual value of the world's gold yield was $390,000,000. In 1930 it increased to $420,000,000 and in 1931 to $440,000,000; and the Federal Reserve Bureau estimates that in 1932 it will be not less than $460,000,00. This as compared with an average of $297,000,000 in the five years following the Klondike rush and with $177,000,000 in the five years after the beginning of the large-scale operations in "the Rand."

Meantime, attracted by the premium to be obtained in the London market, gold hidden away in private hoardings or converted into plate and jewellery has returned to circulation. Between February 1931, and August, 1932, ht epeople of India released approximately $250,000,000 in gold which had previously been regarded as permanently lost to the reserves of the commercial world. As a consequence, with release of hoardings and substantial gains in production, the reserves of central banks and governments in all parts of the world have been increased by more than $1,500,000,000 since 1929.

There are those who hold, of course, hatt gold has seen its day, that it will cease to be a basis of currency or a standard of its measurement. That, however, was not the view of the experts who met here in Ottawa last summer nor is it the opinion of the currency experts of the League of Nations. These hold and believe that Britain, in time, will return to the gold standard, that other nations will follow her example, and that gold will continue in the dominant position it has held for centuries.

WHY NO VOTE ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

Editor of Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I would like to know why the citizens cannot have a vote on Daylight Saving at the Municipal Elections just because the by-law passed three years ago does not mean that the council should keep the daylight time in force for all time to come. You would think that with half the stores on George street going bankrupt, the business men would cater a little to the farmer's trade and not close the stores on daylight time, just when the farmer is ready to do some shopping. With so many men out of work, they all have lots of time on their hands, so they do not need the extra hour. I do not see why children and mothers should be deprived of one hours rest to oblige a few who play baseball or tennis in the evening.

Another thing I would like to say while writing and that is, why do our council men get $5 each for their meetings? They are all men of means and should give their services free, in these trying times and cut down expenses. The working men are doing without many things to try to meet their tax bills and why should our Aldermen spend our money so freely.

Yours truly,
A Housewife.

WANTS MORE POLLING BOOTHS

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In regards to a note in your evening paper for a voluntary vote, and being notified of where to cast our votes, we would agree with you on that account, providing the polling booths were more scattered over the city. There is excuses for a large number of electors for not voting. Does the Mayor and Councilmen realize that they are getting five dollars a meeting, and at the same time taking the franchise away from the citizens by making by-laws. Which in their own hearts they know are not wanted by the majority of the electors but have not got the "guts" (as one Alderman says) to put it before the electors to settle and do the Councilmen realize that voters on Chamberlain street as far west as Monaghan road and Alfred street there are a number of voters over sixty-five who are owners of their homes and some are feeble; are politely asked to appear at the South Central School, about a mile from their homes and they will then have the privilege to use their franchise. No doubt they save about twenty five dollars by pooling the booth in a school house, but they don't mind giving away $300 these ratepayers have paid in taxes to the green spot association to spend their Daylight Saving hour on.

Trusting you will find a space in your valuable paper and wishing you the compliment of the season.

Yours truly,
John Brown.

OTONABEE FIRE

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In the month of September, 1932, a fire which started when I was threshing destroyed the valuable barns on lot 26, concession 8, Otonabee.

The fire, once started, spread very rapidly, so the season's crop, harness, stable and barn equipment and a very complete set of farm implements were all destroyed in a few minutes. The threshing machine was also burned in the barn.

Believing the Council of Otonabee had already made some concessions in the way of rebate taxes to farmers who had suffered loss of buildings from fire, I accordingly applied to the council of Otonabee in session at Keene on November 21, 1932.

In my presence the council passed a motion the purport of which was to grant me a rebate of taxes on $600 of my assessment for 1932. After the last meeting of the council on December 15, 1932, I received the following letter.

Keene, Dec. 17th, 1932.

"Mr. Gilbert Thompson,
Dear Sir,

The council of the Township of Otonabee instructed me to write saying that the only way they can refund you anything for loss by fire is giving it as charity. They paid Mr. Thos. Stillman that way and if you are willing to accept it and have it charged to charity, kindly let me know and I will forward a check for the refund promised you.

John J. Moore,
Clerk, Keene."

The Examiner report of the Otonabee Township Council meeting stated very plainly that on December 15, 1932, Mr. Stillman was paid a rebate of taxes because he had a fire, which was not a rebate on taxes, but given to Mr. Stillman as charity.

Gilbert Thomson.

Peterborough, Dec. 30, 1932.

Dear Editor:

Someone in a recent address said that population grows around industries.

Industries in turn give employment, require houses to be built for workmen, and create property values.

It has taken many years to acquire the group of industries that have helped Peterborough struggle through the economic depression that began in 1929. If our industries needed concessions during the years of comparative plenty extending back beyond the turn of the century, surely their need is vastly increased by the conditions we are facing to-day.

Our two Peterborough industries whose bylaws are before the people on Monday are not asking for renewal of fixed assessments, but actually for increased fixed assessments which seem not only reasonable, but entirely justified by existing economic factors.

Personally I would prefer no assessment concessions, but we should not shut our eyes to facts and custom. We are an inland city, and who knows but in another ten years the St. Lawrence waterway may be completed and ocean navigaton admitted to our neighboring towns on Lake Ontario.

I sincerely hope that every property owner will consider the possibilities that might ensue from their votes on Monday, remembering that without factories our property would be of no more value than that of the average inland village depending upon rural trade like some of those in our own district.

I am not employed at either factory; but as a native of this city I would urge the ratepayers to consider their own best interests in the long run when making their decision on these bylaws next Monday.

Yours sincerely,
RUSHDGE STREET.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

READ THIS FIRST:

Kane returns to his hotel, decides he must question Nanette LeRoi immediately, and lets about to find a means of doing it. Luck is with him. While in the lobby Nanette and her escort, Rodolf Holmes, pass through, notice him and stop, both with cries of recognition. Kane is puzzled, tries to place her. Finally the light breaks. She is really Judy Banning, former musical comedy star, whom he aided in clearing of a charge of murdering her husband in New Orleans. A face lifting operation has changed her completely. They ask him to dine with them and he accepts.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

Kane knew that every eye in the room was fixed upon the woman who walked at his side. Covertly, he watched her, but she glanced neither to left nor right. Instead, with all the regal bearing of an imperial ruler, she moved across the floor.

Holmes, carrying out the drama, dropped a pace behind, just as though he was accompanying a queen. But not so Kane. He kept by her side, where he could see her every expression. It was amusing to him and he smiled inwardly.

But when they reached their table she seemed to relax, and with apparent relief.

"I could never have gone ahead in Hollywood under my old name," she explained.

He waited for her to explain further.

"The stigma of that night clung to the name of Judy King," with a slight shudder. "It was Mr. Bailey—I mean Richard Bailey, the famous director—and Rodolf who suggested the foreign importation idea."

Kane peered at her through half-closed eyes at her mention of Bailey. For once in his life he was thankful for subdued lights, as much as he detested them. But she gave not the slightest hint that she knew what had happened to her amicus usque ad aras.

"So, Holmes, you were in on the plot," he offered banteringly.

"I know Hollywood pretty well," the actor returned. "There was once a time when scandal made a motion picture and stage personality. The public flocked to see them, as you may recall. But that isn't true today. The big shots have gone in for morality."

"And so you've tried a little fraud," Kane laughed. "Well, I don't blame you."

"Rodolf was helping me to get a start when," her gaze fell to the table, "that—awful thing—happened in New Orleans."

"Let's forget that," Kane said gently. "That's the past. Tomorrow is just ahead."

"Indeed," Holmes agreed heartily. "That's what I tell her when she gets to brooding."

"And now," Kane said easily, "you are betrotfied to Richard Bailey."

"Indeed not," she smiled. "That talk is only part of the legend which the press agents at the studio have built up about me."

"I'm afraid that's over my head."

"It seems to be good business in Hollywood," she explained, "to have some new foreign star engaged to the director who discovered her. Of course, you remember Greta Garbo's secret love for her director and of Marlene Dietrich's admiration and affection for Josef Von Sternberg. It's all ballyhoo, no more."

"Then," Kane pursued, "you are not interested in Richard Bailey's private life——"

"Not in the least," she put in.

"Nor in what happens to him," he added, ignoring her interpolation.

A shadow crossed her countenance. Plainly, she was disturbed. She gazed about the elaborately decorated dining room and it seemed that her lips curled slightly in contempt. Finally:

"That's the trouble with this business," she declared brusquely, "the people think that you have to marry a man just because he does a little something for you."

Kane waited for her to go on. After a moment she did.

"I'm getting tired of this whole thing!" she exclaimed. There was a trace of venom in her voice. "I'm going to put a stop to it. If I can't get along on my own merits I'll get out of it. I'm tired of having to toady to first one and then another."

Holmes tried to stop her.

"I don't care!" she cried. "I'm getting tired of it. If I can't do it one way I can another!"

Kane had listened intently. At first, he had wondered how he was going to swing the conversation around to the murder. Now, the way was only too open. It was his opportunity, but he deliberately passed it up. The setting didn't suit him. A lover of the dramatic, he preferred to make his revelation from a clear sky.

His agile mind was working fast. Suddenly, the orchestra swung into a lilting waltz. Holmes suggested that they dance. She looked inquiringly at Kane and he nodded. He watched them whirl away and disappear on the crowded floor.

A waiter hovered near. Kane took out a pencil and notebook and hurriedly wrote something. He called the waiter and handed it to him.

"Give this to the orchestra leader when this dance is finished," he directed.

The waiter slouched away and he settled down to watch the dancers. Remarkably good dancers, he thought, as he gazed at them whirling and swirling past the table. Some of them looked and acted as though they were really enjoying themselves. Others wore a pained expression that indicated they would rather be anywhere but where they were.

Presently the dance was ended. Nanette LeRoi and Rodolf Holmes returned. Her face was aglow; her eyes sparkled happily. Kane thought, "I suppose she's glad not to have Bailey trailing along at the hem of her skirts tonight."

She said, "It's so warm, Rodolf. Can't we have something cool to drink?"

He nodded and looked for the waiter.

Kane leaned over toward her and asked, "It must be a relief to get away from Richard Bailey tonight."

She suddenly grew serious. "More than you know," intensely.

"When did you see him last?" he pursued.

"Tonight. I went to his home, as we had planned, to get him to bring me down here. He had a party on. He told me to come on down and he would join me later, after he got rid of his guests." Her voice was cold and hard.

Kane carefully suppressed his eagerness. "So he was entertaining, eh? No wonder you want to get rid of him. A bunch of his pals on a drunken orgy, I suppose."

"No," she fired back. "There was another director from our studio and two girl contract players."

"Friends of yours?" he inquired with faked nonchalance.

"I don't see what business it is of yours," she exploded. "You've caused me enough trouble in my short span of life. Do you think you have become my keeper because I had guts enough to get rid of a man who was wrecking my life?"

Kane acted as though he accepted the rebuff. He took out his handkerchief and mopped his brow. The drummer in the orchestra crashed his cymbals. The buzz of conversation ceased. Every eye turned toward the orchestra leader, who stepped forward with hand upraised, every eye but Kane's. He was watching Nanette LeRoi.

"I have a sad announcement to make," the orchestra leader said. "We have just received the flash and I know you all will be interested. Richard Bailey has met with an accident and is dead."

The crowd listened to the announcement in stunned silence. Then—the hum of conversation.

The actress' eyes flashed; she grew pale; her lip curled ever so slightly. "I suppose he had too much to drink," she fairly hissed, "and ran his car off the road somewhere."

Kane bided his time.

"Aren't you just a trifle harsh, Nanette?" Holmes chided her.

"He deserved it," she shot back.

"Didn't you say you saw him at nine o'clock?" Holmes persisted. "He wasn't so very—er—intoxicated then, was he?"

"No!" she flared, "but he was determined he would be before he left the house."

"You say you saw him at nine o'clock?" Kane asked quietly.

"Yes," in a guttural voice.

"Richard Bailey was murdered at nine o'clock," he announced.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

WHEN QUEBEC WAS SAVED

ON THIS DATE, in 1775, Quebec city was saved from capture by the skill of Guy Carleton and the bravery of its garrison. The city had been besieged by the Americans, under Arnold and Montgomery, for six weeks. The situation was one of considerable peril; a portion of the French population was inclined to make alliance with the enemy, despite the exhortations of the bishop and clergy to stand true to the British connection; the parrison composed of Highlanders, Fusiliers, engineers, sailors and both British militia from Montreal and Canadian militia of Quebec, was nervoic and awaited attack This came about 4 a.m., a bitterly cold morning, with light visibility, and might have succeeded had it not been for the keen eyesight of Captain Malcolm Fraser, of the Royal Engineers, who, on his rounds, noticed some lights moving in the distance and gave the alarm. Instantly the garrison sprang to arms and when the enemy attacked were ready for them. The fighting was fierce but scattered. Carleton got the bulk of the attackers, under Arnold, in a trap, where they fought well. Arnold himself being wounded, and many of the enemy were forced to surrender. Meanwhile Montgomery had attacked from the south. He had no better luck than his fellow. His force was surrounded and he himself was killed. That night a heavy snow fell, covering the bodies of those who had fallen, and there was no further attack. Arnold, from his tent, ordered the retirement of his force; Quebec was saved, and the peril of a conquest of Lower Canada by the invaders from the revolted colonies to the south was at an end. It was some days before Montgomery's body was found. It was buried with honors by the British, and it is related that when Arnold heard of the finding of Montgomery's body that he sent a messenger to Carleton, asking that the dead officer's watch might be sent him to be forwarded to his mother, offering to "pay any reasonable price" for it, and that Carleton sent the watch with a polite intimation that the British were not hucksters and were always glad to pay tribute to a gallant foe, thus discriminating between the patriot Montgomery and the soldier of fortune, Arnold, whose history proved that he believed that every man had his price. When you visit Quebec you will see fronting you as you walk on Dufferin Terrace a sign 'Here Montgomery Fell,' on the edge of the cliff and one summer evening I heard a visitor from Boston, who had noted the steep declivity, remark to his companion: "No wonder he was killed!"

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Dec. 31. — (C.P.)—The standard mining market wound up here with a demonstration of quiet strength with all sections of the board except the oils sharing in the cheerfulness. The secondary gold shares were the most active while most of the coppers did better and Nipissing, representing the silver group, moved up to 7.26.

The demand for Wright-Hargreaves fell off sharply while the bid trading price was down three points to 3.75. Teck Hughes advanced slightly, hitting 4.10 and closing at 4.08 for a two point gain. Hollinger was also up a few cents, to 6.10, while Lake Shore was down a little to 33.50.

Eldorado was again under accumulation to-day and a couple of cents was added to the price, bringing it up to 1.40. In the base metal group, Noranda traded at 20.25, up a few cents. Nickel was off five to 9.35, Sherritt firmed to 38, Hudson Bay to 3.10, Ventures to 83 and Sudbury Basin to 70.

Most of the penny shares were unchanged. Central Pat at 19 was off a fraction.

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30.— (C.P.)—Encouraging signs of strength appeared in the grain market during the closing days of the old year. And during the past week values have improved from 5-8c to 7-8c. December futures closed yesterday at 41 7-8; May at 44c and July at 45c.

Firmness was variously attributed to light offerigs, broader investment interest and upward tendency at Liverpool. Aggregate of export business was fair, with most of the sales made at Vancouver.

Farm deliveries have dwindled to a small figure and the cash wheat market is tight. Elevator interests hold most of the wheat and release it only when prices look attractive.

TORONTO STOCK MARKET

TORONTO, Dec. 31 (C.P.)—The firmer tone developed in the Toronto Stock Market on Thursday continued till the close to-day. While trading remained rather quiet the price level held around the best for the present move and gave signs of stiffening with the holidays out of the way.

In the oil group British American, selling ex-dividend, held at 8¼, thus showing strength while Supertest netted a half point gain over the dividend disbursement, trading at 13. Imperial dipped to 8¾, while International Pete was firmer and McColl Frontenac down a little.

All the interlisted shares held up well without any spectacular movements. Brazilian at 9¾ was unchanged, C.P.R. up at 16¼, Ford A was off ⅛ at 7⅛, and International Nickel at 9¼ was a shade off.

The utilities had a quiet day with Bell Telephone unchanged at 93½, while Montreal Power scored a small advance to 31¼ and Union Gas was steady. Dominion Stores after trading at 17⅛ fell back to 16¾, closing unchanged at the lower price. The other food shares were quiet. In the heavy industries, Steel of Canada weakened fractionally and Canada Malting appearing a fraction lower at 14 was the only action in the beverage section. Bank of Commerce firmed to 140.

BEATTY CHEERS C. P. EMPLOYEES

Claims Eves Moderate Improvement in Conditions Will Help Line Greatly.

URGES CONFIDENCE.

MONTREAL, Dec. 31 (C.P.) — Even a moderate improvement in the general situation will reflect itself immediately throughout the company's varied activities, declares E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in a New Year message to officers and employees of the company.

Mr. Beatty's message follows:

"The improvement in Canadian conditions anticipated at the end of 1931 has not taken place, though on moer than one occasion during the present year hopes of Canadians were raised by favorable indications that turned out to be only temporary in character. We have, therefore, been forced to additional curtailments in our operations and to added personal sacrifices.

"While not minimizing the seriousness of the general situation, we may still retain our courage and our confidence in ourselves and in Canada. Problems which are particularly our own because they relate to Canadian conditions are receiving serious attention by our public men and leaders in finance, industry, and agriculture, and the world's best minds are grappling with the complicated economic and international problems which presently exist. The result of these efforts must even if slowly, indicate itself during the coming months.

"I wish you all the best of health with which to meet the personal and official problems of 1933."

CHICAGO GRAIN EXCHANGE.

(By John P. Boughan, C.P., Market Editor.)

CHICAGO, December 31 (C.P.).—Extraordinary attention is now being given by the grain trade to the outlook for the 1933 United States winter wheat crop.

Reasons for unusual solicitude encircle the fact that condition of domestic winter wheat growth at present is the lowest since crop reporting started in 1863, and it is almost impossible to estimate how much of the seeded acreage will be abandoned. The biggest abandonment on record was 31.1 per cent. in 1917, and the December growth condition that season was 20 points higher than at this time.

Steadied by apparent likelihood of a short crop, wheat this morning compared to a week ago was exactly unchanged to ¼ cent higher, with corn ⅛c to 1¼c up, oats ¼c off to ¼c to ¾c advance, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 12 cents.

In concert with prospects of crop curtailment, the wheat market is finding domestic receipts decidedly small, a steady absorption of wheat by mills, and substantial decreases of the United States visible supply in spite of absence of exports.

A strengthening factor as to corn and oats is talk that much corn in the east unlikely to be shipped back here is hedged in Chicago.

Draggy action of hog values serves to weaken the provision market.

RAKOSI'S MEMOIRS REVEAL CROWN OFFERED ROTHERMERE

Claim British Publisher Willing Candidate for Kingship of Hungary.

IN EARLY POST-WAR DAYS.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 31.—A.P.)—Joseph Schiller, private secretary of the late Eugene Rakosi, blind Hungarian publisher, has made public the latter's memoirs in which it was related that overtures were made to Lord Rothermere, British publisher, in early post-war years, urging that he become king of Hungary.

The memoirs said Lord Rothermere was a willing candidate and decidedly approved of Rakosi's efforts to get him the crown.

The post-war dispute over the crown of Hungary resulted in Lord Rothermere issuing a Christmas message in 1928 in which he urged the Hungarian people to elect some foreign prince as their king, instead of a scion of the House of Hapsburg, which ruled Austria-Hungary before the division of the Empire.

Lord Rothermere contended selection of a Hapsburg would nullify Hungarian efforts to revise the 1918 peace treaty.

FIRST SECTION LEADERS ARE EASY WINNERS

spurs, in third place, drew up to within a point of Stoke City with a 3-0 win from Charlton Athletic. The Spurs broke their tie with Bury who were unable to score against Port Vale, but picked up a point in a scoreless draw.

Chester, northern section leaders, gained a point on Hull City when they defeated Mansfield Town 5-1, while Hull played a scoreless match with Walsall.

Rangers Regain Lead

GLASGOW, Dec. 31 (C.P. Cable) —Rangers regained the lead in the Scottish League, first division, today when they tied, 3-3, with Ayr United, while Celtic bowed to Hamilton Academicals, 0-3.

The teams had been in a tie for first place, Rangers leading only by a better goal average.

Hearts drew up to within two points of Motherwell, who are in third place, by defeating Airdrieonians, 7-2, while Aberdeen were beating Motherwell, 3-2. Aberdeen's win broke their tie with St. Johnstone, who had to be content with a 2-2 tie with Partick Thistle.

Queen of the South kept pace with Hibernians, who lead the second division by 5 points. The Queens defeated Arbroath, 3-1, while the leaders eked out a 2-1 win over Albion Rovers.

ROYAL BANK OF CANADA IN STRONG LIQUID POSITION

Annual Statement Shows Total Assets at $765,512,920 — Liquid Assets at $355,929,915 and Equal to 52.86 Per Cent. of Total Liabilities to the Public—Included in Them Are Cash Holdings of $164,630,724, Equal to Over 24 Per Cent. of Public Liabilities—Savings Deposits Hold Up in Satisfactory Manner.

Shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada will have reason to be gratified at the strong statement that is being forwarded to them for the fiscal year to November 30th.

In line with the reports issued by the larger banks Total Assets, due to the less active business conditions, are down moderately from the previous year. On the other hand there has been a substantial increase in the holdings of Government and Municipal Bonds, with the result that Liquid Assets have increased to 52.86 per cent. of public liabilities.

A further feature of the Liquid Assets is represented by the holdings of Cash, which now aggregate as much as $164,630,724, and are equal to over 24 per cent. of public liabilities.

Profits for the year, as was to be expected, show a slight recession due to the general trade conditions and the lower interest rates that have prevailed in reserve centres, but after making full allowance for all bad an ddoubtful debts, and providing for cost of management, they were amply sufficient to permit of the payment of dividends and the usual appropriations, as also to allow of a further contribution to Profit and Loss Account.

Strong Liquid Position.

The statement which appears elsewhere in this issue shows Total Assets of $765,712,920. Of this amount, liquid assets amount to the large sum of $355,929,915, equal to 52.85% of all liabilities to the public. Cash holdings, aggregating $164,630,724 and forming one of the striking features of the report, represent over 24% of liabilities to the public.

Dominion and Provincial Government securities are $89,448,844, compared with $85,473,058 at the end of the previous year, and Canadian municipal securities and British, foreign and colonial public public securities $26,750,444 up from $24,641,816.

The various loan accounts reflect current business conditions, and are down substantially from the previous year. Commercial loans now stand at $360,562,286, against $419,345,043, while call loans in Canada have been reduced to $28,951,263 from $39,137,268 and call loans elsewhere to $36,400,142 from $37,156,111. Reduced import and export trade account for the reduction in Letters of Credit to $20,092,951 from $28,966,506.

Deposits at Satisfactory Level.

Deposits have been well maintained. Total deposits at $619,094,-143 show a reduction for the year of less than 7 per cent., from $664,-795,716. Savings deposits made a very gratifying showing, and at $468,391,153 are down less than $8,000,000. In view of the large Government loans floated during the year, the total would indicate a tendency among depositors to keep ample cash balances and to add steadily to their savings. Non-interest deposits, which in the main are the working balances of business and farming customers, reflect the curtailment of trade activity and lower prices, being down to $128,983,165 from $170,913,903.

Shareholders will be interested in seeing that the reduction in loan accounts has more than offset the reduction in commercial deposits. At the same time, the strong liquid position means that just as soon as trade recovers the bank is in a position to take care of the increased requirements of its customers.

Earnings have held up well, especially in view of the lessened business activity and the lower interest rates at reserve centres. Profits for the year were $4,861,849 compared with $5,448,327. They fully covered dividend requirements of $3,850,000, contribution to Officers' Pension Fund $200,000 appropriation for bank premises $200,000, and reserve for Dominion Government taxes $600,000.

For a number of years the bank has carried an unusually large amount in undivided profits. This year the directors have authorized a transfer of $3,000,000 of this amount to investment depreciation reserve. This will be regarded as a conservative move, strengthening as it does the inner reserves of the bank to this extent and leaving $1,166,954 to be carried forward to credit of Profit and Loss Account.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders will be held at the head office of the Bank in Montreal, on Thursday, January 12.

no seriousobstacle. "I noted but little concern on the part of Soviet officials towards trade with Canada under present conditions but they will meet halfway any disposition shown by our federal government to renew trade relations even with certain restrictions which our government might desire. By this I wish to convey, that it is possible for the Canadian ban to remain on certain products and still do business that would be of tremendous advantage to Canada with its present unemployment problem."

"Possibilities"

Col. Mackie explained that a representative of the Winnipeg syndicate visiting Moscow doubtless took up the matter with officials whose proposals were more or less in the nature of possibilities but "it is diametrically opposite to the pronounced policy of the senior Soviet commissars or as we would term them in Canada, cabinet ministers, along with the supreme economic council whose members unfortunately are not inclined to trade with Canada under existing conditions. Possible it is on these grounds that Amtorg is emphatic in its announcement there is little substance to the proposed barter. These officials say the figure of 100,000 cows is quite fantastic."

HISTORIC HOTEL LIES IN RUINS

flames high in the air while billowing smoke and the background of the mighty falls all added to make the scene an impressive one.

Huge crowds rushed from both cities, and police were forced to rope off wide areas because the whirling embers were blown long distance by the strong wind.

Uncertain On Rebuilding

Directors of the United Hotels company in conference at Niagara Falls, N. Y., had reached no decision as to whether the great structure would be rebuilt.

The hotel had been closed since Labor Day, and the only persons inside were the Jones family.

Less than half an hour after Jones had given the alarm, the place was an inferno and firemen were unable to enter.

Two fire companies from Niagara Falls, N.Y., under Chief G. A. Wood, rushed across the border in response to request for aid, and did great work in co-operation with their Canadian colleague.

This afternoon, it was learned the building was insured for $540,000.

Sporting Barbers

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask., Dec. 31 (C.P.).—Fed up by a chorus of uncomplimentary remarks about the high price of haircuts, North Battleford barbers have decided to let their customers determine their earnings for one month. Starting January 3, a group will leave it to the customer what he wants to pay.

To-day a Scotsman proved a disappointment and an apparent feminine back to the bob movement threw consternation into the ranks, but the barbers say they can "take it" and stand by their pact.

MANY CITIZENS GIVE SUPPORT TO TWO BY-LAWS

H. E. HODGENS, 380 Belmont Avenue, business man, said: "I'm in favour of the by-laws. Any encouragement we can give our industries should be given. Every factory who employs our workmen is to the direct benefit to the city and every ratepayer."

T. B. MANIECE, grocer, 253 Mark street, stated: "I will certainly vote for the two by-laws. Our industries are having sufficient difficulties at the present time and these by-laws will cost the ratepayers nothing. The factories are giving employment and helping to build up our city."

R. C. BRAUND, merchant, 330 Sherbrooke street, said "Every by-law that helps our manufacturers should be endorsed by the ratepayers. Who really pays our taxes? Why the manufacturers. In paying wages to their men the men are able to pay the taxes on their homes. If there were no factories, there would be no taxes because there wouldn't be any city. We should be willing to pay a little extra to aid our factories in broadening out so they will be able to employ more men because that means progress for Peterborogh."

DR. W. A. BAKER, physcian, 74 Hunter street, East, said: "If only on principle the by-laws will get my vote. Fair treatment to our present factories will encourage others to come here and more and larger factories mean more employment to our citizens."

HARRY HUFFMAN, contractor and extensive property owner, 311 Elias Avenue, stated: "I am certainly supporting the by-laws. We can't exist as a city without our factories and anything we can do to encourage new factories or the extension of those we have should be favored by every ratepayer."

BENNY CHESLER, merchant and extensive property owner, 545 Homewood Avenue, said: "There's every reason why the by-laws will get my vote. They should be supported for the simple reason that Peterborough citizens ought to support present industries so that we will be in a position to get more industries. By supporting the by-laws the ratepayers are not losing anything but rather gaining a great deal."

JOHN CRANE, financial adviser and retired bank manager, said: "I will support the two by-laws because I realize that ther endorsation will encourage other industries to locate in Peterborough.

JOHN MALANE, tobacconist, 448 Roger street, said: "I am opposed to the by-laws. I believe that the city has given the two factories all that was promised them, and I don't think the factories have done all they promised."

HAROLD MORROW, member of the engineering firm of Morrow and Beatty and a large property owner, said: "I most heartily in favour of the by-laws. If the citizens pass the by-laws it will assuredly encourage other plants to locate here and aid the city's progress."

R. R. HALL, K.C., well-known local lawyer and extensive property owner, said: "I am supporting the the by-laws. They are two prosperous industries and I think the city should make every effort to encourage them to increase their plants, as the carrying of the by-laws will do."

JOHN COMSTOCK, member of the firm of A. Comstock and Sons, said: "I will support the by-laws, if for no other reason than that the City Council has recommended them to the citizens, and I think the citizens should back the Council in its choice of what is best for the city."

GEORGE W. LUNDY, insurance man and extensive property owner, said: "I will vote for the by-laws. All other cities are extending fixed assessments to their industries and if Peterborough is to be in a position to secure more factories the by-laws must be carried."

P. GOSSELIN, tobacconist, 99 Hunter street, W., said: "The by-laws should be supported and the factories encouraged."

W. H. BRADBURN, one of the city's largest property owners, said: "I am going to support the by-laws. I was mayor of the city when the DeLaval located here and I know that the company has more than fulfilled all its promises. We should do everything possible to encourage our factories if we want to keep them."

AUDITORS' CERTIFICATE

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS, THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA:

We have examined the above Statement of Liabilities and Assets at 30th November, 1932, with the books and accounts of The Royal Bank of Canada at Head Office and with the certified returns from the branches. We have verified the cash and securities at Head Office at the close of the Bank's fiscal year, and during the year we counted the cash and examined the securities at several of the important branches.

We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and in our opinion the transactions of the Bank, which have come under our notice, have been within the powers of the Bank. across the pitch intending to play one of Wall's to leg, but he was caught at square leg by O'Reilly. It was the first wicket and the score at 30. Wyatt's inning had lasted 56 minutes and included one boundary six.

W. R. Hammond, the famous Gloucestershide pro. then joined Sutcliffe, but it was only the second ball of the fourth over after lunch when his off stump was somersaulted by Wall. Hammond had scored eight and his the second wicket, fell with the scoer at 43.

The Nawab of Pataudi followed in, and the two made a short stand. Sutcliffe appeared unperturbed and pulled Wall to the boundary for the 50th run in 77 minutes. He bore a charmed wicket, however, for McCabe had dropped at catch in the slips off C. V. Grimmett when his score was 28 and only two runs later he jumped away out to drive Grimmett but missed completely and was just back in his crease in time.

Pataudi was bowled by O'Reilly for the third wicket after scoring 16 in a patient stand. The total was 83. V. Y. Richardson came in with Sutcliffe, and when the latter scored his 40th run he made his 1,000th run for the tour. The score was boosted to 91 for three, when play was stopped for tea.

53-Run Inning

Shortly after play resumed Sutcliffe skied one of O'Reilly's to square leg, where Wall caught it. His inning of 53 had lasted two hours and 35 minutes and included five fours. The score stood at 98 for four wickets.

Then followed a sensational and unexcusable collapse of English wickets. The bowling was good, but not exceptional. Wall was delivering very fast, assisted by a breeze, while O'Reilly was nipping them off the pitch with sharp breaks. D. R. Jardine, the English captain, was dismissed for one run when he knocked one of Wall's to Oldfield. The score was 104 for five. L. E. G. Ames was taken by Wall for only four runs, with the score at 110 for the sixth wicket. Maurice Leyland went in, but after a fair stand of 22 lost his middle stump to O'Reilly. The score was 122 for seven.

G. O. Allen, the Middlesex amateur, was fighting hard to boost the score and had knocked up 26 when O'Reilly took Harold Larwood's middle stump after the English bowler had scored nine. The score stood at 138 for eight wickets.

Clarence Watts Is Re-Elected Trustee

(Examiner Correspondence)

WARSAW, Dec. 31.—There was a fairly good attendance of ratepayers at the Warsaw school annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon. James Greystock was appointed chairman and alec Rose secretary. Clarence Watts, secretary treasurer for trustees read the school report, Total expenses were $3,410.67. Hilliard Darling read the auditors' report. In answer to questions, Mr. Watts said the building and contents were insured for $14,600. The department withheld 10 per cent of all grants this year. The teachers are paid monthly. Since mid-summer the salaries of teachers have been at the rate of $1,125, $800 and $800 per annum. Insurance paid this year was $122.60. It is paid every three years.

A letter was read urging representation at the trustees and rate payer's convention in the spring. It is several years since this section has been represented and the then delegate spoke, urging one trustee to be appointed delegate, and if possible all three go. Also a letter was read suggesting a county trustee and ratepayer's organization. Nothing was absolutely done in either case, though the feeling seemed to be a delegate should be sent to the provincial gathering.

Mr. Digweed was appointed auditor in Mr. T. Clements' place and Mr. Watts was re-elected for a fourth term as trustee. The other trustees are Melville Crowe and David Rose. Mr. Watts suggested that the trustee's rate be a little higher, to enable the trustees to have funds on hand to cover all expenses until July, so that borrowing and paying interest will be unnecessary. The grants do not come in until Fall.

GIVE A NEW MAN A CHANCE

Elect

FRED TUGGEY MAYOR

WISHING ONE AND ALL PROSPERITY IN 1933.

any promise as to what I will do if elected other than this: That whatever questions may come before the Council, I will give them most careful consideration and deal with them sincerely, to the best interests of the city, the rateyapers, and the citizens, with consistent economy."

Let Work Locally

Fred O. Goodfellow, plumber and property owner, said, "I will vote against any expenditure that will increase taxes. I am in favour of all local work such as roads etc., to be let to local contractors. I favour reducing all wages that more than provide for a fair standard of living. I am not in favour of reducing working men's wages. Those in need through the depression should be taken care of by the city, but in a moderate way."

Must Reduce Taxes

James Hamilton, large property owner, who seeks re-election, said: "I do not think I ever was interested in a municipal election in which there seems so little to say, as in the present contest, nor do I ever remember a time when it was more necessary to have good, sane men at the head of our municipal government. The two big questions next year will be, of course, the relief problem and the lowering of the city taxes. We must help the families where the breadwinner is out of work, and we must reduce taxes. It is going to be difficult to do, but it must be done some how or other.

"There are a number of manufacturers of various lines in the United States talking about establishing a branch factory in Canada because of the pact signed at the Imperial Conference. I feel that I can be of great assistance in inducing some of these factories to come to Peterborough. We cannot get them all, but by going after them in a diplomatic and energetic manner, I am sure we can land some of them.

"I have been Chairman of the Board of Works for some years past, during which time we have done a great deal of work on the city streets, sidewalks, sewers and storm drains, under the Unemployment Relief Scheme to which the Government contributed 50% of the cost in some cases, and 66 2/3% in others. In this way we gave part time to hundreds of men who would have otherwise been out of work. I am sure this was good business because when we discontinued the work this Fall, nearly all the men we had on part time work applied for help from the city.

"Our streets, sidewalks, sewers and storm drains are in excellent shape now, and I am sure you will admit they are a credit to the city.

"I hope the people are satisfied with the eight years' service I have given them, and trust they will elect me again."

Business Experience

Joseph Henderson, retail grocer, 260 King Street, said that he believed the experience he had gained in business for more than ten years deserved the serious attention of the ratepayers when they marked their ballots next Monday.

"Thanks to the confidence many of the people have had in me for years, I have had a fair measure of success in my business" Mr. Henderson said, "and I think this experience is a qualification which the ratepayers should take into consideration when they are electing men to handle their municipal affairs.

"I was born in Peterborough, and whatever I have is invested in Peterborough property, and I am just as deeply concerned about the welfare of this city as any one. I have tried to follow the work of the council for some years, and I believe that there is room for economies that would be a real advantage to every ratepayer. I am not going to say that if elected I could to certain things, but I could try to do them, and that is my promise to the people. If I get enough support in the council I feel certain that no ratepayer will regret having voted for me. If I become an alderman I would want to be a successful one and have the respect and confidence of the people, and the way to gain that is by honest, faithful efforts, and that is what I would keep before me.

"Take it from me, if I am an alderman I'll be on the job all the time, and I don't mean maybe. If the ratepayers want a man who will do everything possible to bring down the tax rate, they won't make a mistake in marking an X opposite the name of Joseph Henderson."

Strictest Economy

James C. Ellis, manufacturer, stated that now was the time that the strictest economy should be practised in the city's business, and expenditures must be curtailed wherever possible until it hurt. "Strictest economy will be my aim if elected to the Council" he said. "No money of the taxpayers should be spent until it is considered from every angle and deemed absolutely necessary. Many municipal services have to be maintained, but they should be given the third degree to see that no money is being mis-spent. Enough taxes will be needed for relief without any waste in other departments and I mean to shut down on all waste."

Great Burden Being Borne

Joseph S. Bell, extensive property owner, Bell Apartments, Hunter street west, stated: "The need for economy is so great that public opinion has at last been aroused. This city has always paid one hundred cents on the dollar and it is to the interest of every citizen to see that it continues to do so. This will require effort and the citizen in general must be inspired, encouraged and sustained. This can be done only by checking the greatly increased costs of public services.

"The people are bearing great burdens" continued Mr. Bell. "Hypocricy must be cast out. No one must be hungry through no fault of their own. If work cannot be found for all in need, relief must be given in a manner to sustain a proper spirit of reasonable pride and independence.

"Having accepted nomination for alderman, as a large propery holder, my platform is one of honest service to the community and a square deal to all irrespective of rank or position. This year will require faith, courage and vision."

Experience Be Helpful.

J. A. McNabb, with four years on the Council and seeking re-election, said, in offering himself as a candidate he desired to express his appreciation of the support of the citizens in the past.

He pointed out that the responsibilities of municipal government have greatly increased because of the depression. The cutting down of capital expenditures has naturally prevented the construction and development of public works, thus increasing the number, who through no fault of their own, require relief, he said.

"If I can be of further service to our citizens, I again offer my services, to assist in seeing this protracted period of adversity through. I believe my experience will be helpful. I am offering no promises, other than rigid economy curtailing of departmental expenditures consistent with efficient administration. I will strive, if elected, to serve the citizens to the best of my ability—free from interference, dictation or obligation. I shall give complete and careful study to the financial structure of the city before any money is voted."

South Ward Representation.

Maxwell R. Sloan, local contractor and returned soldier, of 167 Romaine Street, said: "Heavy taxpayers in the south-end of the city feel that they should have some representation on the Council, and as a large builder I feel I have some knowledge of that section's requirements.

"I believe that sympathetic consideration must be given to taxpayers who through financial stress in these abnormal times are unable to pay taxes by adopting some prudent policy to meet the conditions.

"I stand for lower taxes by the elimination of luxury expenditure, and I will support every move for economy which will give a maximum benefit to both the taxpayer and the unemployed.

"I would make every effort to see that local contractors and workmen are awarded all civic contracts, even though the price might be a little higher, and all materials be purchased locally or through our merchants consistent with proper price and service."

Mr. Sloan expressed his confidence in Peterborough and stated that with co-operation and loyalty on the part of all citizens it can be made an even brighter and better place in which to reside.

Stands For Economy.

Daniel J. Holland, a member of the City Council for the past four years, who resides at 174 Douro Street, and is an extensive property owner, said he was born in Peterborough and has had wide business experience here and elsewhere.

Mr. Holland stated: "I stand for economy and the elimination of all expense that borders on luxury or non-essential, and the promotion of employment insofar as that lies within the powers of the City Council.

"I am anxious to obtain for Peterborough new industries, and will support any reasonable program in the Council in that direction. I am an advocate of variety in industry, the city having been fortunate in that regard up to the present.

"I also advocate a continuation of stability in city government.

"During my four years in Council I have made a close study of municipal routine and legislation, and I feel that my experience and knowledge should be of some benefit to the citizens at this time of serious responsibility."

Helped Bring Factories

Malcolm McIntyre, contractor, 206 Park Hill Road, was a member of the City Counciu for ten years during which time he was chairman of many important committees. It was while he was chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee that Peterborough secured three factories, the Johnson Motors, the A. Wander Company, makers of Ovaltine, and the Martin-Hewitt Company. Previously he was active in securing the Vermont Marble Company's plant for Ashburnham.

"The people require that strict economy shall be exercised in every branch of civic administration and expenditure," said Mr. McIntyre. "Further, if elected, I shall demand that every department under the council's jurisdiction shall be closely examined.

"The citizens know my past record in the council and I am willing to leave the decision entirely with them. If they want me I am willing to serve to the utmost of my ability."

First Medical Candidate

Dr. Justin M. O'Brien, physician of this city for 12 years, is the first medical man in the city's history to offer his services to the citizens on the Aldermanic Board.

Dr. O'Brien is not a stranger in public service having been an important member of the Board of Health for four years, during which time, he said, he has made a close study of municipal government especially as it applies to Peterborough.

He said that as medical man he thought he could bring an entirely new viewpoint into the councils of the aldermanic board, it being his daily task as a doctor to study the requirements and present situation of rich and poor, and all grades of society.

"This is no time for argument and strife," said Dr. O'Brien. "It is a difficult time we all admit, and every man either in private or public life should be prepared to offer his time and service in constructive criticism and do his utmost to help carry the load.

The Forgotten Man

"There is such a proposition as the so-called forgotten man, but not only the man but also the women and children at home. So therefore let us all be prepared to help and serve to the benefit of all.

"I am not making any promises to any special class, but I am determined if elected to study keenly all business confronting civic administration, keeping in mind the need for every measure of economy, and deal with such administration as I deem would benefit the greatest number.

Sound Economics

"I believe some economies can be made in the city's expenditures, but I do not think that they can be made as drastic as some citizens suggest. As far as possible my aim would be to put forward a program that will permit the city to pay its way and curtail in some departments, while endeavoring to see that such savings do not work a hardship on any class or individual.

"According to the tenets of Osler, Hippocrates and all the great founders of medicine let it be our aim that no one at any time shall be in need of medical attention. I have wide human sympathies, as every medical man must have to be a success in the profession, and I shall try to carry that feeling into the Council Chamber."

the Trades and Labor Council for two years.

The pending fight on the Mayoralty issue has been termed "a test of the labor vote in Peterborough."

Below are expressions of opinion as given by the two candidates during the course of interviews with The Examiner, and on which the respective appeals to the electors are based:

Mayor Denne again appeals to the electorate of his native city in the assurance that his lengthy record of service in business and civic administrtaion, and his unfailing interest in everything that tends to make a "bigger and better Peterborough," will remain as a sure indication of the policy that he will continue to pursue if returned to office, he stated.

Not Making Promises

With characteristic reserve, where his personal interests are concerned, Mayor Denne told The Examiner, "I don't intend to make any promises that later on may be found impossible of fulfillment. During the five years that I have been Mayor of this city, and in the years prior to that when I served on the Council and on the School Board I have always tried to legislate to the best advantage of everyone concorned."

The past year had been a particularly trying one, he stated, and problems had had to be met and faced such as no previous Council in the history of this city had ever experienced. He was again running for office because he had been asked to do so by a large number of the public and by his colleagues on the Council.

"This time last year," he exclaimed, "we were all looking forward with a certain amount of hope and optimism for a rift in the clouds of depression, and when the Council sat in to consider the financial position, retrenchments were made to meet the condition which then existed. No one," he said, "could foresee that the situation would continue on as it has done, and no one can say with any degree of certainty what the future holds. We can only enter upon the New Year with that same spirit of optimism and courage, each determined to do his share in lightening the burden of his fellow men."

Mayor Denne's attitude of sincerity and understanding revealed in the course of a talk with an Examiner reporter, indicated more clearly than anything else that this was the spirit in which he again intended to take up the reins of office if the electors saw fit to impose further confidence in him at the polls on Monday next.

He had no promises to make, nor had he any apologies to offer. Asked what stand he was taking on the salary question, Mayor Denne stated simply, that he did not favor the cutting of salaries, although he thought it inevitable that further cuts would have to be made. He said he would remind the critics on this issue, that the employees of the City Council and the Board of Education and Utilities Commission had all volunteered salary reductions gladly, and he had no doubt they would do so again when they saw that the need for economy was still unfortunately very real.

Generally speaking, he considered that the cutting of salaries simply meant the reduction of the spending power of the city's population, and he pointed out what that meant to the merchants: It was bound to react with anything but beneficial results.

Economies Necessary

Economies had to be made all around and great care would have to be exercised in the preparation of the city's budget for the coming year, the Mayor realized. But that, he said, was a foregone conclusion. It had certainly not just occurred to him but had been a matter of serious thought for some time past.

Supporting his statement that the past year had been one in which the Council had exercised economy, the Mayor stated, "We reduced the tax rate with the assistance of the employees of the Utilities and Board of Education who volunteered a five per cent. salary reduction, and it is a pleasing fact that the various committees will finish up the year within their appropriations."

Unemployment relief had been an increasing charge upon the city, but that was a situation that would probably unfortunately have to be met next year in increasing measure, he said ;although he expressed the sincere hope that conditions would soon show signs of improvement.

During his five years as Mayor, he pointed out that he had been largely instrumental in bringing about the establishment of three large factories here — Canadian Johnson Motors Ltd., A. Wander Limited, and The Martin-Hewitt Company. Present prospects, he claimed, indicated the possibility of one or two other factories locating here in the New Year.

In conclusion, Mayor Denne remarked that if re-elected he would pledge himself to devote the same amount of time, energy and interest to the office as he had devoted to it in the past. He has served the city continuously for the past twenty years. For twelve years he was on the Board of Education. He has also been chairman of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board for thirteen years.

Reached Parting of Ways

"We have reached the parting of the ways and have to choose which turning to take. There are two courses, the one which will help safeguard the taxpayer, and aid in relieving the crushing burden under which he is staggering; the other a disregard of the taxpayer's plight, and a headlong plunge to destruction."

Alderman Fred T. Tuggey who is contesting the Mayoralty against Mayor Roland Denne, made the above statement during the course of an interview with The Examiner, stating that he had chosen the course he intended to take. He was out for office in the best interests of the taxpayer and was firmly resolved, if elected, to effect a retrenchment in the expenses of civic administration.

"A great responsibility rests on the shoulders of the civic government, and I stand for everything that will tend to lighten the burden of taxation without weakening the city's standing. We have got to have a re-adjustment of our financial structure; we have got to eliminate waste which is prevalent at the present time; and," he said, with firm emphasis, "we have got to make adquate provision for the families that are on relief."

He pointed out that at the present time there were between six and seven hundred families in Peterborough on relief. It was the bounden duty of the city to make sure that these families were provided with food and clothing in order that their health should not be made to suffer. "These people," he said "were forced into this condition through no fault of their own and I pledge myself to do everything possible to provide them with the necessities of life. If the city under the present system cannot meet those needs, I should be in full agreement with making application to the Governments calling upon them to assume a larger share of the cost of such relief."

Besides the unemployed, Alderman Tuggey remarked there were 2485 citizens who were owners or who were trying to buy their homes, and 2494 citizens who rented homes from other persons. Those people were bearing the brunt of taxation and were finding it almost impossible to meet their obligations under the present system.

Regarding the statement he made at the nomination proceedings that he was in favor of civic expenditures being "cut to the bone," Alderman Tuggey was asked by The Examiner how he proposed to make these cuts.

Careful Budgeting

"Well. In the first place," he replied, "we have got to have more careful budgeting and have got to provide some other ways and means of providing the money apportioned to the various committees than by what we largely rely upon from taxation." He explained that what he meant was in view of the fact that at the end of November this year, there was a sum of $125,000 in outstanding taxes, it was right to assume that the position would be more acute in this regard next year, unless conditions showed rapid improvement. That being the case he suggested that the appropriations for such committees as the Board of Works and the Parks Committe could be considerably reduced.

Sewers and sidewalks had been laid during the past year to provide for the city's needs in this respect for the next ten years. That work had been undertaken as a relief measure, Alderman Tuggey realized, and had gone a long way towards providing employment for several people. His point however, was, that as the need of such work has now been exhausted the overhead of expense in connection with the Board of Works could now be considerably reduced.

He would also advocate curtailment of the expenses in connection with the city's parks. There was too much money being spent in that department, he continued.

Preparation had to be made, he believed, to take care of the piling amount of taxes that remained uncollected.

"How do you propose to do that?" The Examiner asked.

"One way of overcoming the difficulty, or at anyrate of providing some business for local merchants," Alderman Tuggey replied, "is by changing the system under which the city purchases its supplies." He was in favor, he said, of the city purchasing its requirements by tender in order to give the local merchants a chance to get his share of the business.

Another saving could be effected by a revision of civic grants, said Alderman Tuggey, although he declined to be more specific on this point.

Touching upon the salary question, Alderman Tuggey expressed himself as being in favor of re-adjustments being made in the salaries of paid officials in the employ of the city. He added, "it is far from my thought to ever cut the laboring man whose wage is a mere pittance as compared with the fat salaries of some of the higher ups. The common classes must have the consideration to which they are entitled," he concluded.

Omemee

(Examiner Correspondent.)

OMEMEE, December 30. — The Coronation Hall was well filled on Monday evening for the play "Her Step-Husband," presented by the young people of Trinity United church and sponsored by the Orangemen. The three act comedy required two hours and a half to complete its intriguing and humorous story, which kept the audience roaring with laughter.

The scene of the play was laid in the bungalow of Harvey P. Marshall, played by Arnold McQuade. His wife, Mary (Marion Rea) wishing to put up a fine appearance before her aunt, Miss Emily Paisley (Evelyn Bigelow) borrowed from her neighbor the necessary curtains, silver, linen and furniture, to make an elaborate showing. The part of the sympathetic neighbor was taken by Mary Weir. This friend, Sylvia Allen helped Mary to get a man to act as her step-husband while the aunt's visit lasted. Harvey himself refused to stay to see Aunt Emily but Mary Mary persuaded him to play the part of the butler in the house. The step-husband played by Neil McNeil was constantly making breaks during the whole performance. The plot becomes more complicated when Mrs. Allen is forced to take home her silver and curtains and Harvey the butler is accused of stealing them, and the step-husband is recognized by Miss Peggy Ainslee (Florence Laidley) who is his fiancee. Harvey is taken to jail, but manages to clear himself to the policeman and the silver is found in the hands of the real crook, Limpy Lannigan (William Weir), who had previously applied for the position of butler. Marshall's son, Willie, appeared to have been stolen, but was located at the Allen's, in a basket of bed linen lent by Sylvia. Aunt Emmy handed over the deeds of her property to Mary and Harvey, after she told them she had known all the time of the foolish attempt at deceiving her. Mary whose lively imagination had led to all the impossible situations, showed that she was not really cured of her love of make-believe by her ridiculous explanation as to why Willie had been stolen.

The part of the affable provincial police was taken by William Bourne. Stella, acted by Evelyn McPhee, was a smart but interfering maid, with romantic designs on the new butler, who even at the last could not quite untangle the situations.

Between the acts of this play, five local boys under the direction of Harvard Reddick (Leslie Picott, William Weir, Charles Brooks and Howard Vaughan) rendered some very fine singing, accompanied by H. Reddick on the ukelele, and C. Brooks on the harmonica, which made a great hit with the audience.

P.E.I. WILL BE ON LY DRY SPOT ON CONTINENT IF U.S. GOES WET

Province Despite Lack of Liquor Revenue Closer to Surplus Than Most.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Dec. 31 (C.P.)—The one province of Canada under prohibition, Prince Edward Island, will be the only "dry" spot on the Western Hemisphere if the United States goes "wet."

Liquor may be purchased legally on the island, but it is supposed to be for medicinal purposes. The purchaser is required to present a doctor's prescription.

And of coufse liquor may be purchased from bootleggers. Rum is landed in quantities along the shore but the traffic has been sharply curtailed since Royal Canadian Mounted Police took over enforcement of the Customs Act and Provincial prohibition law.

Despite the millions of dollars reaped annually by other provinces from Government sale of liquor, Prince Edward Island probably is in as good a financial position as any, and certainly is closer to a surplus than most. Total revenues for 1932 were estimated at $1,209,870.88; expenditures at $1,207,465.

While extraordinary demands may have jolted the Government's hopes of a surplus, it is believed the financial statement will be satisfactory.

One prominent Government Minister remarked that the other eight provinces of the Dominion had become so dependent on profits from liquor sales that they would find it difficult to do without them if the public ever favored return to prohibition.

Prince Edward Island voters favored prohibition by a majority of 3,259 at a plebiscite in 1929.

22 Red Party Heads Are Ordered On Trial

MOSCOW, Dec. 31 (C.P.). — Twenty-two Communist Party leaders in the South Volga region, including the secretary of the Regional Party Committee and the director of the tractor station, were ordered to trial to-day for "betrayal of the workers' class" in permitting severe crop losses and penetration of anti-Soviet elements into the rural life in the districts of Nizichirsky and Kotelnikov.

This action, which undoubtedly means expulsion from the party for most if not all of them, is one of the first direct results of the recently published order for nation-wide cleansing of the Communist party ranks.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Dec. 31 (C.P.)—McGill University's hockey team has made a clean sweep of the three-game series with Dartmouth by walking away with the final game, 13 to 1.

The Raybestos Message to the Ratepayers

The Canadian Raybestos Company Limited is asking the Ratepayers of Peterborough to support their BY-LAW through the City Council for a fixed assessment on their property.

This fixed assessment, if approved, means an INCREASE of 50 per cent. in taxes over that paid by this Company in 1929, a boom year.

We are not a very large organization and have no imposing figures with which to impress you, but we have endeavored to mold ourselves into your civic and economic life; to give steady employment to a small group of employees and to expand as business conditions warranted.

Upon the recommendation and with approval of the City Council we have made an addition to our plant in 1932, giving over 14,000 working hours of epmloyment to 63 bona fide citizens of Peterborough. THIS IS IN ADDITION TO THE REGULAR STAFF OF OUR COMPANY, WHICH HAS BEEN KEPT AT FULL STRENGTH DURING THE ENTIRE YEAR OF 1932.

In the construction of our Plant we employed local contractors as far as possible. All of the materials obtainable locally, such as lumber, brick, cement, gravel, hardware, plumbing, heating, electric wiring, etc., were purchased locally. We could, very easily, have postponed this work until 1933, or until the Ratepayers had approved or disapproved our By-law; but we did not, feeling fully assured that you would approve of the action taken by your Mayor and City Council.

In 1920 we purchased the Henry Hope Plant with a view to installing in it a new industry for Peterborough. The sudden collapse of business in that year prevented this new industry from coming here. FOR NINE YEARS WE PAID TAXES ON AN EMPTY FACTORY; finally selling this property to the Johnson Motor Company at a considerable loss over the purchase price.

What we are now asking is, that instead of doubling our taxation at a time when business conditions are at a low ebb, you permit us to carry on with only a 50 per cent. increase, which we deem reasonable.

We have plans for the manufacture of new products just as soon as conditions warrant it, which means additional employment, and we are hoping that the Ratepayers of Peterborough will look favorably upon our past endeavors, and support us by a favorable vote on our By-law.

We wish to take this opportunity of wishing each and every one of you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximatae prices track shipping points: Wheat, 40 to 42c; oats, 20 to 21c; barley, 32 to 34c; corn, 33 to 35c; rye, 30 to 32c; buckwheat, 26 to 28c.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Dec. 31. — Apart from a decline in fresh egg quotations, the past week was rather eventless so far as local produce dealings were concerned. While there was a heavy movement in poultry for the holiday week-end, all birds were practically quoted at market prices, due to the fact that the holdover from the Christmas trade was somewhat heavier than at first expected. Indications Thursday were that a good portion of the current run of supplies would be disposed of before the end of the week.

Eggs closed steady Thursday at the week's decline, with ungraded eggs, cases returned, quoted at from 27 to 28 cents for fresh extras, with fresh firsts at 24 cents. Graded eggs, cases free, closed at 30 cents for fresh extras, 25 cents for fresh firsts, 32 cents for pullets and 19 cents for seconds. To the retail trade prices were 35 cents for fresh extras, in cartons; 33 for loose, 29 for firsts, 26 for pullets and 22 cents for seconds. The decline in fresh eggs was traced to the fact that production has picked up of late due to the milder weather.

Storage eggs continued firm throughout the week, due to the fact that supplies have reached abnormally low levels.

Butter trading was comparatively quiet, with No. 1 Ontario creamery solids at from 21 to 21¼ cents, the latter being asked for top scoring lots, as well as for Western makes. No. 2 closed at 20¾ cents. Prices to the retail trade marked time at 24½ cents for No. 1 creamery prints with No. 2 at 24 cents.

Cheese was steady during the week at the 10-cent level for No. 1 large, with prices to the retail trade also unchanged. Churning cream held the one-cent advance chalked up on Tuesday.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

In carlots or less, fresh graded eggs sold at 33 to 35, firsts at 29 to 31 and pullets at 27 to 28 cents. Storage extras in carlots or less were quoted at 21½ to 22, firsts at 19½ to 20 and seconds at 18 to 18½ cents. Receipts were 946 cases. Butter held at 21½ for carlots or less for No. 1 finest grass make, with small lots at 21¾ cents. Receipts of Ontario white cheese were 8½ to 8½, current Ontario colored at 9½ to 9¾, and Ontario early season at 10½ to 11 cents. Receipts were 49 boxes.

New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountain potatoes, per 80 pounds bag, were 85 to 90 cents and Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 90 pound bag were 95 to $1.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, December 31.—Wheat trading developed notable activity and strength here yesterday, simultaneously with the approach of a cold wave and unexpected upturns in prices at Liverpool. Fears were expressed that freezing and thawing would cause damage to domestic winter wheat. Berlin reports were current that Russia was deeply concerned over events in Manchuria, especially advances of the Japanese troops in Jehol Province, and that a high Soviet official said: "We are convinced a big war is coming in the Far East."

Highest prices of the day were the rule in wheat at the last. Upturns of securities at New York helped to accelerate gains. A further stimulus came from Liverpool advices that China and India were purchasing wheat freely, and that there was no pressure abroad now to sell Argentine wheat. On the other hand, selling here to realize profits on price bulges tended to hold the market somwhat under restraint.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, December 31. — Distant futures registered substantial gains on the Grain Exchange yesterday, and a note of optimism was apparent. Strength at Liverpool and a substantial export business enabled prices to close ¼c to 1c higher for the day.

Marked improvement in commission house buying accompanied the lightness of offerings in the pit and the market had little difficulty in holding close to top levels. Export was estimated at 500,000 bushels most of it out of Vancouver.

Reduced offerings from the Argentine and Australia were responsible for a substantial rise in Liverpool's quotations, and bearish sentiment abroad was checked by exporters raising their prices overnight. Interest in cash wheat and coarse grains continued dull and sales were confined to odd cars.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a 16 oz. bottle, and fill up with your sugar syrup. The 16 ounces thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is the most effective remedy that money can buy. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and clears the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

What Today Means to YOU? by MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If December 31st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10.15 a.m. to 11.30 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 7.30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7.30 a.m. to 8.45 a.m. and again from 4 p.m. to 4.45 p.m.

Influences operating on this December 31st will tend to throw obstacles in your path. You will have great difficulty getting things done. People will be difficult to handle. Salesmen will encounter much obstinacy from prospective buyers. New contacts made on this date will prove of little value. Harmony at home.

The child born on this December 31st will be a husky little one, full of fun and play; one who likes a rough house and lots of physical activity. Not a student. Will enjoy working with his hands, fond of the outdoors. The child will have many pets in the animal world and will enjoy caring for them. The child will like being read to.

Born on December 31st, you probably lack consistency and persistency. From one minute to the next no one, including yourself, knows what to expect from you. You take a stand on some matter, only to reverse it in a short time; you start in on some kind of work, only to "chuck" it within a short time. You will not get far in life, for you are eternally running around in circles. You are an amiable person, and amusing. You have many friends who are attracted by your carefree existence and erratic ways.

If December 31st is your birthday, you will probably travel a good deal. You are content to live in the present, with no thought for the future, and certainly no worry about it. You have extravagant tastes, and throw money away foolishly when you have it. Money comes easily and quickly to you on occasions; you have frequent periods of alternating lack and abundance. You are very careful in your dress. If you are a woman, you are not a good housekeeper; you are inclined to be careless and untidy. You do not like to cook. As a mother, you are careless in bringing up your offspring. You are not particularly interested in them. There is more than a little jealousy in your make-up.

"CAPRICORN"

If January 1st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8.15 a.m. to 9.30 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 3.50 p.m. to 5 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 12 noon and from 7.30 p.m. to 8.50 p.m.

Influences operating on this date should make it a day of peace and contentment, a day conducive to thoughts and speculation about the coming days and months. There will not be a great deal of activity apparent in the social field. Friendships beginning on this January 1st should prove lasting.

The child born on this January 1st will be a leader. He will have much initiative and will be the boss of this "play" gang. At school he should excel in athletics, though not to the neglect of his studies. A robust and healthy body should stand him in good stead for he will live a more hectic and active life than the average person.

If January 1st is the date of your birth, you have more than your share of wisdom. You are extremely intelligent and have a vast fund of general and useful information. You do not care to "air your opinions," however, and usually express yourself on matters of importance only when asked to do so. You are a difficult person to do work with or for. You demand a great deal from your employees and associates in the way of alertness. Blessed with an unusually quick mind yourself, you do not always realize that other are not equally blessed.

Born on January 1st, you are a good business man. You attempt to build on solid foundations. You are honest and fair in your dealings with others, and expect the same treatment from them in return. If you are a woman, you have more energy than the average person of your sex. Good wives and mothers, women born on this date are often not satisfied to stop there. In addition they often seek careers either in business or in one of the arts. They have a good understanding of human nature and a love of people. Social service work often appeals to them as do teaching and in fact any work in which they can come into contact with many people.

"CAPRICORN"

If January 2nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7.45 a.m to 9 a.m., from 4 p.m. to 5.19 p.m. and from 7.45 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and from 2.30 p.m. to 3.45 p.m.

You will feel restricted and "tied-down" on this January 2nd. You will crave activity of a physical nature. A splendid day for athletics and out-of-door recreation. The late hours of the day, and the evening can be profitably spent in reading and in meditation. A good day for renewing old friendships.

The child born on this January 2nd will in all probability have a fitful temper; the slightest provocation will "set him off." Fortunately the child's anger will not be a lingering one and as he grows older he will gradually gain better control of himself. In school he will do well. Among his school friends he will not be known as a good sport.

Born on January 2nd, your prime interest in life is how to make more and more money. "To commercialize" your talents is a past-word with you. Whatever you know or think or do, is of interest to you only in so far as you can turn it into cash. Being a very material person, with only one aim or purpose in life, you are not a very interesting person to know. You do have your following, though, among the many who are like-minded. You are decisive, clear-cut and persuasive in your speech. You have much energy, so much so in fact, that you seem to impart it to others. Life to you is to roll up a big score in dollars and cents. In spite of many zig-zag and "fizzled" plays, you will no doubt carry on to attain your goal.

If you are a woman, born on January 2nd, you may reckon yourself as among those fortunate people to whom worry is practically unknown. Your simple and easy way through life makes you a thoroughly likeable person. You bring calm and peace into the lives of many simply by your presence. You spend a great deal of time in and about your home; you care little for gay social activities. A day spent in caring and planning for your husband and family brings you great happiness.

Presentation Made Campbellford Pair

CAMBELLFORD, Dec. 31. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Honoring Scoutmaster M. H. Sergeant and his wife, Cubmistress Mrs. Sergeant, the officers of the First Campbellford Troop of Boy Scots and the Campbellford Cubs gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Collard, Campbellford, on Thursday evening and made a presentation to these two worthy and excellent workers among the boys of the town.

The function was in the nature of a surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Sergeant. Charles Collard made the presentations, which consisted of silver ash trays for the gent and writing material for the lady. Speaking for both gifts Mr. Sergeant thanked the officers for the kindly way the services of his wife and self had been remembered. He also gave a short talk on scouting and the benefits derived therefrom.

The evening was spent in games and music, a delightful lunch being served by the hostess, Mrs. W. Collard, to whom a vote of thanks was moved on behalf of the Troop by Bob Morrison. One new scout, Neal Wilson, was admitted into the troop.

Damage Not Large On County Roads

Reports of extensive damage to provincial and county roads in this district as a result of the extreme variation in the weather during the last few weeks are not borne out by the experience of A. E. Chalmers, county roads engineer.

The early sub-zero dip this month, followed by recent mildness almost like Spring, have had an adverse effect, Mr. Chalmers said, and some stretches of county road have been badly rutted by traffic, but maintenance work is being carried on. Mr. Chalmers' opinion was that the extent of the damage has not been serious up to the present.

Nine Men In Field For Manvers Council

MAKE SURE of MAYOR DENNE'S RE-ELECTION

Confidence in Mayor Denne's success on Monday should not keep any of his supporters away from the polls.

Those who believe that his record of service justifies his retention at the head of affairs should see to it that their votes are registered, and not leave it to others to make sure of his victory.

Mayor Denne stands on that record; he asks to be judged on what he has done during his five years as Mayor.

If returned, his policy will be that of his previous service, a policy of sane economy with efficiency, a policy that aims at the all-round betterment of Peterborough, including its industrial expansion, with adequate relief for those in need and jobs for the unemployed when these can be provided without too great a strain upon the taxpayers.

Mayor Denne is not an experiment; he has made good in a difficult job in difficult times, and his experience and close grasp of municipal affairs are assets that should not be thrown away just when they are most vitally needed in the city's service.

No one is closer to the problems of the day than Mr. Denne. He has been living with these questions week after week, he knows the struggle many taxpayers are having to meet their obligations, he realizes that civic expenditures must be curbed, and more than that, he knows that economies must be sanely applied, that there is a point beyond which it is not safe to use the pruning knife, if more harm than good is not to be accomplished.

Mayor Denne is experienced, capable, hard-working, zealous and dependable, a combination of qualities that are most desirable in a period of stress.

The electors appreciate that fact, and on Monday will give indisputable proof by voting for

Robin Builds Nest In Douro Garage

Whether she was left behind at the end of the summer, when the annual bird migration to the sunny south was commenced, or whether she returned northward fooled into the belief that Spring had arrived will never be known, yet the fact remains that a robin recently nested in Douro Township.

Up on the lintel of P. G. Town's garage door a nest was found. In it had been deposited a tiny green-blue egg, that was never destined to survive the uncertain climate of a Canadian winter.

Mr. Towns who brought the nest and egg into The Examiner office to-day, said the robin had been seen several times during the past week by his neighbours. He believed it to be the same bird that has nested on his verandah for the past six years.

FOUR YEAR LAD LOST OVERNIGHT IS FOUND ALIVE

Over 300 Residents of Mallorytown, Aided by Unemployed, Join Search.

HEAVY BUSH COMBED.

Lad Had Accompanied Father and Grandfather to Woods and Wandered Away.

BROCKVILLE, December 31 (C.P.). — Jackie Guild, 4½ years old missing in the thick woods near Mallorytown, was found alive and well to-day. He had spent the night —a night of heavy rain and snow— in the dense woods.

The child was found after 300 residents of Mallorytown, reinforced by unemployed from this community, had searched through the entire night.

Early to-day, a convoy of motor cars carrying more than 100 unemployed left here for the scene. Very much alive and quite cheerful, the youngster was found shortly after the entire group of searchers had swept through the woods.

Jackie, with another child, Jimmie Latham, went to the bush with his father and grandfather yesterday afternoon. While the elders cut wood, the two boys wandered away.

Alarm Sounded.

The Latham child returned to his home, but when Jackie failed to appear, an alarm was sounded and the search commenced. A detachment of Brockville firemen also formed a posse and patrolled the district.

The boy was found by Clark Johnston of Mallorytown, about two miles from the point of his disappearance. When the search party approached, the little lad, terrified, ran away.

He was immediately taken to the home of his grandfather, where he was given medical aid. Notwithstanding the exposure to which he was subjected, in none too heavy clothing, he is expected to recover.

BRIGADE DENIES STORY OF GRANT

Part of $100 Used For Equipment and Remainder is Still in Bank.

Certain statements made by Charles William Holland at a recent meeting of the Trades and Labor Council here have given impetus to a controversy between himself and the local division of the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

Criticizing the grant of $100 which the City Council had made to the S.J.A.B. in July last, Mr. Holland charged that the money had not been spent up to the present month for the purpose for which it was issued. Part of it, possibly the whole of it, he stated, was being utilized in such a way that it would enable the local division to sweep off a portion of the $400 liability they had run into in connection with a play sponsored by them early in the year.

Samuel Berry, former officer of the local division of the Brigade, in taking exception to the remarks made by Mr. Holland, stated that at the time the grant was paid to the Division by the City Council in July last, the Division was then free of all debt. About $25 of the grant, he said, was used for the purchasing of water bottles, haversacks and first aid supplies. The balance of approximately $75 was still standing to the credit of the Division in the bank.

In 1931 the Division received the first of the two grants of $100. That money, it was stated, had been used in the buying of of four complete uniforms. The approximate cost of the uniforms was $118, the difference having been raised through the efforts of the members of the corps.

The statement mad by Mr. Berry was corroborated in its entirety by Divisional Treasurer Henry R. Buckley, who with Divisional Superintendent Tomkins called at The Examiner office this morning. The treasurer produced a financial statement showing that at the year ending December 31, 1932, the Division has a credit bank balance of $72.08.

A feature of the outdoor Christmas decorations of the city is a presentation of the Nativity scene, which has been arranged on the front lawn of his residence. Guided by the light of an illuminated star placed over the entrance on the verandah, with the inscription, "Peace on Earth," are three shepherds, small figures that are placed on the lawn and shown making their way to a little manger containing the Christ Child and surmounted by an angel with a light. The whole representation is cleverly and strikingly devised, and is attracting much comment, especially at night, when it is illuminated, from passing pedestrians and motorists.

Obituary

WILLIAM JOHN RYAN.

TORONTO, December 31.—Since 1908 Federal Administrator under the Precious Metals Marketing Act throughout Canada, William John Ryan passed away suddenly recently from heart trouble in his home on Lauder Avenue. Mr. Ryan, who was a native of Quebec City, where he received his education, had lived in Toronto for the past thirty-four years. He was a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus, of which he was a fourth degree Knight of the St. Vincent de Paul Society and of the Holy Name Society. His widow, and one daughter and three sons, Mrs. Brewster Hobson, and John P. of New York, and Joseph P. and Leonard J. of Toronto, survive; also two brothers, James Ryan, New York, Thomas Ryan, Hamilton, and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Sharp of Peterborough and Mrs. Joseph Blackbar, Toronto.

MRS. FRANK THEISEN.

The death occurred on Wednesday in Detroit of Mrs. Frank Theisen, formerly Nora Young. The deceased was a daughter of the late Matthew Young of Young's Point. She taught school in this district for some years before leaving for Michigan.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, two sons and three daughters, Sister Edward Aloysius, Mrs. Millenbeck, and Mrs. McCugh. William and Frances, all of Detroit and three sisters, Mother Francis Regis of Brockville, Mother M. Bernardine of Gananoque, and Mrs. James Carroll of Young's Point, and two brothers, W J. Young of Water Street, city, and Matthew Young of Young's Point.

Rev. C. J. Carroll is a nephew. The funeral was held in Detroit to-day.

Bog in Flames

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 31.—(C. P.)—Cause of innumerable accidents in the past, the "burning bog" east of London is again flaming today. The bog sent a menacing pall of smoke across the pavement and makes driving very dangerous. Last year the bog burned for months despite the efforts of fire fighters, and many crashes resulted.

INCOME TAXES DUE IN BRITAIN

Three-quarters of Total Must Be Paid by End of New Year's.

REVELS LESS GAY.

(By Thomas T. Champion—C.P. Staff Writer).

LONDON, Dec. 31 (C.P. Cable).—As the last whoop of New Year's revellers dies on the wind to-morrow, Britons once again will realize that by the end of the holiday three-quarters of their total income tax payments must be in the hands of the collectors.

For the taxpayer New Year's Day and the few succeeding days will be like those of last year, with the difference that last year those able to show genuine necessity or latitude were given extended time in which to meet their payment, while this year there is no such evidence of such a gentlemen's agreement.

Tax collectors, however, are expected to show leniency in cases of real necessity and it is anticipated there will be little difficulty in achieving the bulk of collection during the first month of the year.

Many thousands of taxpayers demand notes were issued before the Christmas postal rush. At Blackburn, in particular, there was evidence of extraordinary eagerness on the part of payers who actually lined up in queues.

One explanation of the readiness with which people pay is the fact that many organizations make weekly deductions from their cheques at the request of their employees who like to be prepared more or less painlessly for the day of reckoning.

Circle Narrows.

While much talk is heard of New Year's hilarity in and about West-End restaurants of London, it seems doubtful if it will spread far beyond the borders of those guilded palaces to-night.

Even the Caledonia, scene of grand revelry in times gone by, is inclined nowadays to comport itself soberly, in the fullest sense of the word, on the threshold of another year.

Cathedral authorities have taken the precaution of enclosing a broad sweep of St. Paul's west front, but a couple of thousand will probably be the full muster of those assembling to hear the great Paul give his twelve booming notes.

Those Bacchanalian New Year's nights when the bottle was passed freely through the surging throng seem gone forever.

One reason is that the pubs close at 10.30, and supplies taken outside could hardly be expected to last an hour and a half.

BIRTH.

DAWSON.—At Nicholls Hospital, on Thursday, Dec. 29, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dawson (nee Myrtle Lesurf), 56 Morrow street, twin boys.

IN MEMORIAM.

FITZGERALD.— In loving memory of our dear sister, Margaret, who departed this life December 30, 1930:

What would we give to clasp her hand
Her happy face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile
That meant so much to us?

We think of her in silence,
Her name we oft recall,
But there's nothing left to answer
But her picture on the wall.
—Sadly Missed By Her Family.

IN MEMORIAM.

DAVIS.—In loving memory of my dear wife, Jane Davis, who passed away December 31st, 1931:

I have lost a dear companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss her more
As I walk through life alone.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
I little thought the end was near,
It's only those who have lost can tell
The sorrow of parting without farewell.

In the lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are always near;
I who loved you sadly miss you
As it dawns another year.

Some may think that I've forgotten,
When at times they see me smile;
But they little know the heartache
That smile hides all the while.
—Sadly Missed By Her Husband.

IN MEMORIAM.

DAVIS.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Aaron Davis, who passed away December 31, 1931:

We think of you our mother dear,
Of all your gentle ways,
Your courage and unfailing cheer,
Which love alone repays.

Remembering your kindly voice,
Your heart so warm and true,
Our hearts ache when we are sad
To know that we've lost you.

The pearly gates were opened
A gentle voice said 'come,'
And with farewells left unspoken
You softly entered home.
—Lovingly Remembered By Her Children.

EDMUND BURKE

Edmund Burke was born in Arran Quay, Dublin, on Jan. 1st, 1730. His power consisted not so much in brilliancy as in steadiness of application and strength of memory. His studies in early life were more varied than systematic. He went through college respectably but with no extraordinary distinction. He began law practice in London in 1750. In 1765 he was appointed private secretary to Lord Rockingham, and soon after entered Parliament.

Mr. Burke was a close friend of Mr. Fox until the outbreak of the French Revolution. Upon this they had different views. Fox warmly applauded its principles. Mr. Burke, on the other hand, gifted with greater political sagacity and foresight, exerted all his talents in opposition.

During the great debate on the question in Parliament he exclaimed, "If a firm adherence to the British Constitution should place me in such a dilemma, I will risk all and with my last words exclaim, 'Fly from the French Constitution'." These men parted company that day in tears. We wish for 1933 first citizen to Peterborough the same adherence to principle, the same God-given talents as made such men as these great.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

INTERIOR DECORATION takes on a certain glamor at the beginning of a New Year when Christmas has brought even one of the wanted things for the household.

* * * * * * *

This pleasure is increased in proportion to the number of things we have been given for such a purpose, or which we can buy with gifts of money at the tempting furniture sales that come in the early months of the year.

* * * * * * *

The new things may be needed as extra furnishings or they may be equally desired to take the places of pieces which should be discarded that our rooms may be raised to a higher plane of decoration.

* * * * * * *

In discarding furniture, there comes the question of what to do with the old things. They should be put to the best possible use. That, of course, is the wish and the intention of the homemaker, but it can be a rather puzzling problem just the same.

* * * * * * *

There is a lurking idea that a gift of something one discards for whatever reason, is scarcely one to be graciously accepted, even when there is a knowledge that the article in question or one of similar nature, is wanted or perhaps needed by some relative, friend, or acquaintance.

* * * * * * *

The giver should be careful not to act as if conferring a favor, however much the other person may need the article. The giver should remember that she really wants to dispose of the article because it is not wanted by her.

* * * * * * *

All she desires is to make the best disposition of the article that she can, and is hopeful it may prove an aid to another's furnishings.

* * * * * * *

If the person spoken to is wise, she will not be slow to accept. She should be sufficiently appreciative for the given to realize she made no mistake in offering the thing, as it fills a need in her home furnishings.

* * * * * * *

There often is such a shifting of new and old pieces of furniture after Christmas that more than one home benefits by holiday acquisitions.

That Body of Yours

DIFFERENT FORMS OF TREATMENT FOR GOITRE

Perhaps you sometimes wonder why one acquaintance with a well marked goitre seems to get along without any particular treatment, another acquaintance with goitre is required to take regular doses of iodine, still another is required to rest a portion of every day, another is given X ray treatment, another radium treatment, and still another has a portion of the thyroid gland removed by surgery.

Why should there be so many methods of treatment for goitre?

The treatment of goitre depends upon whether the type is simple or severe. In the simple form, rest or iodine treatment is sufficient.

It is in the severe type that many forms of treatment are now in use—X ray, radium, and surgery, and you may wonder why one or other of these methods of treatment should not be used in every case.

Dr. E. G. Pfahler, Philadelphia, states that the X ray, and radium is now being more generally used throughout the world than at any previous time. He believe that not surgery, nor the X ray, nor radium, nor medicine can be depended upon to cure all cases and no one method is so much superior that it can be recommended for all cases.

It is the general opinion of specialists in X ray and radium that in all cases which are not severely involved by the pressure of the goitre, or so serious as to make the delay of a month dangerous, should be treated by these methods rather than by surgery. If there is no definite improvement after two or three months surgery can still be used.

Sometmes a combination of rest, medical treatment, and the use of the X rays bring about a cure, and an operation is thus avoided.

How can the physician know whether or not the case is improving?

By the metabolism test (measuring the rate at which the body processes are working) the physician can tell whether the rate is getting slower or faster.

If getting slower rest and medicine is all that is necessary.

If getting faster, immediate operation may be necessary to save life.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK

"What for do folk celebrate New Year's Day?" was the query with which the speaker at a special Women's Institute meeting challenged attention this week, the nearness of the incoming of 1933 making these in attendance 'sit up and take notice' for the information following.

No very intelligent replies were received as the speaker pressed home her question, the general idea apparently being "because we do," so the fact was passed on that we must go back into history for a correct answer, the Romans holding the first day of the month Janus sacred because it was named for the two-faced god, and was celebrated by white-robed processions to the Capitol and altars, and not to have so observed it would have been marked as sacrilege.

"Rejoicing ran high, and the people came forth in striking costumes, many wearing masks. Presents were also given to further induce good luck."

Few of those listening were aware that at one time there were but ten months in the year, and it was a former school teacher, now a married member of the branch, who added the fact that Numa Pompilius holds the honor of adding the extra two, one of them being January—"so from that long ago time to this day the people of the Western world have not failed to observe in some form the incoming of the new year."

Minds were turned back to the days of the early Dutch settlers in America to find out the origin of the celebration of New Year's Day on our own continent. The name of Peter Stuyvesant entered largely into the story, his coming to America being in 1647, and his post that of Director-General to the New Netherland the territory of the Dutch West India Company in America. "New York's famous Bowery derived its name from the fact that the first eighteen years of his life were spent on a farm which he named "Bowerij," and as he was a merry gentleman, and fond of good cheer, he made much celebrating the New Year, great times being held in his house on that date. He was at home to his friends always on the opening day of the year, and we are fairly certain that here we find the origin of our own custom of making calls on New Year's Day."

"Perhaps you will also be interested to learn that the ladies of that time, if they were not going to be at home on New Year's hung baskets on their door-knobs into which friends calling dropped calling cards, as they found the ladies of the household were, for some reason, not receiving. Probably no part of the New Netherlands was quite so lively on the day as New Amsterdam, in New York State, and this in marked contrast to the section where lived the serious-minded Puritans, for they would have nothing to do with the custom of making merry on the entry of the New Year."

"New Year's Day for our Jewish friends comes in September, and usually lasts more than one day; the Romans used the occasion to make good resolutions and likely we borrowed the custom from them. To be careful of their speech on that day was voted a good omen for the whole year, and they gave to one another small, sweet cakes with words of greeting on them—shall we say the first New Year's cards? One writer whom I studied in preparing this talk declares we are really indebted to the Chinese for the exact origin of the good and kindly custom of making calls on New Year's Day, this people having from antiquity carried on the idea of much merriment and social intercourse for the date in question."

Now while we are on the subject of gift-giving on New Year's Day let me tell you that in Egypt, as far as 2500 years before Christ, inscriptions on the monuments apprise us that such a habit prevailed. Barons of England, and Royalty too, found the customs so agreeable that they kept it up, and history records one peasant being soundly thrashed because instead of the goose expected, he brought only a basket of eggs. History tells us too that the wardrobe of the Queen Elizabeth was kept up for the year from the stock of New Year's presents, and no conceivable article of dress, or ornament, was missing from the long list of annual gifts. But King Henry VIII, and Charles I, let it be known that for them cash would be more acceptable in this gift-giving season."

Replying to the question whether the kings or queens made any return for the presents received, the speaker said they did, but what they gave was of little value. "However it is interesting to know that the term 'pin-money' had its origin in the matter of gift-giving on New Year's Day for pins were first made in the sixteenth century, and were so highly prized and regarded as so valuable they were given instead of money, with the term 'pin-money' attached to them. Really the best thing to be said about the observance of the New Year is the spirit of generosity, which leads to happiness and understanding with good-will, and so the world has been better and happier because of the custom."

A MEAN HAND TO PLAY

SOMETIMES a dummy goes down that first makes a declarer feel that perhaps his side has not bid enough. When trumps fail to break and at least one finesse must be taken blindly, the declarer may commence to think that he may have bid too much. One of those mean hands to play is shown below. As the cards happen to lie the declarer might have taken either minor suit finesse with safety, but his deductions as he played the hand are instructive. Immediately after a man has played a hand well, his reasons for playing a certain way clearly disclose whether he guessed happily or really thought to good purpose. Z had excellent reasons for every play made.

	♠ Q 9 8 5 ♥ A Q 7 4 ♣ A Q J 4 ♦ 9
♠ J 10 6 2 ♥ 9 8 5 ♣ K 10 8 6 ♦ 8 4		♠ None ♥ J 10 3 ♣ 9 5 3 2 ♦ K J 10 6 5 3
	♠ A K 7 4 3 ♥ K 6 2 ♣ 7 ♦ A Q 7 2

Bidding of dealer and his partner went: Z, 1-Spade; Y, 2-Hearts 4-Clubs; Z, 4-Hearts; Y, 4-Spades; 4-Clubs; Z, 4-Hearts; Y, 4Spades; Z, 5-Spades; Y, 6-Spades.

A had no good opening lead to make. He did not want to lead short, as he did not want to make things easy for the declarer by inviting a ruff with four trumps. He could not risk an opening club lead from his K, especially when that suit had been bid over him. Certainly he did not want to lead up to the diamond bidder. If he led a trump he ran the risk of handing the declarer an extra trick. On the whole hearts were best to open, and A led his 9 of hearts. Dummy's Q won the trick.

To see how trumps lay, the lowest trump was led from dummy. The K won the trick. B's showing out disclosed the unpleasant fact that a trump trick must be lost, and that a finesse must be ventured either in clubs or diamonds. The fact that A ad led a suit that both declarer and dummy had bid, instead of the clubs, that only dummy had bid, gave some reason to think that A held the missing K of clubs. Whether or not A held the K of diamonds he would not want to make an opening lead of the suit up to its bidder. Z could not afford to ruff three diamonds, as ruffing with dummy's Q would give A two trump tricks. Z wished that he had ruffed three diamonds before he had led a spade.

The third lead was Z's line club. A finesse of dummy's J won the trick, and the declarer's lowest diamond was discarded on dummy's Ace of clubs.

It would have been reckless to take a finesse in diamonds. Dummy's lone diamond was led and the Ace won the trick. The 7 of diamonds was trumped by dummy.

It would enable Z to pick up the remainder of A's trumps if that player ruffed a heart, so the declarer led dummy's Ace of hearts, then he led a low heart, winning the trick with his K. A followed suit.

When the declarer led his last diamond, of course A could have ruffed, but that would have done no good, so A discarded a club. Dummy trumped with the 9.

Thus far the declarer had won nine tricks and lost none. The tenth lead was won with dummy's Q of spades. Z led a club from dummy and trumped with his lowest spade. He led his Ace of spades and won his twelfth trick, but he had to give A the last trick of the hand, barely fulfilling his small slam contract by excellent strategy.

1932 SPORTISTORY

CANADA LOOKS BACK ON 1932 AS GREATEST YEAR IN SPORTDOM

Wins Olympic Hockey, United States' Amateur Golf and and Acquits Herself Nobly at Other Olympic and International Sports.

GOLF FEAT OF "SILENT SANDY" SOMERVILLE ONE OF OUTSTANDING EVENTS OF THE YEAR

Taking the year 1932 in Canadian sport, it was a most successful year, all things taken into consideration. It was also a big year, for there were the Olympic games, both winter and track and field. Canada acquitted herself nobly at both world meets, winning the hockey championship again from the United States and running the opposition ragged at Los Angeles in the track events. The United States made a cleanup at the summer games but Norway and Canada stole the show at Lake Placid last February.

Another feat of outstanding merit was the winning by Sandy Somerville of the U.S. amateur golf championship, a deed never before performed by a Canadian. It was a great and popular victory on both sides of the border.

Sandy Somerville

There are innumerable other outstanding events recorded on the pages of time for 1932 and the best way to bring them back to memory is to put them down in cold print by the date.

SEASON REVIEWED.

Throughout the 1932 local soccer season, there has been many achievements from a sportsmanship point of view, as well as a relaxation to the physical manhood who participate in the scientific code in the city and surrounding district. Nearly one hundred and sixty players were signed during the playing season.

The winner of the P. and D. League was not definitely decided until the last game was played by the Canadian General when they failed to hold the Canada Packers in the cruicial test for the brace of points that settle the issue. As a reward from the local association, they have decided to give the players a photograph of the whole team. The players deciding on the choice of souvenir.

Deloro Unfortunate

The visitors from the East gave a good account of themselves in the league and carried the honors, for a while, but lost three games in a row, to find third place in the schedule. They will be back again next year, with a few new players taking part in the game. Deloro deserves credit for the splendid exhibitions given by the Canadian youths in their ranks.

In the Canadian General team, they had a season of misfortune right from the beginning. Jackie McMaster and Benny McMaster being out of the game through sickness and injury. They always provided a good attraction whenever a cup tie was scheduled.

Port Hope Wins Two Cups

Although credited with few points in the league, Port Hope surprised the local fans when they trounced the league winners in the final of the G. N. Gordon cup. Then later in the season carried off another trophy at the expense of the Packers.

A peculiar situation was created by the Caledonians during the season by their failure to win a trophy although they were in every cup final but two. They played Lindsay many games in exhibition tilts

Local Fans Enjoy Fine Sports Year In All Branches

No Provincial Titles Brought Here, Although Several Peterborough Teams Take Part in Ontario Playdowns—Many Stars Seen in Making.

INTERMEDIATE O.H.A. TEAM MAKES STRONG BID TO WIN CENTRAL ONTARIO ICE HONORS

Peterborough's '32 sport calendar is about to be torn down, and the new 1933 one hung up instead. But just before the yellowed and dusty old sheet is dropped in the ashcan, let us pause for a brief sentimental survey of a year that is gone for ever. It will shortly be forgotten, and even now eyes are turning toward the new. But it will take only a few minutes to gaze back over twelve months that passed too rapidly.

Speaking generally, it was a fine sporting year for Peterborough. No provincial titles came here, which is something out of the ordinary, but local teams came mighty close to it several times. The Kiwanis Bantams were barely beaten by Hamilton in the third game of the final O.B.A.A. series; the Maple Leaf Juveniles were also nosed out in the third game of the O.B.A.A. finals by Niagara Falls; and the Peterborough intermediate lacrosse team, after playing sensational lacrosse through a hard schedule, lost out in the O.A.L.A. finals by a narrow margin to Haldimand Rifle Indians.

Lack of ice last year played havoc with hockey, but at that the local intermediate O.H.A. entry looked for a time as if it might get into the group play-offs with the strong Oshawa team. They lost out, however, toward the end of the schedule. The juniors did better, once again winning their group after a tough play-off with Fenelon Falls. They were matched right away with Toronto St. Mike's, a team in far better condition from a long winter on artificial ice, and the Saints won by a one-sided score. About half a hundred other local teams played last winter, though handicapped greatly by poor weather conditions; and a proposed artificial ice arena fell through the past spring, the time apparently being not ripe for such a venture.

The Petes in the C.O.B.L. started strong last summer, but finished in third place behind Kingston and Belleville. They introduced a young team and a number of fine senior prospects were developed. Tommy Foley, with a batting mark well over 400, probably led the league, though no official averages were given out. The East Peterborough League showed some fine baseball, C.G.E. winning out and then being eliminated by Orono. A good City League saw Peterborough well represented in the O.B.A.A. playdowns. There was another fine Girls' Softball League ;and in the Men's League, Sugar Bowl again went into the O.A.S.A. playdowns, losing to Oshawa. A successful Fall Indoor Softball League was also revived at the Brock.

Neither P.C.I. football teams won this year, which is news in this part of Ontario. Poor groupings were the cause for the two senior teams' showings, though the Senior A squad went good till they struck Oshawa. The junior outfit lost to a good Lindsay team, the Dr. Neal Trophy going to the town on the Scugog.

Lawn Tennis Revived.

There was some fine soccer displayed, good cricket again, and a revival in lawn tennis that promises

HEATED E.P.L. SERIES.

Baseball held its position as the major summer sport in Peterborough in 1932, though the crowds were smaller here as in every other sport. The C.O.B.L. Club elected Jack Bell president, succeeding Hugh Campbell, while Art Primeau managed the team. It was largely through the efforts of the local club that Cobourg was brough back into the loop. The Petes started off strongly, but finished in third place, Kingston beating Belleville in the play-offs.

The local team brought out a youthful lineup, and was probably the best fielding outfit in the circuit. Foley led the league all season, hitting close to .420, while he, Dallin and Beavis were the fleetest and surest outfielders seen here in years. Scully and Ash were good defensively in the infield, while Kitchen and Holmes did a lot of

LACK OF ICE DISASTROUS IN LOCAL HOCKEY SEASON

Intermediates Lose in Group Battle, While Juniors Defeat Fenelon Falls to Capture O. H. A. Section Honors.

Much water has flown under the Hunter street bridge since last winter's O.H.A. teams from here were strutting their stuff. And much water—instead of ice—made the hockey season last year what might be termed a washout. It resulted in poor conditioning for the players, poor entertainment for fans, and poor gates. Even under such adverse conditions, the intermediate Petes were just beaten out of the playoffs, Oshawa winning the group; and our juniors defeated Fenelon Falls in a fine series to capture that group. They lost by a big score to St. Mike's right afterward.

Dr. Ed Wood was president of the Hockey Club last year, Jim Coursey managed the intermediates, Jim McMartin the juniors, and "Shrimp" McDougall coached. Dr. Wood made a strong effort in the spring to get an artificial rink started but it fell through. With an early start this winter and cold weather likely throughout, the Hockey Club looks for a better season in better-balanced groupings. Charlie Curtis is the new president, there is a new executive in, Eddie Wright has taken charge of the intermediates, Frank Buckland the juniors, and Jerry Coughlin will act as coach, aided by Shorty Burgess. Both junior and intermediate teams look stronger than last year and should win their groups.

Five Teams in City League

Last year's City League, sponsored by the Hockey Club, saw five teams backed by the local service clubs and St. Peter's and P.C.I., with Rotary winning the championship. They too suffered from poor ice conditions, but figure on a good winter this time. The league is now larger than ever and made up of many prospective stars. Clair Hayes, of the Hockey Club, is chairman of the league.

Wins E.P.L. Title

Norwood defeated C.G.E. to win the East Peterborough League title last Spring after a fair E.P.L. season. Lakefield and Cogs were the other teams in, and many fine contests were shown. Charlie Curtis was president, and he is succeeded this year by Max Swanston. With several changes made, and players more evenly-distributed, the E.P.L. should enjoy one of its finest years of intermediate hockey in '33.

Minor Hockey Loop.

Both the Southend and Church League waded through their schedules hampered by poor outdoor ice conditions last season, but continuing to build up future stars. The former loop had a fine large intermediate section. In the S.E.L., Canucks won the intermediate, Pirates took the junior honors, and Maple Leafs captured the bantam title. In the Church loop, Mark street juniors and juveniles won their sections, with George street winning the midget part.

The School League was run off successfuly once more, with King Edward team winning. All in all, it was a bad year for hockey but those in charge of the different leagues and teams, and the players themselves, kept alive the hockey tradition around here and did very well considering eevrything.

Things look to be totally different for this winter, and every league has been organizing for some time now, and the player working out for several weeks, promising to revive hockey interest to its highest pitch in Peterborough during the coming year.

BOX LACROSSE TEAM MAKES GOOD SHOWING IN PLAY-OFFS

Intermediates Lose By Close Score to Haldimand Indians in Battle for Ontario Title—Fast City League.

Box lacrosse was the only new sport played in this city during the past year, though a few exhibition games had been played here late in '31. But lacrosse, in its abbreviated form, came back with a vengeance and the largest crowd to pack the Brock in several years was the one at the Petes' final battle. A good City League, made up of Millbrook, Orde's, C.G.E. and Brintons, was operated during the summer and fall at the Brock, drawing small crowds mostly, but putting up good games. Orde's defeated C.G.E. for the title.

Peterborough's intermediate O.A.L.A. entry, made up of local and several district players, surprised everyone by going right to the Ontario finals before being nosed out. They had a bye till well into the fall and played a number of exhibition games to keep in shape. Some of the teams they trounced handily were Toronto Native Sons, Rouge Hill, Niagara Falls' seniors, and the tough Cornwall crew in the semi-finals.

BRILLIANT SERIES

The Petes then had to meet the fleet Haldimand Rifles' Indians in the finals, and it was a grand series, with the Indians proving a bit too fast and durable, to carry home the championship. The Petes must have travelled nearly two thousand miles during the season and still managed to finish with a few dollars in the treasury. It was a great performance by the locals and their district friends, and the crowd here at the final game showed the fans' approval of this battling team. Box lacrosse should have another big year here in 1933. Officers of the O.A.L.A. club last season were Harry Tudhope, president; Fred Shaw, secretary, and Bud Fisher, manager.

GREETINGS FROM SPORTS DEPARTMENT

HAPPY NEW YEAR, athletes and followers of sports. That's the sincere wish of this sports' department. Old '32 is hanging on the ropes, punch drunk, and it's just a matter of a few hours more till he's carried out cold, feet first. There'll be a new champ in the ring to-night, "Young" 1933, ladeez and gentulmen! Just a young fellow trying to get along. Let's give him a hand.

* * * * * *

THERE'S A TOUCH of sadness looking back over a year that's finished. It's all over—nothing remains for us but the sports' records and memories. It was a good year to some, not so hot to others, and that's the way it goes. As a whole, we think it was a pretty fair year for Peterborough sports. The city's name was again ably upheld as a fine athletic centre in the province. We had two baseball and a lacrosse teams in the Ontario finals, not to mention all the other outfits—baseball, softball, hockey, etc.—in provincial playdowns. Yeah, we didn't do so badly, everything considered.

* * * * * *

FRESH START FROM SCRATCH FOR EVERYONE

HOWEVER, THE old year is through. It had its inning and the new year comes to bat. Some of the athletes who went good in the year just ended are looking forward to a better one, while others will doubtless find it tougher to keep up with the newcomers in the different games. Boy and girl athletes, more or less unknown now, will probably leave their mark in Peterborough's sporting history of 1933. It's a fresh start from scratch for everyone, so make the most of it.

* * * * * *

WE'VE TOUCHED BRIEFLY on some of the outstanding sports here for the past four seasons. We haven't the space to deal properly with any of them, or with the many other local sports. Cricket, curling, basketball, bowling, carpet ball, golf, tennis, horse races, skiing, girls' hockey, badminton, track and field rifle shoots gym games, school sports, acquatic performances and others — we could fill a library with these athletics. They have entertained a host of Peterborough people, and will continue to do so through the coming year.

* * * * * *

WEATHER THE STORM DESPITE DEPRESSION

IN THESE TIMES of depression, sports are more important than ever before. They provide hundreds of fellows and girls with an enjoyable, valuable and healthy outlet for energy; and they throw off the cloak of gloom for a great many. They also entertain thousands of people interested in different games, folks to whom a chance to forget their business difficulties, is of inestimable worth. True, the sports themselves are suffering from lack of finances, but they are going ahead just the same and will weather this storm without a doubt.

* * * * * *

AND HOW ABOUT a few resolution for athletes for the new year? For one thing, let's always keep our hatband the same size, no matter how we excel in competition. Another point, let's pay less attention to individuals, more to the teams, and much more to the game itself. And let's try to keep amateur sports clean, and with less bitterness, underhand tricks and knocking. We should always remember that we're sportsmen, which is a great thing. Just let's try to make 1933 a fine all-around year for sports here and in the district.

* * * * * *

CO-OPERATION IS NECESSARY

WE LIKE WRITING up sports, and think a sportswriter has an interesting job. It's not all smooth sailing, there are plenty of snags, we are sometimes called names that wouldn't bear repeating —but at least it's never monotonous. And we receive fine co-operation from the athletes, and what's more important, from the men who run sports here, the officers and organizers. As long as we continue to get this help, and enjoy such fine friendships, and work in a live sports' town like Peterborough—not forgetting a good district for athletics, too—it will be a Happy New Year for us. We hope it is for all our readers.

* * * * * *

BRICKBATS WITH BOUQUETS

WHILE WE CANNOT always see eye to eye with others, and quite often do plenty of hard criticizing which may not go over so big with certain parties, yet it's all part of the game. And few experienced athletes or sports moguls bear any malice. They take the brickbats with the bouquets. We try to be fair, to report things just as they happen, and to dish out the dope as enteraingly as we can.

* * * * * *

WE HOPE YOU like it. Just like the finish of the old song:

If we've succeeded, we're satisfied,
If we've failed, at least we've tried—
And that's our hap-hap-happiness!

Appreciating ---

Your generous patronage in 1932, we want to thank you most heartily and join in

Wishing ---

You and yours an unending succession of happy days in the New Year.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, this being the last Sat. of the old year, its customary to shoot a glance back at the doings of the last 12 months as well as throw a prophetic glance into the coming year.

So far as 1932 is concerned we can start off by saying it wasn't no record-breaker and it wasn't a washout. In hockey we didn't get very far, but we made a lotta trouble in some of the baseball seriouses and come close to copping a coupla championships and our boxla team went all the way to the finals before they was tossed out by a band of Western Ont. Indians. Rugby was not as hot as usual, our Collegiate lads failing to win the Central Ont. Association. We had rassling pretty well all through the year, Mister Corcoran introducing a lotta ponderous grapplers, the most notable being Mister Richard Shikat, the German champ, and Mister Howard Cantonwine, the Portland xecutioner.

Now as to next year they aint much to say except the boys'll be in there trying in various lines of sport and mebbe we'll get some of the brakes that wasn't in sight in the last 12 months.

Sporting news generally is kinda dull this week. Barring a few pro hockey games they aint been much stirring although 1 big bit of news was the fact that American sporting writers has voted Mister Maxie Schmeling of Germany the world's best heavyweight scrapper. Mister Sharkey may have the official title but the boys who write boxing and cover all the big events is 2 to 1 for the Teuton battler, which aint the kind of Christmas card that is likely to make Mister J. Sharkey of Boston smile, especially as Mister Schmeling by grabbing off a June bout with Mister Baer snatched a lotta gravy right out of the Sharkey paws.

Well, Mac, let us hope the coming year will be brighter all round not only in sport but everywhere else, and I'm going to close with the moth-eaten but well-meant greeting, "A Happy New Year to all of yez."

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

P.S.—The customers is all reminded—at least them that has votes—to get out Monday and do their duty at the polls.

BOWLMEN WIN SOFTBALL TITLE

Men's and Girls' Leagues Enjoy Very Successful Season.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Sugar Bowl again won the Men's Softball League title here last year, and Keene repeated in the Girls' League. It was a fair year for this sport, large crowds attending, though the financial returns were much smaller than the brand of sport deserved. The girls' loop was as large and popular as ever, huge crowds nightly lining the natural amphitheatre in Ashburnham known as the Bowl where the girls performed. They showed considerable improvement in their play, this being their second year since the game was revived by the fair ones. Russ Kitchen was again president. Keene edged out a victory in the finals over Maple Leafs.

FAST MEN'S SOFTBALL

The men's league turned in fast softball up at Central, with the ancient rivals, Sugar Bowl and Red and Whites fighting it out at last, the former winning once more. They hurdled Lindsay in the O.A.S.A. play downs, but were eliminated by Oshawa, which team won the Ontario championship. Walter Firth was president and Dave Leether secretary.

A fall Indoor League for girls' and men was revived at the Brock in the autumn, four strong teams comprising each section, and resulting in fine competition. In the girls' section, Westclox won out, while again the Harrison and Dorner crews clashed in the men's play-offs. Sugar Bowl taking their second championship of the year after a nip-and-tuck series. It was a good year as far as the players and teams were concerned, and both girls' and men's loops are looking ahead confidently to an even bigger season coming up.

AMATEUR BOXING POPULAR SPORT

Three Local Clubs Stage Number of Good Shows During Past Year.

Amateur boxing came back strongly here last winter, three successful clubs operating, Foster's A. C., Pioneer and the Alpha Club. A number of good shows were staged in the Legion Hall between Peterborough boxers and fighters from different other cities. Italian and Irish boys from here went in mostly for the ring game, and several real mitt prospects were uncovered. Several local scrappers took part in the Ontario amateur tournament in the Spring.

POPULAR IN DISTRICT

This winter, the game has spread to several surrounding places, such as Hastings, Lakefield and Campbellford. The Cowan A.C. and the Alpha Club are both operating, and several good shows have been run off recently, with more planned for early in the year. Gord Garwood is training the Alpha stable, and Archie Menzies the Cowan Club. Nearly twice as many boys are learning the sport this year than was the case last winter.

Professional wrestling again proved popular here in '32, and crowds turned out for the exhibitions at the Brock throughout the summer and fall. Promoter Jack Corcoran introduced some famous matmen, such as Dick Shikat and "Hangman" Cantonwine, to the Peterborough public, and they proved plenty entertaining. This sport will doubtless be as popular here the coming year.

Frankie Wolfram Loses to Leitham

WINNIPEG, Dec. 31 (C.P.)—A right cross to the side of the head, coming like a bolt from the blue in the eighth round of a scheduled 15-round fight here last night blasted hopes of Frankie Wolfram, Winnipeg, to gain Bobby Leitham's Canadian bantamweight crown.

Leitham spotted the local boy 6¼ pounds, which automatically ruled the bout out of championship class.

THE GRAY TERROR

Peter Rabbit soon forgot about Johnny Chuck. At least he forgot about Johnny for the time being. You see he heard something which put all though of Johnny Chuck out of his head. It was Blacky the Crow who brought the news to the dear Old Brier Patch. He happened along just as Peter was preparing to run over to the Green Forest.

"Caw, caw," called Blacky. "Going somewhere, Peter?"

"Perhaps so and perhaps not. What if I am?" replied Peter, who is always a little suspicious of Blacky the Crow.

"Oh nothing. That is, nothing very much. The dear Old Brier Patch would look pretty good to me if I were in your place just now," drawled Blacky in a way which he knows is provoking.

Peter was minded to pay Blacky no further attention, but there was something about the way in which Blacky spoke that made Peter uneasy. You know you sometimes can tell by the sound of a voice whether the speaker means what he says or not. There was something in Blacky's voice that led Peter to thing that Blacky really mean what he said

"Why is the Old Brier Patch any better for me just now than any other time?" Peter demanded

"Oh, just because," drawled Blacky, just to tease Peter.

"The Gray Terror has come down from the North Peter."

"Why?" demanded Peter stamping fiercely.

"Be careful, Peter. Be careful. You might hurt your feet that way," teased Blacky.

Peter started to get real angry. Then he thought better of it. He knew that nothing would please Blacky more than to see him lose his temper. He knew, too, that that would be the surest way of not finding out what he wanted to know. So he grinned good naturedly.

"When you get through having fun trying to tease me please tell me why it is that you think it best for me to stay in the dear Old Brier Patch just now. At first I thought you were fooling, but I know now that there is some reason for what you said, Blacky. Now be a good fellow and tell me," pleaded Peter.

Blacky's shrewd little eyes twinkled. He knew that it was of no use trying to tease Peter any more because it was quite evident that Peter didn't intend to be teased. And as at heart he is not as black as his coat, despite what some people say, he leaned down from the top of a little tree where he had alighted and said in a low voice:

"The Gray Terror has come down from the North, Peter, and that is why if I were in your place I wouldn't get far away from the Old Brier Patch."

Peter sat up quickly and looked up at Blacky anxiously. "Do you mean that Mr. Goshawk really has come to the Green Forest?" he asked.

Blacky nodded. "I had a narrow escape from him myself this very morning," said he. "It's a wonder I'm here to tell of it. He's just as swift of wing as ever."

Peter sighed.

"I think I'll stay right here," said he. "When that fellow is around the thickest bramble-tangle isn't any too thick to suit me. I'm much obliged to you for the warning, Blacky. I certainly am. As long as he is about there'll be some worried people in the Green Forest. I do hope Mrs. Grouse knows he has arrived."

"She does," replied Blacky. "It cost her a few feathers to find it out, but she was lucky just as I was and got away."

WARSAW

The at home given by the rink committee, in aid of the rink fund on Tuesday evening was a most enjoyable and merry one, and the good behaviour of those attending was noticeable. Music was supplied by some of the local young men—Hilliard Hamblin, Sidney McCauley, Hector Thompson and Kenneth Payne, with Mrs. Gordon Bowen at the piano. The committee was very much pleased with the music supplied by these young people.

Oliver B. McIlvena, with the aid of a microphone, was the floor manager.

The Christmas meeting of the United Church W.M.S. was held in the S. S. room on Thursday afternoon, with a good attendance. Mrs. G. G. Taylor presided.

Group reports were read by Mr. Arthur Payne for A, by Mrs. Anderson for B, and Mrs. T. Cooper for C. Group D was not reported.

Christmas hymns were sung.

Roll call was answered by Christmas notes as well as Bible verses. Mrs. Taylor read "How Far is it to Bethlehem?"

Mrs. John Payne read "Mary Mother." Mrs. Wilkinson rendered Rock of Ages on the piano.

Missionary monthly subscriptions were asked. The Scripture lesson was about the birth of Christ from Luke Chapter 2, verses 8-20.

A short business meeting of the executive was held after the closing.

Movies For Children Problem In Quebec

MONTREAL, Dec. 31 (C.P.)—Just how many or how few motion pictures children should see is quite a problem in the Province of Quebec.

Petitions and counter-petitions are likely to roll in upon the government of Premier L. A. Taschereau any day now as the result of a campaign started recently by proprietors of cinema houses.

In most "movie" theatre in the province a notice is flashed on the screen during every performance requesting "Parents who wish to obtain the right of accompanying their children to this theatre" to sign a petition which is presented to them in the lobby as they leave the theatre. It is understood the theatre managers will request the government to reduce from 16 to 14 the age under which children are not allowed to attend movies.

ACTING MANAGER OF GALLAGHER S.

To Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—The public will be interested to know that Mr. J. E. Smith, who is running for a seat on the Board of Education, is not only on the staff of the Rural Publishing Company, but is also the acting manager and secretary-treasurer of Gallagher Remedies, Limited.

Yours truly,
WALTER H. KIDD.

BOOST FOR MAX SLOAN.

Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir—I believe many citizens are looking favorably upon the candidature of Max Sloan, because of his practical experience. The question of the administration of public works, through the engineer's department, has often been the subject of discussion.

Mr. Sloan as a builder and contractor is peculiarly qualified as a candidate this year. Many citizens feel that a practical hand in the administration of relief, in particular in connection with the wood contract, would prove of much benefit to the city.

I for one, would welcome as candidates, more men of Mr. Sloane's type in our council.

Yours truly,
A. MATHEWS.

ANSWERS MR. FOWLER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have just noted Mr. Fowler's regrettable article in this evening's Examiner. I am sure Mr. Fowler has greatly misjudged Peterborough citizens in thinking that their vote can be gained through the publishing of contemptible innuendos regarding his ler's notice may possibly create mis-

The other portions of Mr. Fowler's notice may possibly create understanding. Mr. Fowler clearly has no concepton of the business experience that is part of the everyday requirement of an engineer of Mr. Shirley's standing. Mr. Shirley in the course of his duties has prepared contract estimates involving literally millions of dollars and in addition has superintended the handling of some of the largest contracts filled in this city. Mr. E. G. Patterson is the only candidate of greater business experience.

Neither C. E. Sisson nor Mr. Shirley in the years they served the city did any designing or consulting engineering work for the Utilities Commission and there is no thought of doing so in the future. The work under the direction of the Commission is of an engineering nature throughout and the problems involved are diagnosed with particular ease by an engineer of experience.

G. R. LANGLEY.

NEW VISION IS REQUIRED.

The Editor, Examiner.

Dear Sir,—We are almost at the closing days of the present year, A.D. 1932. It has been a year of remarkable uncertainties, both in values, and also in currencies of the United Kingdom and the value of the Canadian dollar. As we enter the New Year, A.D. 1933, we have formed new resolutions, we have seen "new visions" for the future. Every city and town in Canada have formed new resolutions. Their watchword is economy.

The story in relation to the "new vision" is to be found in the result of the Imperial Conference. Did it not occur to almost every Canadian citizen that the Imperial Conference would create greater trade between Canada and the United Kingdom? That was the hope and the vision of that time.

Since then what has happened? Our currency is out of line with the pound sterling, and for this reason, where our products of the farm are sold in Great Britain, the farmer is penalized 25 per cent. We are in a similar position with the United States, we are indebted to them some billions of dollars, which are payable in gold. At present there is a discount of 16 per cent. in New York. Therefore we are penalized in exchange charges, no matter which country we trade with. In other words, we are between the "Devil and the Deep Sea" in matter of currency and trade.

There never was a time in the history of this country when the word economy should be applied to our whole business structure. At the present, we are in the midst of a "national crisis." Commodity prices are very low in value. The purchasing power of wheat, cattle, hogs, is the lowest in history. Interest rates remain the same as four years ago, and payable in the dollars of that time. An adjustment must come sooner or later.

All candidates who seek office in the coming year must have a proper vision of the affairs of the Dominion in order to apply the process of economy to the affairs of the city.

The new vision for Canada is to keep off the gold standard. Let our dollar follow the trade with Britain in close terms of the pound sterling.

Canada should have a "new vision," and form her own national currency, based on silver and gold. Make gold the standard and an ounce of silver equal 50 cents in gold or 16 to 1. Then Canada can pay her trade balances in either metal. We can then trade to advantage with China, and several other countries. Let Canada enter the New Year with courage, with hope and with economy the watchword.

Let us hope that Old Man Depression will fade out of the picture of trade and commerce before the close of the coming year.

Yours for strict economy,
Robert Harstone.

ELECT JOE HENDERSON

TO CUT SOME OF THE FRILLS FROM THE TAX BILLS

Mel Turner's Seat Is Vacant!

Alderman Turner is one of the younger citizens; so am I.

He has had business experience; so have I.

He had time to devote to the city's affairs; so have I.

He has a large investment in Peterborough; so have I.

And Ald. Turner has the courage of his convictions—may I say it, so have I.

Let me have the chance to try to make good, as Ald. Turner did.

Ratepayers, ELECT JOE HENDERSON ALDERMAN and you'll get action. I want lower taxes because I have a big tax bill to pay.

If you want some one to cut off the frills without hurting the efficiency of the city—

ELECT JOE HENDERSON ALDERMAN.

Candidate For Alderman

JOE HENDERSON

Retail grocer at King and Bethune Streets, has had years of experience in business in this city. He was born in Peterborough, has invested his earnings in Peterborough property and desires to see his city prosper.

"We can cut the frills from our tax bills without hurting the city's efficiency," Mr. Henderson contends, "and it would be a lot easier when our taxes come due."

Municipal experience for some aldermen means getting into a municipal rut.

They get the idea that "it CAN'T be done."

I believe that "it CAN be done", that our taxes can be lowered, because they must be, if you and I as ratepayers are to keep on paying them.

If you want an alderman who isn't a "yes" man, who can't be led around by the nose, who has a big tax bill to pay next year and wants it reduced, (and that's what we all want), ELECT JOE HENDERSON, and you'll get real economy.

Ratepayers, when it comes to spending your money I'll be on your side, because we have all got to raise money on tax day, and I'd like to make it a little easier next year, for you and for me, too.

THIS IS NO TIME FOR FRILLS. We can't afford them.

I promise you to do my part, if you do yours next Monday when you have your ballots in your hands.

(I'll be just "a new alderman", without "municipal experience", but I know "municipal frills" when I see them, and we have come to the time when we just can't afford them. So, it's up to you, friends, next Monday.)

Elect Joe Henderson Alderman

Petes Beat Toronto Twice

The select team chosen by the executive to represent Peterborough against th Roger-Majestic eleven—(mid-league champions of Toronto) resulted in the locals defeating them here as well as in Toronto. Every player giving an excellent exhibition of the scientific code.

This has been the poorest financial year in the history of the local season but has been fortunate in having an excellent executive to carry out the transactions. Splendid services was rendered by the official referees—Alex McKinley, Jack Clark and Ted Bartley.

School League

In the Public School League, many interesting games were played by the various schools participating. A two-game series was decided upon by the King Edward and Queen Alexandra Schools, which the former won by a narrow margin, for possession of the Alex Kay trophy.

Prospects For Next Season

According to the general news that is being spread, there will be a team from Lindsay in the league next season. Down in Cobourg, Roy Black is interested in having a team from there, if he can get the necessary help from the fans in the town.

The question that is most important, at present, in the minds of the fans and officials is—"Will Peterborough affiliate again this year?" Some consider that it is necessary so as to be in organized soccer; while many contend that the sum of thirty-five dollars each year is exhorbitant for affiliation which has no remuneration. The O.F.A. also claiming twenty-five cents for every player signed on a registration form. This important question will be settled at the annual meeting held in January.

BOWLING NOTES

Some of the niftiest bowling in the city is being dished up down at the K. of C. Alleys where the Monday and Wednesday night leagues are in full swing. The classiest individual display was produced last week by Ab Delahaye who chalked up one of the highest scores of the season when he spilled 357-318-308 for a nice triple of 881.

The following is the team standing in the Monday and Wednesday night leagues: Monday— Primeau, 36; Freeman, 30; Giroux, 24; Letellier, 20. Wednesday—T. Anthony, 50; Lalonde, 33; J. F. O'Brien, 24; J. Anthony, 21.

This week at the Knights Dr. O'Brien and his fast steppers took a fall out of the league leading Anthony team by snaring two out of three games and pinnage. O'Brien was high on the winning side with 191-312 and 240 while opposing him A. Oremasco continued his consistent heavy hitting to chalk up 231-215 and 335.

Lalonde put the skids under Joe Anthony for three games to slip up into second place in the league race. Ab Delahaye led the battlers with some nice score 223-217-218. The game totals were Lalonde 851-746-912, Anthony 783-715-911.

The league standing for the Westclox mens' circuit finds Tommy Cupoli firmly located on the top rung. His triumph however will be short lived if the threats of Jake Beckerman's crew can be carried out when the teams tangle in a resumption of the league games next week.

Tom Curvin presided at the meeting of the Inter-Alley Bowling League held last night at the Duffus Alleys, when it was hoped that plans could have been laid for continuing this league during the present season. This plan was frustrated to some extent by the fact the Y.M.C.A. was not represented at the meeting. The Duffus Alleys and Knights of Columbus signified their intention of entering two teams from each place in the loop if it were organized, but outside of this very little could be done. Another meeting will be called in the near future and in the meantime representatives from the "Y" will be interviewed.

to produce racquet stars in the future. The lawn bowlers had a good year, whereas the skiiers were helpless in the face of a practically snowless winter. Boxing proved very popuar here and spread throughout the district, and again the pro wrestling game drew large crowds to the Brock. All summer, a good City Lacrosa League, as well as the intermediate O.A.L.A. team, kept this game going, the boxed sport having its first tryout here in '32. It was successful in the cool autumn but not so much during the summer.

This is just a bare outline of some of the better known sports played here during the past twelve months. The athletes had a good year, fair crowds forgot the business depression at the many athletic games and shows staged, and Peterborough kept alive its proud record of being the best sporting city of its size in Ontario.

W. Mathews Returned Trustee In Burleigh

(Examiner Correspondence)

MOUNT JULIAN, Dec. 31.— The annual school meeting for S. S. No. 1 Burleigh was held in the school on Wednesday morning. Mr. William Matthews was returned for another term as trustee. fine burling, the former carrying the burden of the season's work, and Holmes having a one-hit game over Cobourg. The Petes were weak offensivey, and will require some building up for next year. Max Swanston is the new C.O.B.L. president, and with the local club out of debt, through a successful dance and draw staged this fall, a stronger Peterborough team should be fielded in the spring.

There was a good East Peterborough League race, attended by fair crowds, with C.G.E. just managing to win out once more. They lost to Orono in the playdowns. Through the aid of the senior club, and the newly-formed Baseball Commission, under chairmanship of Alex Kay, the City League was bigger than in a number of years, and many close games were run off. Bailey's Juniors won their division, hurdled Belleville and lost out to the Toronto juniors in the O.B.A.A. playdowns. Pat Calladine's Maple Leaf juveniles eliminated the Toronto champs and only faded late in the third game of the finals against Niagara Falls. Kiwanis bantams also put out the Toronto winner, and was then nosed out by Hamilton in a tough-luck third game of the Ontario finals. With such a fine year behind them, baseball teams here will be in there stronger than ever next summer.

WM. THOMPSON IS DROWNED IN STONEY LAKE

Truck Breaks Thorugh Ice and Driver Goes Down.

COMING TO PETERBORO'.

Mrs. Thompson and Three Grandchildren Escape as Truck Sank.

Drowned when the truck he was driving crashed through the ice, the body of William Thompson proprietor of Mount Julian Hotel today lies at the bottom of Stoney Lake in about thirty feet of water. He was in his late sixties.

Mrs. Thompson, wife of the victim is prostrated with grief, and is being cared for at the hotel which her husband had owned and operated for over thirty years. She and her three grandchildren witnessed the tragedy and were providentially saved from meeting death, in a similar manner. The children are those of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roy Thompson of Peterborough.

The tragedy occurred shortly before eleven o'clock Monday morning approximately a mile from the shore directly opposite the Y.W.C.A. summer camp, and was the sad termination to a happy holiday party. The truck and it's five occupants was bound from Mount Julian to Peterborough and the driver was taking a short cut across the lake to McCracken's Landing.

The truck was raised from the bed of the lake early yesterday afternoon to within five feet of the surface. A derrick will have to be rigged on the ice to life it from the water.

Mr. Thompson was born at Westwood village sixty-eight years ago. He was brought up in that district and for some years prior to purchasing Mount Julian Hotel he had operated the cheese factory, now known as Shearer's Cheese Factory on Norwood Road.

It is understood by The Examiner that Percy Hill, diver in the employ of the Canada Cement Company at Lakefield was exerting every effort to recover the body today, but up to the time of going to press he had been unsuccessful. Mr. Hill, regarded as one of the most experienced divers, is a close friend of the Thompson family and he volunteered the risky business of descending thirty feet in the ice water to the end of the lake where the body is undoubtedly resting.

Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield has not decided whether or not an inquest will be held. Hs is reserving his decision pending the recovery of the body.

Frederick Kiff of Division street, Peterborough, diver on the Trent Canal Staff descended into the chill waters in search of Mr. Thompson's body. He reported that the body was not in the cab of the truck although both doors were closed. Apparently Mr. Thompson had struggled through the window on the driving side of the cab as the truck was descending. The window on that side was open.

Efforts to recover the body were

MOIR, McKONE REID, McNABB ARE ELECTED

Dr. A. Moir Heads Polls in Board of Education Contest.

JAMES DUTTON DEFEATED.

Reid Ran Second, McKone Third and McNabb Fourth.

Return to office of four candidates who have all served previous terms on the Board was the feature of the Board of Education election yesterday. Dr. A. Moir led the poll with a total of 3,133 votes, a margin of 254 votes over the running-up in the race, Ernest F. Reid. J. A. McKone and Isaac P. McNabb followed closely in the list of four successful candidates.

Dr. Moir, Reid and McNabb held seats on last year's Board while McKone boasts a total of nine years' service on previous Boards, having acted as chairman for two of the years. Reid has served four terms and Dr. Moir and McNabb have acted on the Board during the two successive terms since their elections in 1929. All three members from the retiring Board were re-elected by acclamation in 1931.

Dr. A. Moir	3,128
E. F. Reid	2,872
J. A. McKone	2,461
I. P. McNabb	1,849
J. A. Dutton	1,824
William Tinker	1,775
J. E. Smith	1,539

Dr. Moir led in the returns from 24 out of 39 polling places in the city, tied with Reid for leadership at two polls, and tied with both Reid and McKone at two other polls. Reid led at eight polls and McKone at two. Smith showed a majority over the other candidates at only one poll.

Moir Strong

Dr. Moir's greatest strength was in the South and West Wards, although no ward neglected to add to his heavy votes. Along with Dr. Moir, Reid and McKone were also strong in the West ward. Poll 23 at Queen Mary School giving a tie vote of 117 ballots for each of the three, and Poll 18 at Prince of Wales School giving tie results with 120 votes for each. The Central Ward favored Reid with the lead at three of the five polls. Balloting for McNabb was well-distributed.

The first poll to report Board of Education returns was Poll 27 at Central School. It gave McKone the lead in the contest with 96 votes. Dr. Moir was in second place with 95 votes, Reid third with 83, Tinker fourth with 57, and Mc-

HALDIMAND TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS

E. R. SHIRLEY IS RE-ELECTED TO UTILITIES

Utilities Commission Contest in City Proved Unusually Close.

PATTERSON IS SECOND.

Jack McCabe Runs Third and E. Bruce Fowler Fourth.

With six years service on the Peterborough Utilities Commission already behind him, E. R. Shirley, B.A., B.Sc., was re-elected to his post in a close race at the polls yesterday. His victory came with a majority of less than 200 votes over E. G. Patterson in the final returns.

In the final results the standing was:

E. R. Shirley	1,753
E. G. Patterson	1,536
Jack McCabe	1,476
E. B. Fowler	910

The Utilities' contest proved unusually close for the three leaders on the list. From the time the first poll was reported until the last few polls came in last evening, it was evident that but a few votes would separate Shirley, Patterson and McCabe in the final check. First returns gave Shirley a slight lead but he lost it several times to Paterson and McCabe before finally securing it. Fowler, however, at no time showed strength, leading only one poll, Poll 2 at King Edward School.

On Past Record

Shirley ran with his record during his previous two terms on the Commission as the basis of his platform. "My aim is the same as it always has been: to give the best and most efficient service at the lowest possible cost," he declared in a statement to the public before the election. "I have but to point to the record of he Peterborough Utilities during the six years comprising my term of office."

Last evening when the returns had ensured his re-election, he expressed appreciation of the support he received at the polls. "I appreciate the confidence the public has shown to my services by returning me to the Utilities and the confidence shown in regard to the way the Utilities has been run," he said. "I shall endeavor to justify that confidence by continuing to devote my time and services to the post with the same sincerity I have

CLOSE ESCAPE ENDS IN JAIL

Youth Riding "Blind Bag-Baggage" Slips Into Coal Shute of C.N.R. Engine.

DELAYS TRAIN HALF HOUR.

BARRIE, Ont., Jan. 3 (C.P.)— A narrow escape from death between the grinders of an automatic stoker of a railway locomotive cost H. Porter, 23, Toronto, a term of 10 days in county jail or a fine of $10 and costs here to-day.

D. Shuttleworth, 22, of Beauclair, Ont., companion of Porter, received the same sentence. Two two were riding "blind baggage" on the coal tender of a locomotive pulling Canadian National passenger train, No. 47, northbound from Toronto late last night.

Between Gilford and Legroy, 12 miles south of Barrie, Shuttleworth noticed his companion gradually slipping into the chute which feeds coal from the tender into the firebox. He shouted to Engineer Herb Knapp, Barrie, to stop. The trains was brought to a halt and delayed more than a half hour while the train crew worked to extricate Porter.

The train was in charge of Conductor Adolphus Small, Toronto.

C.N.R. Inspector J. S. Hope, North Bay, a passenger on the train, handed Porter and Shuttleworth to Charles Fullerton, a railroad constable at Allandale, who laid a charge of trespassing against each man. They appeared before Magistrate Jeffs to-day.

STOVE EXPLODES FIRE WIPES OUT ENTIRE FAMILY

Wife, 5 Children 9 Years to 2 Week Old Sprayed With Blazing Oil.

DIE IN SLEEP.

Father Terribly Burned Attempting Rescue, Dies Few Hours Later.

SHELBY, O., Jan. 3.—(A.P.)—An entire family was wiped out early to-day when a fire destroyed their one story home.

The dead were James Miller, his wife Beatrice, and their five children, the oldest nine and the youngest a baby of two weeks.

Mrs. Miller and her children, James Jr., 8, Ethel May, 4, June, 3, and Ralph, 2, and the baby were trapped in their beds.

Miller died a few hours after the fire from burns receieved when he attempted to rescue his family from the blazing home.

Before he died, Miller told his father-in-law, A. W. McGregor, the fire started when coal oil he was using to kindle the fire exploded, showering the three beds in which the family slept with flaming oil.

Tells Story on Death Bed.

Suffering untold agony as he related his story, Miller told his father-in-law that he got up at three a.m. to start a fire in the only stove in the house.

As he lighted the stove, the blaze set fire to a can of kerosene he was using, showering the entire room in which the family slept with flaming liquid.

Miller, McGregor said, made repeated attempts to get his fami ly out of the house, but his burning night clothes and the intense heat drove him from the blazing house.

He made his way to the home of a neighbor where he gave the alarm, and collapsed, his clothing burned from his body. He died a few hours later.

C.P.R. Passenger Hits Loaded Truck

BURKETON, Jan. 3.—(Special)—The driver of a motor truck had a narrow escape from possible death or severe injury this morning when the rear of his vehicle was struck at a level crossing by C. P. R. train 601 westbound. The train was just pulling away from the station and had not had time to gather speed, a fact which probably minimized the damage that was caused.

The truck with its load of hogs was overturned in the ditch and the animals were strewed along the highway. Many of the hogs, it is reported, were severely hurt and it was probable they would have to be destroyed. The train leaves Peterborough at 7.20 a.m.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES LAID AGAINST TWO

Condie and Henrichon Are Charged in Police Court.

THIRD MAN CHARGED.

Charge Follows Death of Frederick Fletcher on Sunday.

As a result of the death early Sunday morning of Fred Fletcher, C.P.R. section man, in a drunken brawl at the the home of R. S. Condie, 306 Aylmer street, two men were charged in police court to-day with manslaughter.

"I never killed Fletcher. I had a fight with him and he fell downstairs,' 'stated Harry Hendrichon, alias Harold Kenyon, aged 20, of Montreal, in answering to the charge that on Sunday he did unlawfully kill and slay Frederick Fletcher and thereby did commit manslaughter.

Kenyon was going to say more but Magistrate Langley stopped him. He did not plead or elect and was remanded until January 10 for trial. Bail was refused.

Condie faced a similar charge. Without plea or election he also was remanded until the tenth.

Pleads Guilty

Anthime Lessier, of Niagara Falls, who was also a member of the drunken party at which Fletcher met his death, was charged that he did unlawfully and knowingly supply liquor to one under 21 years of age, namely Harry Hendrichon, alias Harold Kenyon, such liquor not being administered for medicinal purposes. Lessier pleaded guilty, and was remanded a week for sentence.

Alfred Holden, local youth, pleaded guilty to a charge that on Sunday he did break and enter the store of Thomas Redner with intent to commit an indictable offence, namely theft. "I was there allright," Holden told the Court. "I had some wine and I guess I was just acting crazy." He was remanded until Friday for sentence.

Given Remand

Charged with getting relief by false pretenses, Daniel Wyatt did not plead or elect, and was remanded until Friday. According to the charge Wyatt told relief officials that he had come here from Oshawa and had been here seven months, when he really came from Picton and had been in the city only a couple of months. He obtained $22.50 worth of relief between November and December. Also it is alleged that he said he was living with his wife here, when in fact he was living with another man's wife.

DEATH FACING SOVIET HEADS

Three to be Shot, 8 Imprisoned For Treason in Grain Collecting Plan.

AIDED RICH PEASANTS.

MOSCOW, Jan. 3 (A.P.)—Three of the highest Communist party and Soviet officials in the Orekhovsky district of the Ukraine were sentenced to death to-day and eight others to imprisonment upon their conviction of treason in sabotaging the Government's grain collection plan.

The Ukraine, once known as the breadbasket of Europe, still is the Soviet Government's chief grain-producing area, but its 1932 production and delivery has been the most backward in the whole country.

The three men sentenced to execution by shooting are Golovin, secretary of the Regional Communist party committee; Polamarechuk, president of the Regional Soviet executive committee and Anistrat, senior agricultural technician for the Regional executive committee.

They were changed with arbitrarily lowering the Government's grain collection quotas, and falsely reporting on the extent of the crop to the central authorities. By thus actively assisting the Kulak, or Independent farmer, elements to cheat the Government and keep most of their grain for themselves, they were branded as counter-revolutionaries, traitors and betrayers of the working class.

Of other officials tried with them three were sentenced to 10 years in prison and five to eight years each.

Denne Has 2667 Majority Max Sloan Heads Polls For the Aldermanic Board

Heaviest Vote in Years For Mayoralty is Polled.

AHEAD AT EVERY POLL.

Mayor Denne Polled 4,410 Votes, Alderman Tuggey 1,746.

Mayor Denne was returned to office in yesterday's election by the largest majority ever amassed by a mayoralty candidate in Peterborough.

He was swept back into the mayor's chair for his sixth consecutive term on a virtual avalanche of votes, piling up a majority of 2,667 over his opponent, Alderman Fred Tuggey. His majority topped by 924 the total vote gained by Alderman Tuggey, a careful count last night giving Mayor Denne a total of 4,410 as against his opponent's 1,743.

It was in this certain voice that the citizens showed their regard for Mayor Denne's record of achievement during his five years at the helm of the city's municipal affairs.

Always Certain.

The result was never in the balance from the time the first poll reported. His majority bounded higher and higher with every return from the subdivisions.

In all respects, Mayor Denne's victory yesterday shattered all previous records. It even over-leaped his sweeping defeat of Malcolm McIntyre two years ago, when he secured 3,694 votes to Alderman McIntyre's 1,479.

Every subdivision returned a large Denne majority, all but eleven of the polls returning him a majority that was more than the vote polled by Alderman Tuggey. At 18 polls he secured more than three votes to every one of his opponent's—at some it ran up to four to one. His largest majority was 151, obtained as two years ago at poll 23 at Queen Mary's School, and his smallest majority was 24, obtained at poll 29 in Central School.

Largest Vote in Years.

Frederick Fletcher, Victim of Fall Downstairs, Buried To-day.

SERVED IN IMPERIAL ARMY.

Held this afternoon under the auspices of the Canadian Legion Branch 52, the funeral of Frederick Fletcher, 38-year-old returned man and victim of a fall downstairs at a local rooming house on New Year's Eve was attended by a large number of people. Mourners included Peter Cavanagh and other residents of Indian River, who had been neighbours of the dead man who owned a farm in Otonabee Township.

Brief services were conducted according to the rites of the Roman Catholic Church at Comstock's Funeral Home, prior to interment of the remains at St Peter's Cemetery. The casket was draped with the Union Jack and a poppy wreath tribute from the local returned men bore the inscription, "deepest sympathy from the officers and member of Canadian Legion Branch 52."

The bearers all ex-servicemen and members of the Legion included President Arnold E. Everett of Branch 52, and Messrs J. H. Thompson, Thomas O'Brien, Harold Woods, David S. Calder, and Robert White.

ELECTRIC POWER IS BROADCAST MILE AND HALF

Youth Lights Store by Current From Transmitting Station in Farm House.

GUARDS SECRET CLOSELY.

Claims Receiver Can Be Made Cheaply—Used for Heat as Well as Light.

MILDMAY, Ont, Jan. 3.—(C.P.)—Frank Fedy, 22, former insurance salesman, to-day claimed for his invention to broadcast electrical energy folowing a demonstration of power transmission last night through a mile and a half of space.

Fedy, who still guards the secret of his apparatus, picked up the power in his father's store from a transmitting station in a farm house and lighted the store.

Fifty persons, including Fedy's parents and friends and relatives witnessed the demonstration.

Fedy's partner, Ted Hesch, was stationed in the farm house, where there is no electrical wiring, no radio and no telephone.

In the darkened store room Fedy began work. Suddenly there was a buzzing and then the lights flickered, slowly brightening and then the room was flooded with light. Fedy then darkened the room and relighted it again. With a signal, he ended his demonstration and the regular Hydro power service was turned on.

Fedy, receiving congratulations said it was the most successful attempt he has made with his invention. He hopes to increase its efficiency but refuses to give details of the operation.

Used for Heat or Light

There is a transmitter, an aerial similar to a radio antenna and a receiver. Fedy claims the receiver can be manufactured cheaply for household use and that after improvements have been made the apparatus can be used to heat houses as well as light them.

The Ontario Hydro Commission, he said, has asked him to present himself and his invention at their Toronto offices. Many letters offering financial backing have been received.

Fedy plans to continue his experiments and then attempt to place the results before men qualified to judge the possibilities.

During last night's demonstration, Fedy worked from a control board upstairs. Within a minute after the lights began burning, two 100-watt and two 40-watt lamps were burning brightly. Fedy's father added more lamps to the load, and altogether 20 lamps were lighted, representing consumption of approximately 1,000 watts.

Malcom McIntyre is Close Second in Aldermanic Race.

HAMILTON THIRD.

Daniel Holland and Jack McNabb Are Fourth and Fifth in Race.

One new man, a veteran alderman and the three aldermen seeking re-election earned the right to sit in the City Council for the next two years as a result of yesterday's memorable election battle.

Maxwell R. Sloan is the new man and he introduced one of the big surprises into the contest by piling up 3,270 votes to head the polls in the aldermanic race. He proved the dark horse of the whole election, surprising all veteran election prophets by his meteoric career at the polls. He will be the youngest alderman to sit in Council since Nagle E. Phelan first entered.

Malcolm McIntyre, who served on the Council for ten years, was returned to office after a lapse of two years as a close second, proving that the electors were out to put their trust in veterans of municipal management.

Ellis' Close Fight

Next in order of their success at the polls were: James Hamilton, Daniel J. Holland and John A. McNabb. James C. Ellis, who just failed to get within the charmed circle of successful candidates, gave Alderman McNabb a close fight. In fact right up until the final six polls gave their returns, the standing was anything but comfortable for Alderman McNabb, because at that time he was but three votes up on Mr. Ellis.

The six thousand odd citizens who did not permit New Year's festivities and slippery ice to deter them from going to the polls, distributed their votes among the five successful candidates as follows:

Maxwell R. Sloan	3270
Malcolm McIntyre	3218
James Hamilton	3141
Daniel J. Holland	2782
John A. McNabb	2214

The other six candidates with their total votes followed in this order: James C. Ellis, 2,134; Fred O. Goodfellow, 2,092; Dr. J. M. O'Brien, 2,033; Joe Henderson, 1,900; Joseph S. Bell, 1,534; and George Benton, 1,333.

Experienced Men

It is noteworthy that with one exception the voters showed respect for men with previous experience and gave evidence of renewed confidence in the three aldermen and the one ex-alderman who offered their services. Alderman Hamilton has had many years service on the Council, lash year filling the important job of chairman of the Board of Works. While Alderman McNabb and Holland have each four years on the Council behind them.

Showing that the interest taken in yesterday's election and the vote polled was substantially larger than for some years past, it is noteworthy that Sloan's plurality over that of Ex-Alderman E. Melville Turner, who headed the polls at the last election in 1931, is 75, and this despite the fact that two years ago the vote was split among only nine candidates while this year there were eleven. The vote in 1931 was considered something of a record breaker at that time.

Analysis of Polls

Analyzing the returns by subdivisions it is shown that while Sloan had his greatest strength in his own ward, the South, where nine of the ten divisions gave him

CAUGHT ASLEEP SIX IN FAMILY BURN TO DEATH

Victims Are Mother and Five Children From Nine Years to Week Old.

FATHER ESCAPES.

Awakes With Clothes Afire and Staggers Outside—Little Hope of Life.

SHELBY, O., Jan. 3 (A.P.)—Six persons, including five children, were burned to death early to-day when their home here was destroyed by fire.

The victims were Mrs. James Miller and her children, the oldest of whom was nine years of age. The youngest was born only a week ago.

Mrs. Miller's husband barely escaped from the flaming structure, but was burned so badly, doctors said he probably will die.

The fire, apparently caused by an overheated stove, started while all of the family were sleeping.

Barely Escapes

The house was a roaring mass of flames when Miller awoke. He was unable to reach the rest of his family and barely reached the outdoors himself.

Neighbors and the fire department were unaware of the tragedy until Miller staggered to a nearby house and gave the alarm. Then he collapsed, unconscious.

When the firemen reached the home, it was a flaming mass of ruins, with the bodies of the mother and the children inside.

Miller's nightclothes had been burned entirely off him before he escaped the blazing dwelling, a small wooden structure on the north side of the city. His entire body was seared.

4 NEW MEMBERS ARE ELECTED TO COUNTY COUNCIL

Anderson, Tedford, Brown and Mullen Emerge as Victors.

COUNCIL'S PERSONNEL.

Only four new members were ected yesterday to the Peterborough county council of 1933.

W. A. Anderson returns to his old seat as reeve of Otonabee after a rather long absence. Roy Brown wrested the Burleigh reeveship from Vernal Windsor; Richard Tedford emerged victor in yesterday's contest with Reeve E. N. McDonald of Dummer; and George Mullen ousted Herb McConkey from the deputy-reeveship of Smith.

Thirteen of last year's members will return to their places, nine of them having been re-elected by acclamation; and four received fresh mandates at the polls.

Those who had to fight for their places were Reeve Rork Ferguson of Asphodel who defeated Gordon Girven; Reeve Ernest Leeson of Havelock who succeeded over Richard Sanderson; Reeve C. F. Steenburgh of Belmont and Methune whose re-election was regarded as a certainty last night with only two polls to hear from in his contest with William E. Griffith.

Reeve Hugh Given came through his engagement with ex-reeve H. B. Parker of Harvey, a renewal of the fight of a year ago; and Deputy-reeve Percy Davidson of Otonabee held his place against the challenge of Alex Huston.

BLARNEY STONE REMAINS INTACT

Some Natives of Erin Claim Much Kissed Rock is Not Original Piece.

NO DANGER IN ACT

CORK, Irish Free State, January 3 (C.P.). — There probably is more "blarney" in circulation about the blarney stone than ever was imparted to the thousands who have kissed the famed Irish rock.

Now comes the story from Cleveland that part of the stone has turned up in that United States city. It met with hurried and emphatic denial by the present owner of the Irish castle in which the original stone is located. Suggesting an explanation of the American claim, Sir George Couthurst, the owner said that "many a pebble has been carried away from the park grounds by tourists."

This latest report recalled some fanciful tales about the blarney stone which have come to be generally accepted as true. One that no longer holds up since the stream of tourists to the "ould sod," many of them from Canada, has become more like a flood, is that a person who kisses the stone takes his life in his hands, so to speak. This may have been true when Cormac MacCarthy built the sturdy castle some five miles north-east of Cork about 500 years ago.

But to-day the tourist who pays his fee to kiss the stone which is supposed to impart, by that act, a sweet, persuasive eloquence that none can resist, finds it a simple task.

It is situated at the top of a massive donjon tower, rising 120 feet above the beautiful greensward surrounding the castle. It is a lower outside stone — part of a parapet surrounding the tower.

In the old days brave sons of Erin were supposed to hang by their toes over the outside of the parapet to reach the stone for the osculation ceremony. To-day a hole large enough for a person to slide through pierces the parapet on a level with the tower floor. Iron bars clasped to the stone serve as hand grips. With back to the floor the person desiring to kiss the stone may slice through the hole in ease and comparative safety.

A poet named Milliken made the blarney stone famous in his song, "Groves of Blarney." It goes:

"... There is a stone there that whoever kisses,
O, he never misses to grow eloquent.
'Tis he may clamber to a lady's chomber,
Or become a member of Parliament."

It would sorely disappoint some thousands of Canadians to learn the stone they kissed was not the "real" blarney rock. It is said in Ireland the real stone is in a more inaccessible position in another corner of the tower than that which has received the wet smack of young and old, beautiful and otherwise. The proof, it is said, was that the original blarney bore the name of Cormac MacCarthy and a shamrock in relief.

DR S. H. LINGWOOD DIES ON MONDAY

Retired School Master and Sportsman Passes in Lakefield at Age of 60.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 3 (Examiner Correspondence).—Dr. S. H. Lingwood, one of the most beloved local residents, a retired school master and sportsman, died here last night. He was 60 years of age.

Born in England, Dr. Lingwood came to Canada in the year 1890 and taught at Grove Preparatory School which was founded by his uncle the late Basil Sheldrake. Later Dr. Lingwood went to Queen's University, Kingston, where he graduated with his B.A. degree. Three years ago he was given an honorary degree of Ph.D., at Queen's.

During his school career Dr. Lingwood had taught at Kingston Collegiate, Simcoe Collegiate, and Malvern Collegiate, Toronto. He retired some six years ago and had since resided at Lakefield.

He was married to Emily Atwood, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Atwood of Lakefield, and granddaughter of the late Catherine Parr Trail, Canadian authoress. His wife survives.

Deeply interested in everything pertaining to the welfare of the community in which he lived, Dr. Lingwood was a member of the local School Board for the past four years and was recently appointed to the High School Board, succeeding the Rev. T. M. Wesley. He was also a member of the Public Library Board and was People's Warden at St. John's Anglican Church besides being in the choir.

Until this season Dr. Lingwood was a membber of Lakefield Curling Club and also of Lakefield Rifle Association.

Funeral announcements later.

Lucky Crash

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Marie Anticebuch awoke from a nap to see an automobile standing beside a Christmas tree in her parlor and for a moment she wondered why.

John H. Smale, a dean of the Lewis Institute, who was at the wheel explained that his machine had come right through the wall of the Anticebuch home after he had swerved to avoid hitting another car in the street.

While he reasoned it wasn't his fault he agreed to pay the damage which was doubly satisfactory to Mrs. Anticebuch because her husband, Tony, a carpenter, will get the job.

JAPANESE OPEN FIERCE ATTACK ON CHINESE CITY

Eight Warships Pour Troops Into Port 10 Miles From Goal at Shanhaikwan.

SEEK FULL CONTROL.

Officials Claims Occupation Will Extend No Further Into Jehol Province.

SHANGHAI, January 3 (C.P.). — Eight Japanese warships were reported to have arrived to-day at Chinwangtao, the Chinese seaport about 10 miles south-west of Shanhaikwan. Meanwhile Japanese sources here said to-day's air, land, and sea attack on Shanhaikwan aimed at "elimination" of Chinese troops in that area.

They said 4,000 Japanese infantry and cavalry soldiers, two naval destroyers, and seven air bombers were participating in the attack on the Chinese side of the eastern terminus of China's great wall.

The Japanese believed the action was likely to result in permanent occupation of the Chinese city of Shanhaikwan, but present hostilities were expected to be localized without moving farther southward or into Jehol Province, between Jhina proper and Manchuria.

Situation Tense.

Advices from Changwantao stated the situation there was quiet but tense, with Chinese troops holding themselves in readiness for any emergency.

General Chiang Kai-Shek, chairman of the Nationalist Government Military Affairs Commission, arrived to-day from Ningpo, following a visit to his birthplace at the nearby village of Fenghwa.

The General immediately conferred with Dr. T. V. Soong, Finance Minister, concerning Shanhaikwan, declining, however, to reveal the nature of the conversation except indicating he was returning to Nanking immediately.

HEAVY VOTE IS POLLED FOR MAYOR

they came in over the telephone, stated that close to a record vote had been cast. Figures show that their estimate was correct, because 6,138 voted in the mayoralty race. In the 1931 election the total vote was 5,189, while in 1928, when Denne defeated Phelan, the total vote was 5,700; and in 1926, when Phelan fell before Dr. W. T. Hollaway, the total vote cast was 5,246.

Rush at Polls.

Scrutineers reported that the number visiting the polling places in the morning was comparatively small, but between 2 o'clock and 5 they were besieged by eager voters. In fact, at several subdivisions the rush was so great that the accommodation was taxed to capacity and line-ups were necessary to maintain proper order. At poll No. 30 in the Central School the congestion became so great between 3 and 4 o'clock that several persons, refusing to spend the time in waiting for their turn to vote, walked away.

Scrutineers estimated that two-thirds of the vote was cast in the last three hours of voting.

Biggest Polls.

The biggest vote polled at a single subdivision was returned at No. 24 in the West Ward, 208—159 for Denne and 49 for Tuggey. No. 2 returned the biggest poll in the South Ward, 179—117 for Denne and 62 for Tuggey; No. 14 in the Central Ward with 147; No. 28 in the North Ward with 171, and No. 37 in the East Ward with 171.

The first poll heard from, 33, in the North Ward, gave Denne 96 to Tuggey's 26. From then on the majorities rolled in without ceasing. Alderman Tuggey visited the committee room and was informed before he entered the manner in which the vote had gone. He conceded his defeat at that time.

For two hours Alderman Tuggey sat at the table and heard the majorities piling up against him without any visible emotion on his face. He seemed calm and unperturbed, chatting with those who sat next to him.

Mayor Denne did not hear the results at the committee room but had them transferred to his office.

City Returns 1932 Board Control—Votes for Fewer Aldermen.

HOT FIGHT ST. CATHARINES

Ideal Weather Brings Out High Vote Over Province —Few Surprises.

(By The Canadian Press)

Most Ontario cities to-day were equipped with mayors and councils for 1933, and towns, villages, and townships with few exceptions, were under their 1933 reeves and councils. Ideal weather brought a big vote at municipal elections yesterday, but no surprises featured the elections.

Toronto returned Mayor W. J. Stewart with the largest majority ever polled when it gave him a surplus of 56,631 over the combined total of his two opponents, Ald. Robert R. Leslie and R. M. Tuthill. The 1932 Board of Control, J. G. Ramsden, Sam McBride, James Simpson, and W. D. Robbins, was returned intact as the city voted overwhelmingly against an election date change and for a reduction in the number of aldermen in eight wards from three to two.

Avery Re-elected

In the hottest election in years, St. Catharines re-elected Mayor Fred H. Avery with more than 4,500 majority over Alderman Peter Grant who ran on the Labor platform. Mayor Avery's election was

Ratepayers Endorse Factory By-laws by Big Majorities

MAJORITY FOR RAYBESTOS 1675 DE LAVAL SAME

Fixed Assessment is Granted By Ratepayers to Two Companies.

FOR TEN YEARS.

Every Poll in City Gave Majority for the Two By-laws.

By an overwhelming majority the ratepayers of Peterborough yesterday endorsed with ballots the two by-laws giving a fixed assessment for the next ten years to the Raybestos Company and the DeLaval Company.

The by-laws fix the Raybestos Company's assessment until 1943 at $25,000, an increase of $10,000 over the company's assessment during the past ten years, and the DeLaval Company's at $60,000 for the same period, also an increase of $10,000.

Promise Progress

The Raybestos Company made a substantial addition to their plant last summer and is endeavoring to increase the number of its employees as its business expands. The DeLaval Company, which is rated as one of the most progressive and substantial firms in the city, has promised to greatly increase the number of its employees within the next two years if conditions permit.

The successful passing of the by-laws was never in doubt from the time the first returns from the polls were made last evening.

The full results were:

	For	Against
DeLaval By-law	2228	664
Raybestos By-law	2204	660

This gives better than four votes for each by-law by every one against.

The by-laws required a two-thirds vote from the ratepayers at the polls to be endorsed.

Not a single poll but returned large majorities for the by-laws. This was true in every ward in the city, proving beyond a doubt that the city as a whole was solidly behind the City Council in their endorsement.

The very first poll to give a return of any kind was poll No. 27 in Central School, (Fred Dainton) who reported at 5.03 a vote of 62 for the Raybestos by-law and only 20 opposed. From then on the votes for the by-laws piled up.

BARNES HEADS POLL

After retaining their reeve and deputy by acclamation, North Monaghan ratepayers concentrated their attention on the council yesterday and elected two new members, James Milby and William Stevens replacing Robert Dobbin and William Whitfield.

John Barnes was also returned at the head of the council polls. Reeve John McIntosh and Deputy-reeve George Patton were unopposed at the nominations.

The suburban subdivisions piled up long leads for Barnes, Milby and Stevens, while the rural poll at the town hall did its best for Dobbin and Whitefield, and gave John two more than the twenty-five votes he mentioned at the nomination meeting.

Reeve McIntosh is the only rural survivor on the council, and it may be significant that the three representatives of the North Monaghan Ratepayers' Association were successful, Barnes, Milby and Stevens.

maintained in the past. I shall particularly urge that everything possible in the way of economy and efficiency be done to keep the Utility rates at the lowest points possible.

"I appreciate very much the work which was done by the supporters in the election and also the good feeling and good spirit which prevailed between the candidates."

Shirley Leads

Shirley led at fifteen of the thirty-nine polls while McCabe led at twelve polls and Patterson at eleven. At one, Shirley and Patterson were tied for leadership. The heaviest vote for Shirley was polled in the North and West wards. In the North ward he led at seven polls out of nine and tied with Patterson at one. In the West ward he took five polls, McCabe three and Patterson one. Patterson's strength was in the South ward where he led six polls to McCabe's leadership of three and Shirley's leadership at but one poll. McCabe led all six of the polls in the East ward and gained a majority on the ward totals sufficient to threaten the leadership of Shirley and Patterson.

None of the three candidates who opposed Shirley has had previous service on the Utilities Commission to his credit. E. B. Fowler has held office on the Board of Education.

With Shirley returned, the Utilities Commission for the city will for the coming year consist of Shirley, G. S. Matthews and John Crane. Crane's term will expire at the end of this year and the term of Matthews, the chairman, will expire at the end of 1934.

Retail sales of merchandise in Ontario amounted to $1,112,733,300 in 1930 according to a census prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics which also shows for service establishments receipts of $100,226,500 in the same year.

GREAT NETWORK OF AIR ROUTES IS CONCEPTION

Australia-England in 60 Hours Will Become Possible if Plans Materialize.

OPERATE NEW YEAR

LONDON, Jan. 3 (C.P.)—Negotiations for the establishment of an England-Australia airway—the subject of discussion ever since the first flight between the two countries in 1919—have at last reached a point where Colonel Shelmerdine, Director of Civil Aviation in this country, is able to express a "confident hope" that an air mail service to Australia will begin regular operation this year.

He indicated that Imperial Airways would probably extend their service by co-operation with an Indian company from Karachi to Singapore, and that the rest of the eastern section would be undertaken by Australian interests. Port Darwin, which has seen the beginning or the end of many flights between England and Australia, is envisaged as the radial point for services connecting the main Empire trunk line with the chief cities of the Commonwealth.

Thus the way to the inauguration of the world's longest air line—and, because of the route it follows, potentially far the most important of the net work of possible trunk routes all over the globe—seems clear. Many details have still to be worked out, and important discussions are going forward daily in London, Delhi and at government and air line headquarters in Australia. Still to be announced is the reply of the Australian authorities to the offer of the Dutch to extend their service to the Netherlands East Indies as far as Australia, though it is hoped that the idea of "all-Empire" operation will not be jeopardized.

The attitude of the Indian government, which has invariably asserted its right to control all air line triffic in India, upset earlier negotiations for the extension of the present England-India mail and passenger service to Calcutta and beyond, but Colonel Shelmerdine's statement shows that a way round the difficulty has been invented. Meanwhile, British constructors are going ahead with the building of special high-speed mail-carrying aircraft which could easily operate a regular service all the way from London to Sydney and Melbourne in a week, should a "mails only" service be decided on to supplement the passenger traffic. Even if the present policy of carrying mails and passengers together in the same machines be continued, however, the airway will still offer immense saving in criticizing the British air line craft on the score of speed is that the present fleet of Imperial Airways, including the new monoplanes ordered for the African routes, shows an average cruising speed considerably higher than that of any other European air transport company.

The immediate possibility of operating an air service between London and Australia in 72 hours' elapsed time was emphasized by Air Commodore J. A. Chamier in a lecture at the Imperial College of Science. Basing his statements on the fact that the new British mail-carrier will cruise at 150 miles an hour and have ao range non-stop of at least 1,000 miles, the speaker declared that with such speed, and assuming flight along the most direct available routes, Egypt could be reached from London in 13¾ hours' flying time, Karachi in 26 hours, Cape Town in 40½ hours, Australia in 57 hours, and Canada in 30 hours.

If existing routes were followed and full allowance made for stops to refuel the time required for the flight between England and Australia would be 72 hours. These, he declared, were not dream figures and could be realized immediately at relatively small cost without stretching the abilities of the aircraft designers. Actually, the performance of the new mail-carrier will be superior to that assumed by Air Commodore Chamier. The cruising speed is expected to be 172 m.p.h. and the range in still air will be 1,250 miles with a crew of three men and 1,000 pounds of mail load on board. A little calculation shows that "Australia in 60 hours" is by no means an impossible slogan for the first company which will operate a high-speed mail service with relays of this kind of air craft. The cruising speed is 15 per cent higher than Air Commodore Chamier took as his basis, and the employment of relays of machines would eliminate much of the time spent at the intermediate halts.

Prizes Won During Year By Millbrook Scholars Are Presented.

GRACE Y.P.S. MEETS.

MILLBROOK, January 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — The fiftieth anniversary of St. Andrew's Sunday School was observed on Sunday, January 1, with appropriate services morning and evening, the school meeting with the regular congregation at morning worship, the superintendent, W. Fred Fallis, and the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., being in charge.

Though the illness prevalent in the village and countryside depleted both choir and congregation, the report for the day showed twenty-one teachers and officers present, one hundred and seventy-two scholars, and an offering of $5.39. The anthem chosen by the choir was, "The Birthday of the King," and a quintette, "It came upon the midnight clear," was sung by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, W. H. Coombe, M McDowell, and J. L. Byam.

Kathleen Smith recited the first five commandments from memory, and the minister spoke on "The Adventure of Youth," basing his remarks on the story of David and Goliath, stressing the fact that the adventure into 1933 would be crowned with success in service for the Kingdom, and Christ-likeness of character if met with the courage, fearlessness and adherence to the ideals of faith, truth, justice, and righteousness that characterized the youth David, as he went to meet the Philistine giant.

The awards won during the year were presented by the superintendend, nine being present every Sunday: Thomas Douglas, Wesley Brown, and W. G. Roberts in the men's class; Ethel Forsyth in the Boneka Class; Stanford Brown and Orval Bonner in the Trail Rangers; Kenneth Little in Mrs. George Fallis' Class; Rred Brown in Miss Frances Jones' class, and Dorothy Smith in Miss Luxon's class.

Memory Work.

Selected passages had been chosen for memory work, 355 verses in all, and first and second prizes were given in each class, providing at least 150 verses had been recited. Dorothy Smith and Beatrice McDowell in Miss Luxon's class had said all the verses, also Esther Might, Marjorie McDowell and Kathleen Smith in Miss Jean Burnham's class; Elsie Theobald in Mrs. McDowell's class recited 225 verses; Margaret Smith in Mrs O Williamson's class, 180; Fred Brown and Robert Theobald had prizes in Miss F. Jones' class; Clendon Challice and Kenneth Little in Mrs. Fallis' class.

A special award is given each year to scholars who have learned the ten commandments perfectly and recited same not only to their teachers, but also before the school to the superintendent, through a legacy left by the late Rev. Joseph Wilks, other requirements affecting conduct both in and out of school, and regularity of attendance. Those to whom this award was presented on Sunday were: Elwood Fallis, Kathleen Smith, Margaret Smith, Elsie Theobald, Fred Brown, Kinneth Little, and Orval Bonner.

Every one of the fifty-four little folk on the roll of the Primary Department received a suitable book, and the secretary's report showed, for the quarter: Attendance 1,575, average 115; verses 987, average 7?; offerings $59.34, average $4.41. For the year the figures were: Attendance 7,712, average 148; verses 5,540, average 106; offering $279.25, average $5.37.

In the evening the men's choir led in the service of song, and the pastor gave an inspirational discourse, particularly to the teachers and officers of the Sunday School on the theme, "The Picture That Never Was Painted."

Pupils who received certificates for successfully passing on the temperance test papers were: Bernice Smith, Beatrice McDowell, Lenore Davis, Dorothy Smith, and Fred Brown, who had the highest standing.

Christmas Meeting.

The Young People's Society of Grace Presbyterian Church held its Christmas meeting on Thursday evening with a good attendance, the vice-president, Miss Vanita Ingram, taking the chair in the absence of the president, George McKnight.

Dick Williams took the devotional topic, and Tom Samuelson read the Scripture lesson; the literary topic was ably taken by Allan Hassett, who spoke on "The Life of Joseph Pattison," and the hymns were in keeping with the Christmas season.

After discussion it was decided to feature the program of the next meeting with a debate: "Resolved, That reading develops the mind more than observation." The decision was also arrived at that the Y.P.S. would begin the compilation of a library for the church. Miss Margaret Armstrong being appointed librarian and each family in the church to be asked to contribute at least two books.

The usual recreation and social hour was enjoyed at the close.

THE BOARD ELECTION.

There will be no new faces on the Board of Education as a result of yesterday's election, although J. A. McKone, who was among the successful candidates, has been absent from the board for some years.

A field of seven competed for the four places, and three old members, Dr. A. Moir, who headed the poll, E. F. Reid, who finished second, and I. P. McNabb were re-elected, while Mr. McKone replaces James Dutton, the fourth member of last year's board to face the electors.

A surprising feature was that, while Mr. McKone and two other candidates, William Tinker and J. E. Smith, ran on a joint platform of rigid economy, only the first named was successful, the electors obviously failing to support the economy ticket.

MR. SHIRLEY RE-ELECTED.

The predicted keen race for the Utilities Commission developed yesterday, and when the smoke had cleared away it was seen that E. R. Shirley, member of the commission for the past six years, had been given a fresh mandate.

E. G. Patterson was strongly supported and ran a good second, while J. J. McCabe was close behind in third place. E. B. Fowler, the fourth candidate in the field, was the only aspirant for the position who could be definitely called out of the race before most of the polls had been heard from.

No question of policy was involved in this contest, and while two of the challengers ran up big votes and the three polled a combined vote much greater than that of the successful candidate, Mr. Shirley's supporters made sure of his election by giving him a substantial vote throughout the city.

THE COUNCIL RESULTS.

Outside of the remarkable run made by a candidate before the public for the first time, the aldermanic contest yesterday developed no outstanding surprises.

Max Sloan, the first representative of the south ward to win a Council seat in years, had the distinction of heading the polls, polling a big vote all over the city. Ald. Sloan is a young man, a veteran of the Great War, and his initial experience in municipal politics has been a complete triumph.

He was picked by many to head the list of new men, but few were bold enough to predict that he would top the whole field.

Mr. Sloan will be the only man in this year's Council who is new to municipal life.

Ex-Ald. Malcolm McIntyre, a veteran alderman, who was defeated two years ago by Mayor Denne in a contest for the mayoralty, comes back to the aldermanic board with a splendid vote, while Ald. Hamilton, Holland and McNabb were returned for another term. They have all done good work in Council, and their re-election means that the city will have a thoroughly experienced aldermanic board for the current year.

A GOOD DAY'S WORK.

The Examiner is satisfied that the property-owners did a good day's work for Peterborough yesterday when they emphatically endorsed the De Laval and Raybestos by-laws.

It is gratifying to know that the common sense of the community can be depended upon to select the right course in matters of this kind, even at a time when depression and its consequences might cause a short-sighted view to be adopted.

The Examiner unhesitatingly supported the by-laws from the start, believing that they should receive the endorsaton of the property-owners because these industries on their record deserved well at the hands of the ratepayers, and secondly because we felt that it was necessary if Peterborough was to continue to hope for industrial expansion that the city's reputation for fair treatment for legitimate industries should be maintained.

It is gratifying, therefore, to find that property-owners in every section of the city overwhelmingly supported the by-laws and gave indisputable proof of their belief that industrial plants are necessary to the welfare and prosperity of this community.

Yesterday's action will make it easier for the city's representatives to deal with the heads of prospective new industries.

ANOTHER TERM FOR MAYOR DENNE.

As most people anticipated, the electors of Peterborough yesterday emphatically endorsed the record of Mayor Denne and gave him a fresh mandate to carry on at the head of civic affairs for another term, his sixth year in office in succession.

The Examiner could see no other result from the beginning, having every confidence that Mayor Denne's proven fitness for the position and the obvious desirability of retaining the advantage of his experience and intimate acquaintance with municipal problems in this period of unusual economic conditions would command the support of the majority of the electors.

There was no great issue to be decided; the election hinged simply on Mr. Denne's record as compared with his opponent's appeal for votes on an economy platform, and under the circumstances most of the voters could see no reason for making a change in leadership believing that this was not the time to try experiments.

The mayor's support came from all sections of the city, every polling subdivision giving him a majority, and from all classes of the population; and the substantial nature of his majority offers its own proof that the attempt to line up the workers of Peterborough in a solid phlanax in opposition to Mr. Denne was a failure. That might have been expected, for there was nothing in the mayor's record to warrant a suspicion that he has been or is inimical to labor; on the contrary, that record contains much to show that he has always been alive to the interests of the workers and has done a great deal for them.

Mayor Denne is to be congratulated upon the emphatic endorsation of himself and his performance in office given him by the electors. It is an honor to be elected mayor of a city such as this, but to be returned for a sixth term and at a time when depression conditions usually cause many people to hit out at the powers-that-be is indeed a tribute that His Worship undoubtedly appreciates, and for which he will endeavor to make adequate return by even harder work during the next twelve months.

Of his opponent, The Examiner has only this to say, that Ald. Tuggey has done good work as a member of the City Council, that he has not hesitated to oppose the majority round the aldermanic board when he felt the issue justified such opposition, and that with a year of his term as alderman still before him, he has an opportunity to contribute still more useful service in the deliberations of the Council. He chose to appeal to the people for promotion, that appeal has been answered decidedly in the negative, and we are sure that he will accept the verdict philosophically and will endeavor to make the balance of his term of value to the community.

JUST A FAIRY TALE.

In baseball parlance the rumored Canada-Russia barter proposition never got to first base.

Russian representatives in New York declare that such a fantastic scheme as trading Russian petroleum for 100,000 Canadian cattle and 10,000 hides was never thought of in official Russian circles.

Such a plan, they explain, is opposed to the Russian trade policy, which is to sell its products for cash and buy what it requires in long term credits.

It is unfortunate that some Canadian newspapers have given such prominence to this report and stirred up so many false hopes among Canadian farmers.

On the face of it, the transaction as reported did not look reasonable.

It was difficult to understand why the Russians, who have banned Santa Claus from their own country, should seek to give Canada such a Christmas gift as the purchase of 100,000 cattle at double the prevailing price.

There was no reason in the world for such generosity, and it is not surprising to find the whole story a pipe dream, given widespread publicity apparently in the hope that it might prove embarrassing to the Bennett Government.

It temporarily succeeded in that aim, for while Mr. Bennett was being condemned for blocking a plan that would benefit Canadian agriculture, he was being denounced in the Old Country for attempting to trade with Russia.

YOU HAVE TO READ BETWEEN THE LINES.

Elsewhere in to-day's issue appear two letters dealing with The Examiner's reference to a recent speech by W. H. Moore, M.P., in regard to the C.C.F.

One correspondent, writing over the nom de plume "Farmer," asks The Examiner to state "the exact clause or clauses in the C.C.F. program which state that in the event of a C.C.F. regime becoming an actual fact the farms of Canada will be taken from their owners and become state owned and operated."

Of course, we can do nothing of the sort because there is no such clause.

Does "Farmer" think that Mr. Woodsworth and his associates are such clumsy politicians that they would approach the farmers with a blunt statement that they proposed to take their farms away?

How many farm supporters could they hope to enlist by such a policy?

The C.C.F. leader has been in politics a long time, and he is too shrewd to expose the real nature of his prospective program.

For that reason the suggested name, "The Socialist Party of Canada," was abandoned, and instead we have the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, a cumbersome and high sounding title that serves to mask the Socialist aspect of the organization.

The farmer who does his own thinking will not miss the significance of that move, nor will he fail to grasp the fact that you cannot launch a Socialist program aimed at nationalized financing and industry and the elimination of private profits without eventually getting to the stage when Canada's basic industry, agriculture, will be brought under the operation of the same system.

Surely "Farmer" does not think that the profit element can be removed from other phases of Canadian activity, leaving only agriculture to be operated on the basis of private gain!

Socialism, once adopted—and the C.C.F. is a Socialist movement pure and simple, no matter what camouflage is used to hide it—the private ownership of farms is menaced; it is not so written in the program, but it is there for all who care to dig beneath the surface to read.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Well, it's a new year, but the same mayor.

Ald. Tuggey at least has the consolation of knowing that he is still a member of the Council.

Now that the elections are over, it is up to everybody to pull together for the good of the whole community during 1933.

Economy was the keynote of most of the candidates' pre-election announcement of policy. It remains to be seen now how the promises will be translated into action.

The mayor's New Year message to make 1933 a Peterborough year by buying made-in-Peterborough products is worth remembering.

Mayor Denne had a majority in every polling subdivision in the city, even Ald. Tuggey's home division, No. 28, in the north ward giving His Worship a good margin.

THE BROWSER

SOONER or later the Browser gets around to reading the books he should have read months ago....Sooner or later he catches up with other people and reads what they have been advising him to read....You know how it is. A book comes out and people tell him it's "grand" or it's "swell" or it's "bad" or it's "fascinating" and he doesn't like the description they give, or he does not trust their judgment or he's browsing in some other field at the time.

So he fails to read such a book as Rosamond Lehmann's "Invitation to the Waltz," which had its first printing 'way back in September, and which is one of the loveliest and truest books that ever passed under the old Browser's eyes....It's about a little English girl and her sister at her first grand ball up in the big house on the hill. That's all. But the writing is so fine and the touch is so sure and Rosamond Lehmann fits little things into great meanings in such a magical way that you know as you read that this is one book you'll not ever forget.

The Browser imagines women will get more from it than the men will, but the Browser was a youngster himself once, and he remembers the first formal dance he ever attended and the delights and agonies that attended him all through the evening .... So he knows how Olivia felt....And he hopes Henry Holt and company sell tens of thousands of copies....

The best sellers at present are Galsworthy's "Flowering Wilderness" (Nobel prize winner), Rosamond Lehmann's "Invitation to the Waltz" (imagine that!), Lloyd Douglas' "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" (forgive the Browser for not reading it yet), Maugham's "Narrow Corner" (a thrilling thing), Christopher Morley's "Human Being" (whimsey and pathos and deep understanding), and Phyllis Bentley's "Inheritance" (also a good novel)....Hendrik Van Loon's "Geography" has sold 100,000 copies and leads the non-fiction best sellers. He didn't learn English until he was 20. On the first page of that book he imagines the entire human race, nearly two billion of them, packed into a great box half a mile square and dumped over into the Grand Canyon. "Then silence and oblivion" and astronomers on distant and nearby planets noticing "nothing out of the ordinary" ....Imagine such a beginning....

The Browser saw a photograph of Ernest Hemingway, taken when he was in Montana last summer. He wore a fringed leather vest and a beard and needed his hair cut. He had a gun slung over his left shoulder and he was sitting between two sets of enormous elk horns, looking cheerful....

Mary Austin thinks she could have written a more amusing autobiography than "Earth Horizon" if she had been someone else than Mary Austin....

Sheila Hibben's "National Cookbook" (Harper & Brother) delighted even the Browser, who can hardly boil water but who does pride himself on making a good salad. You take the butt of a loaf of French bread and rub garlic on it, you put it in a large bowl and then you begin....Mrs. Hibbin says we cannot all have fur coats but we can all have soft omelets and savory soups.

Horatio Alger's 98th anniversary comes this month, Jan. 13. He was graduated from Harvard and became a Unitarian minister. One of his first books was "Bertha's Christmas Vision." Another was "Nothing to Do: A Tilt at Our Best Society." Afterwards came "Luck and Pluck" and "Tattered Tom."

The Browser thankfully observes that "boy's books" have improved immensely since Horatio stopped writing them....G. A. Henty was better than Alger, it seems to the Browser.

Scientists Aiming To Create 'Ape-Man'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Dec. 31—Scientists are conducting an unusual experiment in Turkestan, which they hope will lead to the creation of an "ape-man," Dr. Howell S. England, of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters of Detroit, told the Anthropological section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He said in the laboratory which has been established the scientists hope through the creation of apemen to ultimately produce a complete chain of specimens from the perfect anthropoid to the perfect man.

According to Dr. England, a Soviet scientist, Dr. Elie Ivanoff, is directing the experiments with nine adult female chimpanzees. The Soviet Government is reported to be financing the scheme.

MR. MOORE AND THE C.C.F.

The Editor,

Dear Sir,—In regard to your editorial "Mr. Moore's Question," may I say, that Mr. Moore has said many things that do more credit to his intelligence than the quotation referred to. In fact we all know Mr. Moore to be a keen student of economic and political affairs but even he sometimes descends to the level of the party hack. Another editor says, "As for Mr. W. H. Moore, he is guilty not only of the most childish misunderstanding but of absurd misrepresentation. Who, Mr. Moore excepted, ever suggested that the state, or that township councils should operate Canadian farms?" From my childhood I remember an old English saying, "Let us speak the truth though the heavens fall."

Yours truly,
E. M. Cook.

BUT IT IS IMPLIED

Eeditor, Examiner:—

With reference to your editorial in Wednesday's issue entitled "Mr. Moore's Question," I note that you have come to the conclusion that under a C.C.F. regime "individual ownership and operation of farms would by the boards.'

Also with reference to the farmer you ask "would he be better off under a plan that turned the management of his farm to the state."

For the benefit of the writer, as well as others who may be interested, will you kindly quote, in an editorial or otherwise, the exact clause or clauses in the C.C.F. program which state that in the event of a C.C.F. regime becoming an actual fact the farms of Canada will be taken from their owners, and become state owned and operated.

Your move, please.

Sincerely yours,
Farmer.

INVOICES PAID IN U.S. FUNDS

The Editor Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Quite recently the writer has had his attention drawn very forcibly to a condition which a very small percentage of the general public, are unaware, and as it is a matter that concerns their pocketbook, especially when making purchases, it is deserving of more than ordinary publicity.

I refer to the fact that many merchants, so as to be able to sell at a lower price to the consumer, search the markets of the world, locates a producer, say in some European country, and attempts to deal direct with him, thus avoiding a Broker or Commission Agent.

It may be fruits, or nuts from Spain, or lemons from Italy, or products from Greece, and although the goods are shipped from the country of origin direct to Canada, perhaps in Canadian vessels, yet the invonce has to be paid in New Yord funds, thus adding another 20 per cent to the cost.

In other words, a consignment that does not concern Uncle Sam in the least, does not enter his country, not even hauled over his railroads, is boosted one fifth its original cost, which has to be eventually borne by the consumer, just because we allow Unce Sam to manipulate our money market.

If we had real Statesmen, men who have the welfare of their country at heart sitting at Ottawa, they would soon see to it that we had a National Bank of Canada established, and all foreign currencies handled through that channel, all overseas drafts cleared through them, and function in a way that would avoid such financial holdups as we are experiencing at the hands of American financiers.

Why should we have to pay 20 per cent more on imported commodities just because those to the south of us say so.

Who is running this country of ours, we or the U.S.A.?

Thanking you for your valuable space, etc.

Yours very truly,
W. H. Howard.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 6

Nanette LeRoi received the news without even so much as the flicker of an eyelash. She met Jere Kane's eyes squarely, almost defiantly.

She said slowly, "I don't believe yo ."

This woman was an enigma. Kane thought, she thinks I'm trying to trap her into something. He said to her: "Mrs. Banning—pardon me, Miss LeRoi, I have just come from Richard Bailey's home. I saw him with my own eyes. A bullet had pierced his temple."

He realized that she had put him on the defensive, but that, just now, did not faze him at all. He had accomplished his purpose; he had wanted to break the news to her to see what her reaction would be and he frankly admiitted to himself that he was disapponted.

She said, slowly, ominously, "If Richard Bailey is dead the picture industry has lost a great man. If he was murdered he deserved it."

Holmes protested: "Nanette, what are you saying?"

"He couldn't play square if his life depended on it," she went on, ignoring the interruption. Love was his game, but he couldn't play it honestly."

She turned to her companion.

"We'd better leave, Rodolf," quietly. "It wouldn't be right for us to remain longer."

For the first time in his life Jere Kane was left speechless. Even when they left him he was only able to mutter his regrets that tragedy had again crossed her path. He watched her as she swept imperially out of the dining room. Still the queen, still the Eve in Eden, he thought.

Gay abandon no longer swayed the merrymakers gathered here tonight. Slowly, the crowd began to drift away, in twos and threes. Soon there were few left besides Kane.

But he did not notice. He was steeped in thought, trying vainly to find the key that would solve this puzzle which had presented itself to him. He could not bring himself to believe that Nanette LeRoi—he supposed it would be the proper thing to forget that she was ever Judy King or Judy Banning—was lying to him. Somehow, that did not fit in.

He became tense. What possessed him? What spell did this woman hold over him?

"I must be getting soft," he muttered viciously. "She could have told me who those three were. I, fool that I am, didn't ask her and why should she volunteer the information?"

He called the waiter and asked for a check.

"The check will be charged to Miss LeRoi's account," the waiter said.

Kane didn't protest. He hurriedly left and went to his own room. A moment later he had Inspector MacQuarrie on the wire.

"I've been a fool, inspector," Kane almost shouted into the instrument. "I've blundered again."

"Come down and talk it over with me, boy," MacQuarrie said, not unkindly.

"I'll be right down," Kane replied, and slammed up the receiver. He ascertained the number of the inspector's room and was about to leave when the telephone rang. Almost viciously he answered it.

"This is Sergeant Henry at headquarters," the voice came over the wire. "Chief Lee wants to know if you can come down right away."

"What's the trouble?" Kane demanded, impatiently.

"He has some people here he wants you to meet."

"Who are they?"

"I don't know. Two women and a man. They said they were at Richard Bailey's home tonight."

"I'll be right down."

Kane grabbed his hat and rushed to MacQuarrie's room. Briefly, he explained about the call from the chief. The inspector good naturedly muttered something about Los Angeles trying to steal him from New Orleans, but agreed to accompany him.

Outside the hotel they hailed a taxicab and directed the driver to take them post haste to police headquarters. Once under way, Kane turned to his friend.

"I've had a talk with Nanette LeRoi, and—"

"You what?" MacQuarrie exploded, unable to believe his ears.

"I've had a talk with Nanette LeRoi," he reiterated. "She's an old friend of ours."

Quickly he told of the meeting in the lobby, of Nanette's royal entry into Hollywood, of the trick he had played in having Bailey's death announced in the dining room, of his conversation with her.

They fell silent a the cab threaded its way through the late evening traffic down Hill street toward the silver shaft reared toward the heavens that is Los Angeles' city hall. Presently the cab drew up in front of police headquarters, across the street from the towering structure, and they disembarked, paid their fare and went inside.

An inquiry brought a uniformed patrolman, who led them into Chief Lee's office. He met them in an anteroom.

"Luck's with us," he laughed. "I've got the three who were out there tonight."

Kane looked inquiringly at him.

"They came to me," the chief went on. "They are scared to death."

He led them into his private office. A quick glance convinced Kane that the chief had spoken the truth. They were fear stricken.

One was presented as Lillian Hull. She was a winsome little creature, with a wealth of blonde bobbed hair, wide blue eyes, rose-hued cheeks, pert little nose, and a mouth that was round and full.

The other woman, considerably older, Kane learned, was Lucy Wilbur. Although she had long since passed the time when she could play girl roles, she was still young enough and pretty enough to attract attention, even in a crowd where there were other beautiful women.

The man, plainly, had lived a life of dissipation. His hair, just turning gray, was thin and straggly. His eyes were bead-like and suspicious. A sallow complexion emphasized his sagging jowls and curling lips. This was Larry Weldon, a director and character man

Lee attempted to put them at ease. "Mr. Kane," he told them, "is a special operative of the police department assigned to the Bailey ca e. This is Inspector MacQuarrie, of the New Orleans department."

Weldon exclaimed anxiously, "We had to come to see you, chief, as soon as we heard of Bailey's—death. We don't want to get mixed up—"

"Of course not," Kane put in reassuringly. "Self-preservation is the first law of nature."

"Sure it is," Weldon agreed enthusiastically. Obviously, he had been selected as spokesman for the trio.

Kane addressed Lillian Hull. "What time did you leave Bailey's home?"

"He was alive when we left," Wel on declared.

"I was addressing Mi s Hull," sharply.

"I—I'm not sure," the actress replied, hesitantly. "It must have been before nine o'clock."

"Of course," Kane commented, dryly.

"Now, see here," Weldon began, "I tell you we didn't have anything to do with that affair and—"

"Who said you did?" Kane snapped. "If you will just answer our questions you will get away from here much quicker."

The director wilted. Lillian Hull glanced at him in a frightened sort of way, but he paid no attention.

"Who else was there when you left?" Kane asked.

There was no answer.

Chief Lee took a hand in the proceedings. He said grufflly, "Either you will answer the questions put to you or you will be locked up until you have a chance to think it over. Use your own judgment."

The two women exchanged glances. Weldon stared moodily at the floor, seemingly unwilling to speak. The amateur d tective waited patiently.

It was Lucy Wilbur who broke the silence. She leaned forward; her eyes shone wildly; the corners of her mouth twitched.

"There was someone else there," she exclaimed. "Bailey chased us off when she came—"

"Nanette LeRoi?" Kane demanded quickly.

"Yes."

Weldon leaped to her and clapped his hand over her mouth. "Shut up, you fool," he snarled. "What are you saying?"

Lucy Wilbur shook herself free.

"I don't care!" she screamed. "I'm not going to hang for what somebody else did. If it was Nanette LeRoi—"

Weldon, who but a moment before had resembled nothing so much as a whimpering dog afraid of being beaten, was suddenly transformed into a frenzied mad man. His hands went to the woman's throat, gripping them until she gasped for breath. His face was distorted with rage. The veins on his throat stood out like huge purple canals.

Lillian Hull turned deathly pale, and then she fainted.

Kane was galvanized into instant action. He leaped upon Weldon and dragged him off the weakening woman. Holding him with his arms pinned behind him, he turned to the chief:

"This man must be locked up," he said.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

On this date, 133 years ago there took place at York (Toronto) one of the famous duels in Canadian history. John White was attorney-general for Upper Canada (the first); John Small was clerk of the executive council. They and their families had been close friends. During the festive Christmas season of 1799, White made use of language concerning Mrs. Small that must, according to the ethics of the time, lead to the death of either himself of Mrs. Small's natural defender. The language was inexcusable if untrue, more so if true, and White must have known (if he was himself) the inevitable result. The occasion of the shameful language is not known. The language, as given in the letters of William Jarvis, then provincial secretary, is of the most offensive character, and no greater insult can be imagined. Small promptly challenged White—a challenge which could not be declined and which must lead to the gravest consequences. White was under no misapprehension as to the seriousness of the situation. The day before that set for the duel he made his will. The two duellists met on January 3, 1800, in Government park, in a grove behind the Government building on Palace street (now Front street). White fell, shot in the body, the bullet passing between the second and third ribs on the right side. In the then state of medical science the wound was almost necessarily fatal. White was carried to his home and there died after 36 hours of agony. Small was tried for murder at York January 20 before Mr. Justic Allcock and a jury, the foreman being William Jarvis. The verdict was "not guilty." Mrs. White and her children were left in a state of poverty, for, though White had shared in the lavish hands-out of crown lands to public officials, there was no market for it. Those who desire further details about this strange figure in the early history of Upper Canada will find an article by Mr. Justice Riddell in Ontario Historical Papers, volume XXIII.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (A.P.)—Another of the problems that bother blind folk has been solved. The first cheque ever written in "Braille" has been cashed by the Bank of Manhattan Company. Augustine J. Smith, philanthropist, who wanted to conduct the experiment, had the cheque drawn in the raised writing and bank officials decided it was "in writing signed by the maker" and therefore was legal.

IN MEMORIAM.

IVISON.— In loving memory of Elizabeth Ivison, who departed this life January 2, 1932.

Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile;
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright.

If sick or suffering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
No thought of self, but of "the other";
I know He said, "Well done," dear mother.

—Sadly missed by Husband.

IN MEMORIAM.

IVISON.— In loving memory of Elizabeth Ivison, who departed this life January 2, 1932.

Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.

We miss that light, and ever will;
Her vacant place there's none to fill;
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.

—Sadly missed by daughter and Son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blodgett.

UNCERTAINTY IN WORLD OUTLOOK FOR NEW YEAR

Difficulties Are Inevitabe, But Rev. W. Harold Young Gives a Message of Encouragement.

TALKS TO ROTARY.

Club Members Are Advised to Take Courage from Life Stories of Famous Men.

"There never has been a New Year when the world looked forward to the months that lie ahead with a greater sense of absolute uncertainty than the present one," declared Rev. W. Harold Young of Toronto in an eloquent New Year's message to the members of the Peterborough Rotary club at its weekly luncheon today. It was impossible for any one to say definitely, Rev. Mr. Young asserted whether 1933 would bring increasing evidences of a returning prosperity or on the other hand would see the collapse of our civilization. The one certain thing was that trials and difficulties were to be expected.

Mr. Young's message was a challenge to face such a situation resolutely. He recalled to the memory of his hearers the wonderful example of will power and courage arising over unparalleled difficulties set by such men as Henry Fawcett and Horatio Nelson. Vividly he told the story of Fawcett, blinded in youth, but in spite of that terrible handicap becoming first a driving force at Cambridge University and then entering politics to become postmaster general and give the British people the great boon of penny postage. Then followed a description of Nelson's early days, a graphic recital of this puny, frail youth, fever ridden, shipped home to England as an invalid at least four times, suffering injuries to his eyes that cost him the sight of one, losing his arm as the result of a battle wound, and yet finally winning through to the command of the British fleet and to the great victory at Trafalgar.

These examples of a triumph over great obstacles he commended to his hearers as bearing their lesson for the present generation in the hard times they are facing. There were several things that should be remembered, he said, first that there was a possibility even in these difficult days to make a splendid contribution toward the welfare of others, second it should not be forgotten that other people had confidence in us and in our ability to accomplish something and lastly the thought inspired by the story of Dr. Grenfell's experience when he drifted out to sea on an ice floe that on the cliffs of eternity there were eyes watching us and those who did not forget.

Mr. Young was introduced by Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin while on the motion of Rotarian R. F. Downey a standing vote of thanks was tendered the speaker.

A most enjoyable musical interlude was furnished by Miss Marion Ralston whose fresh young soprano voice was most advantageously displayed in the number "Hand O Mine" and who in response to enthusiastic applause delighted the club with a fine rendition of "Cherry Ripe". Miss Olive Prest acceptably played the accompaniment.

It was announced that the Toronto Rotary Club would pay an inter-city visit to Peterborough the week after next.

FRESH ELECTION STIRS TROUBLE

De Valera's Move for Mandate for Complete Independence to be Bitter Fight.

DUB POLICY "FANTASTIC."

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Jan. 3 (C.P. Cable). — "President Eamon de Valera is crowning his period of disservice to Ireland by plunging her into a general election," commented the Liberal Evening Star to-night on the decision of the Republican Government of the Irish Free State to seek a clear majority in a fresh general election.

"There is no hoop that Ireland's ringmaster won't make her jump through to divert attention from his fantastic policy," The Star added.

And a similar thought runs through British comment generally on President De Valera's swift move in Dublin. It is expected the fight will be one of the most bitter in the Free State, that the stress of the campaign will see Mr. De Valera all out for a mandate for complete independence.

"One thing is certain," commented The Evening News, "the Free State electors now know where they stand and where Mr. De Valera stands. If they again select him as their political bedmaker, they cannot complain because of crumbs in the bed."

Five Men Will Die For Murder of Boy

KOLESNIKOVO, U.S.S.R., Jan. 3.—(A.P.) — Five men were sentenced to death to-day for the murder of a 13 year old boy who had exposed them to the authorities as "class enemies."

The case was an almost exact parallel of the recent murder of two young brothers in the nearby village of Gerasimovka under similar circumstances. Thirteen year old Nikolai Miakotin was waylaid and shot to death by Kulask, independent farmers, whom he had accused of stealing produce and property from the collective farms.

Local friends of Frank Record, a former resident of Peterborough, received word recently of his sudden death at Owen Sound. He was walking on the road near his home guiding a team when a car crashed into him. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Record and was born at Peterborough fifty-five years ago. His funeral took place from St. Mary's Catholic church, Owen Sound. He is survived by a wife and eight children.

A disastrous fire occurred last night at 9.30 o'clock in S. Polito's fruit store, Kent street, which was completely gutted. The fire started from a stove in the living quarters in rear of the store and the stock was completely destroyed. The loss, it is estimated, will be in the several thousand dollars.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 3. (CP)— Still uncertain about the outlook, listings on the Toronto Stock Exchange moved cautiously on the opening trading day of the New Year. Price movements were irregular, most of the strength appearing among the shares not interlisted. Volume is still low.

Walkers Common was a weak spot with the price receding to 5½. Some of the bank shares firmed up, Royal gaining two points and Toronto a point. The Canada Permanent and Huron & Erie in the Trust group dropped a couple of points each.

Trading was fair in B.A. and Imperial with quotations receding a small fraction and International Pete was down a quarter point to 11½.

At the close the interlisted shares were off a little from Saturday's level. C.P.R. finishing at 19, Brazilian at 9⅜, Nickel at 9¼ and Smelters at 61½, while Ford was unchanged at 7¼.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, January 3 (C.P.). — The Standard Mining Market started the New Year with a general marking up of prices and not only the December favorites but several issues that have lain dormant for months, broke into action. Gold is still the moving force behind the buying and outside of th gold shares Ventures is the only issue to show particular strength.

Siscoe raced up to 1.39 to-day, but fell back under profit selling to close at 1.36. Accumulation of Teck-Hughes was resumed and the price climbed to 1.21 up 16. The high-priced gold shares held firm.

In the Base Metal group Nickel could not get going, and in light volume it fell back 2 0to 9.10. Noranda did much better, but buying volume was still low.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, January 3 (C.P.).—Stocks drifted lazily into the late trading to-day, small declines somewhat exceeding slight gains. Case was down a point, while American Tobacco B and Liggett & Myers B were up as much. Small losses occurred in Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Allied Chemical, American Can, Dupont, U.S. Steel, American Telephone, and National Biscuit. Consolidated Gas, Corn Products, General Motors, and International Harvester were slightly higher.

Transfers approximated 500 000 shares.

WINNIPEG EXCHANGE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 3 (C.P.) — Wheat got away to a good start today and gains of about ¾c were recorded, but at the high points profit-taking developed and half of the early gain were wiped out. At midsession futures were ⅝ to ½ higher. May was quoted at 44¾ and July at 45¼.

Firm overseas cables, together with early reports that a fair export business had been worked in Canadian wheat over the holiday accounted chiefly for the advance. Most of the support was credited to houses with seaboard and continental connections while Chicago interests were in on both sides of the market. Trading for the most part was dull and traders with the passing of the first hour appeared to be marking time pending new developments.

Liverpool wheat displayed a steady tone from the start and quotations shortly after mid-session were ½d higher per 100 lbs.

World wheat shipments for the past week totalled slightly more than 9,500,000 bushels, of which nearly 5,000,000 bushels was of North American origin.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Jan 3.—Prime Commercial paper 1¼ per cent; foreign exchange steady, demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, other in cents) Great Britain 3.33½; France 3.90 3-16; Italy 5.11½; Germany 23.81; Canada 88.62½.

CHICAGO GRGAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 (A.P.) — Material upturns in grain values here took place early to-day. The Liverpool wheat market showed decided strength, and further stimulus was announcement that the grain stabilization corporation would not sell its holdings of wheat future. Opening ¼-⅝ higher, wheat afterward reacted somewhat. Corn started ⅛-⅜ up and subsequently held near the initial range.

PLENTY OF OFFERS

NEW YORK.—To the 51 people who have written her offering her babies to adopt, Mrs. Hugo O'Connor says, "No, thank you." Mrs. O'Connor some time ago decided to adopt an infant found on the doorstep of her brother-in-law. Legal complications arose, and Mrs. O'Connor is suing for the child. When the news came out, Mrs. O'Connor was flooded with offers.

Mannish little deb type tailored suits will be worn for spring. The youngsters are wild about them.

New Year's Eve Party Fatal to C.P.R. Section Man

FRED FLETCHER IS FOUND DEAD; TWO MEN HELD

Dies From Fractured Skull at New Year's Eve Party.

CONSIDERABLE MYSTERY

Police Alleged Deceased Man Was Struck at Head of Stairs.

In the midst of a bacchic revel to celebrate the advent of the New Year, Fred Fletcher, aged 38, C.P.R. section man, received a blow on the head which fractured his skull and caused his death sometime early Sunday morning.

Stretched out on a sofa in the kitchen of the home of Robert S. Condie, 306 Aylmer street, the place in which the alleged drunken revel took place, Fletcher's dead body was found at 10 o'clock Sunday morning by police, who answered the call put through by Condie. Fletcher's head and face was smeared in blood from a deep gash at the back of his head, his face was disfigured by a black eye and a swollen nose.

Considerable Mystery.

Mysterious circumstances, which police are endeavoring to unravel, surround Fletcher's death. Dr. Herbert Young, assistant coroner, and Dr. S. W. Fitzpatrick held a post mortem investigation Sunday afternoon and decided that death was due to a fracture at the base of the skull. An inquest has been ordered for Wednesday evening.

Condie and Harold Kenyon, a boarder at the house, are held in connection with the affair.

Others at the New Year's eve party at which liquor flowed freely, according to police, were Anthime Lessier and Lorenzo Coulombie. Condie as head of the house was host, while the other four men, including Fletcher, boarded or roomed at the establishment.

Mrs. Condie, formerly Mrs. Emma McGill, was not in the house at the time, being confined to hospital for the past few days.

The drinking started early, according to information gained by police. About midnight the debauch reached its height in frenzy.

It was then that the drunken brawl occurred in which Fletcher received the blow that caused his death. Fletcher entered into an argument with Condie and Kenyon, police say, and a scuffle took place at the stair landing on the second floor. Fletcher was pushed, knocked or stumbled downstairs, according to the stories gained by police.

With blood streaming from the wound in his head, he was carried to the sofa in the kitchen by his drunken companions where he lay unconscious.

Condie and the others continued drinking far into the night. Condie states that when he went to bed about 3 o'clock in the morning Fletcher was alive. When he arose in the morning at 8 o'clock he found that Fletcher was dead.

However, it was not until 9.50 that Condie phoned police. Explaining the delay, Condie, according to police, said that he and the three boarders held a consultation as to what to do with the body and whether or not to inform police.

All four men were taken in custody by police. Two of them were still in a badly intoxicated condition. Police have had difficulty in securing any kind of true story of what took place, since all four men tell very varied tales of the night's happenings.

Fletcher was born at Alnwick, Lancashire, England, where it is believed that his mother still resides. He served in the World War with the Imperial army and sometime after came to Canada. He joined the C.P.R. as section man about four years ago, working first at Manvers, later Indian River, and coming to this city two years ago. Police are endeavoring to get in touch with his relatives in England.

Filed Away

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Jan. 3. (AP).—Sheboygan police found a burglar suspect neatly filed away in a drawer.

An officer heard him break into the A. J. Schmidler drug store. The policeman shot and captured a man posted as a lookout. Then a squad surrounded the store. Fixtures and stock provided so many hiding places that officers decided to "smoke out" their quarry with tear gas, which they spread through the hot air heating system.

No burglar was forthcoming, so a painstaking search of the store was made. Cuddled up in a drawer in the prescription department, almost unconscious from gas, was Christ Neuwirth, 20.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Returning to School.

It is learned that the three children, the eldest of whom is about fourteen years, had concluded a holiday, which had been spent with their grandparents as was the annual custom. They were due to return to their studies at Queen Mary School, Peterborough, this morning, and had set off with their grandparents for the return trip to the city in high spirits.

Mr. Thompson, muffed in a big fur coat, sat at the driving wheel. His wife and ten-year-o'd grandson William, sat beside him in the cab of the vehicle. Hilda and Patrica, the other grandchildren, were accommodated at the rear of the truck.

Striking across the lake in a south-easterly direction en route to McCracken's Landing and Peterborough, the truck followed a trail that had been made by other automobile traffic during the past few weeks of cold weather. The truck had gone for a distance of about three miles, and was within a mile or less of the landing, when the driver observed a large fissure in the ice some distance ahead.

Mrs. Thompson and the boy alighted, walking ahead of the slowly moving vehicle to select a safer route.

With a sharp warning cracking and rending, the ice suddenly caved in and the truck was precipitated into the icy water. Mr. Thompson was trapped in the cab, his movements doubtless hampered by the fur coat he was wearing. The two girls managed to leap on to firm ice. The tragic occurrence was witnessed by a man who was at work on the wharf at McCracken's Landing. At some risk to himself he set out across the lake in his car to render assistance.

Walked Back Home.

The terror-stricken survivors of the fatality refused the proferred lift in the automobile, preferring to walk back the three miles across the ice to the hotel. They arrived home in a terribly distraught condition, Mrs. Thompson being virtually incoherent and prostrate with grief.

Volunteers hurried to the scene of the disaster and dragging operations were commenced immediatley. Early in the afternoon a number of men grappled the truck and succeeded in raising it to within about five feet of the surface.

Frederick Kiff, the Government diver who arrived shortly after the truck had been raised, descended to investigate the wreck. The body of Mr. Thompson was not in the cab of the vehicle. The doors were closed tight, but the open window on the driving side bore mute testimony to the struggle that Mr. Thompson had made in an unsuccessful attempt to save himself. Efforts to recover the body were renewed to-day.

Mr. Thompson was widely known to summer visitors to the Kawartha Lakes, and was held in high regard He had conducted a boat service connecting with the busses from Peterborough , and was for some time mail contractor. Some years ago he had a narrow escape from drowning in a motor boat accident at Clear Lake.

Besides his wife, Mr. Thompson is survived by one son, W. Roy Thompon of Peterborough, and three daughters Miss Bessie Thompson of Long Island, N.Y., Mrs. Charles Blezard of Toronto, and Miss Annie at home.

Hollywood is interested in the attentions that Johnny Weissmuller, noted swimmer and now a film actor, has been paying to Lupe Velez, Mexican screen star. The couple is shown dancing at a leading hotel in Agua Caliente, which has been frequented by a number of the film celebrities during the Christmas holidays.

If Ireland could float, he would tow it away from England.

If England would sink, he might scuttle it.

He is That Man de Valera.

The man in black. The man of Erin—and of ire.

Once he escaped from a British prison. Now he says "No!" to the right honorables of the British cabinet.

Half Spanish.

Half Irish.

No. He had nothing to do with the Spanish revolution. For some reason he is interested ony in a projected Irish one.

So is his wife. Miss Flanagan of Balbriggan, when they married in 1910.

She was a teacher of the Irish tongue at Leinster College. Now she shares his passion for the Republican cause.

Visit the de Valeras at Elm Villa, Serpentine Avenue, Dublin, Irish Free State.

Soon, they hope, Elm Villa, Serpentine Avenue, Dublin, Irish Republic.

Or perhaps the whole name will be in Gaelic then.

Mrs. de Valera, like Rachele Musolini, like Mrs. Bernard Shaw, is the helpmate whom nobody knows.

She has given him long years of advice, help, sympathy. She has given him seven children.

And he needs her. The fanatic, the ascetic, needs her.

Elm Villa is a simple Irish home. There is solace there, and refuge.

But today he is too busy to go home every night. And in the Dail building he has a bedroom and a sitting room.

The bedroom is furnished most meagrely. Over the iron bedstead hangs a crucifix.

The sitting room contains little but a piled desk.

Then there is the official president's room. There sits Eamon de Valera, saturnine even in repose.

Strange that both he and Gandhi —his Oriental counterpart—are ugly men.

When he stands up you are struck by his tall gauntness. By the untidy lank hair. By the funereal demeanor intensified by the high white collar and the black clothes.

Dark, sombre, gray-brown eyes look at you through horn-rimmed spectacles.

His speech is disappointing. He compels by the force behind his words—not by their eloquence.

So, like Gandhi, he has become a legend. Peasants in remote districts visualize him as a hero.

In private life he talks incessantly, yet in jerks. A few words are almost whispered. Then comes a commanding sentence.

He walks, too, in jerks. His long strides are punctuated with sudden turns of head and body.

Yet his manners are courtly and "old-fashioned". Maybe his Spanish blood accounts for them.

Maybe it also accounts for his lack of humor.

De Velera invites very few people to Elm Villa. Only those in whom he has great trust. Only those who in turn believe in his sincerity.

Music and literature, to interest him keenly, must be Irish. He is a keen student of history, particularly of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

A professor of history is always assured of a welcome—even though he be English.

Old Irish melodies give him keen pleasure. He loves to listen to daughter Maureen's clean young voice.

She trills what the British call mournful dirges, and what the Irish know to be soft, wailing Erse folk songs.

To him the greatest of all music will always remain the Irish tongue, yet, despite his efforts, it is dying, slowly but surely.

On de Valera's walls hang paintings by Velasquez and Murillo. Those of Murillo satisfy not only his sense of beauty, but his spirit of religious devotion.

De Valera is a devout Catholic. He rises at 6.30. And he goes to mass nearly every morning.

And all earthly pleasures are taboo to him.

He neither drinks nor smokes. He eats sparingly. And it matters little what he eats.

Mrs. de Valera would tell you that he likes best a simple dish of bacon and eggs, with potatoes.

Many of his meals are vegetarian.

In London for a conference, he asks for a couple of chops, to save time and trouble.

He attacks his food ravenously. It is gone before he can have realized what he has eaten.

But that is not a sign of hunger. It shows his desire to get anything as unimportant as a meal over quickly.

Mrs. de Valera takes no direct part in politics. The children do.

Vivian de Valera was an orator at the age of twelve.

He addresses meetings with the tormented fire of Eamon himself: "Ireland will be free from sea to sea . . . despite all foreigners"

You are probably one of those foreigners.

Vivian is now at the university. So is Maureen. They will take up the fight when father falls. The other children are still at school.

With them, de Valera's fanaticism vanishes. He is softer, gentler.

Why, he becomes jolly! He laughs. They laugh. And they are seen to love him.

Outdoors with the children, onlookers say: "He's just a wee broth of a boy himself."

Warm Irish hearts swell with loyalty to him.

He can lead those hearts. Those hearts lead their respective heads.

Hence the "Irish situation".

It all comes back to That Man de Valera.

MOIR, McKONE

Nabb fifth with 54. With the exception of Tinker, the first return proved to be a fair indication of the general trend. As the poll returns continued to come in, eyes were focussed not so much on the returns of the leaders of the list as on those of the candidates battling it out for fourth place. It was a close contest between McNabb and Dutton as the polls come in, and only the final half dozen returns decided it. At times Tinker led the totals for fourth position in the list, but Smith's defeat seemed certain from the first.

Economy

In seeking election, Dr. Moir, Reid and McKone urged the need for economy in the operations of the Board during the coming year. McKone expressed the view that considerable economy might be effected through a revision of the present night school system.

The Board of Education for the coming year will consist of Dr. J. J. Craig, Dr. Ray Scott, Mrs. W. R. Morris, J. R. Marshall, W. J. Hancock, along with the four men elected yesterday. It is considered likely that Reid will be chosen chairman for the year.

pluralties, being beaten in the tenth only by James Hamilton, still he had sure support in all wards. Practically throughout the city he was either out in front or well up with the leaders. In fact so surely did his vote pile up that his election was conceded early by the group of municipal campaigners who gathered in the committee rooms at the City Buildings to hear the results come in.

In the same manner McIntyre's own bailiwick, the north ward, bore him along on the crest of many votes. But he, too, received substantial support from all quarters.

With Hamilton reporting strong in both the centre and west wards and standing up well in other sections, his success was assured early.

Support Changes

The East Ward failed to support Holland as it did at his two former elections, Ellis usurping his position as the leader in Ashburnham. It was Ellis' strength in East City that made him such a strong contender against McNabb. McNabb failed to get any special support from any particular quarter, but he rallied strongly toward the end, the West Ward giving him the votes that sent him up ahead of Ellis.

The first poll to give a return in the aldermanic race was subdivision 11 in the City Buildings and the time was 5.45. It results were: Bell 19, Benton 15, Ellis 43, Goodfellow 39, Hamilton 75, Henderson 40, Holland 49, McIntyre 57, McNabb 40, O'Brien 57 and Sloan 57.

Returns Were Late

However, owing to the large number of candidates and the fact that there were elections in all branches of the municipal arena, together with the inexperience of many of the deputy-returning officers, many of whom were doing their duties at the polling booths having been selected from the unemployed, the results were very slow in coming in. Different from other years when the returns were practically all reported an hour and a half after the polls closed there were still divisions unreported at 10 o'clock. No. 2 and No. 7 polls in the South Ward were the worst offenders in this respect.

The tardy way in which the returns were reported detracted much from the interest of the election, although throughout there was a large number of interested persons gathered in the city buildings.

There were no speeches from the successful candidates, perhaps due to the lateness of the hour.

W. J. DUNCAN IS ELECTED

Gains Majority of 99 Over John Currie for Reeveship of Seymour.

1,019 VOTES CAST.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 3. — (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) —William J. Duncan was elected by the township of Seymour as reeve of the township at the annual municipal elections held yesterday, defeating his opponent, John Currie, with a 99 majority, a good margin in an election which was keenly contested and which featured 1019 votes cast out of a total of approximately 1600.

The two candidates held the polling divisions even, each gaining four out of eight, but the margins given Mr. Duncan were larger and in one instance doubled the vote of the defeated candidate, John Currie.

Reeve Duncan has served for four years in the township council, two years as councillor and the last two years as Deputy Reeve, and his ultimate step to the reeveship was considered as a matter of course. During his two years term as a member of the Counties' Council he has taken a keen interest in the old age pensions situation, being elected last year, chairman of that committee.

Mr. Currie, who polled 460 votes against his opponentt's 559, is an old war horse, and although not active in municipal politics for many years has been in the township council and has in his day been reeve of the council.

The council was elected by acclamation and is as follows:—Deputy Reeve W. S. Milne; Councillors Thos. Fry, Frank Lee and Wm. Roe.

The following is the vote by school sections in the township:—

S.S. No	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Tot.
Duncan	142	37	95	92	53	41	27	72	559
Currie	64	67	70	33	73	73	33	47	460

C. H. CURTIS IS REEVE OF PERCY; C. J. BOYCE NEW DEPUTY-REEVE

Township Delegation May Visit Counties Council

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent) —Although nothing definite as yet is known, there is general talk in the township of Seymour that a delegation of the residents of that section may approach the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham at their January session and request that action be taken to improve the county roads in the Township. There are twenty-seven miles of county roads in Seymour, running from Havelock to Campbellford and from Campbellford to Hoards, and it is the general opinion that these highways are in a bad condition compared with the money that have been spent on them. This is estimated at about $200 a mile.

At the township nominations held on December 26, many farmers present voiced their opinion regarding the bad shape of the county highways and considerable discussion took place regarding this.

Question of Extending Warkworth Boundary an Issue in Elections.

W. H. NELSON COUNCILLOR

WARKWORTH, Jan. 3.—C. H. Curtis was elected reeve of Percy township, defeating Reeve Alfred Merrill by a majority of 292.

C. J. Boyce displaced James Lamey for the deputy-reeveship by a majority of 398.

The members of the council were elected by acclamation as follows: W. H. Nelson, U. E. Wartman and R. R. Mallory.

Reeve-elect Curtis was deputy-reeve when W. H. Nelson was the township's reeve and Warden of the county. Mr. Boyce was promoted from the council ranks to the deputy's position.

Percy township sends two new representatives to the counties council next year. One of the factors effecting this change was the controversy over the extension of the boundary of Warkworth village, a question that had been submitted to the counties council three times.

The results of the polling at the various subdivisions were:

WESLEY PACEY ELECTED.

Wesley Pacey succeeds Gordon Parker as reeve of Alnwick township. The members of the council are: Bert Thackeray, Ed. George, Harry Mouncey and Wm. Murphy.

MURRAY TOWNSHIP

WOOLER, Jan. 3.—One of the surprises in the municipal elections in Northumberland county yesterday was the defeat of Deputy-reeve Sam Milligan by former deputy-reeve Herman Morrow by the margin of 240 votes.

Ernest Ireland was elected deputy-reeve by acclamation, and the results for council, the three highest being elected, were C. V. Crosby, 469; W. A. Smith, 443; W. J. Johnston, 426; and D. S. Austin, 298, and J. Dalmas, 255.

Mr. Morrow was in the county council several years ago as deputy to this year's retiring Warden N. R. Hartt.

BRIGHTON TOWNSHIP

Reeve J. K. Denyes and Deputy-reeve J. F. George were re-elected by acclamation.

CRAMAHE TOWNSHIP

In Cramahe township Deputy-reeve Roy Darling challenged Reeve Chas. Quinn for the senior position and was defeated by 166 votes.

Reeve Quinn and Roy Darling have been Cramahe's representatives in the county council for some years, and Mr. Darling decided some time ago that he might as well try for the reeveship as to continue in the deputy's position. Reeve Quinn's majority of 166 is an indication of his strength in the township.

Leslie Campbell was elected deputy-reeve by acclamation, and the three members of the council who were also returned without opposition are George Walker, Gordon Honey and Robert Chatterson.

Cooper Elected

Although only two offices were filled by the municipal election that was held in Cobourg yesterday, it was by no means an uninteresting event in civic life. Keen interest centred on the contest for reeve between W. J. Corbett, deputy reeve for 1932, and W. E. Cooper, the latter being elected Reeve by a majority of 27. This election leaves Cobourg's council for 1933 in this position. John Delenty, mayor, elected by acclamation. Mr. Delenty was reeve for 1932.

W. E. Cooper, reeve; Maurice Booth, deputy reeve (acclamation) and ex-mayor W. J. Maher and Archie Russell councillors, they being the only two who qualified out of some twenty nominations.

A. J. MEYERS ELECTED TO HYDRO BOARD

James Blue, Seeking Re-election to Commission, Beaten by 73 Votes.

AT CAMPPBELLFORD.

W. Roy Loucks, Dr. H. O. Richardson and Dr. O. C. Watson Elected School Trustees.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 3 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — In an election that was closely and keenly contested A. J. Meyers was elected a member of the Campbellford Water and Light Commission Board yesterday when he defeated James Blue, who was seeking re-election by 73 votes. The term of office is for two years.

Another surprise in the election was the large vote polled by W. Roy Loucks, the new candidate to the Public School Trustees' Board, who drew a vote of 651. The other two re-elected were Dr. H. O. Richardson and Dr. O. C. Watson; Dr. H. B. Longmore, the fourth candidate, failing to gain election. Dr. Longmore was seeking re-election to the board, the three doctors having served on the board for several years together.

In the fight for Commissioner Meyers won in three out of the four wards, including that in which he resides. The preliminaries in this contest had been marked by a keen interest and was featured by the interchange o several statements to the electors from both candidates. Commissioner Blue had served two years on the board, during which time much change and alteration has been made to the system and several economies effected.

Mr. Meyers, the newly-elected commissioner, goes to the board, however, with five years' experience, having been a member of it by virtue of his office as mayor of the town of Campbellford during that period. A qualified engineer by training he will take his knowlege to the board, which should prove of great advantage to that body.

In this vote 899 votes were polled against the total number of votes of the municipality which are 1,626.

Gains Heavy Lead

In the race for Public School Trustees, Roy Loucks was nominated from S.S. No. 8 Seymour, and gained a heavy lead of 271 votes over his nearest opponent, Dr. Richardson.

Dr. Watson came third in the race, Dr. Longmore being low with 331 votes. The vacancies on the board only numbered three, four being in the contest.

The mayor and council were elected by acclamation and are as follows: Mayor H. N. Carr; Reeve, C. H. Davidson; Deputy Reeve, N. Alex. MacColl; Councillors A. D. Bennett, A. H. McKeel, J. R. Battisby, John O'Sullivan, F. F. Long, and N. H. Thompson.

The returns by wards are as follows:—

SANTA CLAUS MUST NOW PAY DUTY TO GET INTO BRITAIN

Christmas Gifts From Abroad Will Be Inspected by Customs Men

A COLOSSAL TASK

London.—Customs officers at the post-office are preparing for the busiest Christmas on record.

For this is the first Christmas that Santa Claus' sack of gifts will come under a general tariff, which means that 95 per cent. of presents from abroad will have to be inspected by the customs men.

With an estimated foreig mail in the London area of something like 250,000 parcels the task is a colossal one.

All Christmas leave for the customs officials at Mount Pleasant and at the chief distributing centres throughout the country has been stopped.

Thousands of the parcels from abroad will contain more than one article—in many of them there will be a different present for each member of a family.

This means that the customs officer will have to assess the total duty on the parcel after working out the individual duties on the various articles from the complicated schedules of tariff ratings.

If there is an average of only two presents to each of the 250,000 parcels, this means 500,000 rulings by the customs.

Clever as they are at identifying and classifying goods, sometimes the customs men are puzzled. Then the questionable article is sent to the customs laboratory for analysis.

During the ten years Sir Thomas has been in control of the post-office engineering department there has been unparalleled development in electrical communications and Sir Thomas played an important part in its international development.

Telephone conversations with America and all parts of Europe were only in the visionary stages when he took charge.

PHANTOM AEROPLANE HAUNTS SHEPPERTON

Heard at Midnight Where Capt. Scholefield and Mechanic Were Killed

Shepperton-on-Tnames, Eng. — A phantom aeroplane which is said to hover at midnight over the spot where Capt. E. R. C. Scholefield and his mechanic, F. W. Cherrstt, crashed to death here more than three years ago is worrying local residents.

Captain W. J. Gibson, who served in the Royal Air Force during the war, lives at Ambleside, in a bungalow a few hundred yards from the spot where Captain Scholefield met his death.

"My husband and I have heard a phantom aeroplane crash four or five times," said Mrs. Gibson to a reporter.

"I heard it last night, shortly before midnight, the nour at which we had heard it on previous occasions. I heard the whirring nose as the machine approached, then the spluttering of the engine, followed by the loud, sickening crash.

"On the first occasion I was sitting with my husband when he remarked that there was an aeroplane close by in trouble. He had hardly spoken before there was the sound of a crash and the crumpling up of a machine. It sounded so real that we both went to look for the wreck, but found nothing.

"Next morning we found that other people had heard the same thing.

Mrs. Harding, who lives at the bungalow next door, was equally emphatic about the ghost.

"I was in a boat on the Thames when Captain Scholefield's machine crashed," she said. "One wing came off and crashed in the Thames near me.

"I therefore have a vivid recollection of the noises, and the sounds heard at night are exactly similar.

A man living a short distance away said he had heard noises like a crash, but thought it was probably a motor collision.

"There are many people living around here who are certain they have heard noises that could not be explained by any known causes," he added.

CHURCH HAS SUNDAY DANCE FOLLOWING EVENING SERVICE

Will Be Regular Event at St. Silas' in Kentish Town, London

HELD IN SOCIAL HALL

London. — On a recent Sunday night, a church congregation changed from organ music and the chanting of a service to the syncopation of a jazz band, with the same congregation dancing to its rhythm.

Women were wearing evening dress at the church in preparation for the dance following the ordinary evening service. Their heads were covered, but many carried dance shoes wrapped in paper.

This innovation was started at St. Silas' parish church, Kentish Town, N.W., one of the poorest districts of London, by its curate, Father Selby. Couples flocked from the church to the social hall beside it, and the happy, excited atmosphere of a party.

"I want to make a big thing out of this," said Father Selby. "It is for all my congregation and their friends, and I hope they will come in their hundreds.

"Until to-day this dance has been held every Saturday night, but I found that the young people would not turn up for communion on Sunday morning. Besides, the church is open late on Saturday night for confession, and the music disturbs it."

Then he added: "What can these people do, where can these people go on Sunday night besides low dance halls, or pubs, or walking the streets. London, for the poor on Sunday, is a miserable place."

At that moment a boy, thin and tired-looking, walked in rather shyly.

"That youth has not been able to get a job for six months," said Father Selby. "He is a good example. What would he have done if it had not been for this dance?"

"Do any of your congregation object?" I asked him.

"Oh, yes," he replied, "but most criticism comes from outsiders who never see the inside of a church, but mouth pious phrases or criticize others. This idea means a great deal to me, and I will go on despite all criticism."

ONLY ONE WITH KEY TO ROYAL GARDEN

London.—The King and Queen recently had their yearly lunch with a special friend, Sister Agnes—Miss Agnes Keyser—at Grosvenor Cres.

Miss Keyser, who is matron of the King Edward VII. Hospital for Officers, is a regular guest at Balmoral each year and the King and Queen have lunched with her once every year.

Sister Agnes was first discovered by King Edward, whom she pursed when he was Prince of Wales. Many members of the royal family have since been her patients.

She is the one person not in the royal household who has a key to the grounds of Buckingham Palace. Every morning she takes a walk through the palace gardens and is often joined by the Queen.

She is 79 and on her birthday officers from all branches of the forces send her flowers.

ART STUDENT ASSAILS NOTED COLLEGE HEAD

Jumps Up at Meeting and Protests Sir William Rothenstein's "Petty Pomposity"

London.—Sir William Rothenstein, the famous principal of the Royal College of Art, South Kensington, was verbally attacked by one of his own students at the Victoria and Albert museum, in the presence of a large crowd which had gathered for the opening of the exhibitions of the Royal College of Art Students' Sketch Club.

Mr. Charles Aitken, a former director of the Tate Gallery, declared the exhibition open and Sir William had just sat down after proposing a vote of thanks to him, when a loud voice was heard from the back.

"One moment, please," it said, and every one expected a call for three cheers. The voice went on:

"I wish to take this opportunity of protesting against the petty pomposity of Sir William Rothenstein, which is turning the Royal College of Art into . . ."

The youthful chairman of the club, Mr. Geoffrey Monk, and the secretary, Mr. James Perceval, rushed from the platform and grabbed the interrupter and he was hustled out.

The attack was made by Sylvian Kluska, a 20-year-old student at the Royal College, who at the age of 17 had two pictures hung in the Royal Academy and subsequently won an L.C.C. scholarship to the Royal College. He took exception to criticism of his work and to teaching methods at the college.

Kluska accused Sir William of making students work "By means of a plumb line."

NEVER THREW A THING AWAY IN FIFTY YEARS

Stuff Overflows Her Three Rooms and Garbage Men Have Big Job

London.—There is a woman living in a back street in Stepney who has occupied the same three rooms for fifty years. And during all that time she has never thrown a thing away.

She would not have parted with anything now if her possessions had not overflowed into the yard and street, and so attracted the attention of the authorities.

It took seven men with two carts to remove her superfluous rubbish. The odds-and-ends she had stored up included:

Twenty boxes of clothes, some of which had not been worn for thirty years.

Five boxes of old boots and shoes.

Three hundred empty tins, which had contained every kind of food ever canned.

More than a hundred pounds of broken crockery.

A hundred and twenty-two woollen stockings.

Nearly everything was carefully wrapped in brown paper. The stockings were not only packed in pairs, but each stocking had also an individual wrapping.

The woman is of Polish extraction, and among her treasures were a national costume made more than eighty years ago with the colors unfaded, and old Polish shawls, but they fell to pieces at a touch.

POLICEMAN A.D.C. FOR NEW IRISH GOVERNOR

Must Not Be Higher in Rank Than Constable and Must Speak Irish

Dublin.—Mr. Donal Buckley, the Irish Free State's new governor-general does not think it will be necessary to go to London to see the King.

His predecessors have had the usual aides-de-camp, but Mr. Buckley has intimated that his must be, not army officers, but from the Civic Guard and of rank not higher than that of a constable, who must speak Irish.

It is not likely that the new governor-general will live at the vice-regal lodge.

He may forego a substantial portion of the salary attached to the office, £10,000 a year.

MME. RITZ AT LONDON HOTEL ON QUIET VISIT

Helped Husband Build Famous Chain — She Lives Mostly at Paris Ritz

London. — A silver-haired lady, petite, chic in a smartly cut black coat trimmed with fox fur, stepped into the Carlton hotel the other day, unnoticed by the guests.

She was Mme. Ritz, widow of the former Swiss waiter who 30 years ago founded the Savoy, Carlton and Ritz hotels in London and later built up the tradition of modern luxury hotels on the continent.

Mme. Ritz, after being welcomed by the manager, was shown up to her suite, where she stated that she was delighted to be in London once more, but would receive no one for the present.

Her stay was for a week before returning to Paris, where she now spends most of her time, a shadowy figure behind the management of the Ritz hotel, where her word is still law.

Thirty years ago Madame Ritz was a very busy woman indeed, her collaboration, criticisms and constructive suggestions, from a woman's point of view, having been of great help to her husband in his work. She was of Alsatian birth, speaks French, English, German and Italian. She lived seven years in London when Mr. Ritz was opening hotels here.

FIRST MODEL VILLAGE IS SOLD BY AUCTION

Milton Abbas, the "Middleton Abbey" of T. Hardy's "The Woodlanders"

Blandford, Eng.—Milton Abbas, the "Middleton Abbey" of Thomas Hardy's "The Woodlanders," has just been sold by auction with other property on the Milton Abbey estate, Dorset, the former home of Sir Eric Hambro, the banker. At the first day's sale at the Corn Exchange, Blandford, many of the tenants bought their farms and cottages. Every lot sold before the sale, it was stated, had gone to a tenant.

There was applause when it was announced that the mansion and abbey had been disposed of privately to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, for use probably as a theological college, and that the Wesleyan Methodist chapel at Milton Abbas had been presented to the Wesleyan authorities.

Mr. Charles Hambro, Sir Eric's son, and Captain Angus Hambro, his brother, bought several of the lots privately—"to retain a family interest in the county," the auctioneer said.

One of the largest farms was bought by a Dorset farmer for £3,952.

The old Tudor manor in Dalcomb Woods, with about 180 acres, was withdrawn at £2,000. Speculators bought many of the old-world cottages in Milton village at about £275 a pair.

It might be claimed that Milton Abbas was the first "model village"; certainly it has served as a pattern for many modern housing plans.

Its square, thatched cottages, all of one design, stand in regular rows, interspersed with chestnut trees. Seen from a distance, they look like so many dolls' houses. Originally the village lay close to the walls of the ancient Milton Abbey, founded in A.D. 933, and rebuilt in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries.

The first Earl of Dorchester, who bought the abbey was not at all pleased to have cottages so near his magnificent estate, so he had them removed, and the existing village, built in 1786, replaced them—a mile away from the abbey!

DEATH BREAKS PACT OF STRANGEST TWINS

Agreed Not to Marry While Both Alive — Worked Together, Retired Same Day

Bishop Auckland, Eng.—The strangest friendship ever known between two brothers in this country has been severed. A love story broken fifty years ago has been renewed.

That is the result of the death of Mr. James Weatherell, aged seventy-nine, one of the famous bachelor twins of Tow Law, near here.

His brother John is stricken with grief. He is also released from a pact made more than half a century ago.

James and John Weatherell were never separated since birth. They slept together, had their meals together, began work together as pit-boys, changed their occupation to railway work together, and retired on the same day after forty-five years' work.

They never visited a theatre or cinema, or rode in a motor car.

They had a housekeeper, and James fell in love and announced his intention of marrying her.

John felt slighted, and thus the pact was made—that the housekeeper should take care of them both, and wed the one who survived.

That day has come. But for the time John is too stunned except to wonder why a perfect comradeship of seventy-nine years should have been crushed out in one mournful day.

ARGENTINE BARS ALL IMMIGRANTS

Ruling Particularly Hits Italian Settlers

Buenos Aires—The Argentine government is about to issue a decree that will go into effect January 1, 1933, prohibiting immigration into the country for an indefinite period. It is estimated this rule will hit over a hundred thousand Italians who expected to come over here during the coming year.

UNDERGROUND SPORT FIELD FOR LONDON

New Use for Basement of City's Largest Building

London. — A remarkable underground "sports ground" of 100,000 square feet is to be opened shortly in Westminster, near the Houses of Parliament.

This move follows the complaint of an M.P. that members, civil servants, and business staffs in Westminster sadly needed recreation space.

Sir Louis Vaughan, managing director of the new Thames House, which is in many ways the biggest building in London, has allocated the immense basement floor to sporting uses.

There will be room for fifty or sixty squash racket courts, and space for badminton, running tracks, cricket pitches, and indoor golf.

This basement is on a level with the bed of the river, from which it is separated by a wall 26 feet thick.

POLICE BREAK GANG OF BANDIT BUTLERS

Chauffeur Spots Footman Who Offered Him Easy Money

London.—Scotland Yard has just broken up a gang of London bandits, composed of butlers and footmen.

Every member of the gang was in regular employment in big residences in Mayfair and Belgravia.

A chance encounter on the doorstep of a house in Belgravia gave the police a clue to the identity of the men.

On their nights out they would assemble in a small cafe near Shepherd's Market, steal a car and perform a hold-up.

A chauffeur in the employment of a lord put the police on the track of the gang. He was sent with a note to a Belgravia house, and the door was opened by a footman whom he recognized as a man who had invited him to join a bandits' gang. He had been offered five pounds a night as a driver. The chauffeur told his employer all he knew.

Four members of the gang are imprisoned, and others have made themselves scarce.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY RESUMES ITS DANCES

But Colleges Will Co-operate Instead of Competing

Oxford, Eng.—College commemoration balls, which were vetoed here on the ground of expense, will be held again.

This decision follows a meeting instigated by members of Christ whose ball is always one of the most brilliant of these functions.

There will be a new policy, however. Colleges will co-operate instead of competing against each other as in the past.

Careful consideration will be given to the cost of bands and other items before definite arrangements are made. In the past the different items have been ordered in a haphazard manner.

College halls have been run principally by undergraduates in the past, but hereafter senior members of the colleges will take part in the arrangements to a greater extent.

He was associated for many years with Sir Arthur Sullivan in arranging the national band festivities at the Crystal Palace, and was noted as adjudicator in band contests both at home and in Australia.

He introduced community singing to the Royal Antediluvian Order of Buffaloes, of which he was a prominent member. He was 68.

EX-KAISER'S RELATIVE WORRIES MANY LANDS

Luxembourg Orders Alexander Zoubkhoff Out—Nobody Will Have Him

Luxembourg—From being a problem to the family into which he married, Alexander Zoubkhoff, the Russian waiter, former husband of the late Princess Victoria of Germany, favorite sister of the ex-kaiser, has passed to the stage of being an international problem.

At present he is stranded and penniless in Luxembourg, where for a number of years he earned generous tips from wealthy Americans, ready to pay for the "honor" of being waited on by one who had married into a royal house.

Luxembourg has now given him, as an unemployed alien, 48 hours' notice to leave. He wishes to go to England, but France and Belgium will not permit him to cross their territory as they believe England does not want him.

Germany will not have him; any attempt to go to Russia is likely to be unsuccessful, and an appeal for help to the ex-kaiser has been ignored!

TOWN ACCIDENTALLY MISSES BIG BLOW-UP

Addlestone, Eng.—A workman's accidental use of a shovel instead of a pickaxe has saved this Surrey town from partial destruction.

A house in the main street, once occupied by Professor W. F. Reid, discoverer of smokeless powder, was being demolished when the workman came upon a packet containing dynamite, gelignite and other explosives sufficient to blow up houses a mile distant.

Within a radius of 50 yards of the house are a cinema, a Wesleyan church, the borough council health centre, houses and a row of shops.

William Edes was shovelling rubble in the basement when his spade caught on a small package lying in a corner.

In the package were found eight sticks of dynamite and one of gelignite, a bottle containing some colorless fluid, and two packets of black gunpowder.

The superintendent of police at Chertsey said: "When the professor died, packets of gelignite, powerful enough to blow up the whole district, were handed to me."

GHOULS RESTORE WIFE TO ROUMANIAN FARMER

"Dead" Woman Sits Up as Grave-Robbers Open Her Coffin

Nagy Perente, Transylvania—A few days ago the wife of a prosperous farmer "died" here, and, according to the old Transylvania custom, was buried in her best attire, wearing her jewelry. The burial took place in the morning. That night three thieves opened the grave and pried the coffin open. They were stretching the arms of the woman to remove her rings and bracelets when suddenly she opened her eyes and asked them what they wanted of her. One of the men fainted and dropped to the ground; his two comrades escaped.

The woman managed to get out of the coffin. Staggering from one tombstone to another she found the found the road and, shortly after midnight knocked at the door of her house. When her husband recovered from the shock of her "resurrection" he rode to the grave and removed the fainted bandit to a hospital. He is now begging the authorities to forgive the thieves.

GREENLAND ON MOVE

Island 600 Feet West of Position in 1922

Stockholm.—Greenland has moved 600 feet westward since 1922. The theory of the late Professor Geners that the continents are moving is confirmed by Dr. Knud Rasmussen, the famous Scandinavian explorer, who has been working recently with the Greenland Geodetic Expedition.

Having taken astronomical observations in relation to the meridian of Greenwich he has established the fact that Greenland is moving westward at an average of 60 feet a year while Denmark in comparison is moving only three feet every hundred years.

MACHINE SEPARATES MAN FROM HIS SOUL

Professor Claims Invention Will Revolutionize World's Morals

Moscow — Doctor Laurientieff, an aged Russian professor, has invented an electrical contrivance that will separate a man from his soul. When you are "charged" by the machine, you slowly go into a swoon and your spirit comes out of your body and stands right in front of you. You will talk to yourself, your second self within a few feet of you!

The professor explains that his invention will revolutionize the world's morals. When men and women can see themselves in a detached way under the influence of his machine, they will discover what insignificant little figures they are.

The people of Monaco are boasting that they have thus shown the way to complete disarmament.

A number of foreign wags are telling them that the army was dissolved because the casino was empty.

PATRON GIVEN RIGHT TO CRITICIZE SHOW

French Court Awards Damages When Man Refused Admission

Paris.—If you pay an entrance fee to a movie house and the show does not please you, you have a perfect right to indulge in a hardy outburst of disapproval, according to a French court.

The other day a Frenchman objected to advertisements by Paris stores between films, and he made everybody know it. When he revisited the theatre a few nights later, he was refused admission.

He sued the house. The court awarded him five dollars damages, and informed the theatre management that its patrons had a perfect right to criticize the show even if the criticism took the form of noisy outbursts.

Mayor Denne's Thanks!

TO MY FELLOW CITIZENS:

Let me thank you most fervently for the renewed vote of confidence so emphatically returned yesterday.

I will endeavor to repay your support by giving the best that is in me to your service during the year.

Difficult days lie ahead, but if we as a community stand shoulder to shoulder against the common foe, Depression, there is no doubt of the final result.

The splendid vote given the industrial by-laws is most gratifying. Your action will strengthen our hands in negotiating with new industries.

To all citizens of Peterborough and the district I extend best wishes for a Happy New Year.

Gratefully yours,

R. DENNE

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Up by an Examiner Reporter.

NO FIRES ON NEW YEAR'S.

The year 1932, a particularly favourable one so far as the city's fire losses are concerned failed to kick in its dying moments, and the fire laddies were allowed to see the dawn of the New Year without so much as a chimney fire to mar the peacefulness. The first run of the year for the brigade was not made until shortly before one o'clock this morning. The call proved to be a false alarm, a home-going reveller having imagined he had seen an outbreak of fire out in the west end.

NAME OMITTED.

Through an error the name of Mrs. Percy McIlmoyle was omitted from the obituary notice of the late Joseph Nicholls. Mrs. McIlmoyle is a daughter of the late Mr. Nicholls.

CHRISTMAS STORY.

A feature of the outdoor Christmas decorations of the city is a presentation of the Nativity scene, which has been arranged on the front lawn of the residence of E. W. Watson at 720 Stewart street. Guided by the light of an illuminated star placed over the entrance on the verandah, with the inscription, "Peace on Earth," are three shepherds, small figures that are placed on the lawn and shown making their way to a little manger containing the Christ Child and surmounted by an angel with a light. The whole representation is cleverly and strikingly devised, and is attracting much comment, especially at night, when it is illuminated, from passing pedestrians and motorists.

WASHER LOANED.

Through the courtsey of Mr. H. Morton, manager of the Beatty Washer Store, Water street, the Red Cross Hostel on Hunter street, has been loaned an electric washer for their use again this year, they having done the same last winter. This cooperation is very much appreciated by the committee in charge.

CONGRATULATED MAYOR DENNE

Among the early messages of congratulation Mayor Denne received last night were from Frank O'Connor and Senator W. H. McGuire of Toronto, two former Peterborough men who have an active interest in their old town.

BACK AT OFFICE

The friends of Mr. Edward M. Elliott, County Clerk and Treasurer will be pleased to learn that he has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be at his office to-day.

INVERLEA RINK OPEN

Large crowds of people thronged the rink at Inverlea Park yesterday and enjoyed the first skating of the season so far as the public rinks are concerned. The rink is one of six established at various vantage points throughout the city by the parks Committee.

FIRST BABY OF MONTH

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Gilbert of Crawford's Grove are the happy parents of a nine-pound baby boy who was born to them on New Year's Day. The happy event occurred at about 10.45 Sunday morning, the attending physician being Dr. F. O'Reilly. The baby earns the distinction of being the first arrival in Peterborough and vicinity this year.

Brilliant Bit Of Color In Clothes Makes Cheer On Dark Days

Reading from left to right: green wool dress; inset, black velvet; fitch for fur coat; black satin pajamas with peacock and flower embroidery; mink cape and muff; taffeta dinner rock embroidered.

By MME. LISBETH.

RIGHT NOW, while the weather is cold and often cheerless, and the days dark, bright, gay colors make an extra appeal. We are willing to wear somber shades if we can have a brilliant bit of contrast in trimming.

Such a cheery note of color is introduced into the swanky black satin pajamas worn by Gloria Stuart, four, by peacock and flower embroidery. These pajamas have short sleeves and a natural waistline. The lower part of the model is fitted to below the hips, and then is spread out into what really is a divided skirt. The brilliant peacock and flower embroidery is done by hand.

If you haven't already secured a fur cape and muff, the after the holiday sales should see you pursuing and purchasing them. Verree Heasdale, fifth, wears a very beautiful set in mink over an evening gown of yellow crepe satin combined with dark brown velvet, the latter used for bow and train. The slit in the fur at the shoulder is a bit of distinctive styling.

Embroidered Taffeta.

Taffeta embroidered in colors makes the unusual dinner gown worn by Myrna Kennedy, right. The skirt and short jacket are trimmed with lovely hand work, while the very full, short sleeves and standing collar of the little jacket are stitched and stiffened to stand out.

Very simple but exceedingly smart is the light wool cloth dress shown left. The color is green and the dress has a shirred yoke of green silk cut round, with high, straight collar. The long sleeves are full and held into a medium width cuff of the shirred silk. The overblouse effect is very good this season. Merna Kennedy, screen player, wears with this dress a green felt hat with a medium sized brim, trimmed with satin ribbon.

Inset is a novel hat for formal wear. It is worn by Tala Birell, young Viennese cinema player, and consists of black velvet bandings which allow the wearer's golden hair to make the necessary contrast. It is worn with a suit of cloth-ofgold with black velvet revers. The long suede gloves are attached to the short sleeves of the jacket by means of large buttons, an dthe buttons are repeated on the lapels.

Fitch fur is very popualr this season. It is often seen combined with that other colorful skin, leopard, and far from seeming to be "too much of a good thing," the combination is very attractive. The magnificent coat, worn by Bebe Daniels— Mrs. Ben Lyon to her friends—is of fitch, with flaring sleeves and a huge roll colar.

When fruits and seeds fall from the tree or smaller plant, the seeds do not usually germinate at once: the shedding of fruits, with their seeds, is followed by an interval during which the seeds remain in a dormant state until they germinate. The interval may be a few months, a few years, or possibly a hundred years.

What Today Means to YOU

by MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11.30 a.m. to 12.45 p.m., from 4.20 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 9.30 a.m. to 10.30 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 3.15 p.m.

Influences operating on this January 3rd will bring about an atmosphere of dullness. In the early day activity will be sluggish in the business world, with increased activity in the afternoon. A good day it would seem for the making of contracts or any long term arrangements. Ideal for assuming obligations under a marriage contract.

The child born on January 3rd will probably be very aggressive and possessed of a spirit that always accomplishes what is begun. Occasionally hard-headed and stubborn, he will, however, usually listen to reason. He is unbending towards all emotional appeals. Not unusually intelligent, he will go far through hard work.

If January 3rd is the date of your birth, you are an uncommonly gentle person, always self-composed and seemingly never ruffled by the hectic "goings-on" about you. In your very calm way, you are a strong person. People step aside for you as you make your way through life; they listen with deference to your spoken words; they will follow you where you will. You are a spiritual person and quite possibly your highest aim in life is to do what you can for the uplifting of mankind. Whatever you do, regardless of the field of activity, you will always be an inspiration to those about you.

Both the men and women born on January 3rd are demonstrative in their affections and emotional in their loves. They do not assume obligations lightly; the marriage vow is a very sacred matter to them. Do not look for many separations or divorces among those born on this date. The women are great talkers but not gossipers. They have intelligent minds, and they express intelligent thoughts on questions of importance. These women are often very religious; they believe in living up to their religions, and their uplifted thought more often than not is shown in their kind and understanding demeanor.

For the first time in many years the bell of St. John's Church did not ring out the old year, and the reason that its musical note was not heard this year was because the bell was frozen, and so for the Sunday morning service also the parish was deprived of the church bell, which, however, yielded to the milder weather and pealed forth for the evening service.

There was a midnight celebration of holy communion in St. John's Church on Saturday night according to the usual custom.

Bidding a final goodbye to 1932 and ushering in the New Year with dance and music and right good will, the New Year's Eve party of Saturday night, at the Kawartha Golf and County club, was one of the merriest of the season's social functions. Two hundred and fifty guests were in attendance for the dinner, bridge and dance which commence at half past six o'clock and finished at midnight. Driving along the highway and up to the approach to the clubhouse, the frosty air of the evening was colored by the beautiful illuminating effect achieved by the use of tinted electric bulbs. There were long overhead strings of blue and green globes, with a red background created by the use of red cellophane which covered the open sides of large electrically - lighted boxes placed on the ground and casting and upward reflection. It made a unique and very beautiful effect. During the dinner hour, the guests wore the very pretty and cut out of the ordinary paper caps which were passed around. A sumptuous repast was catered for by ladies of the Murray street Baptist church. Later, bridge games were played in the main lounge and the glassed-in verandahs. The prizes were drawn for, going to Mrs. Bastedo, Mrs. Walter Jackson, Mr. L. D. Carver and Mr. M. Chenhall, Jr. The dance which followed was a brilliant affair. The gowns worn by the ladies were lovely, the long satin and lace frocks, the glistening jewellery and the sprays of roses which formed shoulderettes, combining with the colored light effects for the novelty numbers and the soft music played so well by George Broadley and his Country Club Orchestra, in a changing and glittering mass of color and perfume and movement. Just before midnight, when the New Year was ushered in with noisemakers of every description, a large papier mache rooster bearing a nest and a large egg, waddled in, and out of the egg, personifying the gladsome spirit of the new year, appeared Miss Rosalie Clancy in a gay Pierrette suit of blue and white, to do a bright tap dance as a nod to the departing old year and a welcome for the new. Among the club members, their friends, and invited guests who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Salmonsen, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. A. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. The Caledonian Club celebrated New Year's Eve with a dance in the Woodmen of the World Hall. Hogmanay Night, as it is called by Scots, means a season of rejoicing, and is observed in every corner of the earth wherever Scottish people forega'. The local gathering met at half-past six o'clock, and dancing, music, and games continued until eleven, when refreshments were served. Mr. R. Gilmour with the melodeon and Mr. A. Milne with the bagpipes supplied music for the old-time and modern dancing. During the evening vocal solos were sung by Miss Marion Ralston, Mrs. J. Sherratt, Mrs. W. Hawes, and Mr. R. Hendry. Two games were played for the children present. Just as the old year was dying, the company joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne." As the bells rang in the New Year the company raised their voices in the well-known refrain, "A Guid New Year tae ane an' a'," after which all shook hands and wished each other a Happy New Year in true Scottish fashion. Thus ended another Hogmanay Night for the local Caledonian Club. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. D. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Milne, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. R. A very pleasant event of New Year's Day was the tendering of a complimentary tea and reception to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hopwood, Water street, by a number of their friends, in honour of the golden jubilee of their wedding. This came as a complete and pleasant surprise, as Mr. and Mrs. Hopwood, in view of present conditions, had decided to allow the anniversary to pass unnoticed outside of their immediate family circle. Mrs. Hopwood received the guests, assisted by Mr. Hopwood's sister, Mrs. M. H. Sisson of Lindsay, who acted as bridesmaid fifty years ago. A great number of friends called to offer congratulations and many messages were received by mail, wire and telephone, including one that gave especial pleasure, a long-distance telephone call from their son, Mr. Howard Hopwood, and Mrs. Hopwood, in Regina. The rooms of the apartment were decorated with a profusion of golden chrysanthemums and other flowers, the gifts of friends. The tea table carried a magnificent array of lace, silver and flowers and was featured by a large bride's cake decorated in gold and lighted by fifty candles. A silver bowl was filled with daffodils and a unque item in the decorative effect was the use of tiny cumquats, the little golden oranges of California. Mrs. J. W. McDermid and Mrs. T. A. S. Hay poured tea, assisted by the Misses Betty and Nancy Hopwood. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hopwood was celebrated half a century ago in old St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, which stood on the present site of Lindsay's postoffice, on Kent street. The Rev. S. Westone-Jones, rector of St. Paul's, officiated. Mrs. Hopwood, who is the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jewett of Lindsay, was assisted by Mr. Hopwood's sister, now Mrs. M. H. Sisson of Lindsay, as bridesmaid, and Mr. Hopwood's friend, the late Mr. W. H. Graham of Kingston, was groomsman. Shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Hopwood moved to Toronto, residing there for twenty years, later returning to Peterborough, the scene of Mr. Hopwood's boyhood days.

Open house was a feature yesterday of the new clubhouse of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club During the afternoon and evening many people dropped in to view the handsome new pleasure place, where much of the furniture is now installed. The grand official opening will not take place until about the middle of this month, but an unofficial glimpse was afforded the many who went out yesterday. Many of the younger set stayed last night for a pleasant, informal dance which ended before midnight, with Broadley's Country Club orchestra furnishing the music. Several games of bridge were played and the rest of the seniors enjoyed a cup of tea in the afternoon at the dainty little reed tables placed cosily in one corner of the L-shaped glass-enclosed verandah, where the juniors danced last night. Here, triangular moderniste lights are shaded in green and blue and the curtains are of the same two soft colors. In the main lounge, ease, comfort and pleasing colors have been combined in the handsome furnishings. The large rug from local looms is carried out in jewel tones with motife in the Roman cartwheel design and predominating color notes of subdued reds and blues. The antique oak long fireplace table and end tables are especially good, and the settees and deep chairs are finished in soft browns, in leather and velvet combinations, with down-filled cushions. The window curtains here are of printed linen in flower-like patterns. For the convenience of dancers, a special microphone and radio attachment allows the music and special song numbers to penetrate to every part of the long building. Yesterday, among those noticed a he clubhouse were Mr. and Mrs. F. Rattenbury, Mr and and Mrs. G. R. Langley, Mr. R. J. Goring, Mr. and Mrs. P. Westbye, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Roy, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Just Between Us Women

AS YOU READ the column to-night, we will be well out to sea on the good ship 1933!

* * * * * * *

Just for a moment let us stop to think of the New Year and its many possibilities. We will have many opportunities to add to the happiness of our family, our friends and acquaintances.

* * * * * *

There can be no lurking doubt about our being able to do something for somebody in the next twelve months which will bring pleasure.

* * * * * * *

Seeking opportunities to become distributors of happiness is such a pleasant task. It will add to our own stock of happiness in greater measure than we imagine.

* * * * * *

It is a mistake to watch only for means by which we can add an hundredfold to another's happiness. There are small kindnesses which can transform dreary day into a sunny one for somebody.

* * * * * *

It may be just anticipating the need of an article in some other room in the home, and bringing it to someone who cannot get it so easily as you can.

* * * * * *

There are many little things which you can do to add a touch of Happy New Year to those about you.

* * * * * *

It is the little things which are so often overlooked. It is the sum of them which makes life run more smoothly and which actually fosters happy home atmosphere.

* * * * * *

They are the samp'es of kindnesses which cost nothing and the sort of things anyone can do.

* * * * * *

And so, before closing, let me wish for all my readers a Very Happy New Year, and Health, Happiness, and Prosperity during the days of 1933!

That Body of Yours

DIFFERENT CAUSES AND CURES FOR ASTHMA

A few years ago a sufferer with asthma simply suffered; that was all he could do about curing the ailment. By the use of certain drugs, adrenalin for instance, he was often able to get some relief during the attack. Today however every sufferer from asthma should make up his mind to try to learn the cause of his particular kind and thus obtain a cure.

Some idea of the importance of asthma and of the unusual number of causes for it, may be gathed when we learn of the International Congress on Asthma, recently held at Mount Dore, France.

There were thirty-one papers—French and foreign, all dealing with different theories as to cause, and with suggestions as to treatment.

It was amply proven that asthma is really a symptom or group of symptoms, instead of being a single ailment such as typhoid fever or scarlet fever. This means that every case of asthma must be studied from various standpoints.

What were some of the causes outlined?

First, there are some individuals who have an inherited tendency toward asthma, just as others have a tendency toward hay fever, to tuberculosis, or to cancer.

Some physicians attribute asthma to genera causes such as some abnormal condition about the nose, throat, or bronchial tubes.

Still other physicians believe that asthma is due to nervous causes; to a disturbance of a particular portion of the nervous system.

Another physician was able to show that the liver was at fault in some cases, and that the ductless glands were to blame in others.

Another theory advanced and cases cited was that little organisms attacked the nose, throat, and bronchial tubes. Pollen from flowers and some foods were also shown to be the cause in many asthma cases.

Naturally as there are many causes for asthma there will be just as many forms of treatment therefor.

The treatments suggested included the use of heat, change of climate, removal of any trouble in the nose and throat, inoculation with various pollens and foods, and many others including the use of surgery to cut certain nerves.

Don't get discouraged if you have asthma; nearly half of the cases are thought to be due to pollens or foods.

Council's Finance Chairman Says Ratepayers Have Given New Encouragement.

WILL RENEW ZEAL.

As chairman of the Finance Committee of the City Council, Ald. George A. Macdonald referred today to the ratepayers' endorsation of the two bylaws at the polls yesterday.

"I am sure that the large majorities in favor of the bylaws will be very gratifying to every members of the Council," Ald, Macdonald said. "The decisive expression by the people will give the City Council renewed energy and zeal to go out seeking new industries for Peterborough. It has been shown that the people approve of every initiative that can be put forth toward that objective, and I hope that this New Year will be productive of a substantial increase in our factory strength. As Mayor Denne intimated last week wa have hopes at present of securing another industry for Peterborough. The negotiations are well advanced, and I know that every ratepayer will be delighted if the Council is able to announce shortly that this company has decided to come to Peterborough. Monday's vote should be an encouragement to our prospective industry, and certainly it has been a new inspiration to the council."

WHAT WILL PAY A-B BEST?

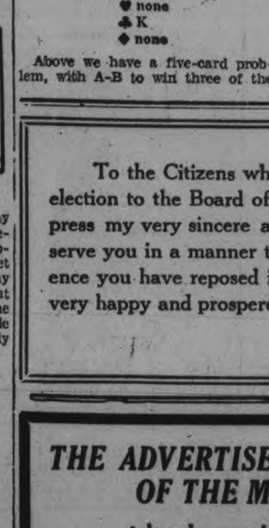
No expert is right always. Many hands are dealt where only double-dummy bidding and play can obtain the best results. Never forget that your partner may hold any one of the eight billions of different hands, after your own is fixed. The hands below, dealt with neither side vulnerable, affords interesting study

Z bid 1-Spade. A feared to bid 2-Spades, as it was even chances whether Y or B held the diamond strength. Moreover there were small chance that B held as many as three spades. A passed. Without a quick trick, Y bid 1-No Trump. Z bid 2-Spades, and A feared a shift if he doubled, so he passed. Y and B did the same. Z went down four undoubled tricks, or 200 points. Could A have done better, as Y would have bid 3-Diamonds if his partner's bid been doubled?

Against diamonds perfect play would have enabled A-B to win eight tricks, Y must lose three heart tricks, three clubs tricks and two trump tricks, at east. Probably Y would have won one trick more than his partner did at spades, but he would have bid one trick higher. Doubtless A should have doubled the 2-Spades, unless he intended bidding and playing the hand at Spades. B would have doubled a shift to 3-Diamonds. Doubling would have given A-B 700 points above the line.

The last question is, could A-B have gone game? Suppose A had bid 2-Spades over Z's 1-Spade. Doubtless Y would have passed. B might have bid 2-No Trumps. If A supported the no-trumps, A-B could go game. If A dared bid 3-Spades, his partner could bid 4-Spades. It is conceivable that game might be reached.

Y's opening lead would be the 6 of diamonds, and Z's Ace would win the trick. Z would lead either a heart or a club. A-B can win three heart tricks. They can win two club tricks and dummy can ruff the third lead of clubs. Z will not cover B's return lead of the 10 of spades. At the end of the eighth trick, A-B will have won seven tricks and lost one diamond trick. The holdings about the table will be shown as below.



Above we have a five-card problem, with A-B to win three of the five tricks. B is to lead. B's best lead is the heart. If Z discards his club, A will discard his diamond. If Z ruffs, unless he ruffs with the Ace, A will overruff. Having overruffed A will lead his K of trumps. If Z wins the trick, he may lead his K of clubs. A can pass that trick, giving Z his second trick, but the last two trump tricks must then be won by A.

There is no way that Y-Z can deefat 4-Spades, bid by A. The first game of a rubber does not average to be worth 700 points, so the double by A, of Z's 2-Spades is better than going game.

Australia Defeats England in Secona Match

AUSSIES EQUAL ASHES SERIES

Don Bradman, Famous Down-under Batsman, Scores 103 Runs, Not Out.

TEAM TOTALS 191.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 3 (CP, Cable).—Australia's young bowlers to-day are sitting on top of the cricket world.

In a struggle that from the commencement Friday developed into a battle of bowlers, the Antipodeans proved superior to England's best and were the chief factor in the Commonwealth's victory over the Englishmen in the second test match by 111 runs. Australia compiled 228 and 191, meagre scores when compared with figures compiled in recent international cricket, but England could reply with only 169 and 139.

This the battle for the mythical "ashes" stands all square, the visiting players having won the first match by 10 wickets. Three games remain to be played in the series.

The match concluded to-day marked the return of the famous Aussie batsman, Don Bradman, to test cricket. The premier batsman was bowled first ball in his first attempt, but visiting the wickets in the second innings when Australian wickets were falling like ninepins, he redeemed himself completely, knocking up the only century of the game and being unbeaten at the close.

Throughout the game the flower of England's batsmen were entirely at the mercy of the home bowlers, W. I. O'Reilly being the shining light. In the two innings he captured 10 wickets at a cost of 13 runs apiece. T. Wall obtained five for 75, and H. Ironmonger in the second innings got four for 26.

Large Attendance

Huge crowds watched the four days' play on the New Year's holiday, 60,186 persons creating a record for Melbourne's wonderful ground.

The value of winning the toss was amply demonstrated to-day when the wicket showed signs of wear after three day's play and England went into complete their second innings needing 207 for victory. The pitch was perfect for Ironmonger and O'Reilly, both experts in the art of spinning the ball. The former exploited a spot between the middle and leg stumps. His deliveries at one end simply ricochetted to the off. O'Reilly had the opposing batsmen in difficulties throughout.

Following the dismissal of Herbert Suitcliffe, England's great first-wicket player, the English team became panicky, and W. H. Hammond, R. E. S. Wyatt and G. C. Allen were the only ones to make any semblance of a stand.

HAMILTON SCORES OVERTIME VICTORY

Galt Terriers Take 1-0 Victory From Brantford in Senior "B" Game.

(By the Canadian Press)

Angling for two senior O. H. A. group titles, Hamilton had pushed up her threat another notch today.

Leaders of their Senior B group, the Patricias found Kitchener Empires a tough nut to crack last night at Kitchener but the Pats came through in overtime to win 2-1 on Bellingham's goal. The winning tally came 45 seconds after start of overtime. In the Senior A group Hamilton Tigers are in second place.

In another B Group game last night Galt Terriers won from Brantford 1-0. Harold Bryan scored the only goal late in the second period.

Toronto's junior favorites marked up triumphs, Marlboros winning in overtime from Nationals 3-2 and St. Michael's College upsetting Parkdale Canoe Club 4-3. Marlboros' win virtually clinched them a position in the group play-offs.

Premature thrills developed that were not on the preliminary program of the the Pacific Grand Prix Sweeptstakes at Los Angeles, Cal. In one of the events, Joe Carver's outboard motor exploded, the pilot being thrown into the water. He was rescued by Loretta Trunbull, world's foremost woman outboard speedboat pilot. The accident added to the excitement of a relay race, the newest thriller in speedboating, which was introduced during the sweepstakes.

CAMPBELLFORD JUNIORS WIN INITIAL GAME FROM TRENTON

Fair Crowd of Fans Sees Homesters Cop 5-3 Win in O.H.A. Battle.

PLAY GOOD HOCKEY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 3. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Campbellford Juniors drew first blood in the Junior "B" O.H.A. series when they clashed with the Trenton aggregation last evening in the Davidson Arena, Campbellford and came out on top with a 5-3 win after three periods of fast hockey witnessed by a fair sized crowd of fans.

Opening the season, these two fast junior teams put up a splendid brand of hockey and indexed the coming puck season as a fast and clean series of fixtures. Playing up well on good ice they showed the stuff that will eventually make fine intermediate teams and gave a very appreciative side line their value for money paid.

Of the two aggregations the Campbellford outfit showed better drilling and were a credit to Harry Ingram, who has been coaching the boys and making a good job of it. Holding the edge over Trenton in defence tactics and combination, they worked well together and although at times a little ragged, a few games will take the edges off and show a real winning group of youngsters.

Trenton however, are no slouches and developed a speed at times that proved disastrous to them, the entertainers playing with a dash that will carry them far in the series.

Campbellford Takes Lead

Campbellford took the lead in the first period netting the rubber twice to to Trenton's lone score. Runnions and Bush each scored a counter, assisting each other and giving a fine exhibition of passing. Richards carried the puck to counter for Trenton on a pass from Ruttan and counted two of the visitors' goals. He with the other score maker, Lamoore, were the stars on the Trenton line and were the speedy skaters of that aggregation.

In the second period Campbellford came back with two more counters, Bush making both of these, one a pass from Runions and the other a lone play. Richards again counted for Trenton, assisted by Lott.

Good Checking

The third period developed speed by both teams despite the fact that the ice was getting a little sticky. Backed by a splendid defence the Campbellford forward line drove forward only to be checked and stopped by the Trenton outfit who were out for blood. It looked as if they were going to do the trick when after ten minutes of play Lamoore drove through the entertainers' defence and made a tally. This however, failed to materialize when with three minutes to go Runions made a lone play and scored, ending the game in a 5-3 win for Campbellford.

The Maroons this year have two splendid men in the nets, Roy Oddie, who played last year in a township league, and Turner, a new-comer to town. Both players know the game and show fine form in the manner of meeting attacks. Bush and Runions, the goal-getters, starred for the team, with Ken Oddie and Lambert doing some fine work.

The teams:

Campbellford—Goal, R. Oddie, Turner; defence, K. Oddie, Wilks, Milne; centre, Runnions, Couch; wings, Bush, Lambert, Nelson, Cubitt.

Trenton—Goal Cotterel; defence, Ruttan, Lott; centre, Kidd; wings, Jordan, Burtt; subs, Lamoore, Harris, Richards, Hodd.

Referee—Ken Davis Campbellford.

Summary
(First Period)

Campbellford—Runnions (Bush); Bush (Runnions).

Trenton—Richards (Ruttan).

(Second Period)

Campbellford—Bush (Runnions); Bush.

Trenton—Richards (Lott).

(Third Period)

Campbellford, Runnions.

Trenton—Lamoore.

MAROON WING HAS 21 POINTS

Haynes and Morenz Rank Second and Third in Canadian Section.

N.H.L. STATISTICS.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—Two goals ahead of his nearest rivals, Lawrence "Baldy" Northcott of Montreal Maroons leads all other contenders in the National Hockey League point scoring race, according to figures released from President Frank Calder's office tonight.

With 14 goals and 7 assists, Northcott has been credited with 21 points. "Bill" Cook, New York Rangers wingman, with 11 goals and 9 assists for a total of 20 points, is only a point behind Northcott for the league leadership, and has a three-point advantage over all others in the American section. Northcott has scored more goals than any other National Hockey League player. "Bun" Cook of Rangers and Barty Barry of Boston each have 12 goals.

The two Montreal clubs, Maroons and Canadiens, are leading the Canadian section scorers. Howie Morenz, meteoric Canadiens' center, and Paul Haynes, Maroons sub pivotman, each have 18 points in a tie for second place behind Northcott.

The two Cook brothers of New York Rangers and Marty Barry of Boston lead the American section. "Bun" Cook with 17 points, trails brother Bill in second place and Barry has 16 points to capture third place.

Frank Boucher, small Rangers' centre, has most assists of any player in the league with 13 credited to his name. Morenz is next with an even dozen, and Haynes of Maroons third with 11.

The league "bad man" is still "Red" Horner of Toronto Maple Leafs. "Red" has served 57 minutes on the penalty bench. "Ching" Johnson, husky Rangers defenseman, rivals Horner with a total of 52 minutes.

In contrast Frank Boucher of Rangers served his first penalty of the season on Saturday night when he went off for a tripping infraction in the game against Maroons.

Northcott garnered four points on Saturday night against Rangers, scoring two goals and two assists. Paul Thompson of Chicago Black Hawks also picked up four points on Sunday night against Canadiens, putting in three goals and drawing an assist for his fourth point. Thompson's scoring splurge pulled him up beside Marty Barry in a third place tie in the American section, with 16 points, made up of 7 goals and 9 assists.

TROJANS BLANK PITTSBURG 35-0

Southern California's Great Football Team Outclasses Easterners.

ROSE BOWL, Passadena, Cal., Jan. 3.—It is still true that a good, big man will beat a good, little one in the ring or on the football field, so Southern California defeated Pittsburg in the annual tournament or roses game yesterday, 35 to 0.

A near-capacity crowd of 83,000 looked on, first with enthusiasm and then in amazement, as the Trojans moved briskly to their twentieth consecutive victory.

The Easterners held the stalwarts from the West to a single touchdown advantage for the first half, had to concede another in the third period, and then crumbled in the final quarter before three counters. A fumble paved the way for one of the last-minute scores and a blocked kick made another possible.

ORONO INTERMEDIATES LOSE TO BOWMANVILLE

BOWMANVILLE, Jan. 3.—Orono intermediates were decisively defeated here yesterday when the local aggregation scored seven goals while the visitors were held goalless. O. Jamieson sustained the only serious injury of the game with a cut under the right eye which required two stitches to close the wound. The play was ragged due to soft ice and lack of training, with Bowmanville showing marked superiority in every department. Goals were scored by F. Jamieson, G. Piper, I. Piper, Candler, Jackman, G. Piper and Chartran.

Orono.—Goal, McCutcheon; defense, Dean, Bresslan; centre, West; wings, Brown and Henry; subs, Gamsby, Watson, Neal, Pearson, Winter.

Bownanville.—Goal, Hooper; defense, Densom and Chartran; centre, G. Piper; wings, I. Piper and F. Jamieson; subs., Candler and Jackman.

Referee—Rice, of Whitby.

Declare No Winner For Harding Trophy

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Jan. 3 (A. P.)—The Lake Placid's Club's twelfth annual college week winter sports competition closed yesterday without developing a formal winner of the Harding trophy, emblematic of the team shamplonship.

Snow and ice conditions permitted holding only two of the four remaining events on the program—the ski jump and the two-mile snowshoe race. Both the 14 kilometre cross-country ski race and the Slalom test had to be cancelled.

Because of the failure to compete the full program it was understood that no formal award of the Harding Trophy would be made this year.

The University of New Hampshire scoring heavily in the two events run off yesterday, finished in first place with 20 points. Dartmouth, defending champion, was second with 17, Ottawa third with 10, Maine and McGill tied for fourth with 3, and Williams sixth with 2.

E. J. Blood of New Hampshire retained his title in the ski jump, with a teammate, T. G. Christiansen, second, Lucien Lafleur of Ottawa third and T. H. R. Goldthwaite of Dartmouth fourth.

Toll Gate Breaks Record at Dufferin

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—Some of the greatest racing of the fall and winter harness horse season was witnessed at Dufferin Park yesterday afternoon when the Dufferin Driving Club offered a four-race program for the holiday.

The feature performance was supplied by Toll Gate in the Free-for-All Handicap trot. W J. Roddy's great trotter established a new track record for Dufferin Park in the second heat of the race. After winning the first heat in 2.13 with a handicap of 120 feet, he was timed separately for the mile in the second heat, making the distance in 2.06¾, going the last quarter in .30½ seconds, the fastest mile ever trotted or paced at Dufferin Park. In the third heat, he started badly but picked up considerable distance to finish third to Bud Grattan, the heat winner. It was Toll Gate's first appearance at Dufferin since he was slightly hurt in a spill some weeks ago.

WEST DEFEATS EAST 21-13 IN ANNUAL SHRINE FIXTURE

Schaldach Carries Ball For Three Touchdowns and Scores Place Points.

45,000 SEE BATTLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3 (A.P.) —The brilliant running of "Hard Luck Hank" Schaldach, University of California halfback, was the highlight of the West's 23-13 victory over the East in the U.S. annual Shrine Charity football game.

Schaldach, rampaging in the second half of the contest at Kezar Stadium yesterday, accounted for all of the West's points. He carried the ball over for three touchdowns and in each case added the extra point with a place kick.

The California half-back's playing drew as much comment as a surprise, closing-moments personal clash between Joe Kurth, Notre Dame tackle, playing for the East, and a Western end, Aalph Stone of the San Francisco Olympic Club. Some 45,000 fans saw the two players engage in the brief tiff, which was quickly stopped by officials. Kurth and Stone were ordered from the game.

Easterners Score First

East scored first as a result of a 46-yard first-period march led by Michigan's all-American quarterback Harry Newman, playing at right half-back. Pug Rentner, Northwestern halfback, plunged the final two yards for the touchdown. Newman's place kick sailed wide.

Trailing by six points, the Westerners launched their big offensive in the third quarter with Schaldach, flanked by two husky Texans, Stafford and Koy, leading the attack. The Californian started the fireworks with a 35-yard return of a punt to the East's 5-yard line. Four plays later he plunged over.

An intercepted pass by Stafford, at halfback, led to the second Western touchdown in the same period.

A Close Call

In the final quarter, the East climbed within a point of the West, 14 to 13. The strong arm of Gil Berry, Illoinois right half, shot a pass over the Western goal to Dick Pencl, Northwestern end. A place kick by Jack Manders, Minnesota quarterback, added the extra marker.

Schaldach again ran wild as the West launched a late drive for the final touchdown. He carried back Berry's punt 33 yards to the East's 7-yard strip. He rambled around end again for five yards on the scoring play.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

And now that the holiday season is all cleaned up, let's see what's on the books in the way of local sports this week. We should have plenty of hockey the last half the week, with the E.P.L. four teams swinging into action here tomorrow (Wednesday) night, and our O.H.A. juniors entertaining the Port Hopers at the Brock this Friday. The local Intermediates go to Port Hope that night for their opening game of the season.

• • • • • • •

That East Peterborough League doubleheader at the Brock street ice palace tomorrow has all the earmarks of being a dish of hockey entertainment that should go over big with the fans. Here's the four teams, Norwood versus Maple Leafs at quarter to eight, and Lakefield versus Westclox at nine bells. The two out-of-town crews are meeting the two local ones—and the latter are both new numbers to Peterborough fans, too. It will give the customers a chance to see them all in action the one evening, and they can maybe predict the ultimate winner of the year from the start—if they're long distance guessers.

• • • • • • •

While the Petes' intermediates had to postpone their opening game through lack of ice last week, three of the other teams in their group have already had their seasonal hockey baptism. Last week, the Port Hopers rambled to the home bailiwick of the Orono Ramblers in Orme Gamsby's backyard and later on the same evening rambled home again leaving the Ramblers smarting under a 6-3 drubbing. In other words, Port Hope won in Orono. Then; yesterday in Bowmanville, Orono took it on the whiskers again to the tune of 7-0. Happy New Year, Mr. Gamsby!

• • • • • • •

Port Hope started like a house afire, but faded the last half, their condition not being the best. The Orono goalie, "Doc" Stacey, they say, was pretty terrible and was relieved by young McCutcheon who went good. The Rambler scorers were Henry, Bowen and "Doc" Henry again, one goal to a period. "Diddy" Rowden got two and Jack Hagerman three for Port Hope all in the first. "Deed" Hills put in the final visitors' counter in the second. The Orono ice surface must be used as a miniature golf course in summer, from its size.

• • • • • • •

Playing back in Bowmanville Monday, the Orono crew couldn't seem to get going right, and the home team was in top form to hold a decided edge from start to finish. Jamieson was hurt by a bad cut in the face, but will be out next game. He and G. Piper bulged the hemp in the first, I. Piper, Candler and Jackman added three in the second frame, with final tallies being counted in the last chapter by G. Piper and Chartran. Hooper did a neat job of it in the Bowmanville citadel.

• • • • • • •

And while speaking of hockey, L. Tomkins, Divisional Superintendent of St. John's Ambulance Brigade informed us a few days ago that if he were notified (call 2262) in time before any hockey game at the Brock, he would have one or two Corps members present with their first aid kits in case of accidents. Only reliable parties, like managers of teams or presidents of leagues, are advised to call. The St. John's service has been noted at football, softball, wrestling and other sports, and they deserve the praise of fandom which we often hear after athletic accidents.

• • • • • • •

Plenty doing yesterday at the Y.M.C.A., close to a hundred and fifty boys and men taking part in basketball, volleyball, handball and bowling. They had an intermediate boys' cage tourney in the gym in the morning, followed by a business men's volleyball tournament, basketball finals, volleyball windup, and then a senior basketball tournament. All this besides a flock of pin-spillers and the handball addicts.

• • • • • • •

Three minor league hockey meetings this week. The intermediate section of the Southend loop meets at 7.30 to-night in Duffus, to close up on entries and draw a schedule. Thursday night at 7.30 in Duffus, the City League gathers to complete business and look over the schedule already drawn, preparatory to taking to the ice. And the same night at 7.30 at All Saints' rink, the West End Intermediate League holds a gab-fest to close entries, elect officers and clean up other matters. Lots of action next week.

• • • • • • •

Grab-bag: Southern California won its fourth victory in as many starts in Rose Bowl competition yesterday throwing the Pitt football machine for a bad 35-0 loss . . . . West defeated East in another football game yesterday, 21-13, Hank Schaldach of California getting all his team's points . . . . Jack Gardner's solo effort in the third period last evening gave St. Mike's the winning counter over Parkdale . . . . The students at McGill U. are campaigning for a new gym, and Sir Arthur Currie, principal says: "Competitive athletics have a distinct educational value."

DEATH OF KID GLEASON MARKS PASSING OF OLD GUARD MEMBER

Veteran Ball Coach Joined Philadelphia National Club Pitching Staff in 1888.

LIFETIME OF BASEBALL.

PHILADELPHIA, January 3 (C. P.). — Rapidly thinning ranks of baseball's old guard have lost another standard-bearer in the death of William (Kid) Gleason, coach of the Philadelphia Athletics, and former manager of the Chicago White Sox.

He succumbed to a lingering heart ailment last night at the age of 67, closing a career that was almost a story of baseball itself.

Back in 1888, he crossed the Delaware from Camden, N.J., where he spent his boyhood, to join the pitching staff of the Philadelphia National Club, and in the years that followed, ran the usual gamut of the old-timers in baseball. Fulfilling one of his life's ambitions, he climaxed his career when as manager he led the Chicago White Sox to a league pennant in 1919

Although he started on the diamond as a right-handed hurler, he achieved his greatest player success as a second baseman, to which position he was assigned while playing with the Baltimore Orioles. He went to the Baltimore team as a pitcher in 1894 and two years later was traded to the New York Giants, serving the latter until 1900.

With Tigers in 1901.

He jumped to the Detroit Tigers when the fledgling American League club soared upon the sports horizon in 1901, and spent two seasons with them. In 1903, he returned to the Phillies to remain seven years.

He was struck in the groin during batting practice just before the Phillies returned from spring training in Savannah, Ga., and the injury ended his active playing career.

"Baseball Suffers A Great Loss"—Mack

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—(A.P.) —Informed of the death of William (Kid) Gleason, coach of the Philadelphia Athletics, Connie Mack, manager of the club, said to-day: "Our ball club has suffered a great loss in Bill's death."

"Baseball as a whole suffers an even greater loss," he said "But over and beyond that, to me personally, is the parting with a great and loyal friend. (Kid) Gleason was all that the word friend implies.

"Aside from our personal relationships, the Kid was a wonderful help in getting the best out of our ball club, in teaching the youngsters and keeping everyone in good spirits. His presence was as great a tonic to me as it was to the boys. I relied greatly on Bill. And I must say he never once failed me in the slightest way.

"We're going to miss him more than I can tell."

Patricia Farley, red-haired, grey-eyed eighteen-year-old player, owes her signing of a long-term movie contract to five persons. She played a bit with Mae West in "Night After Night" and a still of the brief scene with a hundred other pictures was sent to the New York office. While inspecting the photographs five employees noticed Patricia's beauty. Their comments were overheard by an executive who wired the Hollywood studio to consider her for a contract. She was interviewed and promised the contract in thirty days if she lost fifteen pounds within that time. She lost the weight and the scales registered 119 pounds when she signed the contract.

As the little invalid Czarevitch in this story of the downfall of the Russia royal family, Tad played with mechanical railroad trains, yachts and other toys. Toymakers were retained to remodel the railroad train and station into one typical of Russia and Russian names had to be painted on the station, yacht and other toys.

COBOURG'S JUNIOR TEAM.

COBOURG, Jan. 3. — For the first time in seven years, this town is to be represented in the junior series of the O.H.A. The team, which has been recruited from the local Church League, is composed entirely of home-brews and Coach Joe Bulger has plenty of material from which to select a sextet which should give stiff opposition to the other teams in the group. Johnny Lloyd has been appointed trainer and the squad is already in fine condition for its opening game, which will be played to-morrow night.

Football Hero of 1907 Aids Stagg In His Attack Against Pneumonia

NEW YORK, January 3 (C. P.). —Amos Alonzo Stagg was stretched on a hospital cot today, fighting an attack of bronchial pneumonia with the help of one of his football pupils of a quarter-century ago.

The "grand old man," forced by his 71 years to retire as Chicago's head coach at the close of the 1932 season, was reported in no immediate danger.

In constant attendance was Dr. Max Rohde, right guard on the University of Chicago team Stagg coached to a Big Ten championship in 1907.

"It's a great satisfaction," said Dr. Rohde, "to have a chance to do something for the 'old man' for a change, like every other Chicago man who ever played for him, I look to him almost as a father. We'll pull him through all right."

Stagg was suffering from what Dr. Rohde called "a full-grown bronchial pneumonia," with complications of influenza.

VICE-PRESIDENT WINS ANNUAL 'SPIEL TROPHY

The vice-president yesterday wrested the trophy from the president in the annual President and Vice-President bonspiel at the local Curling Club. The results in favour of Cruthers were 115-69—almost as surprising as some of the election returns that came from the polling sub-divisins last evening.

The president, Dr. N. H. Sutton took his loss philosophically enough, and even maintained his sense of proportion so far as to wish every individual in the large crowd of curlers on hand a Happy New Year. He also handed out the customary cigars.

Yesterday's curling activity the first of the New Year ushers in the curling season proper, and schedule games are to commence at seven-thirty this evening.

Results of yesterday's 'spiel was as follows: Sutton 7 vs. Cruthers 15; Downey 5 vs. Seymour 8; Green 8 vs. Moore 8; Kay 7 vs. Cairns 11; Metcalfe 10 vs. Dobbin 12; Richmond 5, vs. N. Hamley 15; Sedgewick 12 vs Marshall 9; Bissell 3 vs. Oke 11; Donaldson 7 vs. Turner 10; Howden 5 vs. Westbrooke 16.

The schedule for to-night is as follows: Bissell vs. Davidson; Donaldson vs. L. I. Hamley; Howden vs. Moore; Oke vs. Seymour; Cruthers vs. Downey; Foote vs. Green.

PORT HOPE, January 3. — Cobourg Intermediates defeated Port Hope 4-3 last night in twenty minutes of overtime, Tocy Ibey scoring the winning goal with 15 seconds to go. It was the opening O.H.A. game of the season here.

Appointed Captain

Following their workout yesterday morning at the Brock street arena, the Peterborough intermediates named Ted LeBarr, husky defenseman, captain of the team for 1933. The players had a stiff hour and a half drill, Manager Eddie Wright finding their long lay-off harmful and ordering plenty of work. They will practice from seven to eight this evening at the Brock, and continue up there every evening if there is any ice, till they go to Port Hope Friday. The manager believes they are shaping up fair and should be in top form again when they open their season the end of the week.

MR. GOSHAWK'S GREAT MISTAKE

The craftiest and cleverest, the strongest, and the bold.
Like other folks they make mistakes, young, middle-aged and old.

You see they are not so different from the rest of us after all. It may be that they do not make mistakes as often as some of us, but they do make them, and they have to abide by the results. Even clever Old Man Coyote and sly Reddy Fox have been in all sorts of trouble more than once because of mistakes they have made.

Now, it did seem as if Mr. Goshawk ought to be able to get along without making a serious mistake if anybody could. He was big, strong, fierce, swift, and fearless. He had all of the Green Forest and all of the Green Meadows and all of the Old Pasture in which to hunt. And if these didn't suit him he could move on. But they did suit him, for he showed no signs of leaving them. Hunting was good and he was getting more than he could eat. There was absolutely no one among all of the furred and feathered folk whom Mr. Goshawk feared. He had things quite his own way.

In His Great Claws Mr. Goshawk Was Clutching a Pigeon.

Yet, Mr. Goshawk made a mistake, a very serious mistake. He certainly did. Peter Rabbit saw him do it. So did Mrs. Grouse. They were sitting snug and safe in the dear Old Brier Patch talking over the dreadful fear that the Gray Terror, as they called Mr. Goshawk had brought to the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, and wondering how many of their friends and neighbors would be alive by spring if he should remain all winter, when Peter broke right short off wfhat he was saying and stared across to the Green Forest.

"There he is now!" exclaimed Peter under his breath.

Mrs. Grouse looked. Sure enough there was Mr. Goshawk above the tops of the Green Forest. He headed straight toward the dear Old Brier Patch and as he passed over it Peter and Mrs. Grouse had so flattened themselves out on the ground beneath the friendly branches that they looked so much like the brown leaves on the ground that even Mr. Goshawk's sharp eyes failed to see them.

On he flew and with sighs of relief Peter and Mrs. Grouse sat up to watch him. Presently he turned and headed straight toward Farmer Brown's barnyard. Peter stretched himself as high as he could and his eyes grew round with excitement. "He ought to have sense enough to keep away from there but I'm glad he hasn't," muttered Peter. "He's making a mistake as sure as my name is Peter Rabbit."

Suddenly Mr. Goshawk shot down with the swiftness of a thunderbolt. Peter and Mrs. Grouse saw a little cloud of white and dark specks rise from Farmer Brown's farmyard and scatter in all directions. Among them the larger form of Mr. Goshawk could be seen darting this way and that. Presently he swept up high in the air and headed back toward the dear Old Brier Patch. As before Peter and Mrs. Grouse made themselves as flat as possible. But the Gray Terror didn't so much as glance down as he passed over them headed straight for the Green Forest. As they looked up with terror in their eyes Peter and Mrs. Grouse saw that in his Great claws Mr. Goshawk was clutching a pigeon. It was one of Farmer Brown's Boy's pigeons.

"He'll go there after more and keep going there until Farmer Brown's Boy discovers what is happening," said Peter, "And then—"

"Then what?" asked Mrs. Grouse, as Peter failed to finish his remark.

"Then Mr. Goshawk is likely to find out what a mistake he has made by not keeping away from there," declared Peter. "And it may be that something will happen to him, and I won't care if it does," he added.

After having been hidden by the photographer for two years lest he get into trouble with the government, this spectacular photo showing the actual execution of Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of President-elect Alvaro Obregon of Mexico, has just come to light. Toral is shown smilingly facing the firing squad. He had just uttered the word "Viva" when the rifles crashed out and ended his life. Lower insert is an excellent photo of President-elect Obregon, made shortly before his murder. Upper insert is a close-up of Toral after his arrest.

BELMONT HELD BY STEENBURGH

Council—McNeely, Vansickle, Anderson, With Lasswade Deciding Bannon or Whitney.

CLOSE CONTEST.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — Surprises are many in municipal elections, but the united townships of Belmont and Methuen seemed to surpass all on record this year. At the earliest stage it looked good for C. F. Steenburgh, the old reeve, then public opinion seemed to favor W. E. Griffith, a former reeve. General talk said a close election, but Christie Steenburgh came romping down the home stretch with a good majority. It will not be known definitely until some time this afternoon just what Mr. Steenburgh's majority will be, but it is almost certain it will be somewhere near the fifty mark. Lasswade, the lone north pole, is still unheard from. This will say whether Thomas Bannan or Norris Whitney is the fourth man on township council.

The present standing is: Reeve, C. F. Steenburgh; Council, Joseph E. McNeely, Harry Vansickle, Isaac Anderson and Thomas Bannon. There is a possibility that Norris Whitney may replace Thomas Bannon. Lasswade will tell the tale, as it has for so many of the hot elections in this vicinity.

Packed Hall

Never was such interest shown in the township election as there was this year. The town hall was packed to the very doors. Edward Fennell, village treasurer, presided over the gathering and Reeve Steenburgh was first called upon. He said the last two years had been very hard ones for all concerned, and there had been much faultfinding about the small sum expendided on the township roads; but we were away behind and had to cut down all expenditures in order to decrease the deficit, which we did. He again assured the ratepayers who were behind in their taxes that everything would be done during the coming year to reduce the taxes and provide work on the roads to reduce the amount of uncollected taxes. This would apply to all, even those who voted against him would receive the same help.

W. E. Griffith next took the platform and said it had not been his intention to run this year; in fact, he had not been present at the nominations on Monday. It was only after much persuasion on the part of his friends that he allowed his name to go out on the ballots. "I am more than pleased," to quote Mr. Griffith, that my good friend, Mr. Steenburgh, won out. It was only to be loyal to my friends that I ran. I will always be ready to help out the old township of Belmont in any way that I can. On my part there has been absolutely no mud slinging whatever, and I would ask that anyone in this large audience who ever heard me say one disrespectful word about my opponent to come forward I am money in pocket but I am always at your service. The old council and some of your old reeves are all behind your reeve and he needs all the help obtainable. He has a hard row to hoe.

Thomas Bannon

Thomas Bannon was the only other member of the township council present on the platform and spoke briefly about some of the election rumors. "One of the outstanding ones was that Mr. F. F. Fry had given him a brand new fifty-dollar violin to run as councillor. He had fully intended bringing along the violin in question but had forgotten it. He did not deny this right away, but after playing with his listeners and getting them really interested in the violin rumor, he announced that Mr. Fry had loaned the instrument and that it was 18 months previous to the election. He felt that he shouldn't talk too much since he didn't know how he stood—Lasswade might decide in favor of Whitney.

LEESON RULES HAVELOCK AGAIN

Record Poll Registered to Give Last Year's Reeve Majority Over Sanderson.

DEBATE FOLLOWS.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 3. (Examiner Correspondent)—While not as close as last year's village election it was most interesting and hot from the very start with Reeve Ernest J. Leeson winning from his opponent former Reeve Richard Sanderson by a healthy majority.

The increased interest taken in municipal affairs combined with the fine weather on election day were in no small way responsible for the record poll. Never has the town hall been so packed with really interested taxpayers as it was last night to hear some lively debating on the part of the two men who battled for the reeveship.

T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., was the first speaker on the program and told his listeners that they should be pleased that they live in Canada, since it has not been feeling the depression as much as most other countries, as the United States. He said the high tariffs raised by our neighbours to the south resulted in a great decrease in the amount of farm produce, etc., that had been exported during the past year. He gave a few figures and went on to say that about the only live cattle purchased by the American farmers were a few thoroughbreds to improve their stock herds. He urged the people to let all irritations that might have arisen drop and to get behind their new council and "if you have any criticism to offer let it be constructive and for the betterment of the village."

Reeve Leeson then said he hadn't expected such a large majority but was confident that the voters would show their confidence in him, which they did. He was more than pleased with the record vote polled.

Richard Sanderson

Former Reeve Richard Sanderson told his audience that he had not been surprised at the result. "There has been a great deal of mud-slinging." I don't think that a nice friendly campaign should have been spoiled in that way." One of the rumors was that if I was returned as reeve I would force some of our old tax payers who are in arrears. Now you know that I wouldn't do a thing like that. I have been in almost every election in one way or another since I came here and I never saw one like this."

Mr. Sanderson continuing: "On the Saturday night before the election just after dark a circular letter was dropped at everone's door in town except mine. It told of all that had been done during the past year and what was going to be done this year. It was too late for me to get out a reply. Had it been on Friday I might have replied on Saturday, but I wasn't given a chance. I will say this: If I ever get in again, I'll not stoop to those tactics. You have in your newly elected councillor, Mr. Bruce Longmuir, a good man. I have worked with him on the road for the last few years and always found him good. I am not going out to knock the village this year but will help it along in any way that I can."

"Would you dismiss the policeman if you had been made reeve, Mr. Sanderson" was the query fired at the speaker by John Kinnaird from the audience. Mr. Sanderson replied: "I didn't want to discuss that matter, it is too vital a question. I only said that if returned I would do as the majority wanted. That policeman issue is just another of the arguments used against me. I defy anyone to say that I said the policeman would go."

Councillor Seeney

Councillor Ernest Seeney spoke briefly, saying that when pocket books are low economy should be the keynote of council meetings. He added that someone said the old council were all right to take the people for rides on election day but after that they were entirely forgotten. He added humorously that he would take them any time."

Harvey Gordon the next councillor said he would try to do as well as he had during the past terms and always strive to serve the town well.

Alfred Spencer, senior councilman was glad that such an interest was taken in the election and praised the new member, Bruce Longmuir. didn't know there had beenn any mud-slinging and congratulated Mr. Seeney on heading the polls. adding that if he (Seeney) came out as reeve some year, no doubt he would run alone as he would be too good to run against.

Joshua Parcels, defeated candidate for councillor, thanked all who voted either for or against him.

John Howe, defeated candidate with five years' experience, said you were put on the council for what you didn't do, and not for what you did. He gave that as his reason for being turned down, since he had always worked hard for the village.

No Promises

William Copp, one of the new members of the school board that went in by acclamation was the only representative of that body and declined to make any promises as to what he would do; but urged the people to come to the board as a whole with their grievances and not to him personally. The other members of the board are Bernard Smith and William Bullied for a term of two years, while Bert Wannamaker replaces F. Post for a one year term.

Reeve Leeson

Reeve Ernest Leeson then replied to Mr. Sanderson, "Four years ago Mr. Sanderson won over me by 84 of a majority. I found no fault with his campaign. I lay quiet for three years and then came out last year and won by four of a majority. If a financial statement had been brought out on the 15th of December, 1931, with the necessary information thereon, I wouldn't have contested the chair. The statues say plainly that the reeve shall assist the treasurer to prepare a proper financial statement.

There has been no mud-slinging. Mr. Sanderson had the same chance to get out a circular letter as I did.

Mr. Sanderson again: Mr. Leeson's arguments are good. He refers always to the statement. Mr. Fennell made a mistake in the nominations. Did Mr. Leeson take the blame? I am quite aware of the clause in the statues concerning the statement. You all know that I was busy on the railway at the time and knowing Mr. Fennell had much experience in municipal affairs I left them after with him and without my knowledge it went forward without either of our names appearing thereon. I went to Mr. Fennell about it but it was too late. The statement is only a mess of figures and doesn't mean a thing. I offered to pay for the services of a chartered accountant to go over the auditor's report if they thought there was anything the matter with it. Mr. Leeson issued debentures to take care of the deficit yet he says he was burdened with a heavy deficit.

Dropped

Mr. Fennell, as chairman, then said that they could talk indefinitely about the financial statement and they wouldn't get anywhere. "It is a difference of opinion. Some censure the clerk, some the reeve, some the ex-Reeve but where does it get you. Let us drop the matter." He tactfully brought what might have been a long drawn out debate to a close by asking all to signify by a hearty clap that they were in favour of leaving the matter just as it was.

The hall was then turned over to the citizens, both young and old, to have their annual dance to the tune of local music.

G. B. STEVENSON ELECTED REEVE

Defeats Dr. J. H. Hess in Hastings Village by 193 to 174 Votes.

WARNER ON HYDRO

(Special to The Examiner)

HASTINGS, Jan. 3.—George B. Stevenson was elected reeve of Hastings yesterday by a majority of 19, defeating Dr. J. H. Hess by 193 to 174 votes.

Mr. Stevenson is widely known throughout the district as a representative of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Association. He entered the municipal field a year ago as a candidate for the village Hydro Light and Power Commission and was successful in his first appeal to the ratepayers.

At the recent nominations he was proposed for the reeveship against Dr. J. H. Hess, and emerged from yesterday's strenuous engagement at the head of the polls.

W. J. Warner was elected Hydro Commissioner with 180 votes to A. M. Brooks' 168, a majority of twelve. The other commissioners are Walter M. Fowlds and Reeve-elect Stevenson.

John Doherty, Ed. Fleming, Sam Hatherly and Howard Fairman were the successful candidates for council.

The complete returns for this department of the municipal elections were:

John Doherty, 223; Ed. Fleming, 184; Sam Hatherly, 168; Howard Fairman, 151; and A. G. Parker, 137; J. J. Perrault, 129, and Reg. Chapman, 87.

George Stevenson's victory is accentuated by the facts that he was a new candidate for council, and especially that he was opposed to the veteran Dr. Hess who has been recognized as one of the prominent members of the council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham during his terms as Reeve of Hastings.

Cash Surplus Left For Belmont School

BLAIRTON, Jan. 3.—With a fair attendance of the ratepayers of the section present, the annual school meeting of S.S. No. 9, Belmont was held in the school building at Blairton.

David Little was elected chairman for the meeting and Charles McFall, secretary.

The financial report for the current year was read to the meeting by the secretary of the school board, J. W. Russel.

This report showed expenditures for the year of $1427.40, which with total receipts amounting to $1649.-37, left a surplus of $221.97. While this surplus is somewhat less than that of last year ,the drop was explained by the 10 per cent cut in Government grants, and an increase in necessary expenditures. The average daily attendance of pupils for the year was 21.07.

The auditors reported finding the accounts in satisfactory shape.

Extracts were read of a letter from the Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers' Association urging the affiliation of the local school board. On motion no action was taken.

James W. Russel was elected trustee for a further term of three years. Mr Russel has served on the board as trustee and secretary for a period of twenty-one years to date.

Raymond B. Collett was elected auditor for the ensuing year.

Following spirited bidding, the contract for the wood supply was awarded to Alex McFall at the extremely low figure of $3.50 per cord; wood to consist of four and one half cords hardwood and one-half cord pine or cedar. This is the lowest price paid in many years and no doubt reflects the general trend of prices. Last year the price was five dollars per cord.

The meeting was then adjourned.

A very enjoyable social was held in the hall under the auspices of the C.W.L. Cards were played at some twenty tables and the prizes were won by Mr. W. C. 2ND BATTALION DRAWS CLOSER TIES OF EMPIRE

Canadian Unit Becomes Affiliated With Unit in Australia.

LETTERS INTERCHANGED.

Second Canadian Battalion Was Drawn From Eastern Ontario.

OTTAWA, Jan. 4. (CP) — The ties of Empire continue to be woven around Canada and her sister-states of the British Commonwealth. The latest evidence is the precedent created by a battalion association of the old Canadian corps which, adopting the time-honored principle of inter-regimental alliances to veterans associations, has established an affiliation with the battalion association of a unit of the Australian corps. Announcement is made today of the alliance between the 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion Association and its visi-a-vis in Australia—the 2nd Battalion (Australian Imperial Force) Association.

The affiliation follows an interchange of letters between the executive officers of the two associations. From the correspondence emerged a suggestion that "the principle of inter-regimental alliances followed by units of the active forces throughout the Empire might be pursued further, so as to embrace those associations representing the war-time battalions of the Canadian and Australian corps."

Writing to Col. L. T. McLaughlin, C.M.G., D.S.O., of Bowmanville, Ont., former commanding officer of the 2nd Canadian Battalion, Lieut. Col. E. E. Herrod, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., of the 2nd Australian Battalion, declares that "without any hesitation we decided to adopt your suggestion and have become affiliated. Please accept our thanks for the suggestion and convey to your members the appreciation we feel because of your very happy thought."

The 2nd Canadian Battalion was drawn originally from Eastern Ontario, and its association has large and active branches in Ottawa, (which embraces the Ottawa Valley from Pembroke eastward to Brockville), Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough. The 2nd Australian Battalion was a unit recruited and reinforced from New South Wales.

SAN FANCISCO, Jan. 4 (A.P.)—Three persons were reported burned to death in a fire which swept through a 4-story apartment house in downtown San Francisco early to-day. Four others were taken to hospitals. None of the reported dead or injured was immediately identified.

Patrolman Walter Harrington reported seeing the bodies when he entered the blazing building but was prevented by flames and smoke, and his desire to save the living, from recovering any of the bodies.

Two of the injured were women who jumped from third story windows to the street below without waiting for firemen to spread life nets.

30 CREW KILLED AS FRENCH LINER BURNS AT SEA

Fire Breaks Out as Pride of S. American Run is Headed for Overhaul.

NO PASSENGERS ABOARD.

Ships Rushing to Scene Pick Up 170 Sailors Standing By in Lifeboats.

CHERBOURG France, Jan. 4.— (A.P.)— Captain Schoof, master of the French liner L'Atlantique, reported to-night that 30 of his crew were killed when the vessel was destroyed by fire in the English channel to-day.

It was the men in the boiler rooms who were burned to death, he told the port authorities. Others were overcome by smoke before they could escape.

CHERBOURG, France, Jan. 4. (AP)—The crack French liner L'Atlantique, serving in the South American run, was wrecked by fire of undetermined origin in the English Channel early to-day.

The crew of about 170 were rescued by the German steamer Ruhr after abandoning the Atlantique, which carried no passengers and was enroute to drydock at Havre for the annual overhauling.

The Maritime prefect at Cherbourg sent the Minelayer Pollux to the scene while other boats were held ready to assist, but the liner was believed lost. The fire was continuing.

Meagre reports indicated the entire crew of about 170 members was rescued from the burning ship but it was unknown here where they would be landed, the scene of the fire beng 75 miles from Cherbourg.

A tug from Brest joined others at the scene, it was reported, that numerous ships were standing by.

The liner L'Atlantique, 41,000 tons and 225 metres long, was launched in September 1931. It was the pride of the South American service in which it had only made 10 trips. It was enroute to Havre for an annual renovation when the fire occurred.

It was the second fire occurring on a large French liner within a year. The Georges Phillipar, also a new and luxurious vessel but owned by a different line in the

FLOOD NEARING CAYUGA VILLAGE

Citizens Prepare to Move Household Effects as Waters Creep Up.

ICE JAM IN GRAND RIVER.

CAYUGA, Ont., Jan. 4.—(CP)—was backing up the water. The ice to move their household effects on a moment's notice as a result of an ice jam in the Grand river which was backing up the water. The ice broke up ytsterday afternoon but jammed from bank to bank again last night. This is the third breakup this season. A jam in the bend below Cayuga always means trouble residents of the village declare. Two weeks ago the river broke for the first time and swept clear everything in its path as far as the bend below Cayuga where a peculiar formation of the banks and river bed causes the ice to lodge. Although there was little flooding at that time, the barrier remained, causing much anxiety. The second flood which began yesterday piled ice and debris behind the already substantial jam, and today the water was high.

Observers declared however, if weather grew colder as predicted the danger would be averted. Some surplus water was finding its way beneath the ice jam and relieving the pressure somewhat.

BANK LOOTED OF $12,000

HOT WATER PLAN TO SOLVE HYDRO POWER SURPLUS

Engineers Busy on Scheme to Suply All Homes With Simple Heater.

LOW RENTAL.

Control Would Be Through Central Station After Excess Current Absorbed.

LONDON, Ot., Jan 4.—(CP)— A scheme may soon be launched in Ontario by which costly surplus of Hydro power will be absorbed and at the same time Hydro-equipped homes will be given a constant supply of hot water at low cost.

Ontario Hydro engineers are now working on a plan to equip all homes with a simple type of hot water heater. The heaters will be rented at a nominal figure.

Such plan, it was explained today by E. V. Buchanan, manager of the London Public Utilities commission who formulated the scheme and who at the request of the commission here brought it to the attention of the Ontario Hydro Commission, would immediately solve the surplus problem.

Mr. Buchanan points out, however the surplus power problem is temporary only. In the near future, he visions shortage rather than surplus, so he goes a step further in his recommendation to make the plan a permanent one.

Central Station Control

He urges that when the surplus is absorbed, heaters be operated in off-peak hours and hot water stored to carry through peak loads. To make this possible, heaters are to be controlled by central or substations in each municipality. When the peak load arrives the heaters are to be turned off by the pressure of a button in a central station.

In addition to low rental and heat at a flat rate, the storage tank should be the only cost to consumers, it was explained, and Mr. Buchanan pointed out a large number of homes are already so equipped.

Hydro engineers have been working on the plan for weeks and they have practically completed their labors, Mr. Buchanan said. Further details of the plan he is unable to divulge at present.

NEW INSTRUCTOR FOR CADETS IS RECOMMENDED

Committee Favors Continuance of Cadet Training at Collegiate.

COST TO CITY SMALL.

Officers' Training Corps For Older Boys is Also Recommended.

Inability of the instructor to maintain proper discipline and lack of supervision of the corps as a part of the school training were ascribed as the chief reasons for the failure of Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School Cadet Corps to merit approval of the inspecting officer at the last annual inspection.

Such were the findings as contained in a written report tendered to the Board of Education last evening by John R. Marshall, chairman of the special committee appointed to review the situation.

Among the recommendations contained in the report were that the present instructor be relieved of his duties so far as the Cadet Corps is concerned; that the principal be asked to assume proper supervision of the corps in order that the school may have as much pride in the corps as in other branches of school activity; and that the cadet training be confined to boys in the first, second and third forms and the vocational classes, and that cadet training be compulsory for boys of seventeen years and under, unless a doctor's certificate grants exemption from service.

It was further recommended that another instructor be appointed on terms to be approved by the board, and that the new instructor create an officers' training corps for boys of the senior forms, in order to provide for competent officers to take command of the newly organized unit.

Report Deferred for Consideration.

Considerable discussion developed on the issue following reading of the report, and largely due to the unavoidable absence of H. R. H. Kenner, the school principal, the report of the committee was deferred for consideration at the next regular meeting of the board in February, with the expectation that the principal would be present.

Unanimous opinion of the board appeared to be for the retention of the Cadet Corps, as being a valuable adjunct to the school life and a means of teaching a boy the true value of discipline and self-control, when the unit was re-established under proper supervision.

The special committee appointed to conduct the investigation consisted of John R. Marshall, chairman, and Dr. G. R. Scott and I. P. McNabb.

During the course of discussion Dr. Moir wanted to know what the cost had been to the board for maintaining the Cadet Corps.

Cost Negligable.

Mr. Marshall replied that during the past ten years the cost had been completely borne by the De-

Case Is Referred By Government To Appeal Court

Henry Walter Reid Sentenced to Hang On January 6 Has Been Granted a Reprieve Until February 10 by Federal Government.

ACTION TAKEN BY GOVERNMENT IS UNUSUAL THOUGH NOT AN UNPRECEDENTED COURSE.

Case Is Referred to the Appeal Court Where Procedure Be Same As If Reid Had Personally Appealed.

TORONTO, January 4 (C.P.). — Henry Walter Reid, sentenced to be hanged at Peterborough on January 6, for the murder of a man named "Butch" Thomas, was reprieved until February 10, on the order of Mr. Justice W. H. Wright of the Ontario Appeal Court to-day.

The case had been referred to the Appeal Court by the Federal Government.

Reid was sentenced to han on October 15 by Hon. Mr. Justice Wright following his conviction before a jury. At the time of being sentenced he said he wished to appeal, but he had no money.

Reid was found guilty of murdering Harry Thomas, of Belleville, unemployed war veteran, early on the morning of September 3.

The body of Thomas was found in an old boathouse in the local "jungle" with a knife wound through the heart.

Police immediately rounded up all the transients and a search immediately started for Reid, who was known as "the Michigan Kid"; "The Yank" and "Wire" McDonald. Reid was arrested a couple of days later on a farm in Douro township, where he had secured work. "The Wire" was arrested in Huntsville the following Saturday, but on instructions from Chief Newhall was not held. "The Yank" has never been heard of.

Examiner Regrets Omission of Name

Through one of those mechanical errors that happen, even to the best regulated newspapers, the name of I. P. McNabb was omitted from the list of candidates for the Board of Education as published in Saturday's issue.

Mr. McNabb's name appeared in the copy but in the setting up of the article was inadvertently left out.

The Examiner regrets this unfortunate omission, realising that it might have had some effect upon Mr. McNabb's chances for re-election. It was entirely an accident, one of the kind that makes newspaper publishers and staffs old before their time.

COUNTERFEITER UNDER ARREST

Police Hold Man Believed Connected With Huge Canadian-American Ring.

DEVELOPMENTS PENDING.

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 4.—(C.P.)—A man described as "Count" Enrique Von Buelow, otherwise known as plain Hans Dechow, was held incommunicado to-day in connection with a large-scale counterfeiting ring which operated in Canada and half a dozen other countries.

Dechow was seized last night by secret service agents as he arrived in a plane from Montreal. A dapper, undersized man, he was described as a "very important prisoner" by the agents, who instructed police to let no one near him.

It is charged that he delivered $30,000 bogus currency to Montreal agents of a New York counterfeiting ring which has connections in Canada, Mexico, Guatemala and other countries.

Alan O. Straight, head of the secret service in New oYrk City, refused to discuss the arrest. Developments were impending, he said, which made it unwise to do so.

It is believed that the secret service, which has unearthed more counterfeiters and counterfeiters' plants in the last year than ever before in one year, is on the track of another syndicate which has been distributing counterfeit American money in Canada, Mexico, Guatemala and possibly other Central American countries.

MAIL ROBBERS STEAL $175,000

Four Registered Pouches Taken From Depot at Minneapolis.

TOTAL MAY BE HIGHER.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4. (AP) — The Chicago Herald and Examiner said to-day it had heard reports that bonds and currency amounting to $175,000, had been taken in the theft of registered mail pouches from the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad depot at Minneapolis. The robbery occurred last night.

The newspaper said that four pouches in all were taken in the robbery and that the reports it had were that while an estimate of the complete loss could not be made, it was known that $175 000 was missing. The mail, it added, was to have come to Chicago from Minneapolis on "the Olympian" crack Pacific Coast train of the Milwaukee line.

Chicago postal inspectors were mobilized to help Minneapolis inspectors in their search for the band of robbers who committed the theft.

FINED $10.

SARNIA.—Byron Johnson, 42-year-old Walpole Island Indian, held as a material witness in connection with the death of Mrs. Florence Shipman, 45, also of Walpole Island Reserve, pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of intoxication. He was fined $10 and costs of $7.85, which he paid. No other charge was read against him and he was not returned to custody.

DIVER P. HILL RAISES BODY OF W. THOMPSON

Truck Was Removed From Stoney Lake on Tuesday.

SEARCH TERMINATED.

Task Very Hazardous as Ice is in Dangerous Condition.

The body of William Thompson was recovered from Stoney Lake thirty feet beneath the surface of the water at about one o'clock to-day, according to information that was received by Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield.

Hope that the body would be recovered had lent renewed strength to the band of workers as they resumed their sad task at daybreak to-day. Details as to the manner in which the body was recovered were lacking at the time of going to press.

Late yesterday afternoon the motor truck in which Mr. Thompson had been driving with his wife and three grand children from Mount Julian to Peterborough and which crashed through the ice on Monday morning was lifted from the water. Removal of the truck from the water was regarded as an extremely hazardous undertaking, and the large number of men who laboured throughout the day virtually risked their own lives in view of the dangerous condition of the ice, which threatened to break through under the strain that was imposed upon it.

With the truck out of the way, the task of Percy Hill, Lakefield diver and a close friend of the Thompson family was somewhat simplified.

Fred Kiff of Peterborough, a diver on the Trent Canal staff worked at the scene of the fatality on Monday afternoon, and was relieved of duty when Mr. Hill volunteered to dive in an effort to locate the body. He had wished to go down into the icy depths, being anxious to render what service he could to the family, in their tragic bereavement in the name of friendship.

Movements Hampered

Mr. Hill descended to the bottom of the lake yesterday, but his movements were hampered to some extent by the ton motor truck that was suspended overhead dangling at the end of a long rope. Consequences of the possibility of the truck breaking loose from its precarious position can best be imagined, and its removal from the water had given rise to the confident hope that the diver would have to-day. The hope was well fulfilled.

Drags were being employed this morning, in conjunction with the diving operations.

G. A. Gillespie who had remained at the scene of the fatality and who had offered untiring assistance to the other workers, told The Examiner shortly before he set out for Stoney Lake this morning, "it took Hill until four o'clock yesterday afternoon to get the truck out of the water. All day the workers toiled at great disadvantage. They never knew when the ice on which they stood might collapse. It was in bad condition."

He added, "now that the truck has been removed I am hopeful that the body will be recovered some time today."

Safer in Prison

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 4 (A.P.)— Prison pallor is a thing of the past. Penitentiary inmates who don't get their share of good health by working on the rock pile manage to do so by getting plenty of exercise on the prison football team.

The prison physician reported that the death rate for 1932 was but 3.5 per thousand, which means it's a lot safer inside than out.

500 Bodies Strew Ruins Of Streets As Defenders Flee

Casualties Among Civilians Run Into Huge Total—Gunboats, Airoplanes, Infantry and Tanks Unite In Attack—Shellfire Flattens South Wall.

VICTORS DENY THEY WILL ADVANCE FAR; CHINESE REFORMING LINE MILE BACK.

PEIPIN, Jan. 4.—(Wednesday.)—The walled Chinese city of Shanhaikwan, which, it was said here this morning, fell into the hands of the Japanese after their third attack late on Tuesday, was reported today to be nothing but a smoking ruin.

In the repeated attacks 500 Chinese troops were killed. The Japanese used tanks during two hours of fierce fighting in the streets.

It was understood that almost the entire south wall of Shanhaikwan was flattened by shell-fire.

The Chinese were believed to have reformed their lines a mile southwest of the city, and were preparing to offer further resistance.

Japanese military leaders said their forces pursued the fleeing Chinese soldiers "a short distance" southward along the tracks of the Mukden Railway, but that they "did not intend to proceed far."

Terribly as the Chinese troops apparently suffered in the combat, it was stated that civilian non-combatants suffered even more. No estimate was available of the number of citizens killed, but casualties were believed to be enormous.

It was reported that three additional Japanese warships had arrived off Chingwangtao, a few miles south of Shanhaikwan, and had made an attempt to land Japanese marine units.

The marines, however, were repulsed by Chinese forces. It was also reported that a Japanese aircraft carrier arrived at Tanoku, at the mouth of the river below Tientsin.

Tokio Hears Reports

TOKIO, Jan. 4 — Japanese military communiques reaching here to-day said that eight Japanese soldiers were killed and thirty-one wounded in the Japanese army's occupation of Shanhaikwan and environs.

These communiques said that quiet reigned early to-day at the Chinese walled city of Shanhaikwan, following Tuesday's pitched battles, in which Japanese gunboats, aircraft and army units participated.

All information available here indicated that the Chinese main forces had retreated in disorderly fashion southwestward from Shanhaikwan, but the Japanese under Major-Gen. Suzuki halted their

BOMB WRECKS COURT HOUSE

Blast Feared First Outbreak in Fresh Campaign of Terrorism.

DOUKHOBOR DISTRICT.

NELSON, B.C., January 4 (C.P.)—Feared as the first outbreak in a campaign of terrorism, a time bomb placed on a small stairway, caused considerable damage to the Provincial Court House here.

Forty government employees were in the building on Tuesday afternoon when it was rocked by the explosion of the bomb. Walls were torn out, windows smashed, and the stairway wrecked.

City and Provincila Police had investigators working to-day, but they were without a clue to the perpetrators of the outrage.

Centre of the Doukhobor colonists, this section of British Columbit has been the scene of bomb explosions in the past. Eight years ago, Peter "Lordly" Verigin, father of the present leader of the Doukhobors, was killed by an explosion aboard a passenger train. In 1931 the grave of the former leader was bombed, and its monument, perched on a mountain shelf at Brilliant, B.C. shattered.

To-day Peter Verigin, Jr., is a prisoner at Prince Albert Penitentiary, awaiting deportation at the expiration of a sentence which followed his conviction last February on a charge fo perjury.

COSGRAVE AIMS TO END CONFLICT WITH U. KINGDOM

Free State Opposition Leader States He Will Seek Trade Pact.

FARMERS TO AID.

Republicans on Run Before People's Wrath and Their Own Folly.

DUBLIN, Jan. 4.—William T. Cosgrave, Opposition Leader, launched his general election campaign last night with a vigorous speech here, in which he declared his Gummann na nGaedheal Party stands for cessation of economic warfare with the United Kingdom, and conclusion of an Anglo-Irish trade pact.

Conferences Held

Mr. Cosgrave lost little time in getting his campaign under way for the general election of Jan. 24, called Monday night by the Republican Government of President Eamon de Valera.

He made his first speech soon after a long conference with Deputy Frank McDermott, leader of the four Farmer members of the Dail Eireann, while William Norton and his Labor group, which held the balance of power in the Dail, conferred elsewhere.

"The Fianna Fail (Republican Party) are on the run before the people's wrath and their own accumulated folly," Mr. Cosgrave said, "and, of course, they are in full flight from the Republic."

After an afternoon caucus, the Opposition issued the text of a resolution, which said:

"That the Cummann na nGaedheal, being the party which must bear the major responsibility during the election in securing the defeat of the present Government, steps to secure national prosperity and progress, welcomes the Lord Mayor's proposal, and hopes all elements concerned will co-operate in giving effect to it."

Urges New Party.

Lord Mayor Alfred Byrne of Dublin proposed the formation of a National Coalition Party.

In an interview yesterday, the Lord Mayor said it was obvious there would not be sufficient time to put his proposal clearly before the people during the short time available for campaigning, but added:

"I still am hopeful, even at this eleventh hour, that the groups (Cumann na nGaedheal, Farmer and Labor) will become allied. I don't know what the result of the election will be, but I hope common sense will prevail over flag-waving."

Mr. Cosgrave let it be known that he and his party had every intention of putting up a hard fight to regain the power they held since the constitution of the Free State until ten months ago, when they were outsted by the Republicans, who gained enough seats to enable them to form a Government with the aid of the Laborites.

"In the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail," Mr. Cosgrave said. "And I feel like 21 instead of 51.

"We are eager for the fray. We are up to our necks at the moment and we are busy making plans for a campaign which must be brief."

Both the Government and the Opposition machines were caught unaware by the sudden decision of the Government to dissolve the Dail, and to the extent that the various groups which may line up behind Mr. Cosgrave were caught before they could bind a coalition, the Government had the upper hand at the start of the campaign.

FRAME UP.

WINDSOR.—A communist plot to "frame" Frank Motruk, East Windsor, was alleged in court today when he was charged with having liquor in an illegal place. Motruk is prominent among anti-communist workers. Magistrate Smith agreed the circumstances were "very suspicious," and dismissed the charge. The defence alleged a can of "monshine" was placed in Motruk's auto just before the police were tipped off.

Help for Dads

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 (A.P.)—When Dr. Herman Bundesen gets through with the fathers of Chicago, they'll know how to bathe their children while their "better halves" are playing bridge.

He is starting baby study classes for the dads in infant welfare stations in response, he said, to demands from fathers pathetically unfamiliar with the safety pins and such.

When the pupils are ready for diplomas there won't be a better-informed group of fathers in the country, he believes.

C.C.F. PLANNING DOMINION BODY

Early Formation to Meet in First Convention Forecast By Woodsworth.

LINE UP PROVINCES.

WINNIPEG, January 4. — Early formation of a Dominion body to meet in the first convention of the newly-formed Canadian Co-operative Commonwealth Federation was forecast here yesterday by J. S Woodsworth, provisional chairman of the organization. The provisional council will meet for the second time in Calgary, January 25.

Chief items on the agenda of the council, said Mr. Woodsworth, Winnipeg Labor member in the House of Commons, will be drafting of a more detailed platform for the organization's entry into Federal politics, and consideration of ways and means of forming associations of C.C.F. clubs, such as that recently organized in Ontario.

Provincial Councils.

Eventually, Mr. Woodsworth indicated, the Dominion body will be formed of delegates elected by the various constituent bodies which may declare their affiliation with the aims of the federation. Meanwhile provincial councils will be formed, from which delegates to the Dominion convention will be named. An announcement from Calgary yesterday said Alberta's provincial council will be formed early in February.

The C.C.F. was formed last summer at Calgary with the intention of federating farmer, labor, and other organizations with Socialist objectives. It was not, Mr. Woodsworth pointed out, strictly a new party, but, as the name indicates, a federation of constituent bodies.

Some of these bodies likely to give greater or less support to the program of the C.C.F. were enumerated by Mr. Woodsworth yesterday as follows: In British Columbia Party; in Alberta, United Farmers of Alberta, Canadian Labor Party; in Manitoba, Independent Labor Party and the United Farmers of Manitoba; in Ontario, United Farmers of Ontario, the Labor Conference, and the Association of C.C.F. clubs; in Quebec, the Canadian Labor Party; in the Maritimes, various organizations as yet not fully organized.

WHEN AN ADULT calls on a family where there are little folks, the way they behave depends upon the adult as well as upon the children.

* * * * * * *

It is true that the Mother has the guidance, but the adult can so mark the way that the children step into it, and it is with difficulty that the Mother can get the guidance control.

* * * * * * *

There are few children who want to be ignored. If they do, they are painfully shy. There are some children who insist upon getting attention and will be distracting in order to get it.

* * * * * * *

Such children will do the most ridiculous things, surprising parents and guests alike, in order to force themselves into the limelight. Then there are children who insist on Mother's attention.

* * * * * * *

Usually this takes the form of extra caresses, making it difficult for her to carry on a conversation. There is a note of jealousy in such exhibitions of affection.

* * * * * * *

It is not matters of discipline, however, that are under discussion, but how an adult can minimize the peculiar difficulties and make it easier for a Mother during a visit.

* * * * * * *

A child when present does not deserve to be ignored. After the greeting the child should have an occasional remark addressed to it between lapses of adult conversation.

* * * * * * *

But to direct much attention to the child brings her too much to the fore, so it is not always the child's fault. The caller does well to realize this before mentally censuring either the mother or the child.

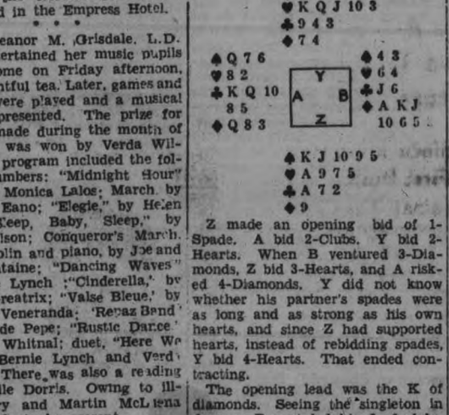
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

WHAT IS THE SAFER MAKE FOR Y-Z?

It is evident that Y-Z may play the hand given below at spades or hearts. As the cards lie, which is the safer make? Whether hearts or spades are trumps, the opening lead will be a diamond.



Z made an opening bid of 1-Spade. A bid 2-Clubs. Y bid 2-Hearts. When B ventured 3-Diamonds, Z bid 3-Hearts, and A risked 4-Diamonds. Y did not know whether his partner's spades were as long and as strong as his own hearts, and since Z had supported hearts, instead of rebidding spades, Y bid 4-Hearts. That ended contracting.

The opening lead was the K of diamonds. Seeing the singleton in dummy, B next led his J of clubs, and dummy's Ace won the trick. Y's K and Q of hearts picked up all opposing trumps in two leads, then he had dummy trump his own last diamond.

Of course Y did not know which way to finesse spades, any more than Z would have The normal method of finessing, when in doubt, is to lead high from the short end of the suit, in order to establish the long end of the suit. If the J of spades were to be led from dummy, A would not be fool enough to put up the Q, and probably the declarer would play his Ace, and come back towards dummy. Let us assume that whatever way Y plays spades that Z would play. If Y dares takes the finesse and wins, he will make a small slam, as he can then discard his last two clubs upon two established spades in dummy. If Y plays his Ace of spades, and finesses in the normal manner, he must lose a spade trick. That with the loss of one diamond trick and two club tricks will defeat his game contract for one trick.

If Z had to play the hand at spades he would have to guess which way to take his spade finesse. If he guesses right, he can make five-odd, as he can then run off five rounds of hearts, and upon the last round he can discard one club. If Z guesses wrong on the spade finesse he will be down one trick.

Y has one very great advantage over Z, because Y can go game without taking any finesse in spades, just as the man who played the hand did. B won one diamond trick, then he shifted to a club lead. Dummy's Ace won the trick. Two rounds of hearts brought down all opposing trumps. Then Y made his smart play. He did not choose to gues which way to take the spade finesse. First dummy ruffed Y's last diamond. He led a losing club, and A won two tricks in that suit. But neither declarer nor dummy held another club or another diamond. Neither A nor B held a heart. A was put in the position of having to let dummy ruff a club or a diamond, while the declarer discarded his only spade that might lose a trick, or else A had to lead a spade and let the trick run to dummy's minor tenace, which surely would give Y the game. It was possible, for all that B knew, for Y to have another diamond. A was unaware that B held seven diamonds. A led a diamond. Y let go his 2 of spades. Dummy trumped. All cards held by Y were now winner, so he made his game without having to guess who held the missing Q of spades. The heart make was decidedly the better declaration, just as Z suspected it might be.

STAMP CORNER

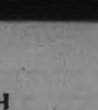
THE HALF-CENT POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA

The stamps as illustrated are now but relics of a past denomination, as far as Canada is concerned. Not since 1908 has Canada issued a half-cent postage stamp, and it is doubtful if another will ever be issued. However, if sufficient use for this low value is found, we may be able to add yet another half-cent stamp to our collections of Canada. Let us take a brief glance at each stamp individually.

This half-cent stamp depicts a bust of Queen Victoria as a rather young woman. It was issued in the year 1868 being the lowest denomination of a set of seven different values This was the first set of postage stamps issued by the Dominion of Canada, all previous issues being those of the Province of Canada. It has therefore considerable historical interest.

The stamp is printed in black, perforated 12, on unwatermarked paper. Two varieties are known, one on watermarked paper, which is very rare, cataloguing at $250 for a used copy. Another variety is known on thin paper. This is worth slightly more than the regular type, which catalogues at $1.50 unused and $1.25 used. Good copies demand well over half catalogue, and are well worth the price asked.



This little fellow was issued in 1862, and was also printed in black. It is in great demand among collectors, due in part, to its reasonable price. It catalogues at 15 cents, and good used or unused copies generally sell for 10 cents. I might add that this is the smallest stamp yet issued by Canada.

This is the lowest value of our 1897 issue, known to collectors as the Maple Leaf set. No numerals appear on any of the stamps of this set, and not being bilingual, there was difficulty among some of the French-speaking citizens of Canada in determining the different values of the stamps, and a new issue was necessary before very long. The half-cent Maple Leaf stamp was printed in black, and catalogues at 15 cents unused and 10 cents used. Fine copies are worth from half catalogue up. This was the first set of stamps issued by Canada bearing this particular portrait of Queen Victoria.

This is an illustration of the half-cent value of the new issue necessitated by the ommission of numerals on the set of Maple Leaf set. Many shade varieties are to be found, ranging from a light gray-black to the deepest jet black. This issue was released in 1898, and is known to collectors as the Numeral issue. You will not that the design of the Maple Leaf and the Numeral issues are almost identical, the exception being the maple leaves in the two lower corners of the first issue which have been replaced by the numerals in the second issue. Thus we find the reason for their name among collectors. This half-cent stamp is still quite low in price, cataloguing at seven cents unused and four cents used.

The illustration above depicts the half-cent value of the Quebec Tercentenary issue of 1908.

A slight change in color was made in this stamp. It is black-brown instead of black, as were the previous half-cent stamps of Canada.

This was the first pictorial commemorative issue of Canada, and was made to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the founding of Quebec, but we will see more of this beautiful issue at a later date.

At the time this issue was made, our present King and Queen, as illustrated on the stamp, were the Prince and Princess of Wales. The stamp is certainly an example of fine engraving, details being very clear, and as the price is still within the reach of everyone you should make a point of having one in your collection before you have to pay more. The catalogue value of this stamp is 10 cents, used or unused.

All of the stamps described in to-day's article have a good future, although some may think they have been rather slow in going up in price. I believe, however, that they are slightly under-catalogued and that we may expect to see them go up in price before very long.

The author will be pleased to answer all questions about stamps or stamp collecting. Address your letter in care of this paper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope for your reply.

NEW INSTRUCTOR FOR CADETS IS RECOMMENDED

partment of National Defence through grants for the instructor and towards the cost of uniforms and equipment.

Dr. Scott—We paid something out for bugles last year, and the board also contributed towards the cost of uniforms some years ago.

At one stage of the discussion Mr. Marshall remarked the committee had found a great deal of the trouble existed among the older boys. He believed that by confining membership to the first three forms in the school it would be possible to have a smaller but more efficient corps. He reasoned that the younger boys just up from public school were keen about cadet work. In the course of a few years the corps would have reached the stage where it would be a real credit to the school, and the entire attitude of the pupils towards it would be so changed that it could then be extended to embrace the older boys.

His remarks inferring that discipline could not be maintained among the older students involved Mr. Marshall in a controversy with his colleagues. Some of them venturing to suggest that the board would be admitting defeat in efforts to keep a high standard of discipline in the schools if that was the attitude.

Mr. Marshall remarked the report did not bear any reference to lack of discipline on the part of the older boys. It had merely been mentioned in course of conversation. What he had wished to stress was that a more efficient unit could be established if it was confined to the boys of the first three forms for the reasons he had previously outlined.

Real Value, Says Dutton.

Mr. Dutton observed that even so the committee would have to admit they had found a lack of discipline among the older boys in the course of their investigation, he believed that if some means could be found whereby the corps could be re-organized to include the older boys it would be the best course to adopt. He hated to think they were prepared to admit there was difficulty in keeping discipline. Certain rules were laid down, he said, and no matter how old a boy might be he must learn to submit to discipline. Discipline was the basis on which the whole thing was founded, and the cadet corps, he thought, could be of real value.

Dr. J. J. Craig was of similar opinion to Mr. Dutton.

Mr. McNabb did not subscribe to the view that was being taken of the question. The committee did not recommend a smaller unit because of the lack of discipline, he maintained. If a boy could not be disciplined, the right course to take was to rule him out of the school. We recommended that the corps hould be re-organized and made maller. We do not admit that we annot make these older boys menable to discipline," he stated rmly.

W. J. Hancock believed that probably the cause of the present situation was due in part to the attitude taken on the question by many parents. A great many of the parents, he thought, did not believe in cadet training at all. If the corps were brought to a higher state of efficiency it would have the effect of altering the viewpoint of persons who now regarded the movement with disfavor, he thought.

Sincere expressions of regret and deeply appreciative reference to the services he has rendered were last evening tendered to James Dutton at the final meeting of the old Board of Education.

Mr. Dutton, who has occupied a seat on the board for four consecutive years, and who has also been a member of the Advisory Vocational Committee for the past six years, two of which he was chairman of the committee, graciously took his bow before the final curtain in deference to the wishes of the electors.

He will be replaced by J. A. McKone, who will again resume a seat on the board at the inaugural meeting Thursday night after an absence of some few years.

In relinquishing the chair which she has occupied during the past year, Mrs. W. R. Morris thanked her colleagues for the harmonious relationship that had existed throughout the last twelve months. She offered congratulations to the three old members who had retained their seats, and also to Mr. McKone, the new member of the incoming board. She regretted that Mr. Dutton had been defeated and referred to him as one of the best informed members of the board and one who had rendered service of inestimable value on the Advisory Vocational Committee.

Dr. A. Moir, who headed the polls on Monday, stated he personally regretted Mr. Dutton's defeat. Dr. J. J. Craig, one of the senior members of the board in years of service, said no one had rendered more consistent service than had Mr. Dutton. Although not a member of the board, he hoped that Mr. Dutton would continue to serve on the Advisory Vocational Committee.

Similar expressions were echoed by Dr. G. R. Scott, E. F. Reid, I. P. McNabb and John R. Marshall

In reply Mr. Dutton first extended his congratulations to the successful candidates. "When a man goes into public life he must be prepared to accept the fortunes of war," he remarked philosophically. "I accept—I can't do anything else—the opinion of the electors," he stated.

He added that when he qualified he determined that he would leave himself entirely to the electorate. He made reference to his enjoyment of the work in connection with the Board of Education, and also the associations he had made during his four-year term in office. He had not begrudged the time he had given as a public servant, and although he had probably had his share of criticism, the work had its compensations.

Something of the genuine value which Mr. Dutton places on vocational education was revealed in the few personal remarks he permitted himself to express. He had a keen interest in the Collegiate and Vocational Institute, he remarked, and for a very good reason.

Mr. Dutton said that he was obliged to leave school at the age of eleven and to go out to earn his living. He was in England at the time and had reached the fourth standard in the elementary school. "It was fortunate for me that there were such things as technical schools," Mr. Dutton said, in making reference to the fact that when he came to Peterborough as a young man he and a fellow bake-house employee attended night school together. It was then that he came to realize the full importance of technical education, and he was glad to-day to see the schools of Peterborough in the present high standing they occupied in the province.

It was through the efforts of himself and other members of the board, he stated, that the Vocational School here was brought into being. He had been fired by a vision of young people who had not previously had the opportunity for specialized education being given the chance in life to which they were entitled.

At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Dutton was accorded an enthusiastic ovation by his former fellow-members of the Board of Education.

H. A. Craig, one of the new members of the Academic teaching staff, who has a splendid overseas war record ,was named as a possible successor to the present instructor, R. C. R. Cummings.

PENITENTIARY CHANGES.

In the stress of the municipal elections the adoption of new regulations for the administration of Canada's penitentiaries did not perhaps receive the attention it merited.

The changes now in force are not revolutionary, involving merely the extension of a number of concessions in the matter of talking, tobacco, etc., to the inmates of the penitentiaries, but they should provide a better atmosphere in these institutions and eliminate some of the ill-will that has led to trouble within recent months.

It is recognized that a penitentiary is a place of punishment, not a boarding-house or a home away from home, and that to coddle those guilty of serious offences against society is a mistaken policy, but most people want fair treatment for those behind prison walls and will approve of the new policy that follows an official investigation into outbreaks at the Portsmouth and St. Vincent de Paul penitentiaries.

No announcement has yet been made as to punishment for the ring-leaders in those outbreaks; public opinion, The Examiner believes, desires that they should be tried in open court, as were similar offenders who rioted in an English prison.

They cannot hope to escape the penalty for their conduct, but at least they are entitled to a trial before the courts of the land.

A SPLENDID VOTE.

A word of general congratulation is due the voters of Peterborough for the manner in which they exercised their franchise on Monday.

It was probably the most widespread expression of public opinion that has yet been given in a local municipal election, and as a demonstration of community interest in the city's business must be viewed as decidedly satisfactory.

Too often many citizens are inclined to leave to others the task of deciding to whom the task of running public business is to be entrusted, and as a rule it is those indifferent persons who are the first to find fault with how that business is being transacted.

It is a dangerous tendency that often opens a way into office for men who do not measure up to their responsibilities, and there are those who believe that such a condition is serious enough to justify the drastic measure of making voting compulsory.

The extent of Monday's vote would seem to indicate that there is no need of such an extreme step here, for citizens of all classes and in every section swarmed to the polls; it was notable, too, that women voters took their full share of responsibility and turned out in large numbers at every polling subdivision.

It is a healthy and an encouraging sign, inasmuch as a community that takes a proper interest in the selection of its municipal governing bodies usually gets a better than average civic government.

IT MUST BE DONE.

Mayor Denne's expression of thanks to the electors yesterday contained a declaration that the community should stand shoulder to shoulder against the common foe, Depression.

Obviously we must pull together in these difficult days if we are to mitigate the evil effects of present conditions.

United the people of Peterborough can do much to carry the community safely through to better times, and it is to be hoped that in the months that lie ahead the spirit of co-operation will cause us to rise triumphant over all our difficulties.

One of the first problems that must be grappled with is that of supplementing our relief funds by voluntary contributions from those who are in a position to assist.

Many of our people must be helped and obviously we cannot throw the whole burden of the city's share upon the taxpayers, for that would mean that it would have to be met by citizens who too many of them are close to the relief line themselves and who find the payment of their taxes a heavy task.

Those who have escaped most lightly, whose incomes are assured, whose purses are still well lined, must come to the rescue in this emergency and do what they can to lift the load from their fellow-citizens.

The Examiner has every confidence that they will measure up to their responsibility when the appeal is made to them.

The good people of this city have never failed to meet the challenge of a worth-while cause.

THE RESULT IN GENERAL.

The outstanding feature of Peterborough's municipal election was undoubtedly the evidence the results contain of the desire of the majority of the voters to retain in office at this time men of experience in public affairs.

As a matter of fact, only one candidate who offered himself for re-election to any of the civic bodies was defeated, and in his case his place is filled by a citizen who has had considerable service on the Board of Education.

Mayor Denne was returned to office for a sixth term; E. R. Shirley goes back for three more years on the Utilities Commission; the three retiring aldermen who asked for another two years on the Council were re-elected, and three out of the four members of the Board of Education whose terms had expired were successful in their candidature on Monday.

In view of the unusual conditions, the unrest that the unemployment of large numbers of people usually creates, the inclination of those in difficulties to try a change in the hope that it might bring better results, this general tendency to stand "pat" was a somewhat remarkable development.

It shows, The Examiner believes, that this community is fortunate in its citizenship which revealed on this occasion a wealth of innate common sense that refused to be stampeded by the depression.

Our people have shown that they can keep their heads, even in a time of stress, and that they can be trusted to put first things first in their consideration of municipal problems.

STARTLING RECORD.

The general public usually pay little attention to statistics. They may be amenable to argument at times, but the production of figures seems to have little effect upon the modern mind, no matter what sort of a story they tell.

But here are a couple of figures which may receive a little more than usual attention. They should, for they impress upon the mind more than anything else, probably, the need for care and courtesy on the highways; and this is a lesson which still needs to be emphasized.

Over in the United States they have a road called the Newburyport turnpike. It runs north of Boston about 30 miles. It is one of the most famous and heavily traveled in the country, and it is also one of the most dangerous. Statistics show that during the last four years 343 people were killed on it and no fewer than 20,000 injured.

There are a couple of figures which are worth remembering. No doubt those 343 people had heard that the road was dangerous; and the other 20,000 could read the signs erected at various points warning them of dangerous curves and awkward spots; and no doubt, also, today there are motorists taking the same chances over the same road.

There are few thirty-mile stretches in this country that hold such a startling record; but there are many places along the highways which demand the exercise of care which many motorists are failing to exhibit. We pride ourselves in our modern inventions, but there is one, namely the automobile, which many people have learned to use, but not to handle in a safe and proper manner.—Chatham News.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S GLAD TIDINGS.

It is appropriate that on the eve of Christmas, when so much of the world turns again to Judea, there should come tidings offering some hope for betterment of present world conditions. This is the possibility of the meaning of President Hoover's gesture to discuss war debts with Britain, to be followed by meetings with other nations, and leading up to a consideration of world-wide problems of trade, exchange and armaments. Whatever may be said of the past attitude of the United States, let us hope this from Mr. Hoover's message to Congress. The message is, at least, some realization of what war debts involve for the whole of the world. There is breadth and force in his concluding sentences:

> "If our civilization is to be perpetuated, the great cause of world peace, world disarmament and world recovery must prevail. They cannot prevail until a path to their attainment is built upon honest friendship, mutual confidence, and proper co-operation among the nations."

It would be easy to indulge in reproaches, to write recriminations, to ask how and wherein the United States has assumed its "share of leadership and responsibility" since the close of the war. But it would be futile. What the world needs to-day is not the spirit which broods over the past, or which thrives on reproaches, but the wisdom and courage to face existing realities, to realize that all the peoples are in the same storm-tossed craft facing a common peril. It is with this realization that Mr. Baldwin has given answer to Mr. Hoover. Between the British note of December 1, indeed, and the President's message to Congress, there is agreement in fundamentals.

What Mr. Hoover proposes—and he indicates that he will carry out his purpose regardless of Congress—is the creation of a United States bi-partisan commission to conduct bilateral discussions on war debts with European nations, beginning with Great Britain. Such discussions would be necessarily concerned with such problems as trade and exchange and currency, thus laying the foundation for the coming World Economic Conference, and preparing the way as well for a more successful consideration of armaments.

No one need doubt but that Britain will agree. It may be said, indeed, that by her steadfast refusal to join with European nations in a common front against the United States, plus her determination not to default, no matter what the cost, Britain has made possible this gesture by Mr. Hoover. America could neither escape from nor ignore the unanswerable logic and the moving world appeal of Britain's note, backed later by the honoring of her bond.

Nor will Britain be the first to stand in the way of a more earnest consideration of disarmament. Increasing European armaments may not be the cause—and they are certainly not the primary cause—of inability to pay war debts, this if for no other reason than that with the wiping out of all European armaments the transfer problem would remain. The truth remains, nevertheless—and Mr. Hoover is well aware of it—that a lessening of armament expenditures would enable European countries to balance their budgets, with this a considerable contribution toward assisting in war debt payments. Therefore, whatever may be said—and much can be said—by a country such as France in answer to United States reproaches about armaments, the reality remains that armaments are a mighty factor in the world's difficulties, grim obstacles in the way of recovery.

But it would be useless at this time to argue this point further. The great thing for the moment is that a new and better hope stands poised on the horizon, that the old post-war attitude of narrow nationalism shows signs of breaking down, and that the world, beset and torn by tribulations, is offered a new faith for recovery.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

So far as has been learned no recount in the local mayoralty contest has been requested.

Mayor William Stewart of Toronto rode back into office on the crest of a tremendous majority. Another case in which the electors declined to take chances of substituting a new mayor for a chief magistrate who had made good.

Toronto electors overwhelmingly rejected a proposal to change the date of the municipal election. Queen City people believe a holiday the best possible time to take a vote.

The township elections contributed a few surprises, as a result of which the County Council personnel will show a number of changes, although in the main the old Council will again be in action.

INHUMAN TREATMENT

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Sir:

Please allow me space in your column, regarding treatment to dumb animals.

A little boy and girl living on Prince street had a pet cat which they trained. It would come when they whistled.

A few days ago the cat got a dose of poison, the kind which acts quickly, and crying for their pet, the owners found it dead a few hours later. Rather inhuman treatment, even to a dumb animal.

CITIZEN.

STREET OFFICIALS HIBERNATED.

Editor Examiner:

There is something savoring of crass inefficiency in the care of our streets in winter.

With hundreds of men idle, and a mass of slush on our streets such as Saturday morning provided, why must pedestrians wade through such a mess till nature removes it?

It is true that many of our business men attend to this and a clean sidewalk is an attractive advertisement. I always avoid going into a business place with a dirty walk in frost of it.

Charlotte street between Park and George is notorious for slushy and slippery sidewalks and the worst offenders are the service stations. Of the six stations with large frontages on this street, the Conger Co. was the only one to clear its walks Saturday morning when conditions were so bad.

Is there no civic department or official responsible for such conditions? The conditions tolerated on this street would be a disgrace to a country village.

Another farce is the snow plowing. Saturday's slush was worse for pedestrians than a heavy snow fall, but there were no snow plows out, at least in the central section, and when they do operate they wait until the snow is packed by traffic. It looks as if our street department officials were hibernating during the winter and allowing the snow plow expenditure to be a waste of public money.

Surely the status of our city demands that at least our business streets be kept in reasonably good condition.

MOHAMMEDAN PILGRIMS PLEAD RIGHT TO DIE ON HOLY SOIL

er. The soldiers have seen previous service in Africa. Fourth class is made up of a heterogeneous crowd of Moors, Arabs, Algerians and other North African natives, who are on their way to the holy cities of Jerusalem and Mecca.

The fourth class passengers have no cabins. They may not go below decks. No meals are prepared for them. They carry their own provisions. They eat, drink and pray on deck. They sleep between bundles and lifeboats. There are women among them, plenty of little babies, too. All wear thin linen garments. I have to put up the collar of my ulster when I go on deck, for the gale that blows is icy. The Mohammedan babies whimper. They are cold and hungry. Their parents sit over them, trying to shield them from the blast. I tried to get into conversation with a magnificent old Arab. He growled at me. Fire played in his black eyes, the fire of hatred. I don't blame him. Last night I watched him as he stood in front of a crowd of fellow-believers, their faces turned into the teeth of the storm. The old man's body swayed to and fro rhythmically, not of cold or exhaustion, but through the ecstasy of prayer. Allah is merciful! The sheik is going to Mecca!

Go Home To Die

Some of the Mohammedan pilgrims are sick unto death. It is doubtful whether they will reach Egypt or Palestine. They pleaded with the ship-doctor to be taken on board at Marseilles. They want to die on holy soil, in the consoling nearness of the holy places, if not in Mecca, then at least in Jerusalem, where Mohammed the Prophet, it is said, rested one night on his flight to heaven. There will be loud wailing and gnashing of teeth, maledictions and heart-rending scenes in Jaffa if the British immigration doctors do not permit these sick men to land.

Services are held daily in the first class cabin. There are several altars. The smell of incense hangs a long time in the low-ceilinged saloon. This afternoon a bishop gave a lecture to the pilgrims on the meaning of the Crusades. At the close of the lecture the nearly two hundred men and women in his party were given little enamel shields with St. Andrew's cross on it. Now they are Crusaders, too, they were told. "The Crusades were a great blessing," the bishop said. "They brought east and west in contact." Of the frightfulness that accompanied this contact, the hideous Jewish massacres, the 100,000 children that were sold as slaves, the destruction of cities, the extermination of whole tribes, not a word. A blessing!

Italy Drying Up

Having passed between Corsica and Sardinia, their wild, black mountains wrapped in low-hanging rain-clouds, we are now following the Italian coastline. Why do pedagogues not teach geography by showing such films as could be taken from the deck of this ship? There is Italy, a mass of brown mountains with violet pockets in their flanks. Along the coast a narrow strip of green. That is where the farms and gardens are. Higher up nothing grows. All the forests have been cut down. The soil has been washed off by the rains. The narrow strip of fertility along the shores is growing ever narrower. Here and there one discerns streaks of yellow running through the green stroke. Those yellow lines are dried-up rivers. Vividly the extent of Italy's tragedy comes home to the onlooker. No moisture. Life withering away. Can Mussolini's hydro-electric irrigation schemes, the reservoirs of molten snow from the Alps, save the country? Some day I must go to inquire on the spot and see what the Fascist regime is doing.

We are so close to the Italian coast that a railway train can be seen distinctly with the naked eye. There are scattered villages, not many, to be sure, for this is the dreary stretch which malaria has depopulated. Further south the cities will come to the shore, pink and white towns built on arches, terracing up among cypresses, and weather - beaten castles, whose stunted, moss-covered towers look on a sunny day as if they were polished with mother-of-pearl.

The Fascist police are watching at Naples. Nobody to go ashore except first-class passengers, and they only for two hours. But they must leave their passports in the hands of the dock police. The sight on the pier of the black-shirt boys and the gendarmes with all the gold lace and three-corner hat, a la Napoleon, holds the Mohammedans on deck spell-bound. Reversely, the policemen are just as interested in the Moors and Arabs. I can't tell whether this is a case of mutual admiration or not, for all gape at each other with distressing taciturnity.

A THOUGHT

RIGHT EXPECTATION

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

Today the business world is greatly in need of awakening from the mesmeric thoughts of fear and depression. Many remedies are put forward for the purpose of ameliorating a condition generally admitted to be unnecessary. In order to break the spell, however, mankind must look beyond the material aspect of things to that which is real, enduring, and true. To insure success, endeavor must be built on unchangeable Truth in business, as in home and in society. It is being shown that, as like produces like, a man is "as he thinketh in his heart." Most people are ready to admit that business is governed, directed, and initiated by thought. It is not generally admitted, however, that he who is experiencing lack, hardships, disappointments, failure, is travelling a road largely of his own making, and that his salvation lies in correcting his thinking. This is a demonstratable fact, open to everyone to prove for himself.

Generally speaking, mankind expects good, and is glad when good is proved victorious in daily experience. It is not, however, until God, good, is intelligently discerned to be All-in-all, that evil beliefs lose their imagined power to frighten us. What we need to do is to drop the chain of material belief and walk on rejoicing in the knowledge that God, good, is All; for from the false belief that matter or evil is real, springs all human discord.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 7

Weldon, a ning curses upon Jere Kane's head, was dragged away. When quiet had been r stored again he turned to the women.

"I'm sorry," e apologized, "for causing ou this distress."

Lillian Hull stared at him, unable to speak. She swayed as though she were going t fall from her chair. Lee, perceiving her condition, o dered one of his men to bring her a glass of water.

Lucy Wilbur's throat was marked by the imprint o Weldon's hands. But in answer to his olicitat ons she assured him that she would be all right in a moment.

Kane aid, "Do you feel that you can sta d fur her questioning to ight?"

Both nodded. Lucy exclaimed, "Yes, yes. I want to get it over with. Tomorrow may be—loo late.'

Kane started and looked quickly at Chief Lee. That official nodded. The amateur detective hesitated a moment, then:

"Please explain yourself, Mis Wilbur. I don't quite understand."

"Richard Bail y got what he deserved," she went on quickly. Her voice was cold and hard. "His game was the game of love but he couldn't play it honestly—"

Jere Kane was startled and showed it. Those were almost the identical words Nan tte LeRoi had used when he talked to her. There was the same expression in this woman's eyes as had been in the other's when the words were uttered. There was the same venom, the same cold, calculating resentment.

"I don't know who killed him. I do know that would have if I had had the nerve. But I didn't. I was afraid to, afraid of what might happen to me if I did. Oh, I would have killed him long ago if it hadn't been that I—"

She stopped shor and looked at the other woman. The littl ingenue was staring at her.

"Lil knows it," Lucy Wilbur went on. "She knows Richard Bailey as well as I do. Nanette LeRoi would have known him, too," bitterly, "if—if this had not have happened."

Chief Lee made as if to speak in but Kane silenced him with a quick glance.

"But that has nothing to do with tonight," the Wilbur woman caught herself. "You want to know what we know about that affair tonight. I'll start at the beginning."

"Please do," Kane prompted.

"Richard Bailey was getting eady to start a new picture, some sort of an xtravaganza. H telephoned me and asked me to come over—"

"What time was that?" Lee interrupted.

"It was this morning. He said Lil and Larry Weldon would be over, too. He said he wanted to talk to us about th picture. Li and Larry were already there when I arrived. Bailey himself let m in. I thought that was queer, because he always seemed to take great pride in having old Chivington wait on him.

"When I went into his den I found the three had been drinking. I was not opposed to a li tle drink myself, so we all had a round. Then he started talking about his pic ure. He said he was going to do something that would make DeMille and Vidor and th others look like amateurs.

"He said he had parts for all of us and that h was going to give LeRoi her first big chance. From what I gathered the film was going to be something of a combina on story of ancient and modern times, something like the Ten Commandments.

"We were so wrapped up in the plans for the picture—and who wouldn't be? It was the first big thing I have had a chance to do since I came to Hollywood—that we didn' notice how quick y the time passed. I guess I was the firs one, because bega o get hun ry and said s .

"At that Bailey looked at his watch. He turned pale. thought he was sick or something and told him o take a dr nk. He said he didn't know it was so lat —it was five minutes to nine, he said—and that we would have to excu e him as he had an e gagement. We all kn w who it was, so we got our thing and started out.

"We were just leaving when Nanette LeRoi stormed in. Sh looked like she could have killed him if he had so much as batted an eye. She rushed pa us and wen right on into the den just like she owned the place.

"That was he last I saw of Richard Bailey."

Kane left his chair and walk d to he window and stared ou into the treet. Outsi e a boy shouted his extra . High overhead a clock chimed out the hour of one.

He turned back to the women.

"You went away together, of course," he said.

Again the women exchanged quick glances. Kane thought he detected something of fear in Lillian Hull's eyes. She said:

"No. Lucy went with Larry. I lived only a few blocks away, so I decide to walk."

"Where did you and Weldon go?" Le asked.

"I—I don't know," uncertainly. "We—we just rode around."

"And you, Miss Hull?" Kane prompted.

"I went straight home and to bed."

Jere Kane smiled. "So you and Weldon went riding," he said to the Wilbur woman, "and you, Miss Hull, went straight home and to bed. Then," sharply, "how does it happen that all three of you showed up here together?"

"Why," Lillian Hull exclaimed wildly, "they—they came by—they came in from their ride—they came to my house—"

"Lillian Hull, you're lying. Neither one of you have told us the truth."

"I am telling you the truth!" Lillian screamed. "So, help me God, I am. Oh," and her voice broke, "why won't you believe me? Why won't you believe me?"

"Just as sure as I sit here tonight, that's the truth," Lucy Wilbur affirmed throatily. "What Lil has told you is the truth. What I have told you is the truth. We heard the boys selling their extras and—"

"And you both are perfectly willing t throw the blame on Nan tte LeRoi to save your own necks," Kane retorted harshly. "You are both actresses. I'm not—"

The loud and persistent ringing of the chief's telephone cut off the words on his lips. Surlily, Lee answered. He listened intently and suddenly exploded:

"What?" He demanded. "Repeat that."

Kane could hear a voice crackling over the wire as though shouting insanely. He saw Lee turn white and then red. Great welts bulged out at the chief's temple. At last he hung up and turned toward the others. He licked his thick lips apprehensively. His ey s narrowed until they were mere slits under his shaggy brows. Nervously, he ran his fingers through his thinning hair.

The two women stared at him as though fascinated. They were tense and pale under their superficial coating of rouge and powder. Their eyes were glazed, thei mouths twitched.

Slowly, the words fell from the chief's lips, like the growl of an aroused watch dog.

"LeRoi," he said. "It's Nanette LeRoi."

ANOTHER MAN'S IDEAS

My thoughts are like persons met upon a journey; I think them very agreeable at first, but soon find, as a rule, that I am tired of them.

• • •

He is the greatest who is most often in men's good thoughts.

• • •

We can never get rid of mouse ideas completely; they keep turning up again and again, and nibble, nibbleJno matter how often we drive them off. The best way to keep them down is to have a few good, strong cat ideas which will embrace them an insure their not reappearing till they do so in another shape.

• • •

The world may not be particularly wise—still, we know of nothing wiser.

• • •

A man is a passing mood coming and going in the mind of his country; he is the twitching of a nerve, a smile, a frown, a thought of shame or honor, as it may happen.

• • •

He is a poor creature who does not believe himself to be better than the whole world else.

• • •

The world will always be governed by self-interest. We should not try to stop this, we should try to make the self-interest of cads a little more coincident with that of decent people.

• • •

I have squandered my life as a schoolboy squanders a tip. But then half, or more than half, the fun a schoolboy gets out of a tip consists in the mere fact of having something to squander.

• • •

I have led a more virtuous life than I intended or thought I was leading. When I was young I thought I was vicious; now I know that I was not and that my unconscious knowledge was sounder than my conscious. I regret some things that I have done, but not many.

• • •

Argument is generally waste of time and trouble. It is better to present one's opinion and leave it to stick or no, as it may happen. If sound, it will probably in the end stick, and the sticking is the main thing.

• • •

(None of these ideas are mine. They belong to Samuel Butler, who wrote the great novel, "The Way of All Flesh," and died 30 years ago and has been much more famous since than he was when alive—as he said he would be. I took these quotations from his "Note-Books," published by Dutton, and I am not ashamed.)

Market In Orient Seen for B.C. Lumber

VICTORIA, Jan. 4. (CP)—There is a market in the Orient for British Columbia lumber, in the opinion of Major L. R. Andrews, who has just returned from a three-month study of lumber business outlook in China, including North China and Manchuria, as the representative of Associated timber exporters and the British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacurers Association.

"If we make the necessary effort, we can secure a good volume of business in the Orient in 1933" Major Andrews said. While buying was light at the present time, Canadian lumber, he stated, was well thought of in China, and the prospects were for a greater volume of trade this year.

300 TONS CANNED GOODS EXPORTED FROM GRIMSBY

GRIMSBY, Jan. 4. (CP)—As a result of the Imperial Conference, 10 carloads of canned goods left here consigned to London, Liverpool, Jamaica and South Africa. The shipment consisted of Bartlett pears, Keiffer pears, green gage plums, cherries and other varieties of canned goods and totalled nearly 300 tons. Some time ago when a boatload of canned goods went forward from St. Catharines to the British Isles a carload from a factory at Grimsby was included. A letter stated that the shipment was received in good condition, and resulted in the repeat order.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 (A.P.)—Fresh advances in grain values prevailed early to-day from persistent strength of the Liverpool wheat market. Possibilities of a cold wave in domestic winter wheat territory southwest served also as a stimulus to buyers. Opening ⅝-¾ higher, Chicago wheat futures continued upgrade.

Corn started at ½-⅝ advance and subsequently rose further.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 4. (CP) —The Toronto Stock Exchange stirred itself into action in the late afternoon and the close registered fair gains among most of the recent leaders. A rally in Wall Street was partly responsible for the local tone showing improvement.

In the interlisted group C.P.R., Brazilian, Nickel and Ford showed gains ranging from ⅛ to ⅝. C.P.R. closed at 16¼ up ⅝. Brazilian at 9⅞, Ford at 7¼ and Nickel at 9¼.

Advances were general also in the oil group except in British American which eased of a fraction to 8. Imperial and International Pete both scored ¼ point gains.

In the financial stocks, both Montreal and Imperial Banks did better and small gains were spotted from Huron & Erie, National Trust and Real Estate Loan.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The stock market held firmly to its 1 to 3 point gains in the trading today, after an almost steady advance from the opening. Turnover continued small, although in excess of yesterday. Gains of 2 to 3 points were scored by American Can, Allied Chemical, Case, American Telephone, International Business Machine, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. Up more than a point were U. S. Steel, American Tobacco B, International Harvester, National Biscuit, United Aircraft, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Jan. 4.— (C.P.) — Somewhat exhausted by the upward drive of the last couple of days, trading tapered off on the standard mining market late this afternoon and the close was a little down from the top prices of the day. The gold shares continued in favor with the high-priced issues chiefly in demand though there was some nibbling at the silvers and Norandas came to the front among the base metal stocks.

Cheaper gold shares continued under accumulation and scored substantial gains but the high-priced producers occupied the spotlight. McIntyre moved up and sold above $24. Lake Shore advanced about 25, Dome about the same, Teck Hughes 5 to 4.26 and Wright Hargreaves 8 to 3.83.

A little weakness developed in Eldorado and it eased back to 1.36, down 3. Noranda was in active demand at 20.60, about 40 better and Nickel up a few cents at 9.25 .

Wheat Prices Gain In Winnipeg Trade

WINNIPEG, Jan. 4 (C.P.) — Wheat prices hit their stride in the New Year on the Grain Exchange to-day and piled up gains of nearly two cents before the close. Commission houses in Chicago were in the market, offerings here were light, and demand increased as cables firmed.

May closed at 46⅛ and July at 47¼, both up 1⅞.

Sales of Canadian wheat abroad were not so large to-day as they have been lately, but Eastern interests seemed to be absorbing a good deal of wheat for investment purposes and a good volume of mixed buying was evident during the session.

30 SUDDEN DEATHS.

LONDON. — Sudden deaths in London last year number 30, including five persons killed in traffic accidents, three in railway accidents. Three asphyxicated, three poisoned, two burned to death and one murdered in a holdup. In addition, two men were executed during the year for murder.

EXCHANGE RATES.

Exchange rates at noon to-day were:

Pound sterling in Montreal, 3.76¼.

U. S. dollar in Montreal 1.12 7-8.

Pound sterling in New York 333⅛.

Canadian Dollar in New York .86 9-16.

Move Fast to Halt Further Mine Riots

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., January 4 (C.P.). — The authorities moved swiftly to-day to prevent further bloodshed in the latest flareup of violence in the Central Illinois coal miners' wage war in which two persons, one of them a woman, were killed.

Thirty or more persons suspected of participation in street fighting at nearby Kincaid last night when the two were killed and about a dozen others injured, were arrested.

Orders were issued by Sheriff Charles Weineke banning picketing at the mines of Christian County, and prohibiting meetings of the Progressive Union, which was organized in opposition to the United Mine Workers of America.

Troops Are Ordered Into Mine Fields

TAYLOVILLE, Ill., Jan. 4 (A.P.) —Five companies of the Illinois National Guard were ordered into Christian County to-day as the State attempted for a second time to bring peace in the troubled coal fields of Central Illinois, where a man and a woman were killed and several shot last night and where two more were shot and wounded to-day.

Hotel Clifton At Niagara Falls Does $1,500,000 Damage

The hotel Clifton House, Niagara Falls, Ontario, was burned on Saturday with a loss of more than $1,500,000, and injury to at least one fireman. Another hotel was also burned, but firemen were able to get it under control before damage amounted to serious proportions. The origin of the fire was a mystery. The fire was of a spectacular nature, and before Canadian and American firemen were able to subdue the flames, the famous resort was reduced to a tangled mass of burning embers. This was the second time Clifton House has been a victim of fire, having been burned to the ground in 1898. For a while it was feared that sparks from the flames would ignite buildings in the city, but the firefighters were successful in avoiding this.

EXPECT BILL OF TWO BILLION FOR PUBLIC SOCIAL SERVICES

Burden on British Taxpayer Steadily Increases Despite Economy Budgets.

FUND IN DEBT.

By George Hamblelon, C. P. Staff Writer.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(C. P. Cable) —Public social services are expected this financial year to roll up a bill of more than $2,000,000,000. Chief expenditures are on unemployment insurance, health insurance, widows', orphans and old age contributory pensions, war pensions and education.

And, in spite of economy budgets, the burden on the shoulders of the British taxpayer falls with increasing severity. The economy measures of a year ago brought to an end the system of paying unemployment doles out of borrowed money. Rates of benefit were reduced. Rates of contribution by employer and employed alike were increased. But the state still continues to bear the full brunt of the famous transitional benefit (i. e. unemployment benefit paid after the ordinary period of benefit covered by contributions has lapsed) and a grant is made from national revenues to cover the deficiency between receipts and expenditure of the unemployment insurance fund.

Unemployment Insurance

The call on the taxpayer for unemployment insurance in the present financial year will run around $400,000,000 namely: Ordinary state contribution $95,500,000; additional grant for transitional payments, $262,500,000; deficiency grant $402,500,000.

Ordinary state contributions to the unemployment insurance fund are on the basis of equal thirds with the contributions of employers and employed. Contributions of employers and employed together are estimated to total $191,000,000, making a grand total of $593,500,000 paid into the unemployment insurance fund to cover the cost of benefits and administration.

The unemployment insurance fund is now in debt to the state to the tune of $575,000,000. This represents the total net excess of the expenditure of the unemployment fund over its revenue for the period from July, 1921 to the end of March, 1932. Interest charges, alonge, on the debt reach $27,500,000; and a problem now before Sir Henry Betterton, Minister of Labor, is how the debt may be met.

A royal commission which investigated the whole matter recommended that the debt should be removed from the ordinary accounts of the unemployment fund and transferredd to a separate account with provision to amorize the debt over a fixed number of years.

FOOD OFTEN CAUSES ONE-SIDED HEADACHE

A large hospita let it be known that they were anxious to learn the cause of migraine—one-sided headache—and were prepared to treat a number of these cases free of charge. It is reported that many hundreds of applicants sought this opportunity to obtain relief, such is the great number of individuals suffering with this miserable ailment.

Just what causes migraine is not definitey known; among the suspected causes are suggishness of the liver, tiredness mental and physical, indigestion, and disturbances in the ductless glands.

Some years ago physicians began to suspect that certain foods were responsible, just as certain foods are now known to cause asthma, hay fever, and some skin ailments.

Dr. Albert H. Rowe, Oakland, California, for over ten years has been working on the theory that foods cause migraine. While admitting that there are other causes of headache—eye strain, inflammation of the sinuses, infection from teeth, tonsils, intestine and gall bladder, inflammation of the kidneys—he believes that a large number of cases of migraine are due to certain foods.

In giving the history of 130 private patients in which the outstanding symptom was headache he states that nearly 70 percent reported that foods or other substances had caused disturbances such as asthma, hay fever, hives, eczema and other conditions. About 43 percent gave a family history of migraine, 23 percent asthma, and 11 percent hay fever.

Of the 130 cases, 109 gave all possible help to Dr. Rowe as he had them leave out of their diet certain foods which he suspected were causing the migraine. Of this 109 cases, 97 percent secured good results.

The type of food or foods causing the trouble were discovered by the usual skin tests—making a small scratch on the arm and rubbing the suspected food substance into it. The cure or relief is obtained by omitting this food form the diet.

"Good results demand the active help of the patient for a period of weeks or months. The slightest break in the diet, especially the first few weeks, often brings on an attack of migraine."

By eating small amounts of the offending food the patient can gradually increase these amounts, and finally eat the food without fear of a migraine attack.

This means that all headches, particularly one-sided headaches, should be investigated from the food standpoint.

Ottawa Is Asked To Finance Deal Of Cattle for Oil

Syndicate Also Suggests Guarantee Against Loss Should Russia Fail to Keep Its Contract on Barter of Oil and Coal for 100,000 Canadian Cattle.

RUMORS FOLLOWING INTERVIEWS INDICATE PLAN LITTLE FAVORED—CABINET TO DECIDE

OTTAWA, January 4 (C.P.). — Proposals have been laid before the Dominion Government by G. G. Serkau and J. H. Macdonald, representing a Winnipeg syndicate, asking the Ministry to co-operate in plans for exchanging 100,000 Canadian cattle for Russian petroleum and some coal. It is understood the Government has been asked to extend credits to the extent of $4,000,000 with which to swing the deal should it go through.

The Government, it is claimed, has also been asked to guarantee the syndicate against loss should Soviet Russia fail to keep its contract. The syndicate further asked the Government, according to this information, to allow Russian coal to be brought in.

The syndicate officers interviewed some of the ministers to-day, but the information leaking out from these talks indicate that the Government is not inclined to grant the request. However, it will have to be decided by the Cabinet which will probably make a statement on the matter soon.

DECISION WITH GOVERNMENT.

OTTAWA, January 4 (C.P.). — Negotiations for the exchange of Canadian cattle for Russian coal and oil are proceeding, G. G. Serkau of Winnipeg, head of the Canadian Promoting Syndicate, announced here to-day. A decision on the merits of the scheme rests with the Canadian Government, he said.

In a statement issued to the press to-day, Mr. Serkau said:

"Premature reports and comment with respect to the transaction are unfortunate. I was in New York when the first reports appeared in Canadian papers and since my return to Ottawa last Thursday I have been ill. In the meantime, remarkable reports of doubtful origin have been circulating.

"In Moscow I carried on negotiations with the same department and the same gentleman who represented the Government of the U.S.S.R., in negotiating trade treaties with Great Britain and other countries. A memorandum setting out the terms of the transaction between the Government of the U.S.S.R. and our syndicate was prepared. A copy of that memorandum has been submitted to the Canadian Government.

"Nothing has transpired since my return to Canada to indicate in any way that the Government of the U.S.S.R., no longer considered favorably the terms as set out in the memorandum. Indeed, I have since my return, received a communication from Moscow indicating that they have in no way changed their attitude with respect to the transaction.

"The matter is, therefore, before the Canadian Government, and it is expected that in due course a decision will be reached."

Battalion Changes Resented by Sikhs

POONA, India, Jan. 4 (C.P.)—Caste susceptibilities are giving the authorities of the southern command of the Indian army a difficult time. The trouble started with slight reorganization of the Sikh battalions which necessitated men of diferent castes attending the same mass.

The dissatisfaction between the castes led to a murderous attack last week on Captain Thomson. It is announced to-day, however, the recalitrants are being discharged.

In the meantime Thomson's assailment, a Sikh corporal by the name of Jansingh, had been tracked to the jungle after defying a large force of armed police and troops. A cordon was formed and closed in on the hunted man who surprised his pursuers by wounding one and attempting to fight but he was finally oblised to surrender when faced with a ring of fixed bayonets.

It was reported the crew of L'Atlantique took to the sea in boats at six a.m. The failure of L'Atlantique itself to radio S.O.S. calls led to the supposition that the fire started in the radio cabin from a possible short circuit.

CASE IS REFERRED TO APPEAL COURT

J. A. O'Brien defended Reid at his trial and since sentence was passed has seen Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice. Mr. O'Brien also interested himself in having a petition signed and presented to the Minister. Late this afternoon Mr. O'Brien received word of the reprieve from the Department in Ottawa.

Reid has been a model prisoner. He has steadfastly maintained his innocence, and as late as last night was hopeful that sentence would be commuted to life imprisonment. He spent much time reading his Bible and never appeared to become depressed.

Hangman Ellis had arrived in the city and work was going ahead constructing the scaffold in the jail yard.

OTTAWA, Jan. 4. —(CP)— The government has taken an unusual, though not unprecedented course in the case of H. R. Reid, sentenced to be hanged on Friday at Peterborough, Ont. His case has been referred to the Ontario Court of Appeal. Reid insisted when sentenced that though he killed a man he did so in self-defence. It took place in a shack and there were no witnesses. At the time he said he wished to appeal but he had no money. He has followed up the case by an appeal to the governor general as well as to the government, and the case is referred to the appeal court where the procedure will be the same as if Reid had personally appealed. The court may sustain or quash the conviction or direct a new trial.

The captain of the Sedov reported that the Malygen struck a shoal three miles off Spitzbergen, puncturing a hole in her hull. The Sedov was standing by and the Malygen pumps were already started in an effort to refloat the ship.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—Apart from an easier undertone in some fresh egg prices, the local produce market held relatively steady in typical post-holiday trading yesterday. Official figures on storage holdings of produce, issued late in the afternoon were in line with expectation.

A good clean-up was made in poultry for the week-end holiday trade, it was announced, although prices were subjected to a last-minute reduction, due to the fact that the quality of the birds in general was not up to the best. The holdover was not heavier than at first expected.

Buyings prices for ungraded eggs, cases returned, were one cent lower at 26 to 27 cents for fresh extras, with fresh firsts at 23 cents, pullets at 20 cents and seconds at 17 cents, the latter unchanged. Graded eggs, cases free, ruled steady at last week's close, but quotations to the retail trade were one cent down at 34 cents for fresh extras, in cartons, with the loose at 32 cents, firsts at 28 cents and pullets at 25 cents. Storage eggs marked time, with the undertone generally firm.

Butter, cheese and churning cream showed no price changes.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—(CP)—Egg and butter prices declined fractionally on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

The mild weather gave an easy trend to fresh egg quotations. Low stocks of storage eggs and light receipts for the day checked slightly the effect of the unseasonable weather. Fresh graded extras in car lots or less were quoted at 33 to 34c, firsts at 26 to 30c and pullets at 26 to 28c. Storage extras in car lots or less sold at 21½ to 22c, firsts at 19½ to 20c and seconds at 18½ to 19c. Receipts were 344 cases. No. 1 finest grass butter in car lots or less lost a quarter of a cent at 21¼ to 21½c. Receipts were 59 boxes. Current receipts of Ontario colored cheese were 8¼ to 8½c current Ontario white 9½ to 9¾c and early Ontario make 10½ to 11c. Receipts were only seven boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—(AP)—Advances in grain values yesterday distinguished the first business dealings in 1933, but the shine wore off at the last under sales to realize profits. Helping to make wheat prices average higher was a decrease of the U. S. visible supply. Another stimulus was word that 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels of government-financed wheat future deliveries would not be pressed for sale, although the agreement to hold the line of the market had expired January 1.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 4. — Wheat prices started the New Year with further fractional gains, induced by steady outside markets, lack of selling pressure, and substantial export business. Gains in the early part of the session totalled ¾ cent on the strength of firmness at Liverpool, but profit-taking set in. Export business was estimated at nearly 101,000 bushels, most of it out of Vancouver.

According to Broomhall, steadiness at Liverpool was due to higher shippers' offers and firmness in spot wheat pries. Nearly half of the world's export clearances of wheat last week were from North America. Supplies on ocean passage increased nearly 1,000,000 bushels to 36,416,000 bushels.

Offerings of all grades of cash wheat and coarse grains were extremely light and spreads unchanged..

Outlying Polls Give Old Councillor Majority of 4 Over Bannon in Belmont.

OLD GROUP INTACT.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 4 (Examiner Correspondence)—Official returns from Oak Lake and Carroll Settlement which were not available late Tuesday have changed the positions of Councillor Whitney and the new candidate Thomas Bannon, the former being elected by a majority of only four over the new contender for municipal honors in Belmont and Methuen. The vote for the several candidates was as follows:

	Oak Lake	Car. Set.
For Reeve
Griffin	8	0
Steenburgh	14	9
For Councillors
	Oak L.	Car. Set.
Anderson	15	7
Bannon	9	4
McNeeley	10	1
Vansickle	10	2
Whitney	20	8

The vote at these far out polls was fairly heavy At Oak Lake there are twenty-four on the voters list. Twenty-two of them used their franchise. Eight viting for Griffith and fourteen for Steenburgh.

At Carroll Settlement with a voters list of twenty only eight availed themselves of the privilege of casting a ballot, This was the only polling place at which any candidate did not get at least one vote.

The personnel of the united townships of Belmont and Methuen Council is thus exactly the same as last year. Reeve Steenburgh, Councillors Anderson, McNeeley, Vansickle and Whitney.

MRS. THOMAS BROOKS

Mrs. Thomas H. Brooks passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Florence B. Miller, at Cleveland, Ohio, shortly before Christmas according to word received here.

Her husband, Thomas H. Brooks, who predeceased his wife in the year 1897, organized and was manager of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company. After Mr. Brooks death the family moved to Cleveland, Ohio. There were four children, Burton H. of Plattsburg, N.Y.; Walter T., deceased; Grace J., Lakewood, Ohio; and Florence M., now Mrs. Miller, Shaker Heights Ohio.

HIRAM GREEN

QUEENSBORO, Jan. 4 (Examiner Correspondence)—The funeral of the late Hiram Green, who passed away in Belleville General Hospital early Saturday morning was held from the family residence on Monday afternoon and was conducted by the Rev. J. F. Everson, pastor of the United Church. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors and many floral tributes showing the high esteem in which Mr. Green was held.

Mr. Green was a miller with exceptional ability in his trade, and spent his later years first in Tweed and then in Belleville. His death resulted from double pneumonia which grew out of a lingering cold.

Left to mourn are his widow who before her marriage was a Miss McKinnon of Hassard's Corners, two daughters, Miss Minnie of Peterborough and Miss Jessie at home; one son Harry of Toronto; also two brothers William of Detroit, Henry of Oak River, Manitoba and one sister, Mrs. William Savigny, Peterbrough.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Harry Tokley, Fred Rollins, Harry Delyea, John Alexander, Sr., Simon Clarke and Frank Barry.

Interment was made in Queensboro cemetery.

MRS. JOHN HOWARD HOOEY

There passed to her eternal rest recently, Josephine, beloved wife of John Howard Hooey, of Elrose. Mrs. Hooey had been in poor health for a number of years, but prior to her death had been feeling much better, and was regaining her health under the skilful care of Dr. A. R. Coulter. A few days ago, however, she contracted pneumonia, and this was the cause of her death.

Mrs. Hooey, who before her marriage on December 28, 1926, was Miss Josephine Hennessey, was born in Ontario forty-four years ago. She came to Elrose with her mother and family from Peterborough, Ont., in 1912. She was a graduate of St. Paul's hospital, Saskatoon.

Josephine, as we all knew her, was ever bright and full of thoughtful little deeds of kindness, prompted by her loving heart. With all her sickness and suffering she was always patient and her cheerful disposition won her countless friends wherever she was.

Besides her sorrowing husband those left to mourn her loss are her mother, Mrs. J. Hennessey and brother, Michael, of Elrose; two brothers, D. A. of Plato, Sask., and Herbert, of Peterborough, Ont., three sisters, Mrs. M. Shaughnessy of New Westminster, B.C.; Mrs. Jas. Garvey, of Peterborough, Ont.; and Mrs. Joseph Harrington of Rochester, New York.—Elrose Review.

LODGE SPONSORS RELIEF CONCERT

Dancing Follows Splendid Program of Recitations, Songs in Marmora Hall.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Jan. 4.—A splendid three fold program sponsored by Marmora L.O.L. No. 319, the proceeds in aid of local relief, was held in the Town Hall, Marmora on Tuesday with a large crowd being present.

G. B. Airhart acted as chairman for the concert. Marmora Community Band, under Bandmaster G. Woodhouse then rendered as a pleasing selection the March Triumph. Glen Sayers next made a hit with his banjo solo and song, "Twenty-one Hours". This was followed by "The Backsliding Brother" by the Male quartette, a number which won much applause. Marmora Band then obliged with Silvertone Waltz after which J. F. Baker entertained the audience with his rendition of the "The Bird In Nellie's Hat". St. Paul's Serenaders for whom Mrs. W. Sayers assisted at the piano then gave a medley of instrumental music which they designated "Vagabond's Paradise". Jack French, a member of the group impersonated Charlie Chaplin, while Tom Jones, Glen Sayers and Jack Kelly were attired as Spanish gypsies and Will Archer represented a knight of the road. The quartette for a second number chose "Love's Old Sweet Song", to be followed by Harold Auger with joint harmonica and guitar selections and the comic song "The Little Shirt my Mother Made for Me". Messrs G. Woodhouse and J. F. Baker sustained the good standard of the program as they sang "Down on the Farm". The concluding number was supplied by the Serenaders, Miss Kathleen Litt was accompanist for J. F. Baker in his song as well as for the duet in which he was joined by G. Woodhouse.

The hall was then cleared for dancing for which there were musicians aplenty and ready patrons. Others found pleasure in cards in the council chamber. Refreshments were for sale at a booth.

More mothers each year.. check Colds

Being an external treatment, Vicks is especially appreciated by mothers because it avoids the constant "dosing" which so often disturbs children's delicate digestions.

2 WAYS at once!

More and more mothers every year turn to the double action of Vicks VapoRub in checking colds, coughs, sore throat and spasmodic croup.

Rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, Vicks acts through the skin like a plaster. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the air-passages.

This double action of Vicks breaks up congestion and eases breathing, thus preventing the night coughs which so often rob both mother and child of restful sleep.

Seaman is Killed During 80-Mile Gale

COBH, Irish Free State, Jan. 4.—(A.P.)— John W. Hall, seaman from Norfolk, Va., was accidentally killed aboard the steamship Manhattan during its voyage from New York, it was learned when the vessel arrived here to-day.

A heavy storm broke during the trip, the wind blowing at a rate of 80 miles an hour, and the order was given to batten down the ship. Hall went to one of the winches and was struck by a flying bar which decapitated him.

Bare Cupboards

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 4 (AP) Julius Albers is accused of operating a "barter and swap" speakeasy.

Housewives had wondered why their cupboards were bare, and how their husbands, without money, obtained liquor. Police looked into the matter. They said a jar of preserve, a loaf of bread, or mayhap a chicken from the roost could be swapped for liquor at Albers' home.

3,500 'Phone Calls On Election Night

Proving the interest taken in the municipal elections on Monday, it was estimated by Bell Telephone officials to-day that between 5 o'clock and 9 on the evening of the elections that The Examiner answered more than 3,500 inquiries. Fixe extra operators were required to handle the large volume of calls at the Bell Telephone exchange, and there were six and at one time eight answering the telephone calls.

To speed the service The Examiner had on that evening six telephone wires leading to the office.

The calls began early, several persons inquiring before the polls closed what the results were.

Extras

DETROIT, January 4 (C.P.) —In his first day at his new job, Sheriff Thomas C. Wilcox decided to look over the cells of the county jail.

A few minutes later he came out bearing one hacksaw blade, two pairs of scissors, a pair of pliers, and three large screwdrivers.

"These," he said, waving the objects aloft, "are not things that belong in cells."

Health Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills After Other Treatment Failed

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 4 (Special)— Good health is so important to our success and happiness, that every opportunity should be taken to learn how others keep fit.

It was through this readiness to be guided by others, that relief came to Mrs. Walter Oakes, of 23 Grove St. Mrs. Oakes says—"About four years ago I was troubled with backache. I went and got advice about it and was told my kidneys were out of order. I was given medicine to take but it did not help me. One day I was reading one of your booklets which had been left at the door and I decided to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I took a box and a half and the ache all disappeared. Now whenever I feel any soreness I take a couple of pills and am all right. My husband also takes them whenever he has backache."

When the kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, and impurities are not strained out of the blood and the result is weariness and lack of energy. Guard against troubles such as these by taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MRS. WALTER OAKES

who learned from the experience of others how to relieve her backache. She found help in Dodd's Kidney Pills after other medicines had failed. That was four years ago. At the first sign of backache Mrs. Oakes now turns confidently to Dodd's.

FIRE IN STORE ROOM

An outbreak of fire in the banana store room in the basement of B. K. Strano's fruit warehouse occurred at 7.45 this morning and was responsible for damage which will probably amount to some few hundred dollars. There was no fruit in the basement, and the cause of fire is obscure. The fire was described as a "smouldering fire," and a larger portion of the damage was caused by smoke. Peterborough Fire Department responded to the alarm and remained at the scene of the outbreak for about an hour.

FIRE IN DIP TANK AT C.G.E. PLANT

Little Damage Caused By Fire in Wire Department of C.G.E.

FIRE SOON IN HAND.

An outbreak of fire that was confined to a dip tank in the wire department at the local plant of the Canadian General Electric Company, occurred shortly before the five o'clock whistle brought work to a close yesterday. No personal injuries were sustained by any of the workmen, it was officially stated, and little damage was caused.

The tank about four feet deep, five feet wide and ten feet long was filled with compound. The compound, it is understood, is used for insulating electric wires, and for that purpose is heated to a temperature of from 350-400 degrees. Admission of any moisture to the contents of the tank causes the mixture to fizz over and to come in contact with the heating elements. Danger of fire under such conditions is greatly increased.

That was believed to have been the cause of the trouble last evening, and while the outbreak itself was small the resulting smoke seemed to be out of all proportion. Members of Peterborough Fire Department who responded promptly to the alarm ran into a thick blanket of smoke, almost as soon as they turned off Charlotte street on their way to the plant.

With the assistance of the works brigade, the City Department had the situation in hand right from the outset.

BANDITS ROB MAIL GUARDS

Pair Steal Pouches Believed Containing $10,000 in Securities.

USE SHOTGUNS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4. (AP)— Two daring bandits who invaded the Southern Pacific railroad station and took a registered mail pouch from two armed guards were sought by federal post office inspectors, working together with police and deputy sheriffs.

The stolen mail pouch contaiintained registered mail and securities marked for delivery to San Joaquin Valley (Calif.) points. No estimate of the value of the mail was given by postal official but it was unofficially reported at $10,000.

The pouch had just arrived at the railroad station last night in charge of truck driver B. T. Blanton. He was accompanied by two armed guards, Harry Edwards and Conrad Dillman. Blanton got out of the truck and placed the pouch on his shoulder. As he was walking toward the loading platform accompanied by the guards, a small black sedan arrived. Two men jumped from the machine and levelled sawed-off shot-guns at the trio. The took the pouch, disarmed the guards and fled.

The Southern Pacific depot robbery was the second postal robbery in Southern California during the night. At Highgrove, Ear Riverside, two men entered the local post office and looted the safe of $115.

DE VALERA QUITE CONFIDENT OF HAVING MANDATE RENEWED

Believes People Will Fight for "Rights"—Non-payment of Land Annuities.

KEEPS SAME PROGRAM.

(By Joseph Dennigan, Written Specially for The Canadian Press.)

DUBLIN, Jan. 4 (C.P. Cable). — "We seek a renewal of our mandate—and I believe we shall get it."

This sentence sums up in brief the policy President Eamon de Valera will follow as he leads the Republican forces to the polls in the Irish Free State general election of Jan. 24 next.

In an exclusive interview with the Canadian Press to-day President De Valera expressed confidence the people of the Irish Free State would return the Republicans to power and thus reveal to the people of the United Kingdom, their firm determination to battle for their rights. And by "rights" he means one great principle—the non-payment of the land annuities. It was the decision of the incoming Republican government last Spring to withhold payment of these monies that more or less directly led to the tariff warfare, now cripping trade between the two countries.

"The government is confident," President de Valera tells the people of Canada, "that the coming general election in the Free State will show the people of the Free State will stand firmly by their rights. It will remove the uncertainty that has been fostered during the last few months—an uncertainty which has tended to retard industrial progress at home as well as to encourage the British government to persist in its unreasonable demands.

No Move to Negotiate

"For months," the President continued, "the British government has been attempting to crush the Irish people economically in order to extract from them payments that are not due. There has been no disposition to negotiate an equitable settlement with the Irish Free State. The British government, believing the Free State was giving way under the pressure of economic war, looked forward to the fall of the present government here and sought no peace but the peace of surrender.

"In these circumstances it is necessary to show that this coercion instead of weakening, has strngthened the determination of the Irish people to hold monies which are justly theirs. The payments which Great Britain is demanding from the Free State are ten times as great, relatively to their resources, as the British debt payment to the United States. They constitute a burden which our people could not continue to bear and hope to prosper.

"Great Britain has no moral or legal right to them and from the standpoint of economic consequences every argument used against the payment of the British debt applies to them with tenfold force.

"The government is going to the people with the same national and economic program that we put before them a year ago. We seek a renewal of our mandate, and I believe we shall get it."

Final Tribute Paid Hon. Justice Grant

ORILLIA, Ont., January 4 (C.P.). —Final tribute was to-day paid to Hon. Justice D. I. Grant, of the Ontario Appeal Court, who died on Monday after a brief illness. Numerous Orillia friends gathered at a private funeral service held at the home of Dr. W. C. Gilchrist here, and interment was made in St. Andrew's Cemetery.

Services were conducted at the home and graveside by Rev. J. A. McInnis, minister of the Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Justice Grant's father, the late Rev. R. N. Grant, preached for nearly forty years.

Pall-bearers were John Scott, A. E. Thompson, J. B. Tudhope, F. G. Evans, George McLean, and Dr. Gilchrist.

Members of the Bench and Bar of Ontario and leaders in the professional and social life of Toronto had attended a funeral service at Toronto yesterday.

Paths of Love

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 4 (C.P.) —Romance glistens even in the police court, it was shown today. Last week Edward Laird was arrested for disorderly conduct at the residence where his sweetheart is employed as maid. The couple had quarrelled and he tore up the license while she sold the ring. She had paid for both license and ring. To-day he was assessed court costs on the disorderly charge and the girl went out to get the money to pay the costs. Both told the magistrate they wanted him to marry them, but the bench referred the couple to a good, reliable minister.

REEVE McINTOSH MAY BE WARDEN

Few Veteran Members Are Left in the Peterborough County Council.

MANY "YEARLINGS."

The toga of the Warden of Peterborough County may fall again on the shoulders of Reeve John McIntosh this year, according to municipal gossip around the court house.

Anr presumably, Reeve McIntosh would not be averse to donning the symbolic gown, a borrowed trapping for the opening of the first session of the year. He admitted to The Examiner a few days ago that rumors had come to him that his name was being mentioned, but he said it was a matter which he did not wish to discuss.

The personnel of the council has undergone so many changes in the last two years that many of the men whose service had made them eligible for the honor of the Wardenship are missing. Four of them immediately come to mind: Fred McIntyre of Otonabee, John Leahy of Douro, Harry Parker of Harvey and Vernal Windsor of Burleigh; but the fortune of recent municipal campaigns have removed the opportunity that was awaiting them.

Two of the veterans are John McIntosh and Reeve C. S. Tanner of Lakefield, and both have had their turn as Warden. Most of the others are of one and two years' experience, and possibly from their number the 1933 Warden may be selected.

Reeve Allan B. Mann of Smith has been mentioned in the gossip regarding the new county council. He is beginning his second term as reeve. Austin Jackson of Galway has two years to his credit, and Russell Hales of Chandos ranks in experience above most of his colleagues.

So many of the members of the council are "yearlings" that a conjecture of the council's choice would probably be far afield.

"Gossip and Such"

By "MAC"

Four years ago, North America and perhaps the world lost one of its most colorful figures in the death of the late Tex Rickard, who was hailed the greatest boxing promoter ever known in the boxing game. The erstwhile Texas rancher, prospector, gambler and promoter left behind him a record for achievements in the resin racket that may never be equalled

* * *

Rickard made his debut as a fistic promoter on September 3, 1908, when he staged a lightweight championship bout between the late Joe Gans and Battling Nelson at Goldfield, Nev., in which the Old Master won on a foul from Nelson in 42 rounds. Then followed a lapse of time in which Rickard wandered away from public life in his colorful career and it was not until four years later that his name was again spread over the front pages.

* * *

His second venture was the promotion of the James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson bout for heavyweight supremacy at Reno, Nev., on July 4. Tex set up a record purse at that time of $101,000 for the match which was witnessed by approximately 60,000 fans and drew $270,755.

* * *

His third show between Jess Willard and Frank Moran netted him $251,524 but it was not until Jack Dempsey gained the championship that Rickard began to roll in the really "big money," the Willard-Dempsey fight at Toledo drawing $452,522, following which the wanderlust again gripped the Princely Promoter and he dropped for a time from the public eye.

* * *

It was not until the Walker Law was passed in New York legalizing professional boxing that Rickard settled down in Gotham to take over the old Madison Square Garden. The late Leo P. Flynn was appointed matchmaker and the pair proved a tremendous financial success.

* * *

In 1921, Tex was left holding the sack in the promotion of the Dempsey-Carpentier match at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City. His backers walked out on him when it was revealed that he was guaranteeing Dempsey $300,000 and Carpentier $200,000. They refused to stick up that kind of dough. The fight however established a new high for both attendance and receipts, 90,000 seeing the scrap for a gate receipt of $1,626,580, it being the first fight to ever reach or surpass the million dollar mark.

His next big venture was the Dempsey-Firpo battle at the Polo Grounds, N.Y., on September 14, 1923, which resulted in for less than greatest fight ever been in York with the Manassa mauler scoring a K.O. in the second round.

Tex smashed all records for gates and receipts in the two Dempsey-Tunney matches. The first at Philadelphia on September 23, 1926, the receipts totalling $1,895,733 while the attendance was 120,757 and again in the return battle at Chicago, the gate reaching $2,658,660 and the attendance 104,943.

* * *

Seeking new territory to build up another attraction, Rickard journeyed to Miami Beach where he completed negotiations to erect an outdoor stadium and to match Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling.

* * *

But before Tex could finish his plans he died. Rickard is missed in the sport world. He was a gambler from the word go and though he was often ridiculed and laughed at, he always enjoyed the last laugh.

Veteran Babe Provides Goal-getting Punch on His Return to Game.

BRUINS-AMERKS TIE.

Weird Goal Gives Red Wings 1-0 Victory Over Ottawa Senators.

TORONTO, Jan. 4—(CP)—At the expense of the Canadian division's pace-makers, leaders in the United States' section of the National Hockey league today had boosted their stock from one to two points and left hockey followers with the impression the boys on the other side of the border are putting the skids under Canada's entries. After New York Rangers had got through downing Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2, Detroit blanking Senators 1-0 and Boston and New York Americans battling to a scoreless tie last night, standings showed only the Leafs with a point margin over any American team.

Out to make up for lost time after being held scoreless in two previous games in New York, the Leafs gave Lester Patrick's Blueshirts a rousing battle but, while they held Lester's biggest guns in check, big Babe Seibert supplied a punch that landed twice with effect each time.

In the first period, after Ace Bailey had scored for Toronto and Ott Heller for Rangers, the Babe pushed the rebound of his own shot past Goalie Lorne Chabot and in the second session he sank another to put the Blueshirts two up.

Boucher Sinks Fourth

With this margin to work on the Rangers stuck to defensive hockey which Frankie Boucher made easy early in the third period with the fourth New York tally. Joe Primeau got the second Leaf goal immediately afterward but young Andy Aitkenhead, brilliant Saskatoon puck-stopper, held the fort the rest of the way.

Happy Emms the Midland, sharpshooter who has done some timely driving this winter for Detroit Red Wings, played a carom shot to beat Ottawa. With three minutesof the third period remaining Emms snapped up the rebound off the backboards, carried it back of the Senator cage and passed out. But the puck struck the leg of Allan Shields, Senator defenceman, and glanced past Bill Beveridge into the net.

Brilliant Goal Tending

It was the lone goal of a listless game where Beveridge and his foe goalie, John Ross Roach, provided most of the highlights with brilliant work.

Boston fans failed to locate a feature of any kind as the Bruins and Americans played through 70 minutes of a listless game without a goal. Even the goal-tenders didn't have to be any better than usual to keep their records clear.

Teddy Graham

Idle as far as scheduled games were concerned, Chicago Black Hawks took time off to elect blonde Teddy Graham hard-hitting defenceman who went to the major league from Owen Sound's junior Greys, London's seniors, Tulsa's Oilers and several other outfits, captain for the balance of the season. Graham succeeds Helge Bostrum, released last week to St. Paul of the American Association.

HERD REPEATS BEATING STARS

Buffalo Strengthens Hold on Third Place in International League.

4 TO 1 VICTORY.

TORONTO, Jan. 4 (C.P.)—Seemingly unable to break the deadlock, Syracuse Stars were still tied with London Tecumsehs at the top of the International Hockey League standing to-day. Syracuse had an opportunity to go to the front last night when they clashed with Buffalo Bisons, while Tecs were idle, but Bisons spoiled this when they rapped home three goals in the last period to take a 4-1 decision.

Strengthens Hold

The win was the Bisons' second successive one and it strengthened their hold on third place, but they are still seven points behind the two leaders.

Harold Darragh, who came to the Stars from Toronto Maple Leafs in the deal which sent Bill Thoms to the Stanley Cup holders, helped Buzz Boll count the only Syracuse goal after three minutes of play in the opening period.

Lloyd Gross tied up in the second, banging in Roter Roth's rebound. This goal caused a lot of haranguing, but was allowed to stand. The deluge came in the final frame, Gross starting it shortly after the period commenced, to be followed by Lorn Carr and Schultz in five and ten-minute intervals.

Schultz' goal was scored when he broke clear with five Syracuse players parked inside the Buffalo blue line.

Camera Glimpses of "Babe" in Chicago

That speeding, dashing demon of the Olympic games, Mildred "Babe" Didrickson, having given up her amateur status after the American Athletic Union reinstated her following their charges of professionalism, is now preparing to make her debut as a paid performer. At the left, the "Babe" is shown working out with Sven Matheus, an instructor at the Illinois Athletic club. In the centre, she is resting between exercises with her sister, Mrs. Esther Elam, of Houston, Tex. At the right, we see her in action again as she hangs upside down from a ladder. The "Babe" has signed three contracts since she left the amateur classes. She will soon leave for Hollywood.

Arrangements Made For Seymour League

BURNBRAE, Jan. 4. — With Menie and Petherick's teams well represented at Saturday evening's meeting at the Seymour parsonage, Campbellford, plans were definitely laid for the formation of a four team East Seymour Hockey League. The Menie and Petherick's entries are in with Hoard's and the English Line represented on the executive. Leslie Shillinglaw is president of the League and the English Line executive member, Carman Gunning represents Hoard's. Jack Rannie heads the Menie aggregation, and Grant Kerr is the Petherick's leader. Rev. F. G. MacTavish has been asked to act with the executive in an advisory capacity and Lindsay Anderson is acting secretary for the present.

The Crow Bay boys while not willing to enter a team have signified their willingness to help out any of the weaker aggregations. The executive will be called together immediately to draw up the schedule and make arrangements with the rink management. The league plan to play one double header each week, the admission being just high enough to meet expenses if possible.

The rules adopted by the O.H.A. will be followed excepting the clause allowing body checking non-puck carriers in the defence area.

Menie will present familiar faces and names in the line up with Eagleson, Jack Rannie, Wallace, Doug. Milne, Whitton brothers, Ken Milne, Craighead, Nelson, Little.

Hoard's will have among others: Oddie brothers, Hobbs, Will Hume, Will Jeffs, Coggins, Gunning, Heagle Remington, Jones; Oscar Rannie may go with English Line along with Shillinglaw, former Menie star, Peake brothers, Jack and Alec Stephens, Frank Potts, Stallery, Henry and other newcomers.

Petherick will have a team mostly of inexperienced players but are willing to take the short end of a few scores to gain the experience. Herr brothers, Peteherick brothers, Roy Fry, Don Barnum, Watson brothers, Anderson, Arden Watson, are among those suggested while the Dorie boys from Stanwood and Don Atkinson, Crow Bay may be given a try out.

JIMMY CREIGHTON SOLD TO ST. PAUL

Holge Bostrum, Late of Chicago Hawks, to Manage American Association Club.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 4 (C.P.)—Wavy-haired Jimmy Creighton, a sensational centreman when he played amateur hockey with Port Arthur's Allen Cup champions in 1929, packed his bags to-day for another move.

Negotiations between Kay Iverson, President of St. Paul Greyhounds of the American Hockey Association and the Kansas City club of the same circuit were near completion. They will result in Creighton's purchase by St. Paul from the Pla-Mors. The former Brandon and Port Arthur player has been a consistent goal-getter with Kansas City this season after three years of fighting an injured leg in the International and Canadian-American leagues.

Holge Bostrum, defenceman secured last week from Chicago Black Hawks and who has been acting as coach, was appointed manager of the Greyhounds last night, Iverson announced. At the same time Louis Trudell, right winger, was released outright.

McGOWAN NETS WINNING SCORE FOR HAMILTON

Dukes in Front 2-1 at End of First Period But Unable to Hold Advantage.

SAILORS WIN IN FALLS.

(By The Canadian Press)

The baffling, battling Hamilton Tigers were one point oue of first place to-day in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" series following their 4-3 overtime victory over the leading Toronto Marlboros at Hamilton last night. It was the fifth straight victory for the Yellow and Black, and the loss broke Marlboros' string of six straight wins.

The Dukes started their winning streak with a 2-1 decision over the Bengals on December 6, and it remained for the latter to end it, with their well-earned victory last night.

Port Colborne Sailors, who went four games without chalking up a win, losing three and tieing one, finally won a heat, when they took a 3-1 20-minute overtime decision from Niagara Falls' Cataracts, at the Falls.

Stronger Finishing Powers

Tigers' win may be traced to their stronger finishing powers, and the great display of team work between Captain "Goney" McGowan and his left-wing partner, Herbie Cain. This duo kicked in with a goal in the first period, Cain scored on a solo rush in the second period, and the pair teamed up for the winning goal after a minute and a half of the overtime. Stewart counted the other Hamilton tally.

Lanky Teddy Olliver came through with two markers for the Toronto outfit, one on an assist from Teddy Morrison, Jimmy Primeau drifted one from the blue line that bounced off "Hawse" Marsh's skate into the net for the other Marlboro tally.

Rugged Display

The battle between those neighborly rivals, the Ports and Niagara Falls kept 3,500 fans in a continuous uproar. It was a rugged display with 17 penalties being handed out by Referee Harry Watson, 11 going to the Sailors.

The first two periods were scoreless. Wade gave the Ports a lead when he scored on a pass from Upper after nine minutes of the final frame. Just a minute and a half was left when Jerry Shannon poked one past Dinty Moore for the tying goal. Hastie got an assist on this play. This goal was disputed, but Referee Watson upheld the goal judge, who claimed Moore had scooped the puck from behind the line.

The first overtime period was featureless, but in the next 10 minutes, the visitors chalked up two counters to make the game safe. Upper notched the first, on a pass from Cuthbert and Harry Gray counted the other, with Mountain getting an assist on the play.

Resumption of studies following the Christmas Holidays saw an exceptionally good attendance of students in the Public schools of the city yesterday, according to the report presented to the Board of Education last evening by Inspector A. Mowat. Only one member of the teaching staff was absent from duty, and that being due to a bereavement in the teacher's family.

ENGLAND MAKING PLANES CHEAPER NOW THAN CARS

Have Manufactured Baby Aeroplanes to Sell at Less Than $500.

EASY TO FLY

LONDON, Jan. 4—(Central Press)—Britain is now manufacturing an aeroplane at a cheaper cost than an automobile.

Already they have on the market a baby aircraft retailing at less than $500 and will operate at a cost of about one cent a mile. They will have a cruising speed of about 40 m.p.h., and although not suitable for long-distance flying the little machine will be able to perform normal manoeuvres. They can be flown and piloted after only a few hours tuition.

The low price is accounted for by two reasons. First they will be equipped with an engine no larger than a motorbicycle; second, owing to the fact that aircraft in Britain pay no tax.

Expenses Small

Motor cars are taxed at the rate of $5 per horsepower which means to drive a car rated at 35 h.p., the tax amounts to $165.

The only additional expense, except for overhauls and garaging, is insurance. As this is $200 on the average $3,000 machine, it should be approximately $50 for the smaller aeroplane.

Five aeroplane companies and three automobile manufacturers so far have announced their intentions of entering the field of light aeroplane construction.

Aeroplanes Soon Ready

One of the aeroplane companies have announced it will haye a light aeroplane ready for the market early in the new year for the price of $750 and once mass production is under way it can be retailed for less than $500.

Owing to their cheapness these new midget aeroplanes are expected to give a flip to British aviation. It is estimated that there are 150,000 young men and women who will take up flying when it is made as cheap as motoring.

$25,000 SALARY CUT IS DENIED

Ballyhoo Starts for Ruth's Annual Battle With Col. Jake Ruppert.

CLUB HAD GOOD YEAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP)—The New York Yankees may shave a few nickels off Babe Ruth's $75,000 salary for next season but rumors that $25,000 might be whacked off seem to come under the head of speculation, pure and simple.

"That wouldn't be a cut," the Babe said when told there were reports he would be offered $50,000 for 1933, "that would be an amputation."

Ruth said he had, as yet, had no conversations whatever with Col. Jacob Ruppert over salary terms but added that he expected to have no trouble coming to terms again.

"I won't feel so good about taking a cut at all" he said, "but I'll listen to reason. I had a pretty good year, so did the Yankees, and the Colonel has always been fair enough.

Ruppert said he had not seen Ruth since the last game of the world series and had given no thought at all to the annual question of what salary to pay the big fellow.

The consensus among baseball men was that Ruth would not sign for less than $60,000 or $65,000 unless Ruppert should offer him a contract for more than one year.

The Babe signed a two-year contract at $80,000 a year for the 1930 and 1931 seasons but last season, when he took a $5,000 cut, the agreement was for only one year. Col. Ruppert, at that time, indicated he had adopted a policy of short-term contracts so far as the Babe was concerned.

A number of farmers in Western Ontario grew sweet potatoes during the 1932 season and considerable success is deported in the culture of this crop.

O.H.A. REFEREES' FEES ARE SLASHED

Association Endorses Charity Game Between Maple Leafs and Amateurs.

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—The O.H.A. executive committee at a meeting held at the Royal York Hotel last night heartily endorsed the hockey project arranged to relieve the needy of the City of Toronto and will do everything in its power to make a success of the game at Maple Leaf Gardens on Jan. 21 between the Maple Leafs and O.H.A. teams.

Referees' fees in all five series were slashed by the executive and in the future the officials will be paid as follows:

Senior "A" series—$15 and mileage. Senior "B" series—$10 and mileage. Intermediate series — $8 and mileage. Junior series—$8 and mileage.

Local referees will be paid the fees only.

Mileage consists of 15 cents a mile one way for the first 50 miles and 10 cents a mile for all additional miles.

And clubs will be requested to pay no more than the scale to any official.

Awarded to St. Michael's

As far as the O.H.A. is concerned the long-waged controversy between University of Toronto and St. Michael's College over athletes registered with U. of T. through St. Michael's should play was settled when John Lenahan and George Patterson who played hockey for Varsity last season were granted certificates with St. Michael's.

P. J. Mulqueen, on behalf of the City of Toronto Centennial Committee, asked the O.H.A. to invite the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to stage the Allan Cup finals in Toronto in 1934, and this the executive agreed.

The Atlantic Sea Gulls were put on the banned list and no O.H.A. team will be allowed to play the Sea Gulls exhibition games.

Two referees will be allowed in Senior "A" games, provided the clubs agree and notify the O.H.A. a week in advance.

Conway to Fenelon Falls

Frank Conway qualifies under the student rule to play for Fenelon Falls.

Howard Aaron was granted a certificate with Simcoe, but the executive ruled that Thornton Noe of Ingersoll could not play for the same club.

Ted Thorington, suspended last season for playing with Stayner under an assumed name, will be eligible to play for Orillia on Jan. 15. Clarence Wood of Stayner, mixed up in the same case, was refused reinstatement.

Don Rae, claimed by both the Oakville and Burlington clubs, was awarded to Burlington.

W. Couture may play with Wiarton if a release is obtained from the Owen Sound club.

Ethier Boys Refused Cards

Gerald Ethier and James Ethier do not qualify under the residence rule to play in Cobourg. They formerly resided in Belleville.

Francis Connor was granted a certificate with the Cayuga juniors. Sidney Clark is eligible to play for Coldwater, and Argyle Eplett with Orillia.

President J. P. Bond occupied the chair, and the following members were present: Frank Hyde, George Dudley, A. H. Schlegel, Sheriff J. F. Paxton, H. E. Wettlaufer, Richard Butler, James Sutherland, George Van Horne, R. M. Glover, W. Easson, Ross Clemens, George McKay, P. J. Mulqueen, W. A. Hewitt and W. M. Tackaberry.

Jack Sharkey Plans to Quit Boxing Life After One Defense of His Title

Dwellers in Cauliflower Alley believe Jack Sharkey will retire with his heavyweight crown after one easy title defence this Summer. The big Lith planned to quit the ring after one defence even before he won the championship. He admitted this to newspapermen at Orangeburg before wresting the belt from Max Schmeling. Now, the Madison Square Garden-Schmeling feud has paved the road for a graceful fadeaway.

Jack has plenty of money, admittedly about $700,000; strangely enough he detests the fighter's life; he is smart enough to know it's about time to quit, and because of his personal pride and his respect for wife and family, he like the permanent title, "retired undefeated heavyweight champion."

Sharkey would have fought Schmeling this June if the German slugger hadn't balked at the Garden's terms and gone in with Jack Dempsey for a bout with Max Baer. It can be said to the champion's credit that he's never been choosy about his opponents. The Harry Wills affair was a case in point.

Although he won the title fairly from Schmeling, Sharkey admits that the German slugger had an excellent chance "to polish me off last year when I had that bad eye," but he didn't do it. Most boxing experts believe Schmeling would have beaten the Gob, possibly by a knockout, if he had made a slugging match of their last bout instead of playing into Sharkey's hands by trying to outbox him.

Fight followers believe Sharkey also knows this very well and that he is greatly relieved that Schmeling will not be his opponent this year. Either Stanley Poreda, Ernie Schaaf or Primo Carnera, the three remaining probable opponents, should be a comparative "set-up" for the champion.

Sharkey will carry out his contract with the Garden for a fight before the end of June, will keep his word about giving some challenger a crack at the title, and then will retire with flying colors.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

The East Peterborough Hockey League is billed to open tonight with a double-header at the Brock, showing all four teams in action. Maple Leafs play Lakefield in the first fixture at 7.45, followed by Westclox and Norwood at nine o'clock. The E.P.L. has had a number of changes made this year, both Cogs and C.G.E. not being in, their best players being scattered among the four entries. It looks at present to be an unusually fast and well-balanced circuit, and one that should draw the fans.

* * * * * * *

Shorty Burgess will likely handle the Leafs tonight and we understand this team will have Stan Jones in goal, Pete King, Thirnbeck and Cadd on defence and one line in act of the Hockey Club juniors, with other intermediate players. As no O.H.A. games have been played by the local teams, that E.P.L. ruling against using O.H.A. players does not apply—even if anyone did object to it. Lakefield will have the pick of their last year's juniors, a few veterans and several newcomers, we hear.

* * * * * * *

Both Westclox and Norwood will be strong, from the pre-seasonal dope that is being passed around by E.P.L. followers. The Cripps' brothers and Pat Calladine from here are with Alex Kempt's Combines this winter, and that outfit will be hard to take. Pat Hayden has lined up a smart bunch of experienced pucksters to represent the Alarm aggregation, and we look to see a fast, close game when these teams clash.

* * * * * * *

Friday night, Maple Leafs go to Lakefield to play at 8.30, and Westclox plays in Norwood at that time, too. Before the intermediate game in Norwood, there'll be a City Hockey League fixture, the opening one, with Rotary from here—last year's champs— tackling the Norwood squad at 7.15. Incidentally, Normal is definitely in the City League, making it six teams. Here they are again: Norwood, Rotary, Normal, St. Peter's, P.C.I., and Rangers' Meat Market. The managers meet tomorrow at eight in Duffus to draw up the schedule.

* * * * * * *

Manager Frank Buckland and Shorty Burgess have been working on the junior O.H.A. squad and the team is being groomed for their opening game at the Brock this Friday against Port Hope. Galvin and Sanderson are the goalies; while the defence will likely be made up of Ossie Fenton of Norwood, Bob Weir and Cliff Cadd. Alex McGregor, Bill Calladine and George Jay makes up the main forward wall; while alternates include "Finnegan" Hill, Stew. Williamson, Bruce Payne, Ossie McCullough, Cournyea and Elmslie, who used to play with Lakefield. Sanderson, Cadd, Jay and Calladine were with last year's juniors, while McGregor played O.H.A. for Brantford two years ago.

* * * * * * *

This team, with a few exceptions, is made up of young players who should have two or three more years in junior company. There is a mixture of experience, bulk, speed and smart hockey ability, which makes the Petes' team this year look quite promising on paper. They were coming along fine but this recent soft spell has bothered them, though it won't help other teams either.

* * * * * * *

Both the juniors and intermediates were out last night but couldn't hold a practice on the Brock, a recent flooding having failed to freeze properly. Both teams are scheduled to start this Friday against Port Hope teams, the juniors here and the other bunch away. They are in pretty fair shape now and, doubtless, as well off as their opponents, but a few more weeks will find them clicking at top speed—always provided they have ice. Both local managers feel they will have teams out there that will have to be headed for the group titles.

* * * * * * *

That rumbling noise that sounds like approaching thunder these days is caused by the impatient stamping of a mob of young hockey performers shuffling around with their weather eyes anxiously upon the thermometers. The Church League is billed to go to the post at All Saints' ring tomorrow night, weather permitting, with four games run off from six to ten. It's All Saints' midgets vs. Mark Street at six, St. James' juveniles against All Saints at seven, Murray Street juniors vs. St. Paul's at eight, and the intermediate teams, All Saints and George Street, at nine. They have sixteen teams, including a large junior section this year, and the schedule will appear the end of the week.

* * * * * * *

The lady basketeers open up their season at the Y.W. this Friday night with four games in this order: C.G.E. vs. Westclox, "Y" Seniors vs. St. Paul's, C.G.E. Juniors vs. Westclox Juniors, and "Y" Intermediates vs. Blue Petes. On Monday, Wohelos play St. Andrew's. The gals will trot out on the floor all set for a close and classy campaign on a par with that dished up to fans last year.

Picking 'em off the grapevine: Rumor hath it that Smythe plans to break up Toronto Leafs within a year, building up a new outfit .... Day, who cost the club thirty-five grand a coupla years back, was said to have had his number up, still he steps out lately and wins a few games practically by himself .... The local Rotary hockey team worked out last night at Sacred Heart, under Coach Cres. Sproat .... An embittered hockey veteran said yesterday, "You can't expect ice around election time, hot air being hard on hockey!" .... We haven't seen any of those South League schedules yet .... NOTE: Latest word received is that the E.P.L. double-header scheduled for the Brock tonight had to be called off owing to soft ice. Wouldn't that burn you to a cinder?

BOXING GAME NEEDS FIGHTING CHAMPION, SAYS JACK DEMPSEY

Major Pro Sport Leaders Look For Bigger Crowds Than Ever This Year.

AT LOWER PRICES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Nineteen thirty-three will be a banner year for the sport world.

Crowds at all the major sport events will be bigger than ever, although the gate receipts probably will be less due to the depression and lower prices.

Competition will be keener than ever and records will fall by the wayside.

Such is the optimistic forecast made by such noted sportsmen as Jack Dempsey, the newest impresario among fight promoters; John Heydler, president of the National Baseball League; W. S. Langford, secretary of the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association; Dan Ferris, national secretary of the A.A.U; Louis Carruthers, president of the U.S.L.T.A., and Herbert Ramsay, president of the U.S.G.A.

Need New Camp

"All the fight game needs," says Dempsey, "is a fighting heavyweight champion and we'll have one before the Summer is over. Either Max Schmeling or Max Baer is a sinch to fill the bill.

"Jack Sharkey has crawled into a hole and pulled his crown in with him. Poor matchmaking, ticket scalping and overcharging the public for poor matches is to blame for the low condition of the game.

"With a new deal all around, the game will flourish as it never has before. There will be plenty of new faces—young fellows coming up willing to fight—and these will attract greater crowds than ever, although the receipts will be less because prices will be lower."

Speaking for baseball, Heydler sees a turn for the better.

"The National League didn't do as well as usual last year because of the collapse of the Giants and the Cardinals as pennant contenders but all the recent trading in both the American and National Leagues, with new faces to be seen in new towns, closer races in prospect and a returning prosperity, will cobine to bring the crowds back bigger than ever. I look for a great year in baseball with Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Terry, Rajah Hornsby and other stars carrying the same old message of swat to the fans.

"The biggest and newest thing in track and field," says Ferris, "will be the introduction of the metric system this season. Of course, traditional features of our established meets, such as the Wanamaker mile, the Casey 600 and a few others will be retained but otherwise the metric system will be in vogue.

"This will mean a host of new American track and field records because we have never had at metric distances except at Olympic Games.

"The Olympics always are a stimulus to the sport and it will be noticed in more indoor meets, just as many outdoor events and with new stars forging ahead, larger attendance than ever."

"Nobody need use a crying towell for football," says Langford. "While it's true attendance fell off last season, bad times can't last forever and the game will draw as well as ever, maybe better, next Fall.

Tennis Holds Own

"There is a concerted move on to have colleges play only those of their own class, which will mean closer games, keener competition, and naturally a wider public appeal. Each season brings out new heroes and there is no reason to believe that 1933 will be an exception."

"Tennis was one of the few sports to more than hold its own last year, and it will do even better this year," says Carruthers. "One reason for the appeal of the game is its speed. When we lose a Johnston or a Tilden, along comes an Ellsworth Vines to capture our fancy. When a Molla Mallory slips along comes a Helen Wills."

Stagg's Condition Remains Unchanged

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP)—The condition of Amos Alonzo Stagg suffering from bronchial pneumonia, was reported "unchanged and satisfactory" at the Medical Arts Sanitarium to-day.

A clearing up of the congestion in Stagg's chest was reported by Dr. Max Rohde last night. Dr. Rhode said if the veteran U.S. football coach continued to improve at the same rate he should be out of danger in two or three days.

Curling Notes

Results of last night's schedule games at Peterborough Curling Rink were as follows: Donaldson 15 vs. L. I. Hamley 5; Howden 7, vs. Moore 10; Oke 12, vs. Seymour 11; Cruthers 10, vs. Downey 11; Foote 10, vs. Green 9.

The line-up for to-night's schedule games providing the ice can be kept in condition, is: Hall vs. Kay; Metcalfe vs. Richmond; Cairns vs. Clegg; Dobbin vs. N. Hamley; Marshall vs. Morrow; Turner vs. Shirley.

GAMES CALLED OFF

Owing to soft ice, the East Peterborough Hockey League games, scheduled for the Brock to-night, have been postponed to a future date.

"Honey cream" a new product perfected at the Ontario College, Guelph, is stated to be an improvement on ordinary honey, will not granulate and spreads like butter.

British Speedster Attempts New Mark

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 4 (A.P.)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, 48-year-old Briton who holds the world's automobile speed championship, will arrive in New York from England, Jan. 31 for an assault on his own five world records, William F. Sturm, Indianapolis, his American manager, said to-day.

Sir Malcolm, who last February skimmed over the hard sands at Daytona Beach, Florida, for a mile straightaway record of 258.968 miles an hour, will try for new speeds over the same course this year. Sturm said the champion will leave for Daytona Beach the same day he arrives in New York on the Berengaria.

In addition to the mile straightaway mark, Sir Malcolm holds the following world records: one kilometre at 251.340 miles an hour; five kilometres at 247.941 miles an hour; ten kilometres at 238.669 miles an hour, and five miles at 242.571 miles an hour.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY LEARNS WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Farmer Brown's Boy entered the barnyard whistling. Farmer Brown's Boy whistles for the same reason that birds sing—to express happiness. You know there is nothing like giving expression to your feelings. Just as a good cry helps when you feel badly, or yelling relieves your feelings when you are angry, so singing and whistling are an expression of happiness. Farmer Brown's Boy whistles. He whistles a great deal outside the house. This is because he is happy most of the time. All the little people of the Old Orchard, the Green Meadows, and the Green Forest know his whistle when they hear it.

This morning as he entered the barnyard he was whistling a very merry tune. In the clear still winter air it carried clear over to the dear Old Brier Patch, so that Peter Rabbit and Mrs. Grouse could hear it faintly. Suddenly the tune he was whistling broke off short right in the middle. Peter looked at Mrs. Grouse knowingly.

"He's found something," said Peter.

Farmer Brown's Boy HAD found something. He had found a lot of white and dark feathers there in the barnyard, and one glance was enough to tell him that they were pigeon feathers. By the number of them he knew instantly that an enemy had been among his pigeons.

"Ha!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "Some one has been after my pigeons and has got one, I fear! I wonder who it was. I haven't seen any signs of Reddy Fox about here lately, so I don't think it could have been Reddy. Probably it was a stray cat. I shall have to get after Pussy if that is the case."

It was then that he caught sight of a dark form in a far corner of the barnyard. He hurried over to it. It was one of his pigeons. A single glance told him that it had not been killed by a cat. Neither had it been killed by Reddy Fox. The marks of great, curved claws showed plainly. A sudden scowl of anger darkened the pleasant face of Farmer Brown's Boy.

"A hawk!" he exclaimed. "No one but a hawk could have left such marks as these, unless it were Hoot the Owl, and Hooty wouldn't be about here by daylight. So it must have been a hawk, though I didn't suppose there was one about this time of year excepting Old Roughleg, and I've never known him to come near here. It must be that he has had hard work to get enough to eat down on the Green Meadows and my pigeons were a temptation he couldn't resist. All right, Mr. Roughleg, it's your own fault if something happens to you now! I haven't bothered you, and I wouldn't so long as you didn't bother me. But I can't have you killing my pigeons. No siree! I cannot allow anything like this. I'll just get my gun and we'll see what we will see."

So Farmer Brown's Boy went into the house and presently out he came again with his terrible gun. Straight out through the barnyard and down the long lane toward the Green Meadows he walked. He was not whistling now, for he was not happy. He was sorrowful because of what had happened to his pigeons, and also because he felt that it was necessary for him to bring out that terrible gun again.

Over near the top of a tall tree on the Green Meadows he saw a black speck. He knew that that black speck was Roughleg the Hawk. As he drew near Roughleg sailed away. He had seen that terrible gun and he was too clever to allow Farmer Brown's Boy near enough to use it. Farmer Brown's Boy kept on to the foot of the tree in which Rughleg had been sitting. He searched all about beneath it. A look of doubt crept over his face. He had counted on finding pigeon feathers there as a proof of Roughleg's guilt, and there was not one.

ZION LEAGUE HOLDS ANNUAL GATHERING

1932 Report Shows Average Attendance of 43—Officers Elected.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Jan. 4 — With a fair attendance of members the annual meeting of the Zion League, held on Thursday evening, was a decided success. The 1932 report showed 42 meetings held with an average attendance of 43. This was considered very satisfactory in view of the fact that several meetings were marred by bad weather and consequent smaller attendance. The financial statement was, of course, not as strong as usual, but a balance of over $14 is on hand. The Ford group led by Gerald Peterick, led in attendance points by well over 300 ahead of the Durants, captained by Frank Osborne.

The election of officers was in charge of Rev. F. G. MacTavish and resulted as follows:

President: Ray Fry.
Vice-Pres.: George Brunton.
Convener Christian Fellowship: Mrs. W. J. Forde.
Convener Missionary: Violet Wright.
Convener Christian Citizenship: Aylmer Petherick.
Convener Social: Laura Watson.
Convener Juniors: Cora Petherick.
Secretary: Jessie Wright.
Assistant Secretary: Art Petherick.
Treasurer: Lorne Barnum.
Organist: Evelyn Barnum.
Assistant Organist: Mrs. Lorne Barnum.

The league will revert to the former system of the four groups in attendance contests and each group is to be responsible for the program of that department.

The first meeting for the 1933 season will be held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Anderson to take the form of a skating party on Mr. F. A. McMullen's marsh. Weather being favorable a good time is assured for all.

NEARS CLIMAX MONEYQUESTION

Borah in Face of Demand for Inflation Prepares Bill for Deflation of Dollar.

SOUNDS OUT SENATE.

WASHINGTON, January 4 (C. P.). — The "money question," long simmering in the U.S. Congress, may come to a head in the Senate within a few days.

In the face of a growing demand, particularly from Western States, for currency inflation to reduce the debts, Senator Borah, Idaho Republican, is preparing a measure to deflate the dollar.

He is sounding out the sentiment of the Senate to determine whether it is strong enough to warrant him offering such a bill as an amendment to the glass banking measure which comes up to-morrow.

Senate leaders privately agree that sentiment for currency inflation of one kind or another is growing by leaps and bounds, not only in their Chamber but in the House as well.

There is no agreement, however, they say, as to what form it should take, and Borah is withholding details of his plan.

Among the methods which have been proposed are the issuance of money on the basis of United States bonds, remonetization of silver, and lowering of the gold content of the dollar.

Some of the more conservative Senators are watching these demands for money legislation with something akin to anxiety, determined to forestall it if possible. One of them, privately agreeing that the movement is growing, said he would fight as he had never fought anything before.

The Senate last session turned down the House proposal to pay the soldier bonus by inflating currency to the extent of $2,400,000,000, but a few days later agreed to Borah's legislation for limited expansion.

$75,000 BLAZE AT ST. THOMAS

Fire Starts in Metropolitan Store After Late Stock-taking Session.

FIVE STORES DAMAGED.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 4 (CP) —The Metropolitan Store here was completely destroyed by fire early to-day, while five other stores were damaged by smoke and water in an early morning blaze. Damage is estimated at $75,000.

Starting from an unknown source in the basement of the building, the fire shot through the Metropolitan Store before firemen could check it. Flames and smoke damaged stocks in Diana Sweets, Dowlers Limited, Eaton's Grocerteria, Hughes Silk Shop and Boughner's China Store.

Dowlers Limited own the building occupied by Metropolitan Stores, Eatons, and Hughes, as well as their own store.

The fire was discovered by Patrolman John Grant, shortly after the staff of the store had left. They had worked until midnight taking stock.

The stock of the Metropolitan Store, valued at $35,000, was a complete loss. Diana Sweets was damaged to the extent of $3,000, while the $50,000 stock of Dowlers Limited was damaged by smoke and water. Water also penetrated to the basement of Eatons, Hughes and the China Store, damaging goods.

'FLU

The 'flu epidemic is not abating, but you can do much to reduce the risk of infection.

1. Avoid crowds as much as possible.
2. Be careful of your diet. Partake freely of fruit, vegetables and milk, which are alkaline in their re-action.
3. Avoid draughts, but see that fresh air is freely admitted to home or office.

Last and most important. Get a bottle of BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE and take a sip several times a day. BUCKLEY'S is a highly alkaline, germ-destroying mixture, that rids the system of cold-giving acids, invaluable as a preventive. If you should take 'flu, go to bed at once, and call your doctor. As likely as not he'll tell you to carry on with BUCKLEY'S. Many doctors do. But be sure it's BUCKLEY'S — the original, genuine, creamy WHITE MIXTURE. The 'flu is too dangerous to experiment with unproven preparations and worthless imitations. BUCKLEY'S became famous during the 'flu epidemic of 1918 and has been famous ever since.

SCHOOL BOARD CLOSES YEAR WITH SURPLUS

Board of Education Has Credit Balance of $3,170.43.

FINAL MEETING.

Decrease of $5,109.36 is Noted in Government Grants.

Each of the various committees of the Board of Education wound up the year 1932 well within their appropriations, it was reported at the final meeting of the old Board last evening, with the result that the general financial statement shows a credit balance of $3,170.43. The balance brought forward from the previous year was $6,130.68.

A decrease of $5,109.36 is noted between the government grants received by the Board last year as compared with the year 1931, for the Collegiate and Vocational School, the Public and Normal Schools. The drop is accounted for by the recent bombshell that was exploded by the Department of Education in announcing a ten per cent. cut in grants to all Boards of Education throughout the Province.

Incidentally G. H. Thompson, secretary of the Board, announced that in scrutinizing the grants in connection with vocational education, he had detected an error and by calling it to the attention of Mr. Rutherford, Director of Education, had been able to effect a further saving to the Board of $230.

In presenting the financial statement, the secretary remarked the economies effected through the year had been very evenly distributed. Receipts for the year ending December 31, were $308,093.00, with expenditures amounting to $304,922.57 according to the general statement.

Remarking upon the surplus in the fuel account, which accounted for an expenditure of $6,739.26, as compared with $8,043.33 the year previous, the secretary stated the bins had not been filled up, and two loads of coal had been put in over the Christmas holidays which was not yet paid for.

In night class expenditures a reduction of from $800 to $900 was noted. The saving was made by reason of the fact that the number of classes had been reduced.

A surplus of $1,200 was to the good on the Public Schools repairs appropriation.

The financial report was adopted as read on motion of E. F. Reid, seconded by I. P. McNabb, and is to be sent on to the city auditor.

The complete statement is as follows:

Ask 15 P.C. Wages Orillia Employees

ORILLIA, Ont., Jan. 4. (CP)— Civic servants of Orillia receiving more than $1,000 a year in salaries will be asked to make a voluntary contribution of 15 per cent of their salaries to the Public Welfare Board for the next four months. This decision was made at the inaugural meeting of the town council last night.

By doing this, it was pointed out, an amount equal to the sum donated by the employees would be obtained from each of the governments. This would be equivalent to a total equal to a 15 per cent reduction for the whole year.

This action followed a heated discussion, as a result of Alderman W. M. Cramp's motion for a 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of all civic employees receiving more than $1,000 a year.

Is there any wood used in the Eiffel Tower in Paris?

Correctly Speaking—

"Don't," a contraction of do not, is ungrammatical when used with a subject in the third person singular. Say "He doesn't know" Not "He don't know."

MILLBROOK CHURCH S. S. HOLDS GOLDEN JUBILEE ANIVERSARY

Fitting Program Given by St. Andrew's Pupils at Annual Entertainment.

DRILLS AND EXERCISES.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 4 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Golden Jubilee anniversary of the Sunday School of St. Andrew's Church reached a fitting climax on Monday evening when a large audience gathered for the annual entertainment provided by the pupils, the superintendent W. Fred Fallis, taking the chair, and the orchestra, under the leadership of G. E. Burnham providing music while the people were gathering and between the various numbers of the program.

The accompanists of the evening were Misses Mary Burnham, Beatrice Jones, Dorothy McDowell, and Estelle Hetherington, and the little folk of the primary department opened the program with a motion song, "The Brown Mother Hen," Leatha Rowland following with a musical recitation, "Won't you come to my Tea Party?" and Helen Mitchell being heard in a reading, "At Church," with "Hunting the Dear" as a recall.

The primary children were heard again in a motion song, and the "Mother Goose Exercise" was much enjoyed, Beatrice McDowell taking the title role, characters beloved through nursery-rhyme familiarity who came for the comforting of the much-loved 'Mother' being Dorothy Smith, who, as Old Mother Hubbeard, brought a pie and her little dog; Kathleen Davis who was the Queen of Hearts and carried her gift—a plate of tarts; Velma Thornton who made an attractive Little Jack Horner and had her nice plum-pudding as her present; Phyllis Lunn who looked very dainty as Little Bo-Beep in her golden sunbonnet, sash and crook of the same hue; Betty Thornton (Little Miss Muffet) who caused everyone to scream with her big spider; Simple Simon (Dora Campbell) who brought a love gift; Cross Patch (Elsie Theobald) and Jack and Jill (Meddy McDowell and Mary Dawson), who offered a pail of candy; all finally grouping themselves about Mother Goose and singing a happy chorus before leaving the stage.

The Young Men's Bible Class sang two choruses, and gave Tuxis yells in enthusiastic style, and the girls of Miss Jean Burnham's class presented a pretty dialogue, "In a Rose Garden," those taking part being: Mrs. Merry Weather, Esther Might; Eglantine the maid, Bernice Smith; Paddy, Dorothy Nattress, the daughter of Mrs. Merry Weather who was engaged to David Brownlee, and Ida Lunn, David's mother; Marjorie McDowell made a fine grandmother, and the college students who boarded at the widow's were Kathleen Smith, Mary Ball, and Marie Douglas. A pretty archway twined with roses made an effective way of entrance to the stage for this number.

The final pantomime, "The Sleeping Beauty," followed a piano duet by Misses Mary Burnham and Bryar Edmunds, Miss Marjorie Sayles being seated outside the curtain and reading the story of the princess who slept one hundred years until awakened by the kiss of Prince Charming of little Marjorie Griffiths, who clad in her little sleeping-suit was held in the reader's arms. The curtains parted to show the various characters as the story proceeded, the king and queen being Gordon Muspratt and Mrs. Aubrey Todd; the princess, Marian O'Brian; the fairy queen, Beatrice Jones; the fairies, who also took the part of the court ladies, Marian Earle, Sadie Rowland, Elma Davis, Anne Rowland, Grace Sloan, May Ferren, Gladys Williamson, and the 'bad cross fairy,' Gertrude Spence. Courtiers were Elwood Fallis, Donald Lang and Johnston Rowland, while Gordon Davis filled the role of Prince Charming, wearing a suit of white satin the cape lined with blue. Costumes and staging throughout were appropriate and very pretty, and the pantomime was one of the best numbers of the evening.

Over forty dollars was received at the door, and considering the many absent through the prevailing flu that were to have taken part in the program, the event was an unqualified success.

SOCIAL IS HELD AFTER ELECTION

Several Addresses Given by Prominent Men of Dummer at Warsaw Gathering.

WARSAW, Jan. 4. (Examiner Correspondence). — Though everything was quiet and in good order on Monday, voting was lively at Warsaw for Dummer election. Much credit is due Miss Della Tucker in the telephone office for the way in which she handled the returns. The old council decided to give a social evening after the returns were in. By eight o'clock the hall was well filled and some time later the new reeve, Richard Tedford, arrived to be greeted and congratulated by E. N. McDonald, reeve for 1932.

Alec. Rose, township clerk, was appointed chairman who after asking new and old council members to take seats on the platform and a few words of welcome, called upon W. S Anderson for a reading, and he gave "St. Peter at the golden Gate".

Mr. Tedford thanked the people for support and promised to do all in his power to economize.

Mr. McDonald appreciated the support given him, but regretted leaving with so much unpaid taxes

Mr. Bell thanked those who voted for him; he tried to do what was right and endeavoured to do what is fair and square. Reminded that the laboring man needs help he will work if he can get it. Hoped people who pay taxes will remember the council endeavours to economize.

Mr. Martin would have peen glad to win, but was a cheerful loser, told a story of W. Jennings Bryan, who after several attempts to be U.S. President decided he was not wanted.

Mr. Hamblin said he had been longest in the council, had tried to do his best; and thanked those who had supported him.

Mr. Clysdale, a new man, thanked people for support. He had not been at the nominations and knew nothing of it until the next morning, but decided to stand. He, too, would do his best.

Mr. Ivey was surprised at the vote given him and he would endeavour to help the reeve and other councillors.

Mr. Baptie is starting his tenth year on the board. He liked to work with Mr. McDonald, but was willing to work with Mr. Tedford.

Dr. Munro was called upon and reminded the audience that at this beginning of a new year there are certain essentials: One is, to have faith in people and in themselves. Faith develops character, both in ourselves and in others. If we have faith in people, they will do their best. Faith is better than sight, and love is better than hate. He advised to help the council and not to think it a duty to criticize. He also reminded the people that we always get what we look for—if we want to find fault we can; if we want to see good we can—and no one can do his best if he knows people are looking for faults.

Speaking over the telephone Mr. McDonald wished me to say to The Examiner that he would like the people to know that he says, "Everything is quite satisfactory. I have done my best to serve the people, and in this time of depression everyone worked together to make the lot of the ratepayers easier. Of unpaid taxes for 1931 there are about $1 300 and for 1932 there are a little over $9.000.

After the addresses Billy McIntyre gave a step dance and the juvenile orchestra gave a few selections.

A large crowd of younger people came in and the hall was cleared of seats and dancing was the order of the night.

Miss Florence Tedford and Miss Alma McCracken returned to their schools beyond Burleigh on Monday.

Miss Valetta Drain returned to Toronto on Tuesday.

Mrs. Richard Thompson returned to her home last week very much improved. Her granddaughter, Violet Freeman, is staying with her.

pursuit of the fleeing Chinese soldiers at sundown.

Thereafter, advices reaching here said, the two forces were nowhere in contact except in the western portion of Shanhaikwan, where the Japanese were engaging small bands of Chinese troops in sporadic conflicts.

Both Sides Rest

To-day, both sides were apparently resting on their arms, while tentative "feelers" were being sent out to determine whether the next move would be one of war or peace.

Japanese forces are ready for either, with Major-Gen. Suzuki's command in headquarters in Shanhaikwan, strategically located on the important Peipin-Mukden Railway.

Suzuki commands strong units of infantry, artillery, and engineering forces.

Meanwhile from Tientain came reports of a concentration of troop trains at that city, which is southwest of Shanhaikwan. These trains were to carry reinforcements of General Chang Hsiao-liang, former Governor of Manchuria, to the front should the conflict be resumed, the communiques said.

Japanese reports were uncertain concerning the situation at Chinwangtao, a few miles south of Shanhaikwan, where one officer and twenty enlisted men of the United States Army are stationed.

The reports reaching Tokio, however, agreed that Japanese destroyers on Tuesday had shelled Chinese troops at Chinwangtao, but apparently Japanese troops had not advanced to that city.

It was stated that General Hochukuo, Chinese commander, was negotiating at Chinwangtao for the purpose of achieving a peaceful settlement of the conflict. Meanwhile, Chinese preparations for large-scale resistance are being carried forward.

CHURCHILL HITS GREAT BRITAIN'S FOREIGN POLICY

Urges Greatest Caution Be Observed in Dealing With Other Nations.

SCORES THE U. S.

France's Disarmament Plan is Merely a Pretext, He Declares.

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
(Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 4. — Under the headline, "Britain Must Hear the Truth," Mr. Winston Churchill makes a vigorous attack on the recent foreign policy of Britain.

Winston Churchill

Pointing out that the disarmament conference, "has been the scene of a nauseating series hypocritical manoeuvres" he says that "every country has been trying to gain some military advantage for itself, and at the same time pose as the foremost champion of peace and disarmament."

Criticizes America

"No great sacrifice" he says, "was made by the United States, when after having increased their armed forces more than any other country since 1914, and having raised their navy by treaty to an equality with Great Britain, and being themselves perfecly safe, separated by oceans from the rest of the world, Mr. Hoover proposed the reduction of armaments by one-third.

Similarly he points out, the British proposal to reduce or abolish submarines and aeroplanes would suit Britain particularly well. The French, he declares, in their disarmament plan, have put forward merely a pretext for making all other countries responsible for the defence of France and the peace treaties. In the same way the Germans, he states, make out that all they want is equal status, whereas they are seeking superior power.

Japanese Expenditures

Mr. Churchill also emphasizes the fact that the rate of Japanese military expenditure is such that it cannot long be maintained in time of peace.

Therefore, he claims, the greatest caution in British foreign policy is necessary.

"We ought not to embroil ourselves uselessly and beyond our strength in the troubles of the Far East. We ought not to press France to weaken herself. It would be madness to work for military equality between France and Germany.

"We ought to take no new engagements in Europe unless the United States is willing to bind herself by treaty to the same demands."

BIG COMMISSION ON LUMBER DEAL

Soviet Offers British Firm One Dollar Per Thousand on 870,000,000 Feet.

HOPE FOR CANADA.

MONTREAL, Jan. 4. (CP)—The price at which Russia has contracted to deliver 870,000,000 feet of lumber to Timber Distributors Limited of Great Britain during 1933 is $18.50 per 1.000 feet for seven-inch width and $26.50 per 1,000 feet for nine-inch width, H. R. MacMillan, prominent British Columbian lumber exporter, stated here yesterday. He had received a cable to that effect.

The rates, he said, were the same as those quoted to the same company last year and apply to white wood. The price of red wood, of which none is available from Eastern Canada, has been raised 80 cents per 1,000 feet, he added.

A commission of one dollar per 1,000 feet was payable to the British company. Mr. MacMillan added. On the contract the commission would be $870,000, "so attractive that the British company could hardly be expected to turn it down."

"There is no reason for Canadians to throw in their hand" Mr. MacMillan said. In the face of a similar if smaller competition last year from Russia, Eastern Canada did some business in the United Kingdom. "It is up to eastern lumber interests to unite against this 1933 competition and work in every way possible to meet it."

Unimak is the largest and easternmost of the Aleutian Islands.

TO THE ELECTORS OF SMITH TOWNSHIP:

Ladies and Gentlemen—

I wish at this time to thank you one and all for your support which elected me as your Deputy Reeve for 1933, and I hope I may be able to merit the confidence which you have placed in me. Wishing all a Happy New Year.

GEO. E. MULLEN.

SORE THROAT!

Any little soreness in the throat grows rapidly worse if neglected. Crush some tablets of Aspirin in some water, and gargle at once. This gives you instant relief, and reduces danger from infection. One good gargle and you can feel safe. If all soreness is not gone promptly, repeat. There's usually a cold with the sore throat, so take two tablets to throw off your cold, headache, stiffness or other cold symptoms. Aspirin relieves neuralgia, neuritis, too. Use it freely; it does not hurt the heart.

What Today Means to YOU

By MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 4th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 4.15 p.m. to 5.45 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8.50 a.m. to 10 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Influences operating on this January 4th will tend to make this a period of meditated activity; thoughts and acts will not be spontaneous nor will they be inspiration. Not a good day to play hunches nor to take a gambler's chance either in business or with regard to affairs of the heart. Events will seem to move slowly, but basically the day will be a happy one.

The child born on this January 4th will probably be very sensitively attuned to life. He will react instaneously to incidents that would not be noticed by the average person. He will seem to be influenced greatly by the thoughts of others. He would appear to be a visionary. Do not let him give way to a tendency towards sensitiveness and bashfulness.

Born on January 4th, you are a thinker. You believe firmly that thought is probably the greatest power in the world to-day, and you are constantly analyzing both your own thoughts and the thoughts of others. You are a constructive thinker, and you live to create. This is true whether you are in business, or in the clergy, or a teacher, or whether you are pursuing one of the arts. You rather like to be in the limelight and to have attention focused on yourself. Occasionlly you re tempted to go to extremes to attract attention your way

If January 4th is the date of your birth, yours is probably a restless nature You have set your goal in life high, and you are ever on the alert, striving hard to gain it You will succeed, and as you progress you will possibly attract to your self many fine friends who in turn will make it possible for you to carry on further in your good work Money will come your way and you will never lack those things which it can buy. In love you may not be so fortunate. You are a rather difficult person for one of the opposite sex to understand; in fact, you are inclined to enjoy being misunderstood by those of the other sex. If you are a woman, your greatest joy will come from your children, not from your husband.

VOL. LXX., No. 3 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1933 — PRICE THREE CENTS

CALVIN COOLIDGE DIES VERY SUDDENLY

HEAVY DRINKING AT FATAL PARTY EVIDENCE SHOWS

Inquest is Held Into the Death of Frederick Fletcher.

THREE WERE DRUNK.

Died From Fractured Skull Received in Drunken Brawl.

"That Frederick Fletcher came by his death by a fractured skull received in a drunken brawl on or about January 1, 1933, at 306 Aylmer street, in the City of Peterborough, Ontario," was the verdict returned last night by a coroner's jury who inquired into the mysterious circumstances surrounding Fletcher's death.

The inquest was conducted by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., before Dr. J. C. Smith, coroner of Lakefield, who substituted for Dr. T. W. H. Young, who is ill with influenza.

R. S. Condie, and Harold Kenyon alias Harry Hendrichon, both of whom have been charged with manslaughter as a result of their part in the strange circumstances surrounding Fletcher's death, testified that Fletcher fell downstairs, while intoxicated, following a fight with Kenyon in Kenyon's bedroom on the second floor. They stated that they did not know that Fletcher was seriously hurt in his fall, and had carried him to the sofa in the kitchen, thinking that he was only asleep.

Others who occupied rooms on the third floor at 306 Aylmer street told of the strange noises indicative of quarrelling, blows and a heavy fall that they had heard during the night.

Body Identified

John Quigley, of 217 Rubidge street, said he had known Frederick Fletcher for eight months. He identified the body found at 306 Aylmer street on January 1, as that of Fletcher.

Robert S. Condie, next witness, before testifying, claimed the protection of the court under the Canada and Ontario Evidence Act.

Condie said he was employed at

LEVEES BREAK, FAMILIES FLEE

Nearly 40,000 Acres Flooded on Missouri Side of St. Francis River.

STOCK DROWNS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 5. (AP) Scores of families fled to-day before flood waters that poured through four levee breaks along the St. Francis River in Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas.

Two gaps in the levee on the Missouri side of the river sent water over approximately 40,000 acres of lowlands. The second of the breaks, three and a half miles north of Kennett, Mo., came without warning, but Missouri national guardsmen assisted marooned families to safety. No lives were lost, but some livestock perished.

Another crevasse developed at the state line, boundary between Arkansas and Missouri. It threatened to overflow a 35 square mile area in Arkansas. Water poured through a fourth opening at Berig, Ark., covering a wide area of farm land.

3,000 CIVILIAN CHINESE DIED IN JAP ATTACK

Harowing Tales of "Hell" Loosened By Bombardment, Told by Refugees.

DEAD PILED IN STREETS.

Over 100,000 Residents Flee City—No Signs of Peace Efforts.

(By Harold Timperley, A. P. Staff Writer)

PEIPING, China, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Three thousand civilian Chinese were killing during the Shanhaikwan battle resulting from the Japanese "onslaught" was the report brought here today by incoming Shanhaikwan refugees.

About 1,000 arrived here, telling harrowing tales of a "hell" loosened by the Japanese bombardment.

The refugees stated the scores of houses within Shanhaikwan were now heaps of blackened bricks and that the bodies of the dead lay piled in the streets.

Death of Heroes

A laudatory tale was told of the death of Colonel An Teh-Hsin and 300 men defending the Shanhaikwan south gate

The refugees stated that the colonel's outfit twice repulsed Japanese attacks but when the latter launch a third and heavier onslaught all perished before the Japanese guns. Colonel An was a youth in his early twenties.

It was estimated here that at least 3,000 civilians were killed during the bombardment while 100,000 refugees flocked southwards, mostly toward Chinwangtao, the nearby coast city. All was quiet in the battle area today.

It was reported that until now peace negotiations have not been initiated.

Never Received

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Japanese legation here stated today it had not received a protest against the occupation of Shanhaikean, reported sent by the Nanking Nationalist government.

FIGHTING CONTINUES.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, January 4 (C.P.). — The War Office announced to-day that Paraguayan forces in the Gran Chaco are continuing close contact with the Bolivian troops near Corrales. In the fighting on Sunday and Monday, the announcement said, 250 Bolivians were killed.

MAD DOG RACES THROUGH STREET

Sergeant William Wigg Shot Snarling Animal Early This Morning.

MIDNIGHT CALL.

A posse of police hunted a mad dog through the business district of the city early this morning. The hunt ended when Sergeant William Wigg, shooting with unerring aim from the police car, lodged a bullet in the head of the snarling, snapping animal as it raced down the street with foam at its mouth.

The shout of "mad dog" was first raised on Water street near the Peterborough Canoe plant when citizens, abroad late, observed the dog, whirling about like a Dervish, snapping and snarling at the air.

Shortly after midnight a call went through to police, and several officers set forth to track down the maddened animal. After considerable chase, Sergeant Wigg came up with the dog on George street near the National Grocers' warehouse. It was dark and the dog was bounding about as though on springs, but Wigg, the best marksman on the force, ended its career with the first bullet from a rifle.

Head Not Sent Away

Dr. Thomas Johnston, of the Humane Society, was informed immediately. The dog's head was not sent away for examination, as required by law, Dr. Johnston said because the bullet had been imbedded in the head, rendering it useless for a proper test as to whether the dog had rabies.

The proper course should have been, Dr. Johnston said, to secure the animal, tie it up for several days and if it had had rabies it would have died within five days. "However," he declared, "I'm not criticizing Sergeant Wigg. He did just what I would have tried to do under the same circumstances. And I call that good shooting."

The dog's carcass was taken to the incinerator and destroyed. It is the first time in several years that a mad dog has raced through the city's streets.

PRAYERS DID IT REID DECLARES IN LONELY CELL

Condemned Man Makes Little Comment When Reprieve Announced.

APPEARED RELIEVED.

Official Notification Received By Sheriff F. J. A. Hall.

"I knew I'd get it. That's what prayers have done."

That was the only comment made by Henry Walter Reid when notified by his counsel, J. A. O'Brien yesterday afternoon that he had been granted a reprieve until February 10, and that his case had been referred by the Federal Government to the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Reid confined in the lonely death cell at the county gaol, where preparations had been going forward throughout the day for the carrying out of the death penalty in the early hours of Friday morning, received the news calmly and without any undue display of emotion.

According to Mr. O'Brien, who had hastened to the gaol immediately upon receipt of a telegram from the Deputy Minister of Justice informing him "Minister of Justice has referred to Court of Appeal of Ontario whole case of Henry Walter Reid," the condemned man brightened up perceptibly at the news. "He was as cheerful as I have yet seen him," Mr. O'Brien observed.

SNATCHES $3,000 IN CASH.

KALEVA, Mich., Jan. 5. (AP)—Four bandits to-day shot and killed Ellsworth Billman, cashier of the Kaleva State Bank here, and escaped with cash estimated at $3,000.

Three of the robbers dashed into the bank, leaving the fourth at the wheel of their automobile.

One man shouted: "Hands up! You know what we want."

He then fired one bullet into Billmans body, killing him instantly.

Another shot was fired at W. J. Hanes, a patron, but it was wild.

The robbers went behind the counter, scooped up what currency was in sight, and bolted with a warning, "Don't try anything funny."

The robbers fled in a blue motor car and were followed south by a posse of county police and citizens, to Brethren, where they turned east.

30th President Of U.S. Is Found Dead By His Wife

Calvin Coolidge, Former President of the United States Dies Suddenly in His Northampton Home Shortly After Returning From His Office.

HIS DEATH WAS WHOLLY UNEXPECTED; SUFFERED FROM INDIGESTION FOR 3 WEEKS

Coolidge Succeeded President Harding When Latter Died While Returning From a Trip to Canada And Alaska.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan 5.—(CP)—Calvin Coolidge, 30th President of the United States, died suddenly today. He was 60 years old last July 4th.

Returning from a shopping tour, Mrs. Coolidge found the body of her husband on the bed in a room at "The Beeches", the estate to which he retired at the conclusion of his career at the national capitol.

His death was wholly unexpected although for the past three weeks Mr. Coolidge had complained of indigestion. Doctors said death was due to heart failure.

The former president, who up to the time of his death, was the only surviving president of the United States, had gone to his law office as usual this morning.

After a short time in the office Mr. Coolidge became distressed and decided to return home. Harry Ross, his secretary, returned to "The Beeches" with him. Mrs. Coolidge, meanwhile, had gone to the centre of the city shopping.

Mr. Coolidge assured Ross that he would be all right after a short rest and after aiding the former President to the bedroom Ross returned to the first floor of the house to await the return of Mrs. Coolidge.

Found Husband's Body

When Mrs. Coolidge, 20 minutes later, returned and Ross told her of Mr. Coolidge's illness, she went immediately to his bedroom. There she found her husband's body. A doctor was quickly summoned but the former President was beyond aid. So that he must have passed away within a few moments after Ross left the room.

Living Quiet Life.

The former President had been leading a quiet life since his return to Northampton after his successor in the Presidency, Herbert Hoover, was inagurated on March 4, 1929. His day to day program varied little, and it had not changed greatly despite the slight indisposition of the past three weeks.

Ordinarily he spent a part of the day at his law office with occasional writing up on the magazine articles which he had contributed from time to time to various publications.

Although he lived to a large extent out of the public eye since he retired to private life, former President Coolidge had of recent months emerged on several occasions due to the exigencies of the economic situation and of politics.

His work with the Railroad Committee drew him forth to a considerable degree from his self imposed privacy and during the latter days of the Presidential campaign he stood on one occasion again in the full light of national publicity. That was on Oct. 11 last when he was the principal speaker at a Republican rally at Madison Square Garden. The great arena was filled to overflowing by thousands who heard him urge the re-election of President Hoover and denounce what he saw as "pending Democratic treasury raids."

Born on a Farm

Born and reared in the humble surroundings of a Vermont farm, Calvin Coolidge was destined to go by successive steps to the highest and mightiest office of a great nation, to administer its affairs for six years and to terminate his presidential career virtually of his own volition.

To the vice-presidency and to the presidency, he brought a shrewd common sense, a quiet personality in vivid contrast with some of his predecessors, a keen native wit and many homely likes and dislikes retained from his New England boyhood.

Among his supporters he inspired an ardent admiration and from his political opponents he often received the bitterest of denunciations. But there were, nevertheless, many in the latter group who valued his friendship and liked to smoke a cigar with him and talk things over.

Reaching the presidency upon the death of Warren G. Harding in 1923, Mr. Coolidge was confronted with problems of rehabilitation arising from the World War and the depression of 1921, and almost at once the country was shaken by the scandals which were revealed in the naval oil leases, the justice department and the office of the custodian of alien property.

With serenity and calmness he rode out these storms and meanwhile instituted a policy of governmental economy and mutual helpfulness in assisting Europe to work out its post-war problems. Such was the success of this program that when he ran for president in 1924 he was returned to office by a popular plurality of 7,000,000, the greatest that had been accorded a candidate for the presidency up to that time.

The manner of his leaving the presidency aroused a national interest comparable with that of his induction into that office by his faher in a lamp-lit room of the later's Vermont farm home.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge on the afternoon of the inauguration of Herbert Hoover, his successor, left Washington for their old home in Northampton, Mass., to occupy the same modest house where they started life in 1905, when Mr. Coolidge commenced his public career as city solicitor of that municipality.

As early as the spring of 1927 there was widespread opinion that if Mr. Coolidge wished to be re-elected he had only to indicate it. By his own confession, this view was shared by Mr. Coolidge himself regardless of the popular tradition that a president must retire after his second term.

In a magazine article published after his retirement, Mr. Coolidge

PASSENGERS PUSHED OVERBOARD AS BOAT DOCKED IN PALESTINE

But Arab Boatmen Are Ready to Catch the Falling Passenger.

THRILLING SENSATION.

With this article Pierre van Paassen starts a new series vividly describing the Holy Land during the Christmas season.

JAFFA, Palestine, Dec. 20.—The tumult of the Orient begins with the ear-splitting clamor of the Arab boatmen, who fly up the ropes and swing themselves over the deck-rails, as your steamer slows up before Jaffa. Dozens of gaily colored barks put out from shore as soon as the first smirch of a liner's smoke taints the lucent sky. They come dancing and swaying over the swelling waves, tiny, indistinct specks at first, but gradually taking shape in the wondrous crystal-clear light of the Old World sea. Long before you can distinguish the boatmen themselves, their peculiar rhythmic song, punctuated by the rumbling rubadub of the oars, travels to you over the water.

Handicapped

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 5 (C.P.)—There's a prowler in this town who had better change his shoes or he'll be saying "Good morning, Judge." Traces of the mysterious gentleman have been found in two different places. In both he had entered residences but obtained nothing. In each case there were footprints—size 10—outside the windows. And detectives say they stand a mighty good chance of catching the fellow if he doesn't change those oversize dogs.

Mrs. Claxton suffered a fracture of the leg and other injuries, and Mr. Claxton, who is Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis and a local merchant, it is stated, will also be a patient in the hospital for several days.

BURNING LINER NEARS ENGLAND

Victims Aboard Crack French Boat Set at 18 With 210 Rescued.

OUTBREAK UNEXPLAINED.

(By Stuart Moroney, A.P. Staff Writer.)

CHERBOURG, France, Jan. 5. — The superb 41,000-ton French passenger line Atlantique, gutted by fire and with loss of lives at present placed at 18, was burning herself out to-day 70 miles off Cherbourg.

The French mine-layer Pollux reported the huge ship was drifting rapidly toward the English coast and was within seven miles of Portland Bill. The fire was diminishing but flames were still visible, while a strong wind was increasing, the Polloux reported.

A ship bearing Captain Schoofs, master of the Atlantique, left at 10 a.m., to direct salvage operations if possible. Other ships in the vicinity reported the wreck was listing badly to the port side, while the bow was rising, indicating a leak. It was declared impossible to board her.

Captain Schoof and the owners, the Compagnie de Navigation, believed if the bulkheads hold there was just a chance to recuperate the hull and the machinery.

Survivors to Testify

Leon Meyer, Minister of Merchant Marine, opened an official inquiry this morning to try to ascertain the cause of the outbreak, at present a complete mystery. All of the 210 survivors, officers and crew who were taking the ship from Bordeaux to Le Havre without passengers for overhaul, will give evidence. While some of the survivors were inclined to attribute the start to a short circuit, officers did not confirm this view, saying frankly they have no idea what was the cause.

The Atlantique, launched only 15 months ago for the Bordeaux-Buenos Aires service, was the fourth large vessel of the French Merchant Marine to burn in four years.

The Georges Philippar, also a new and luxurious vessel, burned under mysterious circumstances in the Gulf of Aden last May, with considerable loss of lives. The Asia burned in May, 1930, and the Paul Lecat in December, 1928. The newspaper Le Matin said the coincidences were too startling to appear accidental, and the newspaper Liberty suggested sabotage.

UNITED COUNTIES SEE 14 CHANGES IN COUNCILLORS

Fourteen New Men Have Been Elected to Counties' Council.

SEVEN RETIRED.

Both Percy Township Representatives in 1932 Were Defeated.

Fourteen of the forty members of the council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham will answer the roll call for the first time when the approaching January sessions open for the election of the Warden for 1933.

One-third of the personnel changed at the turn of the year, and as some of the familiar figures pass out of the picture their places are taken by new men. The ranks close up, and the counties council is complete again.

Seven of the thirteen old members retired, and seven were defeated at various polls.

Both the Percy township representatives were defeated in the municipal elections, Reeve Alfred Merrill by C. H. Curtis, who was deputy-reeve to ex-Warden W. H. Nelson; and James Lamey, deputy last year, by C. J. Boyce, a member of Percy township council last year.

Reeve Gordon Parker retired in Alnwick township after eight years' service as reeve, a comparatively long connexion with the counties council. His seat will be occupied by his successor, Wesley Pacey.

In Seymour township Reeve Robert Innis withdrew from the municipal arena, and Deputy-reeve W. J. Duncan won the major position in a contest, while his seat passed to W. S. Milne.

George A. B. Stevenson upset certain expectancies throughout the two counties by eliminating Reeve J. H. Hess.

Reeve Fred S. Gray emerged with a majority from another election struggle in Manvers. He defeated Ernest Beer, the 1932 deputy-reeve, and becomes one of the veterans of the counties council. Mr. Beer's seat passes to Christopher Cumiskey.

In Cramahe township, Deputy-reeve Roy Darling was defeated by Reeve Chas. Quinn; and Leslie Campbell is the new deputy.

Deputy-reeve Lightle of Hope, who declined to seek re-election, has been replaced by Stanley G. Gray; and in Bowmanville Reeve Rahder retired; Deputy-reeve T. O. Lockhart moved up, and R. O. Jones succeeds to the deputy's chair.

TROOPS GUARD RIVER LEVEES

Missouri Governor Takes Steps to Prevent Dynamiting Attempts.

FLOODS RISING.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Fear of levee dynamiting officially entered the flood picture yesterday as rivers rose menacingly in the Southern United States and prospects for additional rain grew stronger.

Governor Henry S. Caulfield of Missouri took steps to send National Guard troops on levee patrol duty in the southeastern part of the state after Dunklin County officers reported seeing prowlers along the levees of the overburdened St. Francis River.

Land owners in territory behind weakened levees often have been accused of dynamiting sections of the dikes. Breaks in the Missouri levees would reduce hazards to the Arkansas side of the St. Francis, but would flood much acreage in Missouri.

As the fight continued to hold levees north and south of Kennett, the St. Francis poured through a 150-foot gap in the Arkansas levee, a mile and a half north of Bertig, Ark., and observers said much land in Eastern Green County, Arkansas, would be inundated if the river continues to rise.

HENRY INDICATES ONTARIO FAVORS INSURANCE PLAN

But Believes Ottawa Should Meet All Government Costs.

SEES LABOR MEN.

Delegation Assured of Effort Toward Making Scheme Operative.

TORONTO, Jan. 5. — Ontario's sympathies and influence at the impending interprovincial-Federal conference at Ottawa will be for a nation-wide system of unemployment insurance, but this Province will press the view that the Federal Government should meet all the Governmental costs.

Prime Minister Henry gave yesterday to President Tom Moore of the Trades and Labor Congress an intimation along the line of Ontario's attitude and the intimation was later supplemented in official quarters. Premier Henry's statement to Mr. Moore was: "I can assure you we go to Ottawa with a very sympathetic mind toward the working out of some scheme of unemployment insurance that will become operative as soon as possible."

May Take Labor Men

Canadian Labor has been very insistent on the point of the desirability of unemployment insurance for Canadian workmen, and Mr. Moore further ascertained from the Premier, after the Trades and Labor delegation had submitted its lengthy list of legislative requests, that Ontario Government representatives would be glad to take with them to Ottawa Labor representatives in touch with unemployment insurance matters should Premier Bennett sanction the presence of observers and advisers.

Premier Henry wrote to Right Hon. Mr. Bennett yesterday, following the receipt at Queen's Park of the Interprovincial Conference agenda, inquiring if advisers and various kinds of citizen representatives were to be included in discussions, or whether the deliberations were to be confined to members of Provincial Cabinets.

Covering Up

NEW YORK, Jan 5. (AP)—The lad who scorns the lassies and poo-pahs cupid may really be covering up—down deep he may be worried because he thinks he has no sex appeal. So indicates Prof. Goodwin Watson, who runs a consultation centre for emotional maladjustments at Teachers College. He said:

"We have many cases of men who feel they have no personality, or that they can't attract the opposite sex. Then the man makes believe he isn't interested—that he is above being silly."

OFFICER SAVES DROWNING BOYS

Four Are Pulled From Deep Pond With Length of Garden Hose.

WERE ICE-BOATING.

HAMILTON, Jan. 5—Four boys on an improvised iceboat had a narrow escape from drowning late yesterday afternoon in a deep pond near the Bay front, on Birmingham street, when the craft went through the thin ice and threw the boys into ten feet of cold water.

Fortunately for them, their cries were heard by Motorcycle Officer Green, who was passing, and he went to their rescue. After wading into the water to a point where it was waist deep, the officer tossed one end of a length of garden hose to the boys, and dragged each of them to safety.

Two of them were so badly frightened by their experience and the sight of the policeman that they ran off without giving their names, and their companions did not know who they were. The other two boys were John Franl, 173 Birmingham street, and Ontario Massie, 150 Burmingham street. The pond is near the property of the Steel Company of Canada, and was once an inlet of the Bay.

BEHIND THE COUNTER AT 66

No Thought of Giving Up

WHILE KRUSCHEN KEEPS HER FIT

"The following facts may interest you," writes a wonderfully active woman. "I am 66 years of age, and for the last 15 years have been an assistant in a very busy dry-goods store. At the moment, I am serving behind the counter between the hours of 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., and up to 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. During the last year I have only had 14 days' absence, due to a severe cold. It is some three years now since I commenced taking Kruschen, and I firmly believe that my present vitality is due to the daily dose. Prior to commencing Kruschen, I suffered from bilious attacks and general tiredness, and felt I should soon have to give up my work. However, I have no thought of this now, except that I may soon be superannuated. The date could easily be put ahead five years for all employees if only they took Kruschen."—(Mrs.) E. W.

Whether you are still in your 'teens or past your prime, it is neither too early nor too late to start on the "little daily dose." Just a tiny, tasteless pinch of Kruschen Salts every morning! That's the Kruschen rule for complete and constant fitness.

Kruschen is a combination of various natural salts which stimulate your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. They ensure internal cleanliness and keep the blood-stream pure. New and refreshed blood is sent coursing to every fibre of your being. Rheumatism, headaches, indigestion and backaches all pass you by. Depression and lassitude vanish like mist before the morning sun.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

WOUNDED KILLER SHOT BY NURSE

Girl "Good Macedonian" Claims She Was Given Orders and "Could Not Hesitate."

VICTIM, HER PATIENT.

LONDON, Jan. 5. —A Bulgarian nurse, describing herself as "a good Macedonian" yesterday pulled a revolver in the hospital where she was employed and killed Christoff Trajonoff, wounded slayer of Simeon Evtimoff, who was shot to death in the recent gun battle between politicians in front of the royal palace, according to a Daily Telegraph dispatch from Sofia.

The nurse, Katherine Constantinos, 26, was in charge of the ward where Trajonoff was taken after the gunfight in which he killed Evtimoff. Evtimoff was editor of the newspaper Makedonia.

Miss Constantinos shot Trajonoff once through the brain and twice through the heart, the Sofia dispatch said. The shots were fired after she had arranged the pillows beneath her victim's head.

She told police the revolver was given her yesterday with instructions to kill Trajonoff as punishment for the murder of Evtimoff.

"As a good Macedonian" she said "I could not hesitate."

The girl, according to the correspondent, had been employed at the hospital for six years and was known for her tender devotion to all patients who came under her care. She was particularlarly attentive to all Trajonoff's wants since he entered the hospital.

Strangely enough, a detective and two policemen were guarding the ward to prevent possible vengeance by Trajonoff's political enemies.

Relief System Stirs Orillia Merchants

ORILLIA, Ont., Jan. 5. (CP)—Already the target for criticism from recipients of relief and leaders of sundry labor organizations, the Public Welfare Board has now drawn the ire of merchants, who have filed with municipal authorities, a resolution of protest against the manner in which supplies are purchased.

The merchants resolution, now before the town council, claims the present system of distributing supplies "is working considerable hardship upon them, has diverted one fifth of their gross business from them, and that conditions have become such that it may be impossible for some merchants to carry on, unless their taxation is greatly reduced."

MONTREAL, Jan. 5. — Several thousand shop employees of the Canadian National Railways went back to work to-day throughout Canada. The system established some time ago of giving the men employment for four days in each of the first three weeks of the month continues into the New Year.

CALGARY HOLDS TAX PAYMENTS AT CITY HALL

Virtually Becomes Its Own Banker Pending Credit Parley Results.

CITIZENS PAY UP.

Mayor Would Try to Compel Banks to Lend Necessary Money.

CALGARY, Jan. 5—The City of Calgary virtually became its own banker last night.

Fighting an exchange-payment situation, and struggling to obtain $750,000 credit to maintain city services pending tax collection, civic officials kept tax prepayments in City Hall vaults under strong guard, sending to the bank only sufficient funds to meet obligations immediately due.

Would Force Band's Hand

Formal aplication to force the Bank of Montreal to extend the $750,000 in credit was taken by Mayor Davison yesterday, but last night the question was still undecided and the bank remained adamant in refusal to provide credit unless the city paid $300,000 in United States exchange charges in meeting debenture payments in excess of $2,000,000.

Loyalty of taxpayers was demonstrated again during the day, when tax prepayments of $185,000 yesterday were increased to $222,976.72, far in excess of the two-day total last year, when $169,703.51 was paid in advance. The money—except an undisclosed amount given to the bank to meet immediate obligations—was retained in City Hall vaults to guarantee civic operations, while credit negotiations with bank officials were being carried out.

Negotiations

During the day, Mayor Davison and L. W. Brockington, K.C., City Solicitor, negotiated with bank officials concerning the required credit. Negotiations will probably be resumed again to-day. A by-law covering the $750,000 credit has already been prepared, and as soon as definite developments between civic officials and bank officers occur, Council will be asked to finally deal with it.

Payment of the debentures, due yesterday, was believed still to be in progress. Payments are being tendered to all bondholders in Canadian funds, without any consideration of exchange charges.

HEAVY DRINKING AT FATAL PARTY EVIDENCE SHOWS

the Quaker Oats Company. On the night of December 31, with him at the party in his house were: Fletcher, Kenyon, Lessier. Two others were in the house, but they roomed in the attic and he could not tell the court their names.

Much Drinking

"You were doing some drinking that night?" asked Crown Attorney McElderry.

"We had three bottles of whiskey and some beer."

"What did you have?"

"I had four or five glasses of whiskey and some beer," stated Condie, who explained that the glasses were small. He said the drinking started about 7 o'clock in the evening, although previously he had had a little beer. "I drank a quart bottle of beer about 7 o'clock," he stated.

Went to Bed at 12.30

He admitted to Mr. McElderry that he was not a teetotaler. He retired to bed about 12.30 Sunday morning; his room being in the front of the downstairs floor. Kenyon and Lessier occupied separate rooms on the second floor. Fletcher went to bed with Kenyon, witness said.

Condie said Fletcher came to his house about 9 o'clock the night of December 31. He had not slept in the house the night previous, but asked to sleep there the night of December 31.

"What condition was Fletcher in when he went to bed?" asked the Crown Attorney.

Fletcher Was Drunk

"He was pretty drunk, but he got upstairs all right," said Condie.

In the kitchen before they went to bed, witness said, Kenyon and Fletcher had an argument and were going to fight.

"A fight?" asked Mr. McElderry. "What about?"

Condie hesitated before answering, and then said, "About religion; but I stopped them."

Then Fletcher went to bed, and later Kenyon went upstairs. Condie declared. Witness said he then went to bed.

Roused by Noise

About 1.30 he was roused by a noise that he said sounded like a bump on the floor.

"I got up and started upstairs and on the way up I saw Fletcher running and Kenyon chasing him," said Condie. "Kenyon was undressed except for his underwear a. i Fletcher had his shoes off. Fletcher passed me on the top step. He had a black eye and his nose was bloody. That's where Kenyon had hit him."

Condie said that Fletcher did not speak to him but Kenyon explained that "he had hit him a couple of pokes."

Fletcher Fell, Witness Says

"Fletcher slipped on the stairs just after he passed me and fell full way downstairs," Condie said. "Kenyon and I ran downstairs to him. We picked him up and dragged him to the kitchen and put him on the sofa.

"Was he hurt very badly?" asked Mr. McElderry.

"Yes; he had a black eye and an injured nose," witness replied. Condie said he only examined him once, although he admitted to Mr. McElderry that Fletcher had had a bad fall.

Condie stated that Fletcher fell on his back at the foot of the stairs, but he could not explain why he hadn't fallen head first.

"Isn't it right that he was standing at the top of the stairs with his back to the stairs when he was struck down?" asked Mr. McElderry.

Not Knocked Down

"Not while I was there," said Condie.

"Well, you were there all the time? You would have seen?"

"Yes. I think he just tripped and fell down," Condie explained.

Condie said that all the injuries Fletcher received on his face he had before he fell downstairs. "I didn't know he got any injuries when he fell downstairs," he said.

Condie said he and Kenyon did not say anything to each other when they laid Fletcher on the couch. Kenyon then went upstairs to bed, while witness went down cellar to see about the furnace and then went to bed.

Snoring at 7 o'Clock

"When I got up at 7 o'clock and went into the kitchen Fletcher was snoring yet," he stated. After tending the furnace again at that time he went back to bed.

The next thing, witness said, he knew, was Miss Elliott, the girl who did the cleaning at the house, saying that she thought Fletcher was dead. He got up immediately, he said, and went into the kitchen.

"I Touched him. His wrist was warm but there was no pulse so I knew he was dead," he declared. He then called Kenyon and Kenyon said they had better call the police. He called the police.

Kenyon first came to his house two weeks ago last Friday, said Condie. He roomed there and boarded out. Lessier gave Kenyon the liquor. Kenyon hadd been in the house all Saturday and he and Lessier had been drinking beer, white whiskey and Scotch whiskey, said Condie. Kenyon was intoxicated when he went to bed.

Condie said he had known Fletcher three or four years.

Explains Alias

Harold Kenyon, next witness, also claimed the protection of the court. Kenyon said his name was Harold Henrichon and his address 5480 Western Ave., Montreal.

Explaining why he was using two names he said he had adopted Kenyon as a road name. He said he was travelling all around and during the last month he had been in Montreal, Ottawa, Brockville, Belleville, Port Hope and Peterborough. For the past two weeks he had been staying at 306 Aylmer street, receiving money from his mother in Montreal to pay his room rent.

The first time he saw Fletcher was at Christmas dinner at 306 Aylmer street, witness said. He did not see Fletcher again until December 31. That afternoon he said he went to bed about 4 o'clock because he was sick from drinking. He got up about 11 o'clock and went into Lessier's room and had a couple of glasses of whiskey there and some tomatoes. He also drank some beer.

He said he had only known Lessier since he came to 306 Aylmer street. They went downstairs then to see about a chicken that they had cooking on the stove. They then sat down with Fletcher and Condie and drank some more liquor.

Did More Drinking

He had some homebrew, vendor's beer and 'hard stuff', "about four or five glasses of each" he said.

"Downstairs you had a quarrel with Fletcher?" asked Mr. McElderry.

"Not a quarrel, but a few words" witness explained. "You see we were feeling pretty good and we got arguing. Fletcher said he was an Englishman and was glad of it. So we got talking pretty hot but Condie said to 'cut it out so' we had a few more drinks and shook hands" he said.

Lessier went upstairs first and then Fletcher went up said witness. Fletcher was in his bed, according to arrangements made downstairs, when witness went into his own room.

After witness and Fletcher had gone to bed, Condie came in and offered them each another drink. Fletcher drank some beer but witness said he didn't take any. Condie was drunk at the time, he said.

Began Wrestling

Witness then went to sleep but he woke up and Fletcher was wrestling with him.

"What did he do to you?" asked Mr. McElderry.

"He was wrestling with me and we rolled out of bed onto the floor and got into a fight" said witness.

"I got up and put the light on. Fletcher got up and started at me. I started in punching at him with both hands."

"You're prety handy with your fists? Somewhat of a boxer, are you?" asked Mr. McElderry.

Had Some Squabbles.

"Oh, I've had a few squabbles, but they never amounted to anything," said witness.

"The last squabble I had was in British Columbia last June," he stated.

He could not say how many times he struck Fletcher. Then, he said, he opened the door and told Fletcher to get out. By this time, he said, Condie was standing at the head of the stairs.

Fighting in Hull.

In reply to Mr. McElderry's question as to whether he had ever had a "squabble" in Hull, witness said he had got 15 days in jail for fighting.

"Who were you fighting?"

"Nobody."

"All right then, you got 15 days for fighting nobody," replied Mr. McElderry.

"No, it was for being a public nuisance," explained witness.

He explained that Fletcher staggered out of the room after he ordered him out. Fletcher started right downstairs, passing Mr. Condie on the way.

"He took a few steps and fell, said witness. "He fell headlong face down the stairs. He was on his back when we picked him up."

"How did he get on his back?" asked Mr. McElderry.

Thought Fletcher Asleep.

"I don't know," said witness. "We thought he was asleep, and picked him up and carried him out in the kitchen and put him on the sofa."

Witness said he examined Fletcher as he lay on the sofa, and found he had a black eye, an injured nose, and other face injuries. "I guess he got them from fighting with me," he said.

Fletcher was then covered over with a blanket by witness and Condie. Witness said he and Condie then went to bed.

"I woke up about 9 o'clock, and put some clothes on. I went downstairs with Fletcher's boots and pants. I saw the girl cooking in the kitchen, and told her to give them to the man sleeping on the couch. I then went back upstairs.

"I had only been back in my room a short time," said witness, "when Condie came up and said, 'Fletcher's dead.' I told him he was kidding me. I went down and took a look at Fletcher, and saw he was dead. We then called the police."

When he came upstairs after putting Fletcher to bed on the couch, he met Lessier, who was sick, in the bathroom, witness said.

He and Condie were lodged together in the same cell in the County Gaol, and discussed Fletcher's death. He denied that they had fixed the same story to tell at the inquest.

Doctors Testify.

Dr. Herbert Young said he was called to 306 Aylmer Street about 9 40 on Sunday morning. Fletcher was dead on the couch, the doctor said when he arrived. Rigor mortis was beginning to set in when he first saw Fletcher's body, and he gave as his opinion that Fletcher had been dead four or five hours. Death, he estimated, had occurred between 5 and 7 o'clock in the morning.

The body had a black eye, an injured nose, and the face was bloody, which could have been caused from fist blows, the doctor said. An autopsy showed a fracture at the base of the skull five inches long. Falling downstairs could cause such an injury, he said, which would cause slow and stentorian breathing which might have been interpreted as snoring. Fletcher was rendered unconscious immediately he suffered the injury, Dr. Young said.

Dr. W. S Fitzpatrick, who assisted Dr. Young in performing the autopsy, said he agreed with his description of the injury.

Maid Gives Evidence.

Bertha Elliott said she was employed at Condie's house as a maid. She said she was 15 years of age. She entered the house by the back door about 9 o'clock, and immediately noticed Fletcher lying on the couch. "His mouth was open, there was blood on his nose and I didn't know whether he was dead or not," she said.

Half an hour later a man came down from upstairs, and witness drew his attention to the man on the couch, explaining that she thought he might be dead.

Condie Called Kenyon.

Condie then came out and after looking at Fletcher's body, went upstairs and brought Kenyon down. After deciding that Fletcher was dead, they 'phoned police.

Lessier Testifies.

Anthime Lessier, next witness, said he had no home although he had lived in Peterborough about a month. He was born in Montreal and was a pipe-fitter by trade. He had saved enough money to pay his room rent at Condie's.

On December 31, he had been drinking in his room in the evening and went downstairs where he found Fletcher, Condie and Kenyon drinking.

Witness said he had only one drink in the kitchen because there was an argument, and he did not want to get into a fight. He went to bed and knew nothing of Fletcher's death until he was awakened by Condie and a detective in the morning. He heard no loud talking or fighting during the night.

Waller Miller said he had been rooming about a week at 306 Aylmer Street. His room was on the third floor, but during the night of December 31 he was awakened by a noise as though it were a quarrel or a fight. "It seemed to be some sort of racket," he said.

Heard Condie Call.

He also heard Condie call up the stairs asking what was going on. He thought he heard Condie calling after he heard the noise as though someone were falling downstairs.

Lorenzo Colombe said he roomed at 306 Aylmer Street, and on the night of December 31 he went to bed about 9 o'clock. He was still awake when he heard a noise as though someone were falling. Later he heard a noise of scuffling, and then the sound of Kenyon's and Condie's voices.

Later he heard Kenyon speaking in Lessier's room, and still later he heard Condie saying, "Good-night, see you in the morning," near Kenyon's door.

FARMERS VISION SPLIT IN CLOUDS

Saskatchewan to Seek Extension on Debt Arrears for Those Owing Loan Board.

MAY DROP INTEREST.

REGINA, January 5 (C.P.). — Thousands of farmers in Saskatchewan, including 5,000 who are in debt to the Provincial Farm Loans board, saw a break in their darkened financial cloud to-day. The Government will seek permission of the Legislature when it meets in February to aid those who owe the Farm Loans Board, and Premier J. T. M. Anderson last night forecast general action by commercial lending institutions in extending interest arrears and postponing principal debts payments.

To the 5,000 Farm Loans Board members the Government is prepared to abandon a year's interest, involving approximately $1,000,000, and the amortization of payments over periods of five to ten years.

Premier Anderson declared mortgage and loan companies were prepared to make individual adjustments and stood ready to introduce a system of extending arrears of interest and postponing payments of principal.

Usual Procedure

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 5 (AP) —Maybe it was because they knew all the alibis, but anyway four motorcycle policemen talked themselves out of a fire plug parking jam yesterday.

The four had to do a little testifying and left their motorcycles right in front of a hydrant at the courthouse.

When they came out t hey found 4 blue tickets. Imagine their embarrassment. They did just what the common folks do —hunted up the patrolman on the beat and put it up to him. It was a unique conference for the patrolman knew all the questions and the motorcycle cops had heard all the answers. Finally the patrolman grinned and said he'd think it over. He didn't book the cases.

TRAIN WRECK TO BE PROBED

Pere Marquette Mixed Mail Jumps Track at Wheatley —Ties Up Line,

NONE INJURED.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 5. (CP)—Investigation into the derailment of a Pere Marquete Railway mixed train, running between Windsor and Chatham, is expected to get under way to-day.

The train which was partially wrecked when it jumped the rails last night at the village of Wheatly on the border line beween Essex and Kent, cluttered up the line, but no one was injured.

Wrecking crews were on the job shortly afterward and it was expected the line would be cleared early to-day. According to reports, a gasoline car and a coal car left the track and rolled into the ditch. A baggage car also was derailed but remained upright.

The first indication that the few passengers had of the mishap, was the crashing jolt, caused by the two cars leaving the tracks. They were shaken up slightly as the front of the passenger car also jumped the rails, but the train came to a halt before further damage was done.

RECOVER BODY OF W. THOMPSON

Funeral Will Be Held in St. John's Church, Peterborough, on Friday.

WILL BE NO INQUEST.

Recovered from Stoney Lake in thirty feet of water, almost immediately below the break in the ice through which he had plunged to death in his motor truck on Monday morning last, the body of William Thompson proprietor of Mount Julian was brought in to Peterborough and arrived here early in the afternoon of yesterday.

A large group of volunteer workers had toiled ceaselessly ever since the tragedy. Aided by the mildness of the weather the workers had succeeded with the aid of Fred Kiff and Percy Hill, two well-known divers, in raising the truck from the bed of the lake. The body was recovered with drags around one o'clock yesterday.

Mr. Thompson's body was fully clothed, to the heavy cloth coat and gloves he had been wearing. His spectacles had still remained in position.

Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith investigated the circumstances attending the fatality and decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

The funeral is to be held on Friday afternoon with a service at St. John's Anglican Church, Peterborough at 1.30 p.m. with interment at Fife's Cemetery, Otonabee.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1933

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING.

A Port Hope merchant the other day published a New Year's greeting to his customers that is well worth repeating. It was as follows:

"Thirty years ago eggs were eight cents a dozen, butter ten cents a pound, milk was five cents a quart, the butcher gave away liver and treated the boys with bologna, the hired girl received two dollars a week and did the washing.

"Women concealed their ankles and did not powder and paint (in public), smoke, vote or play poker. Men wore whiskers and boots, chewed tobacco, spat on the sidewalk and cussed. Beer was five cents and the lunch free.

"Laborers worked ten hours a day and never went on strike. The hat check grafter was unknown. A kerosene lamp and a steroscope in the parlor were luxuries. No one was ever operated on for appendicitis, or had their faces lifte d. Microbes were unheard of. Folks lived to a ripe old age and every year walked miles to wish their friends GOOD CHEER.

"To-day everybody rides in automobiles or flies, plays golf, shoots crap, plays the piano with their feet, goes to the movies nightly, smokes cigarettes, drinks everything and blames the high cost of living on the neighbors. They never go to bed the same day they get up and think they are having a hell of a time. These are the days of bootlegging, high taxes, crime, speed and nerves. If you still think life worth living, we wish you a Happy New Year."

5,000 URBAN ACCIDENTS.

The fact that during the eleven months of last year, ending with November, there were 5,000 motor accidents in the urban municipalities of Ontario should cause drivers generally to do a little earnest thinking, particularly as the Department of Highways reports that more than fifty-three per cent. of these mishaps occurred at street intersections.

It is obvious that practically all these intersection accidents were due to sheer carelessness, because with the exercise of ordinary common sense by everybody concerned there is no reason why there should be this type of accident.

The department puts its finger on the chief cause for trouble at intersections when it declares that in most cases failure to permit right of way was responsible.

There are far too many drivers who ignore the rights of others, and their failure to recognize that the "other fellow" has his privileges under the traffic regulations is probably the primary cause of collisions at street corners.

These drivers and the others who speed across intersections were, according to the official figures, responsible for between 2,500 and 3,000 accidents during the first eleven months of last year, a condition that calls for a closer check by police forces and something more drastic on the part of our courts than a three-day suspension of the offenders' driving licenses.

NOT AN ENCOURAGING SIGN.

The Oshawa Times, after over seven years' operation as a daily newspaper, made the announcement the other day that until the business skies brighten the paper will only be published three times a week.

"This step," the Times says in an editorial, "has been taken only because of the extreme pressure of present-day business conditions in Oshawa."

The Examiner is sure that there will be regret not only among Oshawa people but among other Canadian newspapers that it has become necessary for the Times to adopt this course, which, it is to be sincerely hoped, is only a temporary move designed to meet an emergency.

Oshawa, of course, has been particularly hard hit by the depression, largely due to the fact that its industrial eggs were all in one basket, and the newspaper business, perhaps more than any other, is quick to feel the effects of such conditions.

It is not an easy or a pleasant thing for a newspaper that has been carrying on as a daily to return to something that its publishers had thought had been discarded for ever, but these are unusual times and unusual and drastic moves have to be made.

There will be a general hope that before long the Times will be able to resume its daily issues; certainly it is not an encouraging sign to find a newspaper published in a city whose meteoric growth has been one of the surprises of recent years forced to retrench to such an extent that it can be published only every other day.

CUTTING DOWN EXPENDITURES.

The announcement a few days ago that a permanent budgeting committee had been formed to control the revenues and expenditures of the Ontario Government has elicited a considerable volume of approval.

That there is need of such a body nobody will attempt to deny; public expenditures in every public field must be curbed, everything suggestive of "frills" must be eliminated, and the taxpayer must receive greater consideration than he has in recent years.

A budgeting committee that takes its duty seriously should be able to accomplish something of value to the people in this period of unusual economic conditions.

Of course, the public itself must take a large share of the blame for heavy government expenditures, because when times were prosperous they demanded more and more services from the state.

Now, wiser and sadder, paying rather ruefully for our past, we are beginning, as the Ottawa Journal points out, to act sensibly. Governments, and what is equally important, the public, has begun to realize that there is no such thing as an exhaustible supply of money, that governments, in fact, have no money of their own at all, and that moreover there is a limit to what they can get by taxation.

It is a lesson we were slow in learning, but it would seem that to-day we have got to the stage when we are really in earnest in our demands that spending bodies do less spending and that some measure of taxation relief must be afforded.

SHOULD BE MADE MUTUAL.

London (Ont.) Board of Education received its grant from the Government the other day for the Technical High School, and it was $2,094 short of what London expected it would be. So the London people have sent a letter of protest to the Premier about this 10 per cent. cut. Trustees say they had been assured the cut would not be made this year, and when it was made there would be due notice given.

There is a point there which will have to be faced. If the costs of our secondary education are higher than we can reach now—and they are high—then they must be reduced. In nearly every municipality there has been a measure of reduction in teachers' salaries, and in some places there has been a cutting of certain subjects from the curriculum. By these methods boards of education are making it possible to decrease the amount which they take from their taxpayers. They have to do it because the ability of the taxpayers to foot the bills has been sharply reduced.

It is reasonable to suppose that the ability of the province to bring in revenue is also being curtailed, and for that reason we must be prepared to grant to the province the same right to curtail outlay as local bodies are rightly claiming.

Coupled with that, though, should be a greater degree of supervision and control for the local bodies. They should be freed to a greater extent from the urgency of provincial supervision in the matter of adding teachers and increasing existing equipment. —Stratford Beacon-Herald.

RED LIGHT FOR ORATORS.

Among reports made to the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor, one was unique. Presented by the Federation's two fraternal delegates to the British Trades Union Congress at Newcastle-on-Tyne, last September, it told how the British choke off orators. Thus:

"Speakers are not allowed to talk from the floor, but are required to appear before the Congress on a small raised platform which looks like a pulpit. When the chairman wishes to notify a speaker that his time is up, he pushes a button and a little red light appears in the box where the speaker is standing. Then, if he does not stop within the appointed time (one minute) the chairman presses another button which rings a bell. If he does not stop then, the assemblage in various and effective ways brings him to realization that his time is up."

Admirable as this arrangement is, it is not entirely original. As long ago as before the war the Hungarian Parliament had a similar system, and one really more effective. Under the Hungarian device, the appearance of a green light told a deputy that he had a minute to go. It at the end of the minute he was still going, he was warned by a red light. Then, if he persisted in his eloquence, and exceeded another minute, he simply disappeared from the chamber through a trap door.

Although the preference of many would be for the Hungarian plan, a beginning over here might be made with the British system. It might be tried, as an experiment, at our next big banquet. Then, if it succeeded, it might be extended to political and fraternal gatherings, to our various legislatures, and even to some pulpits. The possibilities of the thing —if it worked—would be endless.—Ottawa Journal.

THE VIGOROUS PREMIER.

Mr. Baldwin, speaking at a dinner tendered Mr. Bennett in London, paid the Canadian Prime Minister a great compliment. Mr. Bennett, he described as a man possessing capacity for work of which he could not conceive himself (Mr. Baldwin) capable "even in a nightmare!"

Mr. Bennett's greatest enemy can never accuse him of laziness—though more than one eminent public man has been open to that charge. It is probable that no country has ever had a governmental leader who gave more complete attention to the task in hand. The hours are never too long for Mr. Bennett, and the subjects to which he must give attention are never too numerous nor too varied. The man has a genius for hard work and his ability to remember and deal with detail is positively amazing. Nevertheless, we do think, in all fairness, that Mr. Bennett attempts too much, that he should cultivate the art of delegating more work to his associates and doing less himself. There is always a danger that too close attention to detail will interfere with a leader's opportunity to reflect on larger matters. And there is, too, the matter of protecting a leader's health. After all, there are only so many minutes in 24 hours and a man can be in but one place at once. Mr. Bennett's many friends and admirers really feel that he is entitled to more time for rest and recreation than he has allowed himself since assuming the arduous responsibilities of the premiership.—Border Cities Star.

ENJOY YOURSELF

"Sit down," says the old fellow, "and enjoy yourself. And when I says 'enjoy yourself', I mean it. After all, you knows yourself better than you knows anybody else. You knows your bad points and you knows your good points, what you hates and what you likes. You aint going to be with yourself so very long and you might as well make the best of what you are.

"So you better be enjoying yourself while you can. That's what I always say to myself and I find it works. I been enjoying myself for close onto 75 years and while I ain't one of these egotists I have got a proper appreciation of my own abilities and my own good qualities. And I appreciate 'em, I do.

"That's why, even though I'm gettin' along toward the end, I aint' complaining, and I ain't afraid. I'm interested in myself, just as if I was some other person. I'm curious about life, just as much as I was when I was a kid of 16.

"And I'm enjoying myself immensely. You try it."

A friend of mine told me once that, when he was a youngster in his teens he was terribly worried about himself. He was afraid he was PICKLE. One week he liked a little black haired girl with curls. The next week he was fond of a blonde, a Swedish friend. He never had one girl more than a month, and he was afraid that if he kept along the road He was traveling he'd break a lot of hearts.

After 20 years he suddenly realized that he hadn't jilted those girls. They had dropped him, but had done it so cleverly he didn't know it.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

SAM STEEL OF THE STRATHCONAS

On this date, in 1849, there was born at Purbrook, in the then bush of Simcoe county, Upper Canada, oneof Canada's greatest soldiers. Samuel Ranfield Steele was the son of Commander Elmes Steele, a naval officer who had fought in many of Britain's most famous naval battles before coming to Canada to found a famous family. Early in life Sam showed a decided trend to a military life, joining the 35th Simcoe Foresters and serving in the Fenian raids on the Niagara frontier in 1866. When the call came for volunteers for the expedition which Colonel Garnet Wolseley was organizing to go to the relief of Fort Garry, which had been captured by Louis Riel, Steele was one of the first to respond and his destiny was fixed as one of the great figures in the history of Western Canada. In his return east he joined the Canadian Artillery, but then the Northwest Mounted Police was organized in 1873 he joined as a trooper. He soon earned his stripes and was promoted to be inspector in 1878 and superintendent in 1885, taking prominent part in the suppression of the second Riel rebellion. When the rush to the Klondike came in 1898 Steele was given command of the Mounted Police on the summits of the White and Chilkoot passes, being afterwards commandant of the force in Yukon Territory, serving also as a magistrate and member of the Yukon Council.

But his greatest fame as a soldier came in 1900. Lord Strathcona had offered to raise a mounted force for service in South Africa, to be composed of members of the Mounted Police, past or present, and the command was given to Sam Steel as the outstanding officer of the "Riders of the Plains". His organizing abilities soon recruited the regiment, one of the finest that ever fought for Britain, and within a few months it was in South Africa. Too late to take part in the operations in Cape Colony, the Strathconas were rushed to Natal where they were of great aid to General Buller in ending the war and were present at the signing of the treaty of peace. On its way home the Strathcona Horse returned by way of England where the regiment was much feted and its commander decorated with the commandership of the Bath and made a member of the Royal Victorian Order, preludes to the greater honor which came when during the war with Germany he was knighted. He was then an old man, worn out by half a century's service and he died in 1919, with the rank of major-general. A martinet in command he was a gentleman in his treatment of his men and was much mourned by all his former comrades in the west. Sans peur et sans reproche may well be his epitaph.

THE C.C.F. AGAIN

Editor, Examiner:

May I impose upon your good nature once more to make further comment upon your editorial in reply to my letter of recent date? At the outset I wish to say that I am not arguing either for or against the C.C.F., or Socialism, if you prefer the term, but I believe that any question is entitled to a fair and unbiased discussion.

Admitting that there is nothing in the C.C.F. program which states that state ownership and operation of farms is contemplated, you state that such is implied, and that Mr. Woodsworth and his associates are much too subtle to appeal for the farmer's support with a bald statement to that effect. Does The Examiner think that these people are so stupid as to imagine they can gain the support of any class by subterfuge and misrepresentation, much less hold that support when the truth becomes apparent?

Further you suggest that agriculture cannot be left on a profit basis, when that element is removed from other industries. Farming is not, and never has been operated on a "profit" basis, for the simple reason that the farmer has no control of the price he receives for his products. The farmer's price is set in the world markets. He cannot figure his overhead, operating expenses, interest on investment, depreciation, etc, add 20 or 25 per cent "profit" and say "That is my selling price." What he receives after overhead and operating expenses are deducted is his labor return or wages. In this connection it is interesting to note that several years ago the Department of Agricultural Economics of the Ontario Agricultural College conducted a number of farm surveys in representative counties and found that even in comparatively prosperous times the income from the average 100-acre farm, for the owner and his family, seldom exceeded $1,200 yearly. What his income is today everybody knows. If the capitalistic or profit system has survived its usefulness, as we are told, the farmer should worry. Its main result was the creation of a protected class at the expense of other classes of the population.

It is significant that the press campaign against the C.C.F. has been addressed entirely to the farmer. Nobody is troubling to see that the poor labor man is steered clear of the trap. I do not think that the hubbub is on account of any concern for the farmer, but because the old parties are frankly afraid for their skins, if the farmers in their present temper enter the political field. The press has been almost hysterical in its assertions that "somthing must be done for the farmer", yet so far the press has been unable to advance a single workable plan to accomplish that end.

In conclusion I wish to quote the third clause of the resolution passed at the U.F.O. convention in November: "That with respect to policy the affiliation of the U.F.O. with the C.C.F. be limited to the declared policies of the U.F.O."

Thanking you, I am
Sincerely yours,
FARMER.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 8

Lillian Hull was on her feet in a flash.

"Nanette LeRoi!" she screamed. "What——"

The words choked in her throat. She gazed wildly about until her eyes rested on Jere Kane. She tried to speak again, but there was only an incoherent jumble of sound.

"We'd better lock them up until we get back," Lee barked.

The young actress' eyes flamed suddenly. The color mounted to her cheeks. Defiantly, she tossed her head.

Kane looked at the older woman. Lucy Wilbur had not moved. She sat there in that stuffy little office staring straight ahead with unseeing eyes. Her lips moved spasmodically but no sound came.

He turned t the chief. "What has happened to LeRoi?" he asked quietly.

"She's been shot," Lee returned brusquely.

"I was afraid of that," the other exclaimed. "Where is she?"

"At her home in Beverly Hills."

Kane looked thoughtfully at the two women. Lucy still acted as though she had heard nothing. Lillian cast an appealing glance at the amateur detective. He said:

"Inspector, you wouldn't mind seeing Miss Wilbur home, would you?"

MacQuarrie, who heretofore had contented himself with playing the part of spectator in this little drama, scrambled to his feet. "Be glad to," he muttered.

"What about the other one?" Lee demanded. Plainly he was displeased with the turn of affairs. His expression revealed that he preferred to lock up the two women, that he believed they knew more about the murder of Richard Bailey than they were telling. But he could not turn on Kane now. He had asked him to assist in the case courtesy demanded that he ask the other's ideas.

"What would you suggest?" Kane countered.

The chief was about to speak when Lillian broke in:

"Take me with you! Please—please, don't lock me up. I—I want—to see—Nanette—before——"

Her voice broke and she could not go on. Lee looked questioningly at Kane and he nodded.

The chief touched a buzzer on his desk. When a uniformed officer answered the summons he was ordered to have two cars ready. A moment later they stood at the curb, ready to speed away. Lee said to the Wilbur woman:

"I want you back here at nine o'clock. You'd better be here, too, or I'll send for you."

"I'll be here," she returned weakly.

Lee climbed in under the wheel of one of the machines. Kane and Lillian Hull took seats in the rear. The car roared away. It sped through a tunnel under Bunker Hill, whipped over to Sunset boulevard and raced through Hollywood into Beverly Hills. A half hour later the machine was brought to a halt in front of a small house.

The bungalow sat far back from the street. To one side was a grove of palms. The front view was unobstructed by either tree or shrub. There was a wide, smooth, green lawn, bisected by a wide cement walk which wound from the street to the door.

The house was ablaze with light. A shadow passed restlessly back and forth before a window.

Another car pulled up behind them as they were alighting and three young men tumbled out. Immediately, they surrounded the chief.

"We've looked all over town for you, chief," one of them said. "Understand you're holding three people in connection with Bailey's murder."

"I'm not holding anyone," he retorted.

"How about this shooting of LeRoi?" another put in. "Do you think it has anything to do with the Bailey case?"

"I just got here," chief Lee exploded. "Can't you fellows give me a chance to go inside and see what has happened before you begin pestering me with your infernal questions?"

He looked to Kane for help.

"Look here, fellows," he said appealingly, "if you will just be patient——"

One of the men turned on the chief. "Who's this guy?" he demanded.

"Sorry, fellows, I have no time," the chief began, but Kane interrupted him.

"My name is Kane. I was formerly police reporter for a New Orleans sheet. Now if you fellows will just hold your horses I'll see that you get something."

He motioned to the chief and Lillian to follow him. They went to the house, the reporters tagging along, but at the door Kane turned on them.

"We can't let you in, now," he said half apologetically. "But if you'll wait here——"

He glanced at the window before which the shadow was passing nd repassing. "Somcone's worried mightily," he muttered.

Hardly had he touched the bell than the door flew open. A maid ushered them in.

Kane looked around and his eyes fell on the white face of Rodolf Holmes. The actor came toward him, a sickly smile on his lips, his hand extended.

"Kane!" he exclaimed. "I'm glad you've come——"

He stopped short as he saw Lillian. The smile faded. His countenance darkened. His eyes flashed.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded of her.

The actress drew back, as if afraid. "I—I want to see Nanette," she faltered.

"You can't do it!" Holmes almost shouted. "You little she——"

Chief Lee interrupted:

"I want to see Miss LeRoi. Is she dangerously hurt?"

"I don't know," shortly. "The doctor's with her."

"She—she isn't going to die?" Lillian almost sobbed the words. Great tears stood in her eyes.

Holmes turned on her with a snarl. "What difference would it make to you if she did? You would profit by it——"

"Please, Holmes," Kane said quietly. "Keep your nerve, man."

The actor wilted. He dropped into a cushioned chair and buried his face in his hands. "I'm sorry, Kane," he muttered. "But I'm all wrought up. Bailey's death—and then this—it's too much."

"What's he talking about?" the chief demanded.

Quickly, but with well chosen words Kane told him who Nanette LeRoi was. He told of that tragic night in New Orleans when she had killed her husband, of Holmes and Helen Dudley's part in that affair. He told of Nanette's career as Judy King and of her plans to enter the motion pictures, which were ruined by the scandal in New Orleans.

He told Lee of the fraud that had been perpetrated by Bailey and the actress, as revealed to him earlier this night by Nanette herself. And he concluded with a recital of the manner in which he had told her of Bailey's murder.

The chief listened interestedly. This was a new angle that would bear investigation. What mattered it to him that bringing up the past would ruin Nanette LeRoi's chances of ever attaining a foothold in Hollywood? What mattered it to him that the lives of more than one person would be wrecked by Bailey's murder?

John Lee's duty was to enforce the law. He had taken an oath to do that. Personalities — lives — meant nothing to him. Murder had been done and the culprit must be found, no matter what the cost to those who had been entrapped in the tangled skeins of tragedy.

Jere Kane realized all that. He had first realized it when he was a police reporter back in New Orleans. It had become an obsession with him, and when luck and the kindness o an obscure uncle made it possible for him to cease working for a living he took it upon himself to protect those who warranted protection.

Inspector MacQuarrie knew that. When he called Kane into a case he knew that it was going to be solved, but he also knew that no one was going to be besmirched with mud if it could be at all prevented.

Now, Jere Kane realized that he was not only going to have to work with Chief Lee but against him. Which meant that before the case was closed there would be a scene between them, such as there once had been between him and MacQuarrie. And so, he steeled himself for the inevitable battle.

The chief seemed to sense this, too. After listening to the story of Nanette LeRoi's past he said, almost beligerently:

"Perhaps I'd better talk to the woman alone, first."

Kane assented with a nod.

When the police official had gone into the bedroom where the actress was under the care of a physician he casually studied the room in which he stood. Oblivious to the presence of Lillian Hull and Rodolf Holmes, who watched him with keen interest, he wandered about, studying the furnishings and objects d'art.

How different, he thought, was this home from the one which Judy Banning had ruled as the wife of young Martin Banning. Whereas that one had been thoroughly modern—ultra-modern, if you please—as a modern young woman would want it, this was furnished after th modes and pleasures of continental Europe, with the Tuscan predominating.

Presently, he stopped in front of a small teakwood table. It was peculiarly constructed. The legs were flimsy almost too flimsy, it seemed, to support, the weight of the thick top. On it was a picture which had fallen on its face. Kane set it up and found himself staring at a smiling likeness of Richard Bailey.

If he could have seen Lillian Hull at that moment—his back was turned to her—he might have been prompted to a further study of the table. He eyes bored into his back. Her lips were drawn tight. Her hands clenched the arms of her chair.

She was about to speak when Holmes put a finger to his lips for silence.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Buying for sea-board account, together with purchases of an investment character, gave an early lift to wheat prices in early trading today. At the high points, however, offerings became fairly liberal and values slipped off fractionally.

At mid-session wheat prices were ¼c to ⅛c lower. May was quoted at 46 and July at 46⅞.

Most of the offerings were credited to spreaders who were selling our futures against purchases in the southern market. Other selling came from elevator interests and in the nature of profit taking. Trading at the start was quite active but turned draggy with traders in most cases just looking on. Export business in Canadian wheat overnight was rather disappointing.

Liverpool wheat displayed a steady tone from the start and quotations shortly after mid-session were ⅛d higher, while Buenos Aires wheat at noon was ⅛c lower.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.— (C.P.) — Prices of interlisted stocks were shaded slightly late trading on the Montreal stock exchange to-day but the rest of the list held on tenaciously to the advances scored early. Turnover was moderate. At the close advances far exceeded the losses.

Brazilian finished 1-8 lower at 9¾. Canadian Pacific was off ¼ at 16 while International Nickel yielded its early gain to close unchanged a 9¼. Montreal Power was down 3-8 at 31 5-8, B. C. Power ½ at 16 and Steel of Canada ¾ at 16¾.

Consolidated Smelters closed 2½ higher at 63½. Dominion Bridge was up a full point at 17½. Half-point advances were scored by Shawinigan at 11½, Hamilton Bridge at 3 and Winnpeg Electric at 3½.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, January 5 (C.P.). — Accumulation was apparent in some of the Toronto Stock Exchange listings to-day and gains predominated over recessions. Rumor that the Russian Oil deal was off gave Imperial Oil and International Petroleum a more cheerful tone. Pete advanced to 12, up ¼. Imperial at 9 was unchanged, and B. A. finished at 8¼.

Considerable selling appeared in Canada Bud Breweries based on rumor, it was said, that at least one of the company's guiding chiefs was leaving to take charge of a similar concern in the United States. The stock weakened a fraction to 6¼. Walkers Common was also off ⅛ to 5¼, while Canada Malting held at 14.

In the interlisted group the close was a little off, C.P.R. finishing at 16¼, Nickel at 9¼, and Brazilian at 9¾. A feature of the utilities was the advance along with considerable buying, of Bell Telephone to 94, up a point.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (C.P.)—The Standard mining market to-day absorbed a rush of selling started by yesterday's downward turn, and after prices steadied the whole list became stronger again but failed, in many cases, to recover all the ground lost.

Base metal shares were only slightly disturbed by the sell-off but the cheaper gold shares churned about considerably. Teck Hughes closed at 4.17, 10 points down. Siscoe weakened to 1.26 but recovered its loss. Lake Shore, McIntyre, Hollinger and Dome were down a few cents each.

Buying continued in Noranda which closed with a small gain. Nickel closed at 9.25 down 10.

The improved market for bar silver gave Castle Trethewey a strong tone with a gain of about a point. Eldorado closed with a gain of a few cents.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. — (AP) — Stocks lost most of their earlier gains in the late trading today, a majority showing small net declines. Santa Fe and Union Pacific were down substantial fractions and other rails were a shade lower. U. S. Steel was off a point while Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Case, Dupont, General Motors and United Aircraft eased slightly. Continental Can, American Can, U. S. Steel preferred and Johns Manville retained about half their early gains. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

EXTRA TIME

WINDSOR—Getting rough with the Essex town jail brought George Campbell of that town a term in the Ontario reformatory. He smashed a door and did other damage in an attempt to escape from custody. Pleading guilty, he was given two years less one day determinate, with the same term indeterminate and on the charge of attempting to escape was given a similar sentence, both concurrent.

GOODYEAR KEEPS RELATIVE STATUS

Dividends Paid in Spite of Trying Conditions in Industry.

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—Cheques covering dividends on the 7 per cent preferred and common stocks of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada for the final quarter of 1932 have just been mailed to shareholders.

In a letter accompanying the cheques, C. H. Carlisle, president and general manager, states that the year has been most trying and disappointing.

"Your Company has maintained its proportionate share of the available business and has used the maximum of economy throughout the organization, but the low volume of business, both domestic and export, has had the effect of increasing unit costs and thereby reducing profits," says Mr. Carlisle.

"During the coming fiscal year we trust that each and every shareholder will take a direct interest in the sale of the products of your Company. These unusual times require united efforts and we all share mutually in the benefits to be gained from the sale and goodwill of our product."

The letter states that inventories will be taken as of December 31st, 1932, adjustments will be made for obsolescence and depreciation and a complete statement will be rendered to shareholders as early in the year as possible, likely the latter part of January or the early part of February.

30TH PRESIDENT OF THE STATES IS FOUND DEAD BY HIS WIFE

declared he wanted to re.re for several reasons which he proceeded to enumerate.

First of all, there was his own health and that of Mrs. Coolidge.

"It is hazardous," he wrote, "to attempt what we feel is beyond our strength."

In addition, he considered it impossible for one man to serve successfully in the Presidency for more than eight years as a review of the careers of those who had served two full terms had shown him that the latter part of their tenure of office was devoid of constructive accomplishments.

Nation Startled.

The nation was startled when on August 2, 1927, the President issued his famous statement:

"I do not choose to run for President in 1928."

It was interpreted variously throughout the country. Many saw in it a sincree wish for retirement, but still a willingness to accept the nomination should an insistent demand arise. Others looked upon it as a final decision that he would not be a candidate for re-election. There were many, too, who regarded it is a shrewd attempt to avoid the third term issue by having himself "drafted for office."

This confusion was clarified by Mr. Coolidge in an address before the Republican National Committee the following December. In six crisp sentences which were added at the last minute to a prepared speech, the President declared that he had "eliminated" himself entirely from the Presidential race and advised the party to continue "the serious task of seleting another candidate."

This decision, he asserted, "must be respected."

But Mr. Coolidge did not stop there. When the Republican National Convention met at Kansas City in June, 1928, he despatched his secretary, Everett Sanders, to the session with instructions "to notify several leaders of the State delegations not to vote" for him.

"Had I not done so," he said in his magazine writings, "I am told I should have been nominated."

Mr. Coolidge is on record as having said that he had never formulated in his own mind what his attitude would have been had he been nominated.

"But I was determined," he added, "not to have that contingency arise."

One of the major issues of that convention had been a principal subject of contention during the latter years of the Coolidge administration and one that the President had tossed squarely into the centre of the Presidential campaign. It was farm relief.

Signs of unrest in the farming sections of the Middle West were apparent when Mr. Coolidge took office. The farmers of that section were confronted with a serious depression and called upon the Federal Government for help in finding a way out. Their spokesmen in Congress clamored for legislation and the passage of a measure which Mr. Coolidge felt he could not support. That was the original McNary-Haugen Bill, containing the famous and much-discussed equalization fee provision.

Urging the development of co-operative marketing organizations as the best solution for the depression, Mr. Coolidge declared he must oppose any form of price fixing, either direct or indirect, and called for the measure's defeat. It was passed twice by Congress and on each occasion it received a presidential veto. With the second veto the present sent to Congress a scathing message in which he termed the measure "economic folly."

Naval Conference

The Coolidge administration was characterized by peaceful relations with the rest of the world and attempts by the president to make that peace a lasting one. Early in 1927, he asked the principal naval powers to meet for a discussion of the limitation of auxiliary vessels of war, to supplant the Washington treaty of 1921 which applied only to capital ships. Japan and Great Britain accepted and representatives of the three nations gathered at Geneva.

It has been said that the conference was not preceded by a sufficient amount of preliminary consideration of technical methods of disarmament, but at any rate, irreconcilliable differences of opinion arising from the widely varied needs of the United States and England caused the conference to end in a deadlock that continued to the end of the Collidge administration.

Mr. Coolidge also sought to preserve peace through the Kellogg multilateral treaty for the renunciation of war, which he declared the most important subject to be discussed by the Senate during his time in the White House. In spite of determined opposition from a group of Senators who regarded the act as an "entangling alliance," and one destined to lead eventually to membership in the League of Nations, the pact was formally ratified by an overwhelming vote.

The president also was of the opinion that peace could be preserved through the maintenance of a strong national defense and he was a consistent advocate of a large, but non-competitive navy. In the last year of his administration he vigorously endorsed a measure authorizing the construction of 15 new 10,000-ton cruisers and a 16,000-ton aircraft carrier. Although the bill encountered stern opposition it finally was approved by Congress.

Another major Coolidge policy was that of reduction of the high tax schedules that came with the war. Three cuts were effected during his administration, which relieved thousands of citizens of the burden of a federal levy, in addition, to sharply decreasing the amounts paid into the government by the large corporations and big business generally.

Long before he retired from office, Mr. Coolidge received numerous offers to make professional and business connections at the expiration of his term, but consistently declined to entertain any of them. After he returned to Northampton he engaged in literary work temporarily, writing for magazines the story of his administration and an autobiography. About two months after leaving the White House he made his first business connection when he accepted election as a member of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance, Company. He was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France.

Calvin Coolidge was born on Independence Day, July 4, 1872, in Plymouth, a country village in the Vermont Hills, the son of John C. and Victoria Moor Coolidge. He was descended from John and Mary Coolidge, who had settled in Watertown, Mass., about 1630, and his ancestry ran through a long line of farmers who lived in Massachusetts until his great-great grandfather moved into Vermont. His father was the village storekeeper as well as a farmer, and so the son had a double training under his father's care, plowing and digging in the fields and selling and figuring behind the counter. Here were developed in him the industry, frugality and self-reliance which shaped the course of his life. His mother died when he was 13 and four years later he lost his only sister, but a warm bond of sympathy developed between him and his step-mother.

A Keen Student

Between "chores" on the farm and in the store, the future president attended the ungraded school at Plymouth, a single room with a wood stove. Afterward he attended the Black River Academy at Ludlow and the academy at St. Johnsbury before going to Amherst College. He was a keen student, but only in a modest way did he enter iinto the activities of college life.

During his senior year, in open competition with students of all American colleges, he won the first prize, a gold medal, for the best essay on the causes of the Revolutionary War. He was graduated in 1895, with the degree of A. B. and at the commencement was Grove Orator. Had he had money enough to go through the law school that fact might have changed his whole career. As it was he moved across the Connecticut river to the nearby town of Northampton, Mass., and found a position in the law office of Hammond and Field. Within 20 months he was admitted to the bar and began practice.

Mr. Coolidge never had time to prove to the world whether he would have made a great lawyer, for he was drawn almost immediately into politics and with few intervals that therefater was his life work.

On October 4, 1905, Mr. Coolidge married Miss Grace A. Goodhue, of Burlington, Vermont, making a home for his bride in a two-family house in Northampton. They continued to occupy that until Mr. Coolidge became vice-president and returned to it at the conclusion of his services as president. They had two sons, John and Calvin, Jr. The latter's death which occurred after a brief illness during the summer of 1924 was the first of two bereavements in Mr. Coolidge's family during his occupancy of the White House. Early in 1926 his father died at his Vermont home while his son was speeding from Washington to his bedside.

Terribly Shocked

WASHINGGTON, Jan. 5 (C.P.)—President Hoover was said by friends to-day to have been "terribly shocked" when the news of the death of Calvin Coolidge was given to him at the luncheon table.

The word reached the president from one of his secretaries, who had been informed but a moment before by the Associated Press.

The shock extended imemdiately to both branches of the U.S. Congress, where preparations were made to adjourn Senate and House without delay in respect to the late leader.

Knots of legislators gathered on the floors of the chambers and in corridors discussing the death.

Tribute From Garner

One of the first to comment was Speaker Garner, who told newspaperment "I was very fond of Mr. Coolidge personally and knew him very well. He had many characteristics of an outstanding Americanism."

Vice President Curtis told reporters "I was greatly shocked at the news of the death of former President Coolidge. His passing will be mourned by the people of the world. He was a strong man and had the confidence of the people."

Senator McNary, of Oregon, said "It is a tragic and national loss and the whole people will regret it."

Senate adjournment came within just a minute after Senator Carter Glass, Democrat of Virginia, who had the floor, announced to the members that he had just been advised of the death of Mr. Coolidge and that he thought the Senate should cease its labors to honor him.

Tribute From Leaders

High tribute was paid to Mr. Coolidge in the Senate by its Republican and Democratic leaders—Watson of Indiana and Robinson of Arkansas. "He was a very great man, a very great American and a very great president," said Watson.

It was the plan of the House leaders to remain in session until a message from the president formally notifying them of the death had been received.

Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, and Speaker Garner conferred with the president by telephone on the procedure.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas told the Senate "Announcement of the departure of former President Coolidge comes as a great surprise to the Senate and is a great shock.

"He was among the distinguished men of his time. He served his country for a long period with notable ability."

Robinson joined in the suggestion that the Senate adjourn in tribute.

Among the many who commented, Representative Summers, Republican of Washington, said "That is very, very sad news. I felt that he was a good president, and that by his articles he wrote after he left the White House on the fundamentals of good citizenship he did untold good."

Bennett Expresses Regret

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 (C.P.)—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett expressed his deepest regret to-day on the death of former President Calvin Coolidge. The news reached Premier Bennett during his luncheon.

The United States Legation immediately went into mourning on being advised of the death of Mr. Coolidge. The United States flag was hung immediately at half-mast. Officials of the Legation, a number of whom had served in the diplomatic sphere during the regime of the former President, were shocked by the announcement.

Canadian officialdom in all quarters expressed their sincere sympathy for Mrs. Coolidge and members of the Coolidge family.

Apprized at Laurier House, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party, expressed his great regret at the death of Mr. Coolidge. "Universal sorrow will be felt in all parts of Canada at the news of the death of the former President," the Liberal Leader declared.

Deeply Shocked

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith declared himself deeply shocked and deeply grieved to-day when informed of the death of former President Coolidge.

"I had a strong admiration for him," said Smith. "Since he left Washington I have been pleasantly associated with him. I am deeply shocked and deeply grieved to hear of his death."

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt: "I am inexpressably shocked at the news of Mr. Coolidge's death. The nation suffers a great loss in his sudden and untimely passing. I shall never forget his generous and friendly telegram to me in 1920 when he defeated me for Vice-President.

"The deepest sympathy of Mrs. Roosevelt and myself goes out to his family.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. —(AP)— President Hoover today prepared to draft a message to congress notifying it formally of the death of former President Calvin Coolidge.

The text follows:

"It is my painful duty to inform you of the death today of Calvin Coolidge, former President of the United States.

"There is no occasion for me to recount his eminent services to our country to members of the Senate and House, many of whom were so long associated with him. His entire lifetime has been one of single devotion to our country and his has been a high contribution to the welfareof mankind."

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(A.P.)—Responsive to New York stock market upturns and to continued wheat strength at Liverpool. Grain values here made a new early advance to-day. Drought conditions in winter wheat territory south-west remained critical, and immediate delivery wheat tightly held. Opening ⅛-¾ higher. Chicago wheat fuutres kept the initial range. Corn started ⅛-¾ up and subsequently altered little.

Being Tested

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Two officers of the anti-superstition Society, organized to prove that evil omens don't mean anything, are suffering misfortune.

Sidney Strotz, president, broke his automobile, while Herman T. Powers, secretary, is in bed with the "flu."

"But," said Strotz, "it wasn't bad luck. I smashed my automobile because I was a bad driver, and Mr. Powers probably didn't wear his rubbers.

Members of the group will go right on walking under ladders, lighting three cigarettes on a match, and breaking looking glasses until Jan. 13, when their experiment ends.

SENATE GROUP VOTES REPEAL

proved follows:

"Resolved, by the Senate and House of Represetnatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), that the following amendment is hereby proposed to the constitution of the United States, which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the constitution when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States:

Article XX.

"The eighteenth article of amendment of the constitution of the United States is hereoy amended to read as follows:

"Section 1. The eighteenth amendment to the constitution is hereby repealed.

"Section 2. The transportation of importation into any State, territory or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

"Section 3. Congress shall have concurrent power to regulate or prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises where sold."

First Vote of Kind in 13 Years.

It was the first time since national prohibition became effective 13 years ago this month that a Senate committee had voted favorably for repeal.

Several reservations were made by individual members of the subcommittee on sections of the resolution, though Chairman Blaine explained the committee was agreed the phraseology was the best that could be devised to accomplish the purposes.

Senator Walsh reserved the right to oppose the proposal to submit the proposed amendment to Legislatures instead of State conventions as called for by both party platforms, and Blaine announced he would oppose the section giving Congress power to legislate agaist return of the saloon.

The resolution will be formally reported to the full Judiciary committee at its next meeting Monday.

Speedy consideration there has been assured by Chairman Norris.

The full committee is overwhelmingly in favor of repeal, though there is a wide division of sentiment over the proposal to give Congress the right to legislate against return of the saloon.

NEW GAME PRESERVE

BROCKVILLE—Word has been received here of the passing of an order-in-council, Toronto creating lots 26, 27 and 28 in the second concession of Williamsburg Township into a crown game preserve to be known as the "Barkley Crown Game Preserve," in which the killing of any game, bird or animal except hares, rabbits, foxes, groundhogs and crows will be prohibited.

FALSE ALARM.

SUPERIOR, Wis. — Mrs. W. J. Bemrick's children thought Santa Claus got stuck in the chimney and couldn't get back to the north pole. Strange noises were heard for three days up the chimney. Mrs. Bemrick exploded the theory, however, by reaching in and pulling out a grouse.

DEAD TO COURTS, 5 YEARS.

SANTA MARIA, Calif., Jan. 5. — (A.P.)—Turkey raising holds more interest at present for Arthur Chichley Henry Roper-Curzon, 60 year old heir to a British fortune, than the question of what he will do with the money, estimated from $50,000 to several hundred thousand.

Officially "dead" to the English courts for five years, Roper-Curzon fed the turkeys and ducks he tends on the Leon Laborde ranch in the mountainous Cuyama Valley near here—and had little to say to-day about a fortune his brother left in Guelph, Ont., when he died last May.

The descendant of the Earl of Reynham was located after a renewed search which followed the death of his brother, Sidney. He said he intends to take any proceeds from the estate to set himself up in the turkey raising business. The estate includes mining stock and and silver plate.

Wandered 27 Years.

A wanderer in California for 27 years, he is now 60 years old—a mite of a man whose chief interests have lain in farming, mostly at hard manual labor for other people in the last quarter of a century.

"When I'm brought back to life again according to law, we'll see what happens," he said. "I've told them to go ahead and hold an auction on the silver plate, antiques and household effects of my brother—and the mining stock is there as a gamble.

"Maybe I'll be able to get enough out of this to go into the turkey business. I hope so, but in the meantime I'm just feeding our birds here and letting the Canadian attorneys work things out. I used to know them both when I was a young man and have every confidence in them."

Button Losing Out As Old-Fashioned

NEW YORK, January 5 (C.P.) — The old-fashioned button is losing ground in the advancing style parade.

The smart set is fastening its clothes these days with new and tricky knick-knacks, and manicured fingers are fumbling with slides and strings, thongs and bars, lacing milady into her 20th century costume in a manner reminiscent of a 15th century knight.

Buttonholes remain in the style scene, however, for most of the new fastenings are slipped through a slit in the frock before they are clamped or tied in place.

Copper and brass, bone and glass, string, leather, and wood are used for the new gadgets which many fashionables use to fasten their clothes. Bolts and bars, stirrups and stars are only some of the shapes of the new designs.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER ARRESTED

KITCHENER, Ont.—Alleged to be the second man wanted in connection with an attempt to burglarize apartments above the Bank of Commerce at Guelph yesterday, 20-year-old Clayton Weber, Kitchener, was arrested here to-day for Guelph police. It is said that James Doyle, an alleged accomplice, was apprehended in the act of ransacking the living quarters, but Weber escaped. He is being taken to Guelph to-day.

CALGARY TO RECEIVE CREDIT

CALGARY.—The City of Calgary will receive credit from the Bank of Montreal to carry it through its present financial crisis, it is understood here. No definite statement to this effect, however, could be obtained from bank officials or Mayor Andy Davidson, although the latter admitted a reply had been received by Calgary bankers from the head office in the east to the city's request for a line of credit.

The Call Of The Stars In Winter Months To All Interested In The World In Which We Live

By H. W. L. MaHood

Astronomy is the sublime science. From earliest times intellectual leaders have watched and have studied the movements of the stars. These once-a-week letters to The Examiner are for those who are curious about what they do not know, and for all who have had some desire to know more about this, the sublimest of sciences. Here are some lines that strike a lofty note in the soul of the immortal poet Bryant:

"The sad and solemn night
Hath yet her multitude of cheerful fires;
The glorious host of light
Walk the dark hemisphere till she retires;
All thru her silent watches, gliding slow,
Her constellations come, and climb the heavens, and go."

The writer of these letters for The Examiner, when a student at Toronto University, became intensely interested in the study of Astronomy. That interest has never waned. Many nights he has stood under the heavens watching the movements of the stars. The stars are charming companions. They have much to say to us. They had much to say to that age-old Psalmist; "The heavens declare the glory of God. The firmament sheweth His handywork. Day unto day uttereth speech. And night unto night sheweth knowledge." In several letters to follow this, we will study the night-sky in winter.

ARREST IS MADE KINGSTON CASE

Claim Toughs Kidded Soldiers Calling Them "Boy Scouts."

SCRAPS FOLLOWED.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 5 (C. P. Cable) — Kingston toughs were blamed to-day for friction which resulted Tuesday in soldiers of the Northumberland Fusiliers beating a number of citizens after they learned one of their comrades had been fatally injured, apparently by a civilian who threw a brick at him.

In a speech yesterday at a luncheon in honor of Field Marshal Lord Allenby, Governor Sir Ransford Slater said a number of taxidrivers had been baiting the soldiers, jeering at them and calling them "Boy Scouts."

Sir Ransford said authorities had sought to subdue the friction by placing certain areas of the city out of bounds of the soldiers.

On Monday night, however, Private Daniel Macdougall was fatally injured, allegedly by a civilian, and the soldiers went on a punitive expedition, beating numerous civilians, mainly taxi-drivers and street car operators and conductors.

While military authorities investigated conduct of the soldiers police held a man in connection with Macdougall's death. They said he, apparently, had thrown the brick that fatally injured the private and that he surrendered after he learned the soldier had died.

New Year Concert Program Enjoyed

The New Year concert given in the parish hall of All Saints' Church, by request, when the orchestra of Trinity Sunday School gave a very interesting program, conducted by Roy Rome, was quite successful and proved very popular with an appreciative audience.

The orchestra was assisted by Miss Jessie Tully, elocutionist, who gave readings, including "Same as Before," and "The Highwayman"; Miss Mignon Mayneord, who whistled two numbers, "Yellow Jonquils" and "Caprice"; Miss Olive Rome, contralto, who sang, "Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline?" and "God Put a Rose in My Garden," and Tom Smith, 'cellist, who played with a trio that included Roy Rome, violinist, and Miss Marguerite Rome at the piano. Their selections were Boccherini's Minuet, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Forget-Me-Not" and the Venetian Love Song. Much applause was accorded the solo numbers, as well as the orchestral selections, which were splendidly played, and included the "Color Guard March," an overture from "Chu Chin Chow," "Glow Worm," "Garden of Roses," excerpts from "The Student Prince," "Love's Old Sweet Song," and the concluding march, "For Love and Honor." For several of the numbers, the hall lights were lowered and an effective setting was arranged by the use of soft stage lighting.

Two trumpet solos were given by Jack Sage, playing "Dear Little Boy of Mine,' 'and its encore, "Aloha Oe."

A. Lee's fine voice was also heard to much advantage in a repetition of the local composition, "On the Dreamy Tonabee," with music by Miss Marguerite Weatherhead.

Miss Marguerite Rome and Victor Boorman acted as accompanists for the evening.

Peterborough Pines

I chanced to walk among the pines
And heard the song, soft breezes make,
That touch the inner chords and call
The sleeping muses to awake.

In silence deep I tuned within
To chant and charms of melody
Where discord fails to find a place,
To mar a hallowed symphony.

Sweet rhythms in the pines I found,
Deep moved, by nature's quiet grace,
That seemed to make the whispering grove
Temple and altar worship place.

Mysterious Power as when a devotee
Kneels down before a mystic shrine,
And in its wake a memory,
Deep inner sense Divine.

TAX PREPAYMENT PLAN WORKS IN STRATFORD

STRATFORD, Ont., Jan. 5.—(C. P.)— Though this city's new tax prepayment plan has been in operation only two days, more than $10,000 has rolled into the municipal coffers and city officials are gratified at the response.

Between now and Jan. 15, the same rate of discount prevails and it is anticipated before that date a large percentage of the 1933 taxes money will have been paid into city treasurer.

The plan is based on the purchase of receipts to approximate the 1933 taxes, based on what was paid in 1932.

PRAYERS DID IT REID DECLARES

ronto, and has accordingly stayed the arrangements that were being made for the execution soon after midnight to-night.

It is learned unofficially that Ellis, the official executioner, who has been in the city for the past day or two was greatly pleased that his unpleasant duty had been postponed with the possibility that he might not be called upon to execute it. He is going from here to Ottawa, it is believed, where he has to officiate at a hanging on the tenth of the month.

Adjutant E. M. Falle of the local corps of the Salvation Army, who has consistently and faithfully ministered to Reid's spiritual needs throughout his confinement under sentence of death, visited the gaol this morning and reported that the air of tension that had prevailed had been completely lifted.

Appeared Relieved

"Reid was apparently relieved of a great burden of anxiety which was noticeable in his more cheerful outlook, although he had little to say," the Adjutant stated.

"He smiled when I appeared at his cell, and when I had difficulty in removing my hand from between the iron bars after shaking hands with him, and remarked that it would be just too bad if I got stuck there, he considered that a great joke, and actually laughed," the kindly Salvationist said.

One of the few remarks that Reid made this morning was to say that he had slept well last night, and to make a request for more books to read. He still reads his Bible daily, and spends a large portion of his time in prayer.

Adjutant Falle said news of the reprieve had lifted a considerable burden from his shoulders. He had intended spending the last few hours prior to the execution with Reid. Thought of the execution had given him many sleepless nights, he said.

Telegram to Guthrie

On Sunday last the secretary, Howard Young, sent a telegram on behalf of the local corps of the Salvation Army to the Hon. Hugh Guthrie at Ottawa, urging that full consideration be given to the case, and informing him of the efforts that had been made on Reid's behalf by the Army. The wire was acknowledged by the Minister yesterday.

Commenting on the legal aspect of the case, Mr. O'Brien said immediately upon returning from the gaol yesterday afternoon he had been in communication with the Deputy Minister of Justice at Ottawa. He was informed that the Minister of Justice had instructed Edward Bailey, K.C., Deputy Attorney General for the Province of Ontario, to order a reprieve to Osgoode Hall, which he did.

Later in the afternoon, Mr. Bailey, Deputy Attorney General, in conversation with Mr. O'Brien is stated to have remarked, it was the first case he knew of where the Department of Justice had ever ordered an appeal.

Mr. O'Brien is now awaiting further instructions from the Attorney General's Department, uncertain as to whether or not he will be required to provide the Appellate Division with six copies of typewritten evidence taken at the trial of Reid.

The Appeal Court has one of three courses open to it, Mr. O'Brien said. It can either affirm the sentence imposed by Mr. Justice Wright following Reid's conviction, and order that the penalty be carried out; they can reduce the charge to one of manslaughter; or they may direct a new trial.

COULOMBE NOT AT PARTY

The Examiner, Peterborough:

Now that we have had the inquest of Fred Fletcher I would like to have something put in your first edition, to let people know clearly that—I was not in that New Year's eve party at which liquor flowed freely. I do not use liquor, I was in bed all time from 9 p.m. till Sunday morning at 7 a.m., the first thing I knew about the racket was some noise after 12 o'clock and few words, and the result of this was known to me only on Sunday morning at 9.15 a.m. when I went downstairs to get some coal. Then I saw Fletcher on a couch and he seemed to me like as if he were dead.

I was not held in jail, but was called as a witness about the noises and the odd words I heard during the night when I was in my room which is on the third floor, whilst the racket was on one floor below me, on the second floor of the house.

I came from my home which is St. Prime Village in the County of Lake St. John, province of Quebec, 18 months ago to be with English speaking people for a few years and then I will go back home where my father runs a general country store.

I have been working for Mr. Charles Dawson R.R. Bailleboro this summer and now I am going to put an ad in your paper in a week or so to get another place on a farm around Peterborough. I thank you very much.

Yours truly,

LORENZO COULOMBE

SIMCOE PROBES STATION BLAZE

Find Series of Mishaps Delayed Brigade For Half an Hour.

PRESSURE LOW.

SIMCOE, Ont., Jan. 5 (C.P.) — The town council will shortly receive a report on the enquiry opened here last night into the circumstances surrounding the fire which caused $50,000 damage last week to the Lake Erie and Northern Railway station here.

The enquiry follows complaints by the Public Utilities Commission concerning reports that the firemen were hampered by lack of water pressure.

Members of the town council's fire and light committee opened an investigation into a series of mishaps which dogged the fire departments efforts and prevented the fire fighters from getting a stream of water on the blaze for more than half an hour.

And this, according to witnesses who testified, is what happened:

At the first attempt the fire bell would not ring; one of the two trucks stalled as it left the fire hall, and stalled again at the fire; the chemical truck hose became blocked and refused to function for five minutes. Then the suction on the pumper refused to work when dropped into the nearby River Lynn; a sight-seeing car forced the fire truck off a cinder path and mired in, and the hose burst when it was finally hooked up with a hydrant.

Owing to the length of hose, water pressure at the fire, 1700 feet from the hydrant was too low to be effective until the balky pumper was tested and hooked up as a "booster."

The fire wiped out the baggage room at the south end of the station and raged through the railway sub-station to the ticket office before it was finally brought under control.

Ald. D. A. H. Nelles, chairman of the committee, presided at the enquiry and witnesses were chiefly members of the fire department.

Walks Not Neglected Ald Hamilton Says

Commenting on a letter in last night's Examiner complaining about the condition of the sidewalks, Alderman Hamilton said to-day that they had not been neglected.

"I took this matter up with the City Engineer, and we both felt that if the snow plows were sent out they might simply smooth off part of the ice and with the prospect of colder weather the walks would freeze over and be more dangerous than they were," Ald. Hamilton said.

Glare ice on the sidewalks was what the Board of Works department wished to avoid, Ald Hamilton said, and while there may have seemed to be neglect, actually there had been consideration of what should be done in view of the changing weather.

NEW BUILDINGS RAISE FURORE

Government Officials Criticized for Allowing Business Block in West End.

"SHORT SIGHTED" ACTION.

(By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Jan. 5 (C.P. Cable).— A lively little storm is in progress over the disposal by the Crown Lands Commissioners of No. 4 Carlton Gardens, at the end of Carlton House Terrace. Gardens and Terrace adjoin the Mall, the processional road to Buckingham Palace. No. 4, which was the residence of the late Lord Balfour, has recently been demolished, and on its site is being reared a block of business premises for a firm of paint manufacturers.

There are several houses around the location which have been untenanted for some time. For one thing few people nowadays can afford houses of such a size and, moreover, the houses themselves, with service quarters in the basement, are out of tune with modern notions of domestic economy. Nevertheless an outcry has been raised against the Crown Lands Commissioners for granting a lease in this "very select" quarter of the West end for the erection of business premises.

The building which is now being erected will admittedly be of a different height from the rest of the property, and the Government is accused of having acted very short-sightedly in order to gain an immediate monetary advantage.

WOMEN SCHOOL TEACHERS OPPOSING MARRIAGE BAN

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.

LONDON, January 5 (C. P. Cable). — Women school teachers are revolting against the marriage ban. "The dismissal of married women teachers on grounds other than inefficiency is contrary to the best interests of education, and is an infringement upon the rights of the individual citizens," declares a resolution accepted at a conference of the National Union of Women Teachers at Newcastle-on-Tyne today.

"The school should reflect the outside world, which is not celibate," commented one, while Mrs. E. E. Key, Mayoress of Poplar, added that "sloppy sentimentality of hypercritical people is creating a big social problem when they treat marriage as something disgraceful, and hold that no decent child should have a teacher with a wedding ring on her finger."

CANADIAN INVENTED MACHINES AID IN COMPUTATION OF CENSUS

Verifier and Tabulator Make Analysis of Population Most Complete Ever Attempted.

DO WORK OF HUNDREDS.

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(C.P.)—Machines, invented and made in Canada, that do the work of hundreds of clerks with inhuman accuracy, are aiding in the computation of Canada's 1931 census and making it the most complete analysis of population ever attempted in this country.

Three years of experimentation in a tiny workshop at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics by A. E. Thornton, mechanical superintendent, and his assistant, F. Bellisle, lead to the building of the verifier and the tabulator, the most elaborate and efficient counting machines and the only ones of their kind in the world.

Detects Mistakes.

The verifier detects mistakes in punched cards and the tabulator counts 240 different facts under 20 headings from the same punched cards at the rate of 245 cards a minute. It not only counts the facts on the cards but it sorts them into groups so that they can be run through again and all the information cross-classified.

Each card describes a resident of Canada with a hole punched to indicate his race, religion ,age, conjugal condition and a dozen other things about him. Despite the most careful human scrutiny mistakes are bound to occur and that is where the verifier comes in if any of 22 possible conflicting sets of facts are punched on a card the machine throws it out and it is corrected. Thus it will discard a card describing a person 12 years old as married.

As the cards run through the tabulator—and three of these machines gobble through the whole population of Canada in three months—each hole is counted and the 240 different items appear in white figures on a black background, which is photographed. The totals on the photographic records are then added up to give provincial and dominion totals.

Fourth Trip Through

The cards are now running through for their four time. Each run gives a new cross-classification and they may have six or seven more runs.

The nearest approach to the tabulator is a machine used by the United States census at Washington, but it only counts 60 facts at a time to 240 counted by the Canadian machine.

The machines make available such a wealth of information that if it were ever published, the volumes would fill a skyscraper. Only selected bits will be issued to the public but it will all be on file for the use of the government and anyone who wants to do a bit of rare research.

PASSENGERS PUSHED OVERBOARD AS BOAT DOCKED IN PALESTINE

ity, the Arabs swarm over the decks, for all the world like a gang of pirates, filling the air with strident shouts and guttural exclamations. The literally pounce on your baggage and by means of a grotesque mixture of pidgin-English and vehement gesticulation give you to understand that they propose to act as ferrymen. For there is no harbor at Jaffa and the transfer of passengers from shipboard to shore is a monopoly zealously guarded by these swarthy sons of Israel. Moreover it is very doubtful whether any but Arab boatmen would be capable of navigating the necessarily small craft through the treacherous channels between the rocks and reefs that lie in front of Jaffa.

Christian or Yankee

One Arab of gigantic stature who wore a blue sweater on which a large linen cross had been pinned went around among the preistly pilgrims on our boat thumping his chest and declaring he was a Christion, expecting, no doubt, to profit by that declaration of a community of faith, with an extra large load of possengers and baggage for his bark. It gives me pleasure to record that Christian solidarity rewarded him with many benign ecclesiastical smiles—and a full boat. Observing that I wore neither clerical collar nor priestly garments, the same Arab dropped his appeal to Christian fellowshipand advancing on me with the most ingratiating bandit's smile in the world, he said: "Me Hassan. Me damn good Yankees doodle boatman!" Hassen rowed me ashore.

Shortly after the Ishmaelites swarmed in on us, other tiny boats danced alongside. They carried health inspectors, customs officers, immigration police and welcoming friends of passengers. White-robed Dominican monks; barefooted Franciscans; Turks bearing crooked scimitars, dressed in voluminous flapping trousers; Arab merchants; Jewish women dressed in the latest Riviera-summer fashion, all crowded up the ship's ladders. Joyous greetings were exchanged on all sides in Hebrew, in French, in English, Arabic, Russian and I don't know what other languages. A motor launch which Scottish pilgrims had brought from Marseilles remained lashed to the foremast of our ship. The Arabs sniffed in disgust at its smoothly polished engines.

Pushed Overboard

Going ashore is a complicated business at Jaffa. It goes like this. You stand on the lower deck of the ship at a point where a section of rail has been taken away. First you button up your coat and a sailor holds you in the small of your back. Below you see a small Arab boat dancing up and down. You begin to wonder anxiously whether you are to be thrown down into the waiting bark, for one of the Arab boatment stands poised in the bark as if ready to catch you, all the while shouting raucously and moving his hands fearfully. The bark dances up and down. Some moments it comes level with the lower-deck. "Now!" shouts the Arab. You feel a push in your back. You think you go down to perdition. But no, the Arab has just caught you at the precise moment when his bark was level with the deck. With the dizzying speed of a see-saw you shoot down to the depths while the Arab balances you in his hands, as if you were a seven-pound baby. When the bark rises level again with the ship's deck you are already seated and the next passenger is being snatched. The whole trick consists in keeping cool and limp, and not to struggle. If you struggle in your nervousness, you are lost.

"What happens when there are no waves and the sea is smooth?" I asked a Palestinian gentleman.

"There always is a high sea before Jaffa around four and five in the afternoon, whether the wind is up or not. It is one of the mysteries of the Mediterranean," he explained.

Their bark loaded, the Arabs rowed away singing for all they were worth. The small-craft flew with the fearful speed of a railway express through the narrow channel between two ugly rocks, the sea sucking us literally toward the land.

Now came the usual heart-breaking spectacle of immigration officials separating the goats from the sheep. A Jewish woman had overstayed her passports limits for three days in Paris. Her children were waiting outside. To the immigration ward she went ,the Palestinian Ellis Island. Two Jews had not the sum of money required for entry in the Land of Israel. To the shed! Ten or twives Arabs, who came from Algiers; same destination. I was next. "You haven't been vaccinated for years?" said an official to me. "To the shed with you!"

The Scottish priests of our party had no difficulty. They went through without a hitch. After waiting half an hour a doctor came around and scratched my arm and injected the vaccine pus of diseased cows. Well all I can say is the poison won't take on me. Ex-members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force will know the reason why. We had enough vaccinations, inoculations and serums squirted into us at Etaples, Rouen, St. Omer, Bailleul and Camp Rhyl to last a life time.

As I was paddled ashore, a soft ribbon of turqoise striped the western horizon. A curtain of blue velvet was slowly drawing over the Holy Land. Ahead the violet glow of the electric lights of Tel Aviv, the 100 per cent. Jewish city, was reflected against the sky. The clang of a street-car bell rose above the murmur of Jaffa's bazaar. Venus stood in the sky pale silver and slightly swaying. The half-crescent moon, the emblem of Islam, rose in from the east. Once more I was in Palestine, the Holy Land, the Land of Israel.

Apsley

The annual watchnight service at St. George's Church on New Year's eve, was well attended; about 40 people braving the temperature of 12 below zero at 11.30. The coldest during the night was 17 below.

The new school at Apsley was informally opened on Wednesday evening by the trustees inviting the public to a dance, which was well attended. Roy Brown, chairman of the Board during the evening, recounted the steps that had been taken to attain the school, and appealed for voluntary help to put the finishing touches to the building and for firewood. Six cords of wood were promised, and on Thursday and Friday several men worked on the completion of the building and grounds. Miss Boyce of Lakefield, is the teacher, and 34 children are on the register.

IN MEMORIAM.

IRWINE. — In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Alex. A. Irwine, who died suddenly January 5, 1931.

God knew that you were suffering,
He knew you were in pain,
He knew that you would never
In this world get better again.
You bade "Farewell" to no one,
You said "Good-bye" to none;
Your spirit fled before I knew
That you from me had gone.
I cannot let this day go by
Without a faint reminder
Of happiness I might have had,
Had Fate to me been kinder.

—Ever remembered by Wife, Nellie F. Irwine.

SPANISH EXILES ESCAPE COLONY

Relative of Alfonso Reported Among 29 to Reach French W. Africa.

USE BOAT HELD READY.

MADRID, Jan. 5. (AP)—Twenty-nine Monarchist exiles, who escaped last Sunday from the Spanish prison colony of Villa Cisneros on the sun-scorched West Africa coast, were reported to-day to have landed at Port Etienne (Mauritania), French West Africa.

The Government learned the group of Spanish nobles and military leaders who were banished to the lonely coast garrison four months ago made their getaway in a boat flying the French flag. The French Ambassador was investigating to determine whether their extradition was possible.

The newspaper Ahora said relatives of the exiled group learned of their safe arrival at Port Etienne, south of Villa Cisneros.

The Escape

The Heraldo published an account of how it believed the party managed its escape.

Lieutenant Cavannas, it said, led his aristocratic exile-friends in a race every afternoon along the coast which is the edge of the Sahara Desert. Last Sunday they raced further than usual to a spot where a Breton craft was awaiting which they boarded, and thus escaped unnoticed until the roll call was read at the camp later, the account said.

They were among 138 Monarchists who were deported to the colonly four months ago after the August uprising. They were allowed relative freedom at the camp under their oath that hey would never leave Villa Cisneros.

Among those who escaped were a son of the Duke Infantado and Alfonso Bourbon, a relative of former King Alfonso.

FLAT ADMISSION FOR JUNIOR GAME

Brock Street Rink Management Reduces Admission for Junior O.H.A. Hockey.

A flat admission rate of twenty-five cents for any seat in the Brock has been decided upon for the opening of the O.H.A. season here to-morrow night, Port Hope juniors meeting the Petes. The management and the rink company wish to give every hockey fan in town an opportunity of seeing the O.H.A. games for as low an admission charge as possible. They take the stand, also, that the players turn in better performances before a full house than with an arena only partly filled. With the Petes icing a brand new junior aggregation against the Port Hope team which won its first game against Cobourg the other night, a huge crowd is expected to fill the rink to-morrow evening.

Empire Cubs Team Guests of Members

Members of Empire Cubs of the South End League will be the guests of the Empire Club at the O.H.A. game in Brock street rink on Friday night. The players will meet outside the rink, 15 minutes before game time, brightness of the occasion.

Joan Blondell Weds Screen Cameraman

PHOENIX, Ariz., January 5 (C.P.). — Hollywood's latest newlyweds, Joan Blondell, actress, and George Scott Barnes, cameraman, were to leave for New York to-day on a two-weeks' honeymoon. The couple were married here yesterday.

Miss Blondell endeavored to conceal her identity by taking out the license under the name of Rose Blondel, while her husband described himself as Scott Barnes. The pretty blonde used a red wig and wore dark glasses in an effort to disguise herself.

The actress gave her age as 23, and Barnes said he is 35. This is his fourth marriage and Miss Blondell's first.

Screen Writer Dies As Apartment Burns

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., January 5 (C.P.). — Barry Connors, screen writer, was burned to death early to-day in a fire which partially destroyed the apartment house in which he lived.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in Connors' apartment after he dropped off to sleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand. They smashed their way into the other apartment and carried to safety the choking occupants.

Connors was 50 years od and had been in Hollywood several years.

FARMERS FAVOR TACTICS USED AFTER CIVIL WAR

LEMARS, Ia., Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Recalcitrant farmers harked back to the period of reconstruction after the U. S. Civil War to-day in their quest of legal power to prevent mortgage foreclosures.

And it was Judge C. W. Pitts, whom they held in Plymouth County Court House while they vainly sought to prevent a foreclosure sale yesterday, who suggested the plan of relief.

In effect, it calls for a moratorium on farm mortgages.

PRESS ATTACKS MARSHAL CHANG

Administrator of North China Blamed for Loss of City to Japanese.

FAILED TO PREPARE.

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
(A. P. Correspondent).

SHANGHAI, Jan. 5. (AP)—Condemnation of Marshal Chang Hsiao-Lang as administrator of North China and of his alleged failure to anticipate and prepare adequate defense for the clash Japanese troops at Shanhaikwan this week emanated from various sections of the Chinese press to-day.

The papers unanimously expressed indignation because of the Japanese occupation of Shankaikwan, China's northern railway terminal, urging the Nationalist Government to undertake resistance to "further Japanese aggression."

In the leading crusade against Marshall Chang, the Daily News, an independent journal, said:

"Chang will not fight. He should be dismissed and some one named who will. The loss of Shanhaikwan brings the realization the Japanese aggression toward China will continue until China submits unconditionally to the Japanese terms for settlement of the Manchurian and other Sino-Japanese problems. Does Chang Hsiao-Liang expect persons of sound mind to believe his excuses concerning reinforcements and equipment at Shanhaikwan? Chang knew for months the Japanese eventually would attack and should have prepared."

The tirade against Chang was precipitated as a result of Chang's telegraphic report to the government, saying that owing to heavy odds in numbers and equipment and lack of time to bring up reinforcements he was unable to resist the Japanese at Shanhaikwan.

Spats, Fiddle Strings And Snuff Are Included In "Relief" For North

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—Spats, fiddle strings and snuff were provided some persons in Northern Ontario through the facilities of the unemployment relief fund for Ontario, J. A. Ellis, secretary of the fund, said to-day.

The administration of the fund did not know this at the time, however, he added. It learned about it subsequently.

It learned also that other articles purchased with relief funds included chicken feed, pig feed, oats, hay, hops, toilet articles, arm bands, handkerchiefs tobacco, neckties, oranges, lemons, candy, fancy biscuits, wallpaper and numerous things of like nature, generally classed as non-essential.

The relief administration issued a warning to-day which said relief officers are expected to see that such articles are not included in orders issued by them, and that, if they are, the Government will not pay for them.

The year 1933, Secretary Ellis said, "is likely to tax public and private relief funds and all the resources of the Government to the utmost."

613 FAMILIES GETTING RELIEF

$72,892.88 Was Spent on Relief in City During Past Year.

2,871 ON LIST.

Relief disbursements in December amounted to $13,220.87, and the total for the year 1932 was $72,892.88. Relief Officer Metheral informed the Examiner this morning.

One-third of this expenditure is paid by the city, and two-thirds by the Federal and Provincial governments.

Relief in December, 1931, cost $4,037.32, and the total for 1931 was $22,689.54. It must, however, be remembered that at that time many cases were being looked after by the Relief Association where as at present the whole burden is upon the civic relief department.

Details of the assistance afforded to residents of the city last month, according to Mr. Metheral, show that 613 families were registered on the relief list, and the total number of persons receiving provisions, fuel and other forms of relief was 2,871. Medical attention was provided for 27 persons.

In December, 1931, there were 459 families representing 1,856 persons, who were given relief which cost $4,037.32.

The corresponding figures for December, 1932 and 1931 respectively were $13,220.87 and $4,037.32, an increase which represents the extent of the relief problem as it reacts on the city's treasury.

The actual cost to the city for last year is one-third of the total of $72,892.88.

RHODES 56 TO-DAY.

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.— Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, is receiving felicitations to-day on his 56th birthday. He was born in Amherst, N.S., in 1877 and first entered the House of Commons in 1908. In 1925 he switched to the Nova Scotia political arena, leading the Conservative forces of that province for many years in opposition. After the Bennett government assumed power in 1930, the Finance Minister returned to the Dominion House, eventually taking over his present portfolio.

NARROWLY MISSED HITTING CHILDREN

Very Dangerous for Children to Sleigh-ride on City Streets.

The dangers of children sleigh-riding on the city's streets became apparent again this morning, when Dr. Thomas Johnston narrowly missed running down with his car two children that scooted across Rubidge street on a sled. The sleigh went under the car and was damaged, but the children were unhurt.

Dr. Johnston said he was driving north on Rubidge street and had slowed down near the Dalhousie crossing, when suddenly the sleigh with the children appeared directly in front of him. He jammed on his brakes, his engine stalled and the car skidded about ten feet. The sleigh was removed from beneath the car with difficulty.

Police repeat that sleigh-riding on the city's streets is forbidden and the by-laws permit a fine in police court for such infractions.

Receivers Would Sell Shubert Properties

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Receivers for the Shubert Theatre Corp., one-time lusty giant of the Amusement world, are seeking court permission to sell the Shubert properties to prevent further losses.

The receivers, Lee Shubert and the Irving Trust Company, set a $12,500,000 value on the properties in asking Federal Judge Caffey yesterday to permit the sale and the distribution of proceeds to creditors.

In placing their enterprises in receivership in 1931, they blamed the stock market crash and the subsequent scarcity of "big spenders" for a loss of nearly $3,000,000 in two years.

WRIGHT NOT TURNING PRO

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (C.P.) — "I know nothing about it. All news to me," said Joe Wright, Jr., one-time winner of the Diamond Sculls, in commenting to-day on reports he intended to turn professional and engage in a race against Bobby Pearce, Hamilton, and other scullers for a $5,000 purse.

REV. SUTCLIFFE IS SPEAKER AT FIRST SESSION

Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches in City Holding Week of Prayer.

GOOD ATTENDANCE.

The Week of Prayer, being held under the auspices of the Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches, began on Monday night in Mark Street United Church, with Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, the speaker, taking for his subject, "Waiting on God."

A fine representative attendance marked this opening service, which was a real "Waiting Upon God" in earnest prayer and praise, led by the choir of the church and special soloists.

The series was continued in Park Street Baptist Church with the same fervor and success, on Tuesday night, when Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, of St. Andrew's United Church, preached to a large congregation on the theme, "The Place of the Heart in Prayer."

This same subject was enlarged upon from a different viewpoint last night, by Rev. C. D. Daniel, in George Street United Church, who dwelt upon the "Inner Meaning of Prayer," as indicated in the text chosen from Psalm 34:22, "The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servant and none of them that trust in Him shall be desolate; and Hebrews 4:16, "Let us therefore come boldly unto the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain mercy and fine grace to help in time of need."

The opening devotions were conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, and included appropriate hymns, and a responsively read Psalm on prayer.

The large congregation was led in prayer by Mr. Morrison of Knox United Church; Richard Lees of St. Paul's Presbyterian; Dr. A. J. Madill of Murray Street Baptist Church and Mrs. (Rev.) Buckler, of St. James' United.

"Jesus is Calling," pleasingly sung in duett by Mesdames Hepburn and Telford of Mark Street Choir, was a fitting prelude to the spoken message.

"Prayer," declared Rev. Mr. Daniel, "is said to be a forgotten secret and a lost art in the modern church. This is only too true in many cases; yet prayer is at the very threshold of the Christian life.

Prayer is a great lever put into the hands of man by which he may move heaven and earth. An army without ammunition is as capable as a church or individual without prayer. Christians may be divided into two classes: "Engine" Christians, who possess a motivating power, and "Coach" Christians, who require some outside influence to move them. What the modern church needs is more of the "Engine" variety.

The victory of an army troop depends entirely upon maintaining the line of communication with its base of supplies. Our greatest need too, is to maintain communication with God, lest we lessen our "supplies" through neglect or some other obstacle.

Prayer is more than going to God to ask. It is not so much our talking to God, but getting into a position or attitude of heart, where God will speak to us and give us His interpretation of our problems, for He is "nearer than hands or feet."

Many Christians have "Prayer problems," and it seems to them as if God's ear were closed to their petitions. But, if there is one thing in which God takes pleasure, it is in answering the prayers of His children.

The speaker brought a helpful solution to these prayer problems in the story of "A Business Man's Dream." In this dream, he was taken through the "dead prayer office of heaven, where he found the reason for many unanswered prayers. The first of these was "Incorrect addresses"—that is, many addressed their prayers to "Our Father," without accepting the responsibility of sonship, while other adddressing their prayer to "God," are in reality making a god of business, music or art.

Another reason for unanswered prayer, is "incorrect petitions," for many pray selfishly. The promise to grant prayer was made to disciples upon whom the Holy Spirit had come. Jesus thought prayer so important that while he did not teach His disciples how to preach He did teach them how to pray.

The third reason for unaswered prayer was "incorrect reasons," for too often, we ask amiss thinking only of self. The last reason might be termed, "incorrect signatures," which means that people with no personal experience of Jesus, conclude their prayers, "In Jesus' Name."

So necessary is prayer to us, that without it, our lives become sordid and monotonous.

In concluding, Rev. Mr. Daniel told the story of a deaf and dumb man in a crowded city street, who failed to get help for his problem until someone came who understood his sign language. Passing down life's highway in this time of depression, are men and women in fear and trembling who sometimes wonder if God is still in His heaven. Great national leaders and outstanding financiers are unable to given any satisfactory solution to their questions. But Jesus, who knows all things comes with new peace and new inspiration. Sometime we must trust His silence, when He does not speak; but He always understands and is always true.

So, let us have a closer fellowship with Christ, as a church, and especially as individuals, for we are told to "Come boldly unto the throne of Grace."

"What a Friend We Have in Jesus," brought to a conclusion this highly inspirational service.

To-night's meeting for prayer will be held in St. Andrew's United Church, with Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr the speaker.

Epaulet Shoulders

BY MME. LISBETH.

STRAP TREATMENTS are very popular these days. They are used principally for bathing suits and beach attire.

This evening dress of heavy blue crepe is given a V decolletage by a strap arrangement. The small sleeves give the popular epualet shoulder effect. Note the very full skirt, said fullness being placed much higher than those of the early season models.

That Body of Yours

By Irvine W. Barton, M.D

NOISE AND HEALTH

For some years you have been familiar with the signs adjoining hospitals requesting that all unnecessary noise be prevented. The thought of course is that sick people are bound to receive harm, as noise will definitely injure the nervous system, and often it is the nervous system, the ability of the individual to keep up his hope for life, that gives the battle a favorable turn.

However the thinking world discovered some years ago that noise can harm even healthy people, and that noise can lessen the ability to do mental work by as much as 40 per cent.

At the meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Science held in London some weeks ago it was shown that serious thought must be given to the prevention of noise, or the health of the nation will suffer greatly.

Among the suggestions are that before trying to manufacture walls, windows, doors, with soundproof qualities, a real effort be made to stop all unnecessary noise—automobile horns, automobile brakes, motorcycles, factory and locomotive whistles, and all delivery carts or wagons.

There must always be some necessary noise, and means must be taken to lessen its effects upon the nervous system.

Many travellers use absorbent cotton or rubber ear stoppies on railway trains or in noisy city hotels.

It has been found that the heavier the construction of the building material, the more can noise be prevented. Unfortunately the present trend of building materials and structures is toward lightness and thinness, the evils of which are painfully apparent to dwellers in apartment houses and those living in the newer houses.

The best means of preventing noise is to have a double wall with no connection cross ties. This is on the same principle as the thermos bottle which keeps out heat and cold.

As you know, noise strikes your nerves, and they in turn tighten all your muscles whether you notice it or not. This tightening of your muscles tires you the same as if you were working or exercising, and prevents close attention to mental work.

Here's List Of Do Nots For Bridge

Noted Instructor Tells of Proper Table Etiquette

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—How you behave at the bridge table has an important bearing on the game and its results for each individual. If you play without consideration of the other players—including your partner—not only you, but your friends, fail to receive the maximum of enjoyment out of the game.

E. V. Shephard, famous bridge expert and teacher, whose daly column "Contract Bridge" appears in The Examiner, has drawn up a list of don'ts for guidance of players. Among other things, he settles the problem of whether the cut should be completed or whether or not to pick up the cards while being dealt.

Here are the "don'ts" of contract bridge etiquette:

DON'T

—complete the cut.
—put hands on the table while cards are being dealt. (It costs a 50-point penalty if you face a card above a 7-spot; a new deal for any exposed card.).
—talk, except to bid, after the cards are dealt.
—mumble your bid.
—litter the card table with gloves, purse, etc.
—use edge of table to park your cigaret; if not in sight, ask for an ash tray.
—drum on table.
—hum or whistle.
—ask the score; watch it.
—grouch about poor cards, nor gloat over good ones. Luck evens up.
—ask who dealt; the still pack is on the left of the next dealer.
—ask the trump. The trump suit is always placed at dummy's right.
—use pencil except for scoring.

3 MONTHS FOR BIGAMY

The members of the Women's Institute held their monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sid Armstrong, when the president was in the chair, and nine members were present.

Business regarding the balancing of the books after the recent card party held on Friday evening was taken up. Also a sum of money tendered by an honorary member not present netted $7 to be added to the balanced books to be used for some means for fire protection in the village, the secretary to write a letter of appreciation to the donor.

It was moved and received approval to tender the use of the piano on the following night for the Reeve's party. Also on Monday evening, if it were requested by a former Deputy Reeve for a similar event.

The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. A. Thorndyke and Mrs. G. Foster, and the numbers included a reading by Mrs. William McCartney; message by A. Walker, and read by Mrs. A. Driver; address by the president of Federated Women's Institute, Mrs. Stone, and read by Mrs. Thorndyke. These were greatly enjoyed by the members.

As the season was that of the New Year it was decided by the Committee convenor, that New Year's messages would be in keeping and a number were passed to those present, and the convenor announced them by number. The holder of the slip bearing the message number called, reading to the audience.

A vote of thanks was tendered to those in charge of the program, and Mrs. McCartney invited the ladies to meet at her home for the February meeting.

The Program Committee for this meeting will be Mrs. Sid Armstrong and Mrs. A. Driver.

* * * * * * *

It is an old-time work, as is the case with all needlecraft, its novelty consisting in modernized application of ancient stitches. This revival of modes is not confined to needlework, but applies to all arts.

* * * * * * *

Originally Etching Embroidery was called Print Work. It was very much in vogue early in 1800, making it over one hundred and twenty-five years since its inception.

* * * * * * *

It was modified in its revival half a century ago, and it is in this modified form that it is used to-day.

* * * * * * *

At the beginning it was an elaborate needlework, combining chiefly sepia tinted grounds, with various stitches in black, such as outline, French knots, satin stitch, crewel stitch, etc.

* * * * * * *

The intention was to reproduce printed pictures through these two mediums, stitchery and colored washes. Some of this early Print Work was choice. Pictures done in the embroidery were framed and hung with genuine prints and etchings on walls of rooms.

* * * * * * *

Later on pictures were embroidered in outline only, and it is this fashion which to-day is known as Etching Embroidery. When the stitches are fine an dthe design suitable, these make delightful pictures to frame.

* * * * * * *

The new vogue, however, is as much for ornamenting napery, cushion covers, and other household linens as for pictures.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

WHAT IS A'S BEST LEAD?

The opening lead is an important feature of defensive play. About half the time, upon close hands, the nature of the opening lead, and the way it is handled by the declarer, decides the fate of the contract. The following hand well illustrates the importance of senior's selection of his first lead.

	♠ K J 9 8 ♥ 9 8 ♣ Q 9 4 ♦ Q 6 5 2
♠ 6 3 2 ♥ A Q 6 4 ♣ K J 10 ♦ K J 7	Y A B Z	♠ 7 4 ♥ 7 5 2 ♣ 8 7 6 2 ♦ 10 9 8 3
	♠ A Q 10 5 ♥ K J 10 3 ♣ A 5 3 ♦ A 4

Bidding went as follows: Z, 1-Spade; A, Double; Y, 2-Spades; B, Pass; Z, 2-No Trumps, to show stops in the unbid suits and the fact that he held only four spades; A, Pass; Y, 3-Spades; B, Pass Z, 4-Spades; A, Double.

Not liking to lead away from any one of his tenace suits, A led a trump. The declarer took three rounds of spades, then he led dummy's 9 of hearts, putting A in the lead with his Q. A led his J of clubs. Dummy's Q won the trick. Back went the 8 of hearts, overtaken with Z's 10, and A's Ace won the second trick for his side. When A led back his 10 of clubs, Z's Ace won the trick. Upon the declarer's good hearts the last club and one of the diamonds were discarded from dummy. Z led his Ace of diamonds, followed by his 4 of that suit, giving A his third and last trick, as dummy ruffed the return lead of A's club.

The rule to lead a trump when holding three suits bad to open is not absolute. In this case the trump lead gave the declarer immediate control of affairs and it enabled him to establish two good hearts in his own hand That proved fatal to A's hopes of defeating the contract. An opening lead of hearts would have been worse, giving the declaring side five odd, as A would have won only one heart trick and one diamond trick. An opening lead of diamonds would have prevented A from winning his trick in that suit and would have enabled Z to make five odd. But an opening lead of the J or 10 of clubs might have defeated the contract.

Suppose A led a club, and Z took three rounds of trumps. Next he would start to clear his hearts. A would be in the lead, and he would force Z to win his second club trick. If the declarer leads another heart, A will win his third trick and a subsequent diamond lead by Z will give A his fourth trick.

Suppose that Z wins the first club lead in dummy, and after pulling down all opposing trumps he provides for a discard of his losing club, by leading his Ace of diamonds, followed by a low diamond, to establish the Q of that suit in dummy. A will win a diamond trick with his K, and he will lead back a club, to put the declarer in. How is he to gain entry to dummy, to obtain his discard? The only way of gaining entry to dummy is by leading his last trump, and overtaking with dummy's last trump. He then can lead dummy's good Q of diamonds and discard his last club, but that does him no good. A holds two winning hearts and the top club, and must win those three tricks, as both declarer and dummy will be out of trumps.

If the declarer thinks of it soon enough he can go game, by taking only two rounds of trumps, after having won his first club trick. Z can then lead off his Ace of diamonds and a small one. A will win his first trick, and lead back a club. The declarer will win his second club trick, then he will put dummy in, by taking his third round of spades. Upon dummy's good diamond will go Z's last club. He then has to lose only two heart tricks.

Tecs Regain International League Lead

LONDON GAINS LEAGUE MARGIN

Tecs Connect for Fifth Win Over Bulldogs Last Night By 4-1 Score.

MIKE NEVILLE STARS.

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (C.P.)—Windsor Bulldogs may be a big obstacle for some of the International hockey teams to hurdle, but to date they have proved no great hindrance to London Tecumsehs' steady march to the league leadership.

Tecs' 4-1 win last night over the Bulldogs was the fifth in six games this season, the other resulting in a tie. The victory broke the deadlock that existed between Syracuse Stars and London for top position, and the Tecs are now out in front with a two-point margin.

Though they were minus Gene Carrigan, their leading point-gatherer, London found a capable substitute in Mike Neville. Neville scored two goals and assisted in another. Eric Pettinger and Tory Gregg were the other scorers for the winners.

Windsor's only goal from the stick of Al Huggins came in the first period, giving the Bulldogs a lead in the first 35 seconds of play. London scored two before the period ended, however, to take the lead. They counted their other markers in the last session.

Normie Smith, in the Windsor nets, prevented a larger score by his great work. Hughie Plaxton, former Varsity Grad player, appeared on the Bulldog line-up, and was the object of plenty of body-checking, which spoiled his play.

ARE THESE EXPERTS THE SPORT CHAMPIONS OF 1933

Sport fans watched many of these individuals smash through sport records during 1932. However, with the old-timers there will probably be new champions crowned during the coming year. The individuals above are all predicted to be 1933 champions. No. 1 is Sir Malcolm Campbell, who will endeavor to shatter his own world auto speed record of 254 miles an hour. No. 2 is Jimmy Doolittle, holder of the world land plane speed record for closed courses and mile straightaways. Gar Wood is at No. 3 and his world speedboat mark of 124 miles an hour is the present record. Max Schmeling, who lost his world's heavyweight boxing title last year will probably return to the throne if he meets Sharkey. He's at No. 4. No. 5 is the leading light of the track and field stars who should become a champion in '33—Eugene Venzke. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, No. 6, is in a class by herself in the tennis world, and No. 7 is another famous lady of the sporting world. Miss Loretta Turnbull, world's leading outboard motorboat pilot. Billy Arnold, the speedway demon, is a favorite to win the annual speedway driving championship for 1933, and is shown at No. 8, while Gene Sarzen, at No. 9, is the leader of the golfing world at the present time and should retain his lead.

BATTAGLIA AND JEBY WINNER TO BE MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION

National Boxing Commission Decides on January Fight to Fill Vacancy.

WINNIPEG BOY FAVORED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. — (CP) — Frankie Battaglia had arrived today at the door of the middleweight boxing throneroom, long before he expected.

With confidence born of an impressive string of ring successes, the Winnipeg youngster was certain he would arrive eventually. But an edict of the New York state boxing commission, stamping his fight against Ben Jeby here Jan. 13 as for the middleweight championship of the world, lifted him suddenly on to the next-to-the-top rung of the fistic ladder.

The commission issued its ruling Wednesday, declaring it would consider the winner of the 15-round collision of the Canadian-Italian and Jeby, successor to the throne from which Mickey Walker abdicated some months ago.

Mickey shed the middleweight crown when he graduated into the heavyweight class. Since then it has been kicking around and growing dusty from dis-use while Battaglia, Jeby, Frankie Devlin, ex-Vancouverite, and Marcel Thil, highly competent Frenchman, sought to decide supremacy.

The Winnipeg youth seemed to have dynamited his path pretty clear when he knocked-out Jeby in a single round at Chicago last summer, and then decisively out-pointed Devlin here a few weeks ago. Thil wasn't anywhere near these shores, but the National Boxing Commission considered the showing he made on his last North American invasion sufficiently brilliant to stamp him as the likeliest successor to Walker. They called Thil N.B.C. champion.

In view of the decided lack of middleweight material, the Madison Square Garden promoters brought Jeby and Battaglia together and when Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston of the Garden appeared before the State Commission Wednesday with the request that the January 13 clash be considered for the title, the governors readily approved.

A later meeting between survivor of the Battaglia-Jeby fight, and Monsieur Thil would seem to be on the fistic cards for an early date.

Jeby and his manager recently informed the followersof fistiana that the easy knockout Battaglia scored in the Chicago meeting was a fluke. "A lucky punch," it was dubbed by the New York fighter, a product of the east side where they raise them hardy.

But Frankie thinks differently of the Chicago fight. He says: "Could I help it if Jeby led with the chin. Fighters don't forget punches like Jeby took when we last met. I've got the Indian sign on that fellow."

PEARCE TO TURN PRO.

TORONTO.—Bob Pearce, world's amateur sculling champion, will turn professional to compete in a world title tourney at the Canadian National Exhibition next fall if the event can be arranged, the Toronto Star said to-day.

Elwood Hughes, Exhibition sports director, is working on plans for the event which will carry a purse of $5,000.

Madoc High School Scores 3-1 Victory

MADOC, Jan. 5 (Examiner Correspondence).—The first of the series of High School Hockey games was played in Madoc last night on the Skating Arena, between Madoc and Marmora. A very interesting game was turned in, each man giving his best, and where skill was lacking supplying the lack by main strength. James Watson of Madoc acted as referee and was kept very much on the alert, penalizing minor infringments of the rules, while on more than one occasion there threatened to be a free fight which vigilence averted.

The teams were very evenly matched, and will be better prepared to meet after better ice and more practice and combination make for easier and better hockey. The ice was fair to begin the game, but became rough and soft as the game advanced. As one spectator said, it was like playing in a gravel pit.

The first period ended with the score of 1-0 in favor of Marmora, the goal being tallied by Simmons on a pass from Shannon.

During the second period, by hard work and good play, Stockloser made the first count for Madoc, and this was followed by a goal by R. Whytock on a rebound from Ashley. The period ended with score 2-1 for Madoc. Phillips scored for Madoc in the third on a pass from Ashley. This period showed a strong effort by Marmora to even the score and the play was kept constantly near the Madoc goal, with several penalties awarded, and good work done by Broad in goal. The final score was 3-1 for Madoc.

Line up:—

Madoc.—L. Board, goal; D. Whytock and C. Phillips, defense; E. Alexander, ventre; R. Whytock and D. Ashley, wings; alternates: D. Stewart, W. Stockloser, F. McQuigge.

OVERTIME BATTLE.

(By the Canadian Press.)

Kitchener Empires are only two points behind the fourth place Port Colborne Sailors to-day following their 2-1 overtime victory over Toronto Nationals in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" fixture last night.

It was the fifth straight defeat for the unfortunate Allan Cup holders who have had more than their share of hard luck this season, through injuries and loss of players.

The winning goal came in the second overtime period, when Wilf Hoch, hard-hitting defenceman, picked a corner of the National net, as Harvey McClelland and Len Huggins, National players, sat in the penalty box.

Chisholm gave the Sea Fleas the lead in the first period, when his shot worked its way between Berner and the goal post. Empires claimed it went through a hole in the side, but Referee Mitchell allowed it.

Half way through the last period Schmalz and Lehnen combined, the former beating Ronnie Geddes for the tieing goal. Shortly after this Schmalz tangled with the aggressive Kenny Kane to add zip to the fray. Kane was banished when the fight was stopped.

2-1 Win Over Indians.

In the Senior "B" section Galt visited Stratford and eked out a 2-1 decision over the Indians. Following a run of penalties which reached 17 during the game, a free-for-all broke out with only a minute left to play.

Port Colborne had an easier session, when they downed Fort Erie by a 4-2 score at Fort Erie. It was Fort Erie's third straight defeat. Dixon scored two for the Ports while Bowman counted the losers' pair.

VARSITY TAKES 3 TO 1 VICTORY

U. of T. Senior Hockeyists Triumph Over Princeton in Overtime.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5. (CP)—The staying power of the hockey men from University of Toronto had given them a 3-1 decision to-day over Princeton Tigers. It was the speed they had in reserve, brought into full play in an overtime period that gave them victory in a thrilling encounter last night before 4,500.

The game was played in Madison Square Garden as a benefit for the New York Post Graduate Hospital and marked the initial United States start for the Toronto team this season. McGill University previously had lifed Canadian college hockey to a place of prestige by whipping Yale and Harvard on their home ice before taking three straight and easy wins from Dartmouth at Lake Placid last week.

Toronto found the Tiger-men stubborn opposition for three periods but when they added the reserve pressure in the extra period the United States players were no match. In fact only the brilliant work of Harry Thauron in the Princeton net held the Canadians to the two deciding goals in the closing burst of speed and combination brilliance.

SENSATIONAL PERFORMANCES ARE LOOKED FOR THIS YEAR

Another Stirring Struggle for United States' Amateur Golf Championship Predicted.

COMPETITION KEENER.

(By Herbert H. Rameay, President, United States Golf Association)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (C.P.)—Competition in the game of golf appears to be getting keener each year and 1933, on the basis of the unusually interesting year we have just closed, is going to show some sensational performances.

There will undoubtedly be another stirring struggle for the United States Amateur Championship, as splendid and brilliant a competition as was provided last year by that fine sportsman C. Ross Somerville, of London, who took the title to Canada for the first time.

Many Young Players

There are a number of good young amateur players who will make a determined effort to bring the championship back to the United States. These with the more tried veterans should make the field an exceptional one. Mr. Somerville and no doubt several other high ranking Canadians will add the international flavoring.

In international affairs, a team of professional golfers from this country will meet the British team for the Ryder Cup, and likely most, if not all, of the members of that team will stay in England to compete in the open championship there.

The open championship of the United States will be held in June at the North Shore Golf Club, Glen View, Illinois; the amateur championship will be held at the Kenwood Country Club, Cincinnati, Ohio; the women's championship will be held at Exmoor Country Club, Highland Park, Illinois; and the public links championship will be held in the far west for the first time in its history, the venue being Eastmoreland Municipal course, Portland, Oregon.

No Changes Likely

The conditions under which the championships are conducted by the association have not been tested to such an extent that there will likely be no changes in the conditions of the championships or in the program of sectional elimination rounds utilized so successfully in the open championship and the amateur championship.

Last year marked the first in which the 1.68-1.62 golf ball became official for play, and it is fair to say that the 1932 golf ball has been enthusiastically received throughout the United States.

The depression everywhere has affected golf. Players, professional instructors, manufacturers of implements and equipment, have all suffered in common.

Private Clubs Closed

In addition, many private clubs throughout the United States, through decline of memberships and otherwise, have come to the end of their resources, followed by foreclosures and liquidation. It is difficult to see any immediate silver lining to this depressing cloud.

The fact is, though, that conditions have demonstrated to many people that it is now possible to play golf on public courses at low cost. Many private clubs have met the situation by converting their courses into public or semi-private courses as a temporary measure. Through cycles of prosperity and depression, the game has existed and expanded for three centuries. It will continue to do so.

One of the most interesting pets in Hollywood is Rex Bell's trained police dog, Boco von Karlsruhe. Although it is said one can't teach an old dog new tricks, Boco still learns new tricks at the age of twelve years. He has worked in several pictures and is an expert swimmer. When Rex wants to go swimming he always leaves Boco at home for whenever the dog spies his master in the water he immediately swims out and tows him ashore. Boco is hard of hearing but understands Rex's commands in sign language perfectly.

CHANGE RULE 17.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Naming of new Governors to represent Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers, minor changes in the rules and alteration of the style of officiating to put the game under the control of only one referee were the chief items of business consummated by the Governors of the National Hockey League in session here yesterday.

Colonel John S. Hammond, who recently resigned as President of the Rangers, and Major Frederick McLaughlin, President of the Chicago Black Hawks, resigned as Governors and were replaced by William F. Carey, President of Madison Square Garden, and W. P. Tobin, business manager of the Black Hawks.

One Referee in Charge

The change in the method of officiating places the game entirely in the hands of one referee, who will call all fouls, impose penalties and have general charge of the game. He will be assisted by another officia to be known as "judge of play" whose main duty will be to call offsides.

One of the rules eliminates a conflict as to the penalty to be imposed for a substitute player being on the ice during play before the man he relieved had left the ice. Two rules covered almost identical cases heretofore, with a major penalty provided in one case and a minor in the other. Rule 31, which imposed a major penalty, was removed from the books.

No Penalty for Batting Puck

The other rule change was to No. 17, which prohibited any player except the goalkeeper from batting the puck. The rule was amended to allow any player to set the puck with his open hand, provided he then handled the puck himself before any other member of his team touched it. If another player of his own side should touch the puck before either the player batting it or one of the opposing players touched it, the rule provides for a faceoff. The restriction against holding the puck remains in the code.

All of the league cities except Chicago and Montreal were represented at the meeting, which was presided over by President Frank Calder.

Playoff dates were discussed, but action was deferred until the March meeting, when the Governors will have a more definite idea as to just what teams will qualify.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

The City Hockey League managers meet this evening at 7.30 in Duffus to draw up the schedule and make final arrangements to start their season. Tomorrow night at 7.15 in Norwood, preceding the E.P.L. game, the local Rotary team opens the schedule against the Norwood entry. Westclox of the East Peterborough loop then plays the Norwood Combines, always provided there is ice. Maple Leafs of the E.P.L. go to Lakefield for a game at 8.30. Last night's scheduled league opening had to be called off, the ice being much too soft.

* * * * * *

Our two O.H.A. teams are due to get going tomorrow night, the juniors meeting Port Hope here, and the intermediates going down to Port Hope. The junior Hopers served notice they will be mean competition by trouncing the husky Cobourg crew the other night, 4 to 3, in the opener. Some of the players coming here will be Cancilla, McTavish, Record, Austin, Phillips' brothers, Pillsworth, Rowland and Tape. They flash a lot of speed, combination and fight.

* * * * * * *

The local juniors promise to go places this season if they get a break on the weather. With experienced and capable manager and coach, and considerable hard drilling and scouting around, the young Petes' outfit now appears to be a classy and colorful bunch of pucksters who look quite a bit better than last year's junior squad. There is plenty of new material, youthful and willing, along with four or five experienced boys who have won their spurs in O.H.A. competition. They'll be well worth looking over and being watched for the duration of their schedule. Much inside hockey has been taught them this year, and they seem to be taking to it like ducks to water.

* * * * * * *

And speaking of water there's been far too much of it where ice should be, lately. Following a couple of fine hockey weeks early last month, we've had a soft spell that isn't doing the game a bit of good in natural ice centres. With so much water on hand, we don't like throwing a wet blanket on the hopes of hockey managers, players and followers, but the past few weeks have been painful reminders of last winter. For that reason, the teams should take advantage of every night there is ice and run off some games, and fans should take a look-see at these contests instead of maybe kidding themselves that there'll be plenty of hockey later on in the winter.

* * * * * * *

Four teams make up the intermediate section of the Southend Hockey League, the schedule of which appears to-day. They are: Canucks, Pirates, North-enders, and Park Hill. They open with a double-header next Tuesday at the Sacred Heart rink where all games will be played. The games all start at eight, nine or ten o'clock at nights, and the playoffs consist of best two out of three games. We hear every outfit will be plenty strong, and this loop looks for a race comparable to that of last year.

* * * * * * *

The juveniles' and bantams' schedules of this circuit will be published tomorrow. There are three in the first section and four bantams in. They open up next Tuesday, also. The managers are advised to cut out the schedules and also see that the boys are in plenty of time for their games. This loop is and has been for several years a wonderful training-ground for young hockey players of Peterborough.

* * * * * * *

The times of the LaLdies' Basketball League games—which start tomorrow night at the Y.W.—have been changed, moved up half an hour. First games on Friday night will commence at seven bells instead of 7.30, etc. Tomorrow, C.G.E. and Westclox Seniors open it up at 7.00; "Y" Seniors go on against St. Paul's at 7.45; with C.G.E. Juniors meeting Westclox Juniors at 8.30; followed at 9.15 by "Y" Intermediates and Blue Petes. Monday night's fixture between the Wohelo Club and St. Andrew's is called for 9.30 o'clock.

* * * * * * *

Word from Napanee has it that Tommy Pointer, the elongated Belleville southpaw hurler, has taken a job with the Gibbard Furniture Company and will twirl for Gibbard's next year in intermediate company. Walter Gerow, former Belleville manager, will run this intermediate team. The Nats will have to step on it and build up in a hurry, although they'll miss Walter far more than they'll miss the temperamental Tommy who wasn't quite as good as he rated himself. "Peeney" Mills may manage the team in the C.O.B.L. next summer.

* * * * * * *

Here's the way one of the baseball veterans here sums it up: "With Gerow gone, Peeney may refuse to manage the team, and even if he does take over the job, he won't be so good. Gerow and Mills between them managed that team in great style, ach one having somthing the other didn't and both buys clicking like the pals they are. Walter alone mightn't be so good, and Peeney alone won't be. But they used to present a combination that was mighty hard to beat. While Mills will play this summer and maybe manage, too, I wouldn't be surprised to see 1933 wind up old Peeney's C.O.B.L. career."

Fenelon Falls Beats Lindsay Outfit 4-3

LINDSAY, Jan. 5.—Fenelon Falls Junior O.H.A. hockey team defeated Lindsay in a spectacular 90-minute game by a score of 4 to 3 before a large crowd at the Oakwood Arena last night.

The winning counter came in final overtime session with only three minutes left to play as a result of a terrific offensive.

Pentland and Henderson for the visitors shared scoring honors, each scoring twice, and were particularly outstanding for the Cataract village, while Walker, Tripp and Murphy tallied for Lindsay.

GERARDMEN HAVE CHANCE TO-NIGHT

Can Even Seasonal Score With World Champions, Toronto Leafs.

TORONTO, Jan. 5. (CP)—To see just how completely Maroons have recovered from a long slump they broke this week, Toronto Maple Leafs are in Montreal to-day. They will find out to-night in a National Hockey League fixture that provides Maroons with a chance to even the seasonal score with the world champions and the Leafs with a chance to widen their lead in the circuit's International section.

Leafs have beaten the Redmen of Gerard twice in Toronto this season and Maroons eked out a devision in their one home stand against Toronto. Both will have fresh material on the ice to-night, Montreal with Earl Roche in place of the demoted Hugh Plaxton and Toronto using Bill Thoms in place of Harold Darragh and Stew Adams hold down the right wing berth made vacant by Charlie Conacher's injury.

At Chicago, Boston Bruins will try to pull up even with the United States group leading Rangers when they meet the Black Hawks. The game marks Teddy Graham's first appearance as captain of the Hawks. The chunky defenceman was named two days ago to succeed Helge Bostrom, sold to St. Paul.

Canadiens play the Red Wings at Detroit and New York Americans are at home to Ottawa Senators in the oher scheduled contests.

Olympics Win From Tail-end Indians

(By Canadian Press)

Detroit drew within one point of the Bulldogs of the International League standing, when they beat the tail-end Cleveland Indians 3-1.

The Indians started strong and after 12 minutes had earned a goal lead, outplaying the Olympics all the while. Tony Prelesnik notched the counter on a solo dash.

Detroit tied it up four minutes later and from then on took control, getting another before the period ended. Their third goal came in the second period, the final frame scoreless.

Leo Goldsworthy, who came to the Olympics from Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, scored two of his team's total and Gus Marker, another ex-Red Wing notched the other.

R.K.O. To Favor New Type of Policy

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—M. H. Aylesworth, president of Radio-Keith-Orpheum, confirmed reports early to-day that a change in policy is to be made in the two huge theatres in Rockefeller centre which were opened only last week.

He denied that the $4,000,000 RKO-Roxy, a combination picture-vaudeville house seating 3,700 persons, would close, as published reports had said. He stated, however, that changes in policy would be effected.

The Daily News said to-day that following last night's performance at the RKO-Roxy, notice was posted that the theatre, which had its gala opening a week ago to-night, would close January 11. The announcement of the closing was credited to Bill Stern, manager.

Entry of Canada Not Yet Received

PARIS, Jan. 5.—(C.P. Cable.)—When the Davis Cup Committee last night announced receipt of entries from nine European nations and two in North America, Canada's entry was not among them. Jan. 31 has been set as the date on which entries for the 1933 international tennis competition close. So far only the United States and Cuba have entered in the North American zone. Officials said there was no reason to expect that Canada would not be in the court wars for the famed cup as usual this year. The European entries are: Great Britain, Austria, Belgium, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Switzerland, and Jugoslavia.

WOULD JAR HEAVEN TO HAVE McLARNIN TAKE ON TOWNSEND

New York Match-makers, However, Have Yet to Convince Pop Foster, Manager of Vancouver Scrapper.

By WILLIS ENTWHISTLE
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer

The matchmakers of Madison Square Gardens Corporation are ready to move heaven and earth to arrange a bout between Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Townsend, who both hail from Vancouver. John Finley Allen, manager of Townsend, has been eager for the bout for quite a few years, but Pop Foster, manager of McLarnin, has never been so hot for it. Incidentally, both managers also spent a considerable part of their lives in Vancouver.

They are both in the middleweight class now and, at the present value of statistics, McLarnin undoubtedly has quite an edge. His background is Irish and that of Townsend is English.

Townsend's climb has been much rougher than McLarnin's, for he had to come gack after being knocked out at the beginning of his career as a fighter just because his handlers rated him higher than he could reach in a few months of fighting.

Bumped Over Twice

Townsend came out of the mines of Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island, around 1926, and shot up like a mushroom, for he was hard as nails and nobody could hurt him. Then somebody conceived the idea of matching him with the blonde sailor champion, Richie King. The blonde was a tough egg and he bumped Townsend over in short order. That was a terrible blow to the fistic lights of Vancouver, but he came back, just as he did again when Billy Petrolle bumped him over. Some folks think Billy would be a world-beater if he could think as quickly as he can move his feet. A great deal of Townsend's professional career has been centred in the Vancouver area.

McLarnin's rise was entirely different. Vancouver has never seen him fight since he rose to heights in the world of fistiana. The only time his home sees him is when he goes home for a holiday. Foster doesn't make any bones about it, he just doesn't think there is enough money in Vancouver to put his boy into the ring. In other words, it just wouldn't pay.

Allen has always been glad to rope in the shekels in bits, but Foster's idea is get it occasionally but in job lots, and so far the latter has a great deal more to show for his policy.

Long before McLarnin was selling papers in Vancouver and Townsend was running the mules in the mines. Allen was Vancouver's fight impressario and Foster was just a stevedore.

But the latter made the most of what he had in McLarnin. He took him under his wing when only 15, took him down to California, fathered him, mothered him and everything, until Jimmy began to earn. His career is history, and he has never gone back on Foster.

It'll be a grand bout if they ever meet, for neither knows anything but good, honest, clean fighting.

THE BRAVERY OF SAMMY JAY

Farmer Brown's Boy was puzzled. He had been sure, absolutely sure, that Roughleg the Hawk was the guilty one who had killed his pigeons, and it hadn't once entered his head that he would fail to find proof of this in the form of scattered feathers beneath the tree on the Green Meadows, which Roughleg had chosen as his favorite roost and watch-tower. But not a pigeon feather was to be found and Farmer Brown's Boy was puzzled.

"I don't want to be unfair," he muttered. "If Roughleg didn't kill my pigeons I don't want to drive him away. But if he didn't do it, who under the sun did? It certainly was a hawk, and he's the only hawk I know of here in the winter. Hello! What's that?"

He had chanced to look toward the Green Forest and for just a second he had caught a glimpse of what looked very like a hawk above the treetops. It wasn't Roughleg, because the latter had not flown in that direction. Could it be that there was a hawk whom he did not know? Right away he headed straight for the Green Forest. On he tramped in the direction in which he had seen that hawk disappear among the tree-tops, and so it was that presently a big, blue-gray bird darted out ahead of him and was gone before he could shoot. Then Farmer Brown's Boy recognized that Gray Terror, Mr. Goshawk, and understood that he had come down from the north.

It was Mr. Goshawk and he was headed straight for the barnyard

"That's the fellow!" he exclaimed. "There isn't the least doubt about it. And there isn't any doubt that he is going to make a lot of trouble for me and for all my friends of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows if he remains. He's got to be driven away and that's all there is about it."

It was easy to say this, but driving Mr Goshawk away was quite another matter. Farmer Brown's Boy never could get within shooting distance of him in the Green Forest. He spent as much of that day as he could spare hunting for Mr. Goshawk, but without result.

The next morning it happened that Sammy Jay reached the Old Orchard just in time to see Farmer Brown's Boy enter the barn. Sammy hung around hoping that Farmer Brown's Boy would throw out a little corn. Sammy was hungry, very hungry. Since the arrival of Mr. Goshawk getting enough to eat had been a hard task. You see Sammy had just as much reason to fear the Gray Terror as he had any one else. So Sammy had kept his tongue still and had kept out of sight as much as possible while he hunted for food. It was because he had a feeling that Mr. Goshawk would not come so near Farmer Brown's house that Sammy had come to the Old Orchard this morning.

Now, as he hopefully kept an eye on the door where Farmer Brown's Boy had disappeared he suddenly became aware of some one approaching swiftly through the air from the Green Forest. It was Mr. Goshawk and he was headed straight for the barnyard, where the hens and pigeons were. If only Farmer Brown's Boy would open the door and come out! Sammy waited an instant and then opened his mouth.

"Thief! Thief! Thief!" he screamed as only he can scream. "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

The pigeons and the hens looked up, saw the danger and scattered frantically for safety. Sammy Jay continued to scream. He wanted to bring Farmer Brown's Boy to see what the trouble was. Mr Goshawk dashed at him again and missed. Just then the barn door opened and Farmer Brown's Boy appeared. Mr. Goshawk flew away. Sammy Jay gave a little sigh of relief. He had been terribly frightened. And he had been very brave to give that warning. Don't you think so? Farmer Brown's Boy did. (Copyright, 1933, by T. W. Burgess)

What Today Means to YOU!

by MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 5th is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 8.45 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2.10 p.m. and from 4.30 p.m. to 5.45 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11.15 a.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.

Influences would seem to make extreme inactivity in the business world on this date. Events and affairs in the social world, however, will move at a fast pace and will attain a high degree of hilarity and gayety. Weddings occurring on this date would seem to afford a good start to the wedded ones. News of a disconcerting nature may come from afar.

The child born on this January 5th, will be inclined to be a cry-baby and whiner. See that he overgrows this. The child will be extremely selfish and self-centered. It will have many petty ways, some of them very annoying. The child will in all probability have a splendid mind. Taught to think properly and along right channels, the youngster should have a fine future ahead.

If your birthday is on January 5th, you have much to be grateful for. Without being markedly strong-willed, you will all through life invariably get your own way. This is true regardless of the rightness or wrongness of your desires, so you must concentrate on developing a wise and sane outlook on life, or you shall find your desires leading you into severe difficulties. You have a fairly good sense of values but you must constantly strive to perfect it. You are highly intuitive. Often you surprise your friends by sensing their thoughts and wants, even before they themselves have conciously become aware of them. You are a naturally good person, and you know how to bring good into the lives of others.

Born on January 5th, you should marry young. Your greatest spiritual and mental development will come from having a congenial mate at your side to work and grow and expand in thought with you. Do not listen too much to the counsel of others. You are a better judge by far of your own problems than anyone else could be. This does not mean that you should not profit from the experiences of other people. Do not let reverses of any sort slow you up—keep fighting and striving, for it is a good fight, worth fighting, and you will succeed.

TIRED AND IRRITABLE?

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

FREE STATE HOPES TO BECOME BILINGUAL IN TWENTY YEARS

Five Year Plan Put in Operation, Including Teacher, Police, Most Civic Employees.

BACKED BY BOTH PARTIES.

(By Joseph Denmigan.)

DUBLIN, Jan. 3.—(C. P. Cable). —The Free State Department of Education estimates it will take 20 years to make the Free State bilingual to the same extent as Canada.

Since this portion of Ireland attained Dominion status, the government has been making a determined effort to improve the position of Gaelic, the national language, in the country.

The millions which Cosgrave's government spent on instructing teachers were never cavilled at by Eamon De Valera's party when in opposition. Teachers in the national schools had to abandon thoughts of summer holidays and go to the Galetach (Irish speaking districts) to be taught by the natives every year. After a few courses, efforts were made to impart knowledge in all subjects through the Irish language. Critics declared this policy was ruining primary education but the government did not despair. Training colleges have been established and their annual output is now 400 teachers qualified to teach the language and all other subjects.

But the supply of trained teachers falls short of the demand. Eleven thousand bilingual teachers are urgently required. The number of teachers who have not got bilingual certificates and who are never likely to get them is 30,000 or about 60 per cent, of all teachers.

Taken Up by De Valera

Mr. Cosgrave's policy was taken up with enthusiasm by De Valera when the Republican leader secured office. De Valera's slogan was "An Ireland not merely free, but Gaelic as well." He meant to carry it out, and now that he seeks a new mandate, it is not likely the situation will be much changed. Gaelic is a non-party matter in the Free State and the plan will likely go ahead whether De Valera succeeds in the new election or is beaten by Cosgrave.

A five-year plan has been put in operation. The police force have been given until 1937 to make themselves completely bilingual. Even now, promotion depends to a large extent on knowledge of the language. Workhouse doormen must satisfy the authorities they possess a speaking knowledge and the appointments of graveyard caretakers will not be sanctioned until the test is passed.

Neither De Valera's party nor Cosgrave's party heeds criticism about the compulsory-Irish policy. Some time ago considerable opposition came from the Protestant and other denominations, but it is dying away and the Protesant High Schools have begun to tackle the problem. So much success has attended their efforts that in an examinatsion for a government appointment a month ago, one of their candidates outstripped his Catholic companions. That is a fair example of proficiency in perhaps an unpoplar subject.

1933 Wampus Smile

Apparently Mary Carlisle, screen actress recently selected as a Wampas starlet, has no regrets for the passing of the old year. Crash 1933 with a smile, is her motto and she's living up to it. Incidentally the cute hat and collar Mary is wearing are of leopard skin.

ALNWICK TOWNSHIP COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Children and Grandchildren Honor Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCracken.

MANY GIFTS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Jan. 5. — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCracken, who live on a very small farm in the north end of Alnwick township, had the pleasure of gathering about them their children, grandchildren, their nearest relatives, and a few intimate friends, on Wednesday, at their home to celebrate with them the golden anniversary of their wedding.

During the afternoon and evening hours, many friends came in to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. McCracken, and to wish them a continuance of good health and happiness. Congratulatory messages by mail and telephone, and many other expressions of good wishes, were received from distant friends.

The home was artistically decorated for the occasion with Christmas colorings, and the table was laden with a large variety of appetizing food, and in the centre was the bride's cake adorned with fifty candles, that when lighted made a beautiful picture for itself.

Many Gifts.

Shortly after the dinner hour was passed, Santa Claus arrived and unloaded a heavily laden Christmas tree to the bride and groom of 50 years ago, and many a smile of surprise crept over the aged couple as they investigated their gifts, which were, not only numerous, but costly, and most beautiful. By the many magnificent presents that were received was due evidence of the love and high esteem in which they are held by their relatives and fellowmen.

In the past half century Mr. and Mrs. McCracken have lived to see many changes and improvements in the township of Alnwick.

Thomas McCracken was born within one mile of where he now lives; his son, Ross McCracken, is living on the old homestead of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McCracken, Senior, who were among the first pioneer settlers on the shores of Rice Lake, and in the Township of Alnwick. Thomas, Jr., was born on June 13, 1857, and is a noted farmer, in fact he still runs a small ranch of his own with his two horses, three cows and poultry. Nothing hurts him worse than when a day comes and he is unable to do his chores at the barn. He never was eager for publicity, although he served the township as councillor for several years and was warden in St. James' Anglican church for a goodly term.

Born in Percy

Mrs. McCracken (nee Mary Elizabeth King) is the only daughter of the late John King and Catharine Thompson, and was born in Percy Township, on January 9th, 1862. Mrs. McCracken is exceptionally bright for her years and enjoys the blessing of undimmed faculties and memory. Her great delight all through life is to be busy. She has been a great worker of the Women's Auxiliary of St. James' Anglican church, of which she is a faithful member.

Mr. and Mrs. McCracken were married at the rectory at Hastings by Rev. John McCleary, on Dec. 28, 1882; since then they have done their share of pioneering, as fifty years ago Alnwick Township did not look as it does to-day. They have seen life's hardships and have shared in its sorrow, having lost three of their family, each of them dying when young.

To them three sons are living: Thomas McCracken, Jr., of Trenton, Ont., Herbert and Ross McCracken, who live on adjoining farms of their parents. Their grandchildren are Bernard, Ray, Audrey and Ila McCracken. A sister of Mrs. McCracken's, is Mrs. Herbert Webster of Norwood; one brother, James McCracken of Peterborough.

In the evening the party numbering about 40, was spent chiefly in social chat and re-union although some of the younger members played a few games of cards.

And now that Mr. and Mrs. McCracken have reached the sunset slope of life, happy and contented, we pray that God's blessing may hover around them until He sees fit to call them from the labors here to higher service in His heavenly Kingdom.

Among those from a distance were Mr. Jack Brown, Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shearer and family, Harwood; Mr. and Mrs. Roy King, and Miss Sarah King, Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. James McCracken; Ennie and Olive of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Webster and daughter, Mae of Norwood; Mr. Harold Webb and sister, Miss Marjorie Webb of Smith's Falls; Mr. and Mrs. T. McCracken, Trenton.

HASTINGS PAIR 58 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. James Stinson Observed Wedding Anniversary on December 31st.

BORN IN P.E.C.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, January 4. — Mr. and Mrs. James Stinson, Hastings' most highly respected citizens, celebrated the 58th anniversary of their wedding on Saturday, December 31. During the day, and during the holiday week-end, the pioneer couple of the the Hastings' district were at home to a very large number of friends, who called to wish them many more years of wedded happiness. The event was celebrated quietly.

Both the bride and groom of 58 years ago were born in Prince Edward County, Mr. Stinson being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Stinson, and Mrs. Stinson, whose maiden name was Phoebe Waller, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waller.

Coming to Percy Township when eight years old, Mr. Stinson's parents settled on the farm now occupied by Mr. Felix Convey on the "Dutch Line." At that time there was little land cleared in this section of the township. Undaunted by the many hardships that they had to contend with, the industrious pioneers went to work on the task of clearing the land and in a very short time their efforts were well rewarded.

The wedding took place in Hastings on December 31, 1874, the Rev. Mr. Woodsworth, of the Methodist church, performing the ceremony. The attendants were Robert Waller, brother of the bride, and Christinia Cochrane. There are two residents in the village at the present time who attended the ceremony, Mr. A. Wilson and Mr. T. Hill.

To the happy union were born two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Wilcox, and Mrs. L. E. Kelley; there are also two grandchildren.

GRAIN, CATTLE, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 5 — Prices on fresh eggs held steady yesterday as receipts were not as heavy and the demand was sufficient to clear stocks on hand. Prices to country shippers and retailers were unchanged with quotations at the first of the week and brokers' prices on graded lots were firm.

Country shippers were quoted 26c to 27c for extras, 23c to 24c for firsts, 19c to 20c for pullet extras, and 17c to 18c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. To retailers offerings of fresh eggs were 34c for extras in cartoons, 32c for extras loose, 28c for firsts loose, 26c for pullet extras loose, and 22c for seconds loose. Brokers offered fresh, graded eggs at 30c for extras, 25c to 26c for firsts, 23c for pullet extras, and 19c for seconds.

Poultry

There was a good movement of poultry stocks at the week-end and new price lists, issued yesterday, showed an increase of one cent on most of live weight, chickens and hens and a gain in prices on roosters and ducklings.

Butter

Trade in butter was quiet, but prices held steady and the undertone of the market continued firm. Brokers offered choice Ontario solids at 21c to 21½c, the top price being for high scoring, regraded makes. Second grade butter went at 20¾c. Prices to the trade on creamery prints were steady at 24½c for No. 1. and 24c for No. 2.

Cheese

New makes of cheese moved slowly and prices were firm at 9¾c to 10c for large, 10c to 10¼c for twins and 10¼c to 10½c for triplets. There were no changes in quotations in prices to the retail trade

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Decided increase of speculative buying did much to give an all-around hoist to grain values yesterday.

Lively demand for future deliveries of all cereals was in evidence from start to finish, and led to the best advance witnessed in weeks. Friends of price upturns asserted Europe was giving belated recognition to the fact that without the United States surplus the world wheat supply and demand situation was a strong rather than a weak one, and that but little wheat in this country was available either to foreign or home markets at prevailing prices.

Wheat closed strong at virtually the day's top, 1¼ to 1⅝ abov eTuesday's finish; corn ⅝ to ⅞ up; oats, ⅝ advanced, and provisions showing 2 to 20c gain.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 5. — Prices held firm on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Fresh graded eggs in carlots or less were quoted at 33 to 34 cents for extras, 28 to 30 cents for firsts, and 26 to 28 cents a dozen for pullets. Storage extras in carlots or less were 21½ to 22 cents, firsts 19½ to 20 cents, and seconds 18½ to 19 cents a dozen. Receipts were 533 cases.

Carlots or less of No. 1 finest grass butter were 21¼ to 21½ cents a pound. Receipts were 67 boxes.

Current Ontario colored cheese was 8¼ to 8½ cents, current Ontario white 9½ to 9¾ cents and early Ontario make 10½ to 11 cents a pound. Receipts were 43 boxes.

Potatoes were firm. New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 80-pound bag, were 85 to 90 cents, and Prince Edward Green Mountains per 90-pound bag, 95c to $1.

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 40c to 43c; oats, 20c to 22c; barley, 33c to 35c; corn, 34c to 38c; rye, 30c to 32c; buckwheat, 26c to 28c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 5. — Wheat prices advanced sharply on the Grain Exchange yesterday to score net gains of 1⅞c for the day.

Export sales out of Vancouver were not large, but support was felt the market by commission house and Eastern investment buying. Narrowing of the spread between Chicago and Winnipeg involved the purchase of wheat here against sales in the South.

Liverpool Prices Improve

Light stocks and absence of selling pressure, combined with demand for spot wheat at Liverpool to boost quotations there fractionally, and Chicago registered gains at the close. Buenos Aires was also higher at noon.

Argentine wheat is selling on the Continent at a discount under Canadian, but demand for it is not large. Meanwhile Broomhall reported some boats were proceeding to Albany to load Canadian grain for the Continent, since the preference ruling prevents it being exported to the United Kingdom.

Cash wheat trading was very slow, and no actual sales were reported in coarse grains. In the pit good buying in all coarse grains was in evidence from time to time. Futures prices held substantial gains.

COSGRAVE ALLY VOICES DEMAND UNITED IRELAND

Ex-Minister Lays Blame Upon Britain for Partitions in His County.

DENOUNCES FEALTY OATH.

Surprise Speech Held Likely to Split Anti-De Valera Forces.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 6 (C. P. Cable).—Political circles were astounded last night when Richard Mulcahy, former Minister of Defence and front bench member of William T. Cosgrave's Cumann na nGaedheal, voiced a demand for immediate union of the Free State and Northern Ireland.

The only alternative to union, Mr. Mulcahy said, was "a 26-county republic and endless ill-will."

In a fiery election address, he blamed Great Britain for partition of Ireland and denounced the oath of allegiance to the King.

Partisans expressed the fear his attitude might split the ranks of Mr. Cosgrave's party and give added strength to President Eamon de Valera's Republican forces in the whirlwind campaign preceding Jan. 24, polling day.

"Too much respect for British sentiment," Mr. Mulcahy said, "has helped make the 1921 treaty (under which the Free State was constituted) unworkable by inclusion in it of the oath of allegiance and by a long struggle to keep up antiquated legalisms like the Privy Council.

"The only alternative to a 26-county republic and endless ill-will is union of Ireland."

Wants a New Treaty

He declared his belief a new treaty smoothing out political and economic relations between the United Kingdom and the Free State is the only basis on which a lasting settlement of differences between the two countries is possible.

He urged withdrawal of Nationalist members from the Parliament members from the Parliament of Northern Ireland and opening of an office in London to conduct propaganda seeking to force the North into the Free State.

Mr. Cosgrave issued a vigorous denial yesterday that his party was receiving financial assistance from the United Kingdom in its effort to win the election.

The Cumann na nGaedheal leader's statement was prompted by an article in a Fianna Fail (Republican) newspaper that "Britain is intriguing to get Mr. Cosgrave back into power."

In the same speech, his second in the campaign, Mr. Cosgrave undertook to restore Free State markets if his party were returned to power.

"I am not boasting," he declared, "when I say it is possible for a government with even less experience than mine to undertake to bring back the market to the farmers and to secure better prices for cattle and poultry within three days."

Mr. Cosgrave is making a strong bid for the farmer vote, apparently believing the hard times live stock raisers have experienced through operation of British tariffs on Irish farm products may have turned them against Mr. de Valera whose refusal to remit land annuities to the Bank of England prompted the United Kingdom to impose the duties.

He is understood to also to have a working agreement with the National Farmers' League, headed by Frank McDermott, to avoid splitting the Opposition vote.

SUDBURY PLANS WIDE ECONOMIES

Ratepayers Group Suggest Fewer Police, Firemen—Reorganize Relief.

SAVE CITY $70,000.

SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 6 (C.P.)—Economies, including salary cuts, which will produce a saving to the city of approximately $70,000 will be recommended to the City Council Monday by the McCormick and Ryan Ward Ratepayer's Association. After working for several weeks a committee of six leading Sudbury citizens have presented a detailed list of recommendations to the association, which was endorsed unanimously.

The report recommends reduction of the police force from 16 men to 10 men, and swearing in of 10 members of the Canadian Legion as deputy constables to serve in case of emergency; the reduction of the fire department from 17 to 10, and appointment of 10 voluntary firemen; closing of the sewage disposal plant, effecting an estimated saving of $1,000; complete re-organization of the relief department; cancellation of all municipal grants to non-charitable organizations; revision of the assessment of large concerns which have been receiving preferred treatment; elimination of all fees to city clerk and city treasurer; drastic reductions in the staff of the water and light department, the department of public works, and the clerical staff of the City Hall; and amalgamation of the building inspectors office and the assessment department, with complete re-organization.

Drastic reductions in salaries of all civic employes are advocated.

GIVEN 3 MONTHS ON FRAUD COUNT

Dan Young Pleaded Guilty to Receiving Relief By Fraud.

DESERTED WIFE.

Magistrate Langley intimated strongly to-day that anyone securing relief by false pretences will obtain little sympathy in his court. On such a charge he sentenced Dan Young alias Dan Wyatt, of Picton, to three months determinate and an additional three months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory.

Young pleaded guilty to a charge that during November and December he obtained $22 in relief orders here, after having represented that he, his wife and child had come here seven months ago from Oshawa. He admitted that the woman was not his wife and the child was not his and that he had come from Picton near the end of October.

Deserted Wife

The Crown showed by Young's record that he was a married man and had deserted his wife. He had been charged in Picton several years ago for non-support.

"I'll pay it all back," he said in pleading for leniency. "How?" asked the Magistrate. Young did not answer.

The woman in the case, Mrs. Bertha Norton, was charged under the Children's Protection Act with detaining and harbouring a child in the custody or control of the Children's Aid Society of Prince Edward County, a ward of the city after she

SIMPLE FUNERAL BEING PLANNED FOR COOLIDGE

President Hoover and Many Notables Will Attend Funeral on Saturday.

BURIED AT PLYMOUTH.

Lie Beside Father Who Swore Him in as 30th President.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., January 6 (C.P.). — Calvin Coolidge goes to his long rest to-morrow amid the austere hills of his native Vermont and the thoughts of a nation he led will follow the simple cortege.

The services will be as simple as the life he led.

That is the keynote of the funeral under preparation today for the 30th President of the United States — struck down yesterday by a heart attack that came swiftly and left him dead with an expression of peace on his face.

While expressions of mourning came from all over the world plans were laid for a funeral that, despite its unostentatious features, will be a notable one in the U.S. history.

President to Attend.

President Herbert Hoover will come from Washington for the services at 10.30 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) to-morrow at Edwards Congregational Church — the historic structure on Main Street named for Jonathan Edwards long ago.

Congressional leaders will come too, and groups of distinguished people from many cities—Washington, New York, Boston, and others. The choir in which Mrs. Coolidge has often sung will add its voices to

COLE BARRETT PASSED AWAY

Aged Citizen Passes Away in His 96th Year at Home of Daughter.

BORN IN ENGLAND.

Cole Barrett, oldest citizen of this district died last evening at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. P. J. Heaslip, 541 Gilmour street, city, in his 96th year.

Mr. Barrett who had been in failing health for some time past had lived until quite recently at 492 Murray street where he had resided since first coming to the city over half a century ago. At that time Murray street, acording to some of the reminiscences of the late Mr. Barrett which are now again brought to mind, was little more than a path through a Cedar grove.

Carried Grain to Canada

Born in Wells, Norfolk, England in the year 1837, Mr. Cole remained in his native land for some years before making the voyage to Canada in a sailing vessel. The boat was laden with grain, a reversal of present day conditions, and took several weeks to complete the passage.

On arriving in Peterborough, Mr. Barrett took up the carpenter trade and worked on the erection of such buildings as the Quaker Oats Limited; the Canadian General Electric Limited; the West Ward School (now the Albion Knitting Works); and St. Andrew's Church.

For some time he plied his trade as a carpenter, until accepting caretakership of the West Ward School and St. Andrew's Church, a position he held for twenty-eight years.

His father was Cole Barrett and his mother was Susannah Whitlock. Of a family of seven Mr. Barrett is the last member, the others having predeceased him.

He had been twice married and was the father of twelve children, ten of whom survive. They are: sons, George, Harry, Frank and daughter, Mrs. P. J. Heaslip, Mrs. G. Sanders, Mrs. B. Curtis, Mrs. William Chrow, all of Peterborough and Mrs. Harry Hook and Mrs. Hopkins of Toronto and Mrs. Parks of Detroit.

The funeral is to be held on Saturday at 2 o'clock p.m., from the late Mr. Barrett's residence, 492 Murray Street, with services conducted by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

TRUCK BURNED ON BLOCK ROAD

Henry Edwards, Young Keene Man, Suffers Loss by Simple Accident.

STONE FLIPPED BY FIRE.

A truck owned by Henry Edwards of Keene caught fire Wednesday on the "block road" near Joseph Porter's farm in Otonabee about seven miles from the city and was completely destroyed with its load of two cords of hardwood.

Flames suddenly shooting up through pedal holes in the floor board of the cab were the first warning to Mr. Edwards and his companion, Charles Elliott of Keene, of the fire, which was caused by a stone flipped by one of the tires and breaking the glass bowl on the fuel pump. Gasoline flowing out over the exhaust manifold was almost immediately ignited, and when Mr. Edwards lifted the hood over the engine a wave of flames blew up in his face.

With nearly eighteen gallons of gasoline in the tank the danger of an explosion became so apparent that Mr. Porter, who was quickly attracted to the blazing truck, advised Mr. Edwards not to run the risk of trying to unload the hardwood. In a short time the truck was enveloped in flames, and with its pile of wood burned with intense heat. Its total loss is a serious setback to Mr. Edwards. He bought the truck on October 5, replacing the old one with which he had built up a business that kept him steadily employed. On the day of the fire he was drawing wood for Shaw brothers of Otonabee. Both his hands were slightly burned.

With the asset of an established business behind him, it is hoped by Mr. Edwards' friends that he will soon resume his trucking service in the district.

King Presents Gifts Feast of Epiphany

By Thomas T Champion, C.P. Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 6 (C.P. Cable) — To-day being the feast of the epiphany, the King's gift of gold, Frankincense, and Myrrh were presented, according to the custom which has been maintained through many centuries, at the altar of Chapel Royal, St. James' Palace.

Holy communion was celebrated. Gentlemen ushers-in-waiting attended and presented the offerings.

With their escort of yeomen of the guards, the King's representatives, Lt. Col. Sir Arthur Bannerman and John Hanbury-Williams, walked up the aisle bearing the gifts in a case of scarlet leather. Three times on their way to the altar they stopped and genuflected, and, kneeling before the holy table, they placed the case on the golden salver.

PRATT RECEIVED $5,000 SALARY FOR 3 MONTHS

Accountant Claims Firm's Finaces Low Till "Industrial Centre" Sale.

NET RETURN $36,416.

Trial of Toronto Real Estate Head for Fraud is Continuing.

BARRIE, Ont., Jan. 6. (CP) — trial of William S. Pratt, head of a Toronto real estate organization, continued here to-day before Judge E. A. Wismar in county court. Pratt is facing a charge of fraud resulting from real estate operations in this district.

During the months of March, April and May, 1930, Pratt received a total salary of $5 000 from the firm, it was revealed at the first day of the trial yesterday. And for the two succeeding months, he was paid $1,500 per month.

The firm was in poor financial condition when the deal was made with Mrs. Ellen T. MacDougall for the sale of 1/90th interest in "Industrial Centre," the Mimico subdivision. W. S. Bank's bank account for the Ontario Security Commission testified to-day.

Acting on instructions from the Ontario Securities Commission he had made a thorough audit of the company's books in October, 1932, he said.

Bank Balance $14

His investigation had brought to a head the present charges against those connected with the company. On June 20, the bank balance of the company was about $14, while bills payable totalled nearly $5,000. No audit had ever been made and no auditor could have got the true position of the company.

Witness testified revenue from the sale of interests in "industrial centre" was $90,000, which was reduced to $83,648 by loss on securities taken in. Of this the Pratt company received all but $2,000 which went to retire a mortgage, the rest being made up as follows: $15,000 was paid on the property, $23,372 in commissions. Labor on the property had cost $1,098 and legal fees $762. Pratt and Company received a net return of $36,416.

Rumors Leak Out Convicts Planning Another Outbreak

New Warden Col. Megloughlin Takes Stand in Penitentiary Itself—Officials Refuse to Discuss Situation—Reluctant to Admit Newspapermen.

YAMMERING, SIGN OF TENSE ATMOSPHERE, IS HEARD AGAIN TO-DAY FROM CELL BLOCKS

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP)—The staff of Portsmouth penitentiary were reported "on guard" today following information to the effect another outbreak was scheduled for the penitentiary yesterday. Reports of a recurrence of rioting in Portsmouth penitentiary were heard today but no authoritative support was accorded them. Officials at the penitentiary seen today refused to discuss the matter.

Col. W. B. Megloughlin, new warden appointed following the riots of last October, was in the penitentiary itself this afternoon, it was learned, and the officials were reluctant to admit any newspapermen.

For some time, at fairly frequent intervals, the convicts have raised an uproar in their cells, characteristic "yammering" that indicated a tense atmosphere. The uproar was again heard today.

No support could be found however for the rumor that an actual breach of discipline had occurred.

Usual Work Halted

None of the usual prison work has gone on since the October outbreak. This is mainly due to the fact that the prison buildings are being gone over and various changes being put into effect in the light of the October experiences.

Approximately 100 of the prison's inmates are still in temporary quarters in the new building constructed for women prisoners.

Von Buelow Cleared By Canadian Police

MONTREAL, Jan. 6. — (C.P.)— The Canadian angle in the case of Enrique Von Buelow, charged in United States with possessing bogus currency, is cleared up so far as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are concerned, it was stated at headquarters here to-day.

Von Buelow was in Montreal a few days ago and went from here by plane to Newark, N.J., where he was arrested by United States' secret service operatives. The Mounted Police had already announced themselves satisfied Von Buelow had not attempted to pass spurious bank notes while he was in Canada.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 21.—Modern transportation has robbed our approach to ancient glories like Jerusalem and Rome of all the hallowing solemnity which our ancestors knew. If one comes to think of tempestuous Crusader armies suddenly drawing rein and standing breathless at their first glimpse of Jerusalem, and then compare their arrival to the latter day traveller's lot of being rushed into an ugly railway station or being driven along bumpy roads in auto-cars with doubtful springs so that the brain has all it can do to record series of vast seismographic

Wrong Guess

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (A.P.)—As the police tell it, Thomas Bolger, had the right idea but the wrong technique.

He is accused of being in the tailoring establishment of Samuel Green when Mr. and Mrs. Green were asleep. It seems he stubbed his toe, awakening Mrs. Green, who said:

"Tommy! Tommy! Get back in your box."

"Meeeoow — meeeoow" said Bolger, who is a fast thinker.

When police came in response to Mrs. Green's telephone call Bolger learned that he should have said "bow-wow." Mrs. Green's Tommy isn't a cat. It's a wire-haired terrier.

RECOUNT SOUGHT

MASS MEETINGS URGED BY U. F. O.

All Clubs Are Asked to Protest Against Action of Government.

"DARE THEY DO IT."

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (C.P.)—Headquarters of the United Farmers of Ontario to-day issued an official request to 500 U.F.O. organizations throughout the province to call mass meetings at the earliest opportunity in protest against Premier R. B Bennett's reported refusal to aid consummation of the Russian oil- Canadian cattle barter.

"It is reported from Ottawa this morning our Federal Government intends to turn down the proposal for an exchange of Canadian cattle and hides for Russian coal and oil," the manifesto declares "Dare they do it? If they do, a storm of protest from the farm people of Canada should be so pronounced as to make them fear the consequences.

'Here is a great oportunity for the Canadian Government to do something to help our agricultural industry which is already impoverished to the danger line. It is apparently a practical and fair exchange proposal which would be of mutual advantage to the people of two nations. Not only does it mean so much to our sorely distressed rural population, but, the return of purchasing power which the market for cattle and hides would bring would give new life to our stagnated industrial machine all along the line."

ERNEST F. REID IS ELECTED HEAD SCHOOL BOARD

New Chaairman Has Served Eight Years on Board of Education.

COMMITTEES STRUCK.

V. J. McElderry, K.C., is Separate School Board Representative.

Entering upon his ninth year of public service as a member of Peterborough Board of Education, E. F. Reid was last evening elected to the chairmanship of that body for the ensuing year, at the inaugural meeting held at the Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Reid was re-elected for a term of two years, taking second place at the polls on Monday night last with 2,372 votes as compared with Dr. A. Moir's vote of 3,128 in first place in a field of seven candidates.

J. A. McKone who ran third in the election took the seat on the new board that had been vacated by James Dutton. A past chairman of the Board of Education, Mr. McKone was welcomed back after an interval of some years.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., was also accorded an enthusiastic welcome as representative of the Separate School Board to the Board of Education, for 1933-34. It is the first time in many years since the Separate School Board have exercised the right of representation, the last representative having been J. J. Duffus shortly after he vacated his office as Mayor.

"No one is better pleased than myself," he said, "to see Mr. McElderry sit at this table as a member of the Board of Education.

Remarking that his firm had held the position as solicitors to the Board of Education for twenty-seven years, Mr. Peck exclaimed that the appointment of Mr. McElderry had slightly changed the position of affairs, in so much as it would be improper for his firm to continue to draw remuneration for any

3 BOYS DROWN RESCUING GIRL

Youths Push Young Skater to Safety But Fail to Get Out Themselves.

ICE GIVES WAY.

ADDISON, Vermont, Jan. 6 (A.P.) —Three boys were drowned in Dead Creek yesterday, after they had pushed to safety a 10-year-old girl who had broken through thin ice while skating.

The dead were Robert Dickerson, 15; Donald Lattrell, 16, and Samuel Jacobs, 19. The girl was Ruby Dickerson, a sister of one of the victims.

The three were unable to climb on the ice shelf to which they had pushed the girl. Their bodies were found in ten feet of water.

The four had been skating for more than an hour when Ruby crashed through. As the three boys, brought to the edge of the hole by her cries, reached for the girl, the ice cracked beneath their weight.

They managed to push her to safety and she ran for help, but the youths were drowned before assistance arrived.

The first pair of all steel ice skates was made by E. W. Bushnell of Philadelphia in 1850 and sold for $30.

SOVIET - CANADA OIL-CATTLE DEAL DEFINITELY OFF

Scheme is Ruled Out, as Too Grotesque for Consideration of Government.

NO GUARANTEE OF LOAN.

Premier Bennett to Make Official Statement on Matter To-day.

OTTAWA, January 6. — The Soviet oil-Canadian cattle barter is off. As forecast last Saturday, the scheme was so grotesque the Dominion Government could not entertain it. An official statement will be issued by the Prime Minister to-day briefly outlining the plan which was proposed by the Winnipeg promoters, and it will then be apparent to intelligent people why the Government could not seriously consider it.

Hostile Press Hears First.

The proposal of the Winnipeg syndicate did not come before the Cabinet until the last few days, and favorable consideration of it was not forwarded by the fact that the promoters communicated the details of it to journalistic friends before even the Prime Minister was informed about it. It so happened that these correspondents represented newspapers which are hostile to the Bennett Government, and they began to exploit the story, apparently in the hope of bringing pressure to bear upon the Government and embarrassing the Prime Minister, who had taken a firm stand at the Imperial Economic Conference against unfair competition from the Soviet Republic.

Misleading cable despatches were sent to England, and Mr. Bennett was vigorously assailed both in Britain and Canada by editorial writers, who wrongly assumed that the Canadian Prime Minister had retreated from the stand he took at the Ottawa Conference.

It is understood the proposal is rejected on several grounds, but chiefly because the promoters were asking the Government to finance the transaction, to guarantee the Canadian banks participating in it against loss and to back the Soviet Government's bonds.

Another objectionable feature was that Russian coal was to be shipped to Canada in competition with Scotch and Welsh coal, which would be a violation of the new trade agreement between this country and the United Kingdom.

Moreover, if Soviet oil importations were to be permitted, the question arose as to what company or companies were to distribute it in Canada. The Canadian oil companies presumably have their sources of supply and could not be expected to neglect their own interests in order to promote the sale of Russian oil.

WOODEN MONEY EASY TO SELL

Washington Town Swamped With Requests for Scrip Issued to Prevent Crash.

$2.50 FOR 25 CENT PIECES.

TENINO, Wash., Jan. 6 (A.P.)—Tenino wishes it had issued some wooden nickels. They now would be worth 50 cents each. Collectors are paying $2.50 for the town's wooden 25-cent pieces.

C. S. Argo, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Don H. Major, trustee, said to-day they were swamped with requests for samples of the wooden scrip, issued by the chamber to forestall Tenino's financial collapse when the only bank failed.

When Tenino went back on the gold standard, after redemption recently of the largest of the monthly issues of "crosscut currency it found the wooden money had attracted real United States money into the town—so much that Tenino is getting along very nicely in a financial way.

Nobody seems to want to redeem the spruce "spondulicks" as the issues become due.

TOO MUCH TEA IN HOLLYWOOD, SAYS BUSHMAN

THEY EAT TOO MUCH and drink tea often," said Francis X. Bushman, screen idol of a decade or so ago, concerning the British motion picture industry. Mr. Bushman is in Windsor in connection with a suit for damages over an automobile accident.

"Gloria Swanson, Esther Ralston and myself almost had hysteria over this tea business," he added. "Everyone would be at the studio by eight or 8.30 in the morning. They lingered over breakfast until about 10.30 and then would shoot a scene. Noon luncheon lasted till nearly two, and another half hour would be lost for a pot of tea about 4.30 and then about six there would be dinner and as a result we would work till nearly midnight to get everything done. Next day everyone was so tired they could not do their best work."

Mr. Bushman worked on a picture last summer in a studio near London. He said the studios in England are all well equipped and modern, but do not have highly trained technicians.

TWO LEADING LADIES IN NEW BARTHELMESS FILM

PRETTY DOROTHY JORDAN is one-half of the new fashion in leading ladies, Bette Davis being the other half. The new fashion is two leading ladies for the hero of the story, if Richard Barthelmess' latest starring feature for First National, "The Cabin in the Cotton," which comes to the Capitol screen next Monday, is to be a criterion. Barthelmess finally was able to fulfill a long denied wish, which immediately followed completion of this picture. He took time out to do a thing he always has wanted to do, and that is, take his two children for a walking tour of the Black Forest region of the Rhine river in Germany. He spent three weeks on the hike.

LILLIAN BOND was the queen of the London musical stage before heeding the call of Hollywood and the movies. WRITING A MOST LONESOME BUSINESS

WRITING is the most lonesome business in the world, according to Austin Parker, one of America's leading short-story authors. The loneliness of writing keeps many a promising author from developing into a leading figure and also brings about the decline of many a literary notable, Parker holds.

Pity the Poor Author Whose Cheques are Frequent and Fat.

Parker contends that an author shuts himself away from the world with pencil, paper and typewriter. At first he doesn't mind, but soon the lack of contact with people begins to wear him down. He sends his stories to a literary agent by mail and perhaps he will get a cheque. After weeks and months and years of seclusion he either becomes a hermit whose lack of human contact prevents him from absorbing any new ideas, or lonesomeness forces him back into the world, in which case he also stops writing.

He Would Rather Be a Newspaper Reporter

Parker says that, although he has sold more than 100 stories to the leading magazines, he is quite ready to return to newspaper reporting just for a chance to meet people—and to be bawled out by the city editor. "But I was given an opportunity to write for the screen," he says, "and I like it so well that I haven't written a short story in two years." He believes that there is nothing lonely about a screen writer's life because of its constant human contacts, and he hopes that his stay in Hollywood will be a long one.

BEHIND THE SCENES

AS THE NEW YEAR gets under way, you'll see more and more names crowded into pictures. Consider the list that Paramount promises for "Dead Reckoning," a sea-going mystery that is scheduled for production in February.

Wynne Gibson

Wynne Gibson, Richard Arlen, Cary Grant, Ricardo Cortez, Richard Bennett, Carole Lombard, Sari Maritza—all these are mentioned for parts. I have an idea that Ric Cortez may do "Police Surgeon" instead, but even half of these names would have been considered ample a couple of years back.

"Eagle and the Hawk" will be another Paramount special, and "Lives of a Bengal Lancer" still another.

LEW AYRES ONCE BANJOIST IN TIA JUANA "HONKY TONK"

IN HIS YOUNGER DAYS Lew Ayres left the University of Arizona to play the banjo in an orchestra, and for several years thereafter played in various dance bands in the "honky tonks" of Tia Juana, Mexicali and other roaring towns along the Mexican border, later becoming a member of orchestras playing at the famous Cocoanut Grove and other Los Angeles cafes. Ayres is appearing on the screen of the Regent Theatre next week in "Okay America" the Universal newspaper drama which stars him as a broadway columnist on a New York daily. Maureen O'Sullivan plays opposite.

IN REAL LIFE, Dorothy Jordan has a charming Southern accent, having been born and raised in Tennessee.

But this pronounced accent from below the Mason and Dixon line never interferes with Miss Jordan's reading of dialogue in roles where she is not called upon to impersonate a Southern woman. She plays a New England heiress in Columbia's football film, "That's My Boy," featuring Richard Cromwell, Mae Marsh, Lucien Littlefield, Robert Warwick, Douglas Dumbrille, Leon Waycoff, Russell Saunders, "Dutch" Hendrian and others. It is showing at the Regent the end of next week.

OTTAWA TAKES STAND AGAINST HENRY SCHEME

Dominion Ready to Share Jobless Insurance Cost, Not Carry It.

CONFERENCE ISSUE.

Hopes For Actuality in 1933 Dissipated if Attitude Maintained Say Experts.

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—The Federal Government has no present intention of accepting Ontario's attitude that "insofar as governments are concerned, the costs of any contributory unemployment insurance arrangement that may evolve from the (this month's interprovincial) parley, should be primarily and purely a Federal responsibility."

The words quoted, as representing Premier Henry's position before the Ontario executive of the Trades and Labor Congress, caused some consternation on Parliament Hill yesterday, more particularly as they are believed to embody the position other provinces will take.

If that attitude is mainained, it is forecast in official circles, hopes have been entertained that unemployment insurance might become an actuality in 1933 are dissipated.

Despite the millions the Federal Government has spent directly and by way of loans to provinces and municipalities, the ministry and practically the whole House of Commons have never failed to reiterate the principle that unemployment is first a municipal and secondarily a provincial obligation and one not affecting the Dominion until it is beyond the power of the two first authorities to deal with it.

In the matter of unemployment insurance the same principle is held to be involved while the control of industry remains within the provinces, and more particularly while the provinces of Ontario and Quebec continue to demand the fullest scope in control of insurance within their confines.

Share Load, Not Carry It

In view of the position taken by the present Government with respect to old age pensions, of which the Dominion now absorbs 75 per cent. of the cost, it was reasonably anticipated that a measure of the burden in any unemployment insurance scheme would be lifted from the provinces by the Dominion. That it will assume the entire load and thereby put itself in the position of having to create and maintain the machinery for the operation of such an insurance scheme is declared to be out of bounds.

LIBERALS PLAN EARLY MEETING

First Anniversary of Central Ontario Organization Will Be Featured.

AT COBOURG JAN. 16

Plans for a meeting of the Central Ontario Liberal Association probably at Cobourg about the middle of January are announced by J. J Duffus, president.

The association was organized just a year ago at Cobourg, and although the annual meeting will not be held until early next summer it has been felt that the first anniversary should be commemorated by a re-union which will survey the progress of the year and enable members to present suggestions for the future.

Mr. Duffus said that the executive hoped to see a large attendance from the southern ridings of the association whose territory extends as far north as Muskoka. The date of the meeting will probably be on Monday, January 16, at Cobourg, the nearest possible date to the anniversary which is January 15.

At that meeting a year ago, W. H. Moore, M.P., strongly advised the Liberal party to go directly to the people for inspiration and helpful ideas, and for the revivifying of the Liberal spirits and its contact with the public.

To that end various meetings have been held throughout the district, and the call that is now going out will undoubtedly give every Liberal who attends a full opportunity to discuss certain political cross-winds that have blown up during the last few months, economic questions and any other matters which may be put forth.

Mr. Duffus stated today that as president he felt his first duty was to the rank and file of the party in Central Ontario, and in suggesting this meeting he hoped that there would be a large response from the people by their attendance.

Details as to special speakers and other arrangements will be announced later.

Shooting Bobcats New Quebec Trade

MONTREAL, January 6. — For years bobcats have been one of the pet aversions of the State of Maine. They worry sheep, it appears, and indulge in other unnecessary practices, the result being that residents of Maine who turn over bobcat tails to the proper state authorities get $20 each for them.

But the boun y offer was made years ago and bobcats are getting scarce in Maine. They are plentiful across the border in Quebec, however, and a visitor from Maine yesterday informed a Montreal newshawk that the Maine-Quebec traffic in bobcat tails is quite prosperous.

Everybody is pleased. The man who shoots the cat in Quebec gets $5, the Maine men get $15, and the State has the tails.

CHINO-JAPANESE SCRAP RENEWED

Troops Face Each Other Across Tashih River—Both Send Reinforcements.

MOVE ON PEIPING FEARED.

(By Morris J. Harris, C.P. Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, January 6 (C.P.). —Two days of quiet on the Shan-Haikwan battle front was broken to-day with a renewal of hostilities between Chinese and Japanese forces.

Rifle fire broke out on the battle line extending from one mile west of Shanhaikwan to near the limits of the city of Chinwangtao, the seaport which is several miles south-west of Shanhaikwan. The opposing troops faced each other from opposite banks of the Tashih River.

Driven from the walled city of Shanhaikwan, China's northern railway exit, the Chinese were reported bringing up reinforcements Tientsin on the railroad which passes through Chaingwangtao. Japanese warships were gathering in the Chinwangtao Harbor, and to-day additional Japanese troops and ammunition were reported brought into Shunhaikwan from Manchuria.

Further operations on the scale of the three-day bombardment and street battle for possession of Shanhaikwan early this week were believed indicated by the troop concentrations.

Chinese officials at Nanking professed to believe the Japanese Government's announced policy to "localize" the Shanhaikwan incident, was a "smoke screen," and they feared the Japanese would push along the railroad leading to Tientsin and Peiping, or else begin their long-predicted drive north-westward into Jehol in a campaign to add that province to Manchukuo, the Japanese-sponsored Manchurian state.

BETTY COMPSON GAGGED, ROBBED

Actress Surprised as She Plays Cards With Ex-Manager in Her Home.

$50,000 IN JEWELS TAKEN.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 6. —(AP)—Police last night reported a bandit disguised as a messenger carrier gained entrance to the palatial Hollywood home of Betty Compson, screen actress, and escaped with jewelry valued at between $50,000 and $60,000. The actress and E. D. Leshin, her ex-production manager, with whom she was playing cards, were both bound and gagged.

Miss Compson was sitting in the living room of her home with Leshin when the door bell rang. She answered it and saw a man dressed in the uniform of a messenger boy, holding a yellow envelope in his hand.

The man pushed his way through the door, drew a revolver and said "This is a stickup. I know my business and if you make any squak I'll burn you both down."

He then marched both Miss Compson and Leshin to the upstairs bedroom of the actress where he bound Leshin's hand and feet with piano wire and taped his mouth.

This completed, he turned to Miss Compson and began to bind her hands and feet also. Before taping her mouth, however, he forced her to tell him where she kept her jewelry, threatening to kill her outright if she refused to comply. She told him.

The robber then taped her mouth, located the valuables and fled.

Miss Compson was able to free herself 15 minutes later. She untied Leshin and they notified police.

INCOME TAXES BOOSTED BY U.S.

New Rates Will Tax All Unmarried Men and Women With $1,000 or More.

EQUAL WAR-TIME LEVIES.

WASHINGTON, January 6 (C.P.). —The new income tax rates decided on by President-elect Roosevelt and Democratic Congressional leaders on their conference last night, equal the wartime levies, highest ever imposed by the United States.

They start from a basis two per cent. higher than the rates in force this year, which in turn are much stiffer than any paid since the 1921 revenue law was supplanted.

The drop in exemptions, which will tax all unmarried men and women with $1,000 or more, and all married earners receiving $2,000 or more, compare with exemptions of $1,000 and $2,500 in force this year, and $1,500 and $2,500 on the taxes paid during 1932.

The program now to be attempted—six per cent. on the first $4,000 of income and 12 per cent. above that, plus a graduated surtax on incomes of $6,000 or more — was strongly advocated in the Senate last session by Republican Couzens of Michigan, but despite considerable support was defeated in favor of four and eight per cent., with the same surtax.

HINT HERTZOG ABOUT TO QUIT

Roos Gains Popularity as Fresh Government Crisis Nears.

BACKED BY SMUTS.

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Jan. 6 (C.P. Cable).—There is a growing belief that J. B. M. Hertzog's government will not face Parliament again but will resign next week. The political situation is growing hourly more acute and it is generally anticipated that another governmental crisis is imminent.

The popularity of the former member of the Nationalist Government, Tielman Roos, who resigned his Supreme Court Judgeship to re-enter politics, is rapidly increasing. His plans to form a coalition government, with the aid of General Jan Christian Smuts, leader of the South African Party, have proceeded in definite style.

His ranks of supporters have swelled and his speeches have received tremendous ovations. After his magnificent receptions at Johannesburg and Pretoria, the man who intends to become Prime Minister at the head of a powerful coalition party, is now speeding towards Cape Town where he is assured a great welcome this afternoon.

Defeat Held Certain

Should the National Government determine to face Parliament, however, its defeat is believed inevitable. Conservative estimates give eight defections from the ranks of the National Party, and this would convert the Government's majority of 14 into a minority of two.

This minority would exist whether or not the efforts to form a coalition are successful. Partisans of Roos, however, claim they will have 14 supporters among the ranks of the government should the coalition negotiations succeed. This state of apparent inevitable defeat is expected to cause Mr. Hertzog to resign, with his party, and go to the country immediately.

The rapproachment between Mr. Roos and the South African party is now almost complete. General Smuts had a meeting with Mr. Roos yesterday which concluded in a most cordial atmosphere. The venerable General and former Prime Minister is reported to have said he was "prepared to serve with or under any man capable of saving the Union of South Africa from its present desperate position."

CELLAR YIELDS ALCOHOL TANK

Four Officers Labor Over Hour Before Getting Through Floor.

ONE ARREST MADE.

TORONTO, January 6. — Armed with pickaxes, four policemen labored lustily for an hour and a half in the cellar of a house on Adelaide Street West last evening, to break through a three-inch cement flooring which covered a huge copper underground tank, half-filled with alcohol.

After they had unearthed the tank, and taken possession of an imposing array of bottles, cans, and a siphoning outfit, they arrested William Jackson, 56, claimed by the police to be the biggest bootlegger south of Queen Street, on a charge of illegally possessing alcohol.

Detectives Sidney Wilson and Fred Coulson had been watching Jackson's house, and last night when a woman walked out with a bottle under her coat, they arrested her on a charge of B.L.C.A., and proceeded with their innvestigation.

Inside the house they searched high and low. In the cellar, they noted two large wine casks containing a total of 80 gallons. But rising above the smell of wine, was the more potent one of alcohol.

The detectives shifted the wine casks, and noted a small aperture in the floor. Scenting game, they telephoned Claremont Police Station. Two constables were called in from the beat to assist them. With pickaxes they labored away.

When the flooring was broken away, the police had the tank and other apparatus removed to the station.

Unemployed Figures Improve in Britain

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(C.P. Cable.) —Employment is improving in England. The number of registered unemployed decreased by 76,519 between Nov. 11 and Dec. 19. The increase is credited to the usual seasonal improvement but in several lines of work activity has increased.

More employment is reported in coal mining, iron and steel industries, general engineering, cotton and jute trades, tailoring, bleaching and dyeing, finishing works, distributive trades and hotel and boarding house services.

Less employment is reported in building jobs, public works contracting, pottery, boot and shoe industries, hosiery manufacturers and the woollen and worsted industry.

68,000 ACRES FLOODED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 6 (A.P.) —Valley dwellers where the St. Francis River separates Northeastern Arkansas from Southeastern Missouri scurried for higher ground to-day as flood waters poured through five levee breaks and gushed over some 68,000 acres of low-lands.

"SILENT CAL" IS GONE.

Many a politician the world over could take a useful lesson from the public career of the late Calvin Coolidge, ex-President of the United States, whose sudden death occurred yesterday.

Mr. Coolidge proved the old motto that silence is golden.

He never got into trouble by talking too much; on the contrary, by keeping his lips tightly closed he gained a permanent reputation for political sagacity and sound judgment that lasted throughout all his days in the White House.

Beginning public life as a member of the Town Council of Northampton, Mr. Coolidge steadily climbed into prominence.

It was not long before he was elected as senator and to the presidency of the Senate, a promotion he accepted in a speech of exactly 42 words that became a classic in New England politics. Two of the phrases he used in that memorable address, "Do the day's work" and "Be brief," became his creed of public service.

As President, Mr. Coolidge early established for himself the reputation of being a man of high integrity, who insisted strongly on honesty in government and who possessed a keen judgment that enabled him to see through a given situation to the fundamental basis.

He was not one of the greatest of the United States Presidents, but he had many good qualities that served him well, and not the least of these was his disinclination to make long speeches, a virtue that might well be emulated by statesmen everywhere.

WHY AN OPINION?

Has the average reader any idea how editorial opinions are formed in the newspaper?

There is one fact which might be pointed out and stressed, editorial opinions on subjects particularly of acute local interest are never the product of one mind, but several.

An editorial opinion represents the news behind the news. Editorials represent, with the full imprimatur of the newspaper proprietor, the well considered consensus of opinion of many. By and large, they are arrived at, after consultative process, in similar manner as a lawyer will consult his books. A newspaper consults people, whom it knows to have a representatively impartial view of men and events.

In other words, an editorial tries to be highly judicial toward all things and events, as well as men, and it does so for this basic reason, public welfare without which any newspaper, with its large investment, would soon perish.

The idea of trying to force personal views on the public is as out of date with the modern newspaper as the old-time hand propelled press.

An editorial is the voice of the policy of the newspaper. Its high aim is to be the voice of the people. Sometimes it is wrong; more often right.—St. Catharines Standard.

THE CANADIAN ALMANAC.

There is no sign of depression in the Canadian Almanac, the 1933 edition of which has just been issued.

This annual publication, which contains in concise form a wealth of timely and accurate information in regard to Canadian institutions, is bigger than ever, the current number containing over 600 pages.

No annual book available to the public offers so vast amount of data about the Federal Parliament, the Provincial Legislatures and the legal, commercial, statistical, ecclesiastical and educational life of this country; the Canadian Almanac does not stop at that, however, for its pages contain much more information about Canada.

A large amount of research work as well as of accurate checking must be necessary in the preparation of such a volume, and it is a fortunate thing for newspaper men, politicians and business, financial and industrial executives that a publication of this kind, brought up to date each year, is always at hand for ready reference.

The editors of the Almanac make a fine job of a very difficult task, and they are to be congratulated upon the success that attains their efforts.

ATTACKING THE RADIO LICENSE.

Up in Windsor there is a lawyer who has decided to tilt a lance with the Federal Government over the question of whether or not the Dominion authorities have the right to impose and collect a radio license fee.

This doughty solicitor has been summoned to police court for non-payment of the annual fee for the operation of a radio in his home, but declares that he has not the slightest intention of paying it.

"I did not pay for a radio license," he declares. "I am not going to pay. I submit they can't collect it either. I do not believe the tax is constitutional."

It is to be imagined there will be a great deal of interest in the outcome of this Windsor case.

If it should develop that the Windsor man can establish his point before a higher court, the validity of the federal radio license system, which is largely counted upon to finance the operations of the Federal Radio Commission, will be upset and the public will be freed of the obligation of paying the annual charge.

It is not likely, however, that his stand will be successful, for the federal authorities no doubt made sure of their ground before imposing the license which has been collected for a number of years and has not been effectively contested by anybody.

Peterborough's relief bill is growing. It should be apparent to every one that the funds must be supplemented by those who are most able to pay.

RETRENCHMENT NECESSARY.

The Examiner is satisfied that the members of this year's Council recognize the absolute necessity of a policy of rigid economy, and that every effort will be made to scale down the appropriations of the various departments.

During the past year expenditures were tightly curbed, but in the face of the present situation, it may be necessary to go even further and to scrutinize every item with a view to its being reduced or even eliminated.

As a community indeed we will have to do as most of us as individual citizens have been compelled to do, that is to bring our expenditures within the scope of a lessened income.

Anything savoring of luxury must be cut out for the time being; in fact, it may even be necessary to curtail expenditures on what are more or less routine services.

A considerable portion of last year's taxes—smaller, thank goodness, than that in a good many other places, but large enough to be serious—remains to be collected; there is no reason to suppose that we will be able to collect any more this year, and it is imperative, therefore, that our whole scheme of public expenditure should be revised.

Every chairman must go over his estimates most carefully with a view not to seeing how much he can get sanctioned by the whole Council, but rather how little his department can get by on during the present year.

No half-hearted attempt to economize will fill the bill; the axe must be swung vigorously all along the line.

CANADIANS OWN CANADA.

The Catholic School Commission of Montreal has found a divergence of opinion on who owns Canada. When the question, "Who Owns Canada" was asked in the ordinary school examinations last term, a number of pupils replied: "The King of England."

Only 13 per cent. of the boys and girls answered, "Canadians Own Canada."

There is a poser for the teachers. According to the Statute of Westminster, 1931, the following is laid down:

"No Act of Parliament of the United Kingdom, passed after the commencement of this Act, shall extend, or be deemed to extend, to a Dominion as part of the law of that Dominion, unless it is expressly declared in that Act that that Dominion has requested, and consented to, the enactment thereof."

"Notwithstanding anything in the Interpretation Act, 1889, the expression 'colony' shall not in any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom, passed after the commencement of this Act, include a Dominion or any Province or State forming part of a Dominion."

Much technical controversy can be held over the question. But it should be impressed on the pupils that Canadians do own Canada. They should be told that Canada is a Dominion, and as such is an equal partner in the British Commonwealth of Nations. Canada is an independent Dominion governed by Canadians for Canadians.—Border Cities Star.

CANDID U. S. CANADIAN.

A Canadian by birth, A. L. Burt, professor of history at the University of Minnesota, became the candid friend in a recent address in Toronto, and sought to belittle the trade pacts formulated at the Imperial Economic Conference in Ottawa. Professor Burt declared that Canada was so very much tied to the United States that it would be found impossible to weld the dominions into a great Empire Zollverein or customs union. He regarded the pacts more "a gigantic bluff" than a serious threat to form an Empire trade merger.

One would gather from the outspoken professor that the Empire was scheming to shut out all foreign trade. Those who were responsible for the trade pacts know that to attempt this would be to make the Empire ridiculous, and Prof. Burt is making himself ridiculous by his inference. The purpose of the Imperial Conference was to increase trade among the different members of the Empire, to buy and sell as much as possible within its confines. No Canadian, whether expatriated or not, can quarrel with this purpose, for there can be nothing more natural than that members of the great Imperial family should seek to help one another in the matter of trade.

Having lived for some years in the native haunts of the original bluffer, Prof. Burt may, perhaps, be pardoned for terming the pacts "a gigantic bluff," but anyone who knows anything of the earnestness, the thoughtfulness, the conciliation and the common loyalty that animated the conference will regard his words as undignified and unfair. The trade pacts were neither a bluff nor a defi to the world. They were designed to promote the mutual prosperity of the Empire and to emphasize the necessity of an adjustment of the world's tariffs.

Prof. Burt further displays his refreshing Canadianism by declaring that "Canada can't turn her back on the United States and live," and that "Canada is bound to the United States in a great American marriage without any chance of a divorce." Rather sentimental language for a Canadian, yes, and nonsensical. Canada has no intention of turning her back on the United States, or of discontinuing the relations, not marital, but neighborly, which have existed for so many years. Prof. Burt has forgotten that in the "great American marriage," to which he refers, Uncle Sam slammed the door in the face of his fair Canadian partner by raising his tariff to such an extent that her exports to the United States were greatly reduced and she was forced to seek markets elsewhere. We believe that the U.S. high tariffs had something to do with the Empire trade pacts.

Prof. Burt made his speech in the wrong country. He should have delivered it in the United States, where it might have cheered up those who fear that the Empire trade pacts will result in the diversion of considerable trade from the United States.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The sudden death of ex-President Calvin Coolidge removes a familiar figure from the American political stage.

The 2nd Battalion Association of Canada has established affiliations with the 2nd Battalion of the Australian Imperial Force. This gesture of Empire friendship will be appreciated by all former members of both units.

Senator Borah proposes currency inflation as a cure for the economic ills of the United States. Nostrums are by no means confined to Canada, it would seem.

A FARMERETTE'S WARNING

Otonabee, January 6.

Dear Editor:

I believe that the press is justified in opposing this new C.C.F. movement and if the farmers link up with it, it will be to their sorrow. The avowed ambition of the leader is to be Premier of Canada—not, mark you, to do something for labor and agriculture, but a purely selfish ambition. Are we to be made tools of his trade? How can anyone have respect for the opinions of a man who says that the manufacturers could start a boom by doubling wages? Carry it a little farther and let the farmers double the wages they are paying, in fact we might as well have a real good time and let everyone draw double pay. One is as sensible as the other.

Farmers, you have howled for lower tariffs and freer trade and how did you support the lowest tariff that was ever offered? Agriculture did not support it, either here or in the west, and they are now getting what they voted for. Now we are told that both old parties are slaves to the capitalist system, they are both alike, and see the state into which they have brought the country. How quickly we forget the unlimited prosperity we enjoyed under the previous government (and the capitalist system, according to the agitators). I am not trying to put up an argument for any system, but if it gets the blame for one it ought to get the credit for the other. If the farmers support this new movement they are only injuring themselves. It will result in three-cornered contests and the candidate of the present government will slip in and we will be the same as we are now.

Labor and agriculture have had the chance of supporting each other and labor fell down. Take our local case. Away back at the time the Drury Government was elected a Farmer-Labor candidate was elected in Peterboro (Mr. Tooms). The farmer voted for him. But what happened when a Federal by-election came along a little while later. The farmers nominated their man (Mr. J. C. Campbell) and did labor give him any support? They put their own man in the field against ours. No co-operation there.

Have you ever considered how much like sheep we are? Back about 1929 we were getting a good fair price for our produce—fair to the producer and the consumer—and it would look like a fortune to us now. But along comes the wily politician and tells us we should be getting much more, five cents more for our butter, and so forth and that "agriculture was so sadly neglected." Oh, for some more of that kind of neglect! What we needed was some tariff protection and we were so petted and pitied that we began to feel sorry for ourselves. Why do we always have to be led around? Surely we have enough plain gumption to decide what is best for ourselves without being used as tools for anyone or any party. There is no more influential organization in Canada than the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, but do they send representatives to Parliament as such? They do not but they are organized and the government listens when they play the tune. What percentage of our population is engaged in agriculture?? About forty, isn't it? Couldn't we speak with a loud voice if we all spoke together? And we don't need to form a new party to do it. So, farmers, don't be too ready to snap at the gaudy fly. We don't question Miss Macphail's sincere desire to do something for agriculture by her method of doing it is open to doubt. And just because a few hundred farmers attended the annual convention and listened to a few convincing speakers, is no sign that all the farmers are going to be so weak-kneed as to follow their example.

Who's Who in Ottawa

By CHARLES ROSS, Jr.

HON. J. L. RALSTON

One of the furthest travelled Ottawa members, an ex-soldier who once had the "higher-ups" tossing head or tail whether to courtmartial him or confer on him the Victoria Cross, a paladin who has been "downed" in more political battles than he won, but who has always come up smiling and with no hard feelings, an administrator who is also a worker, and a genial, popular, approachable citizen—that, in a nutshell, is Colonel the Hon. J. L. Ralston, C.M.G., D.S.O. and Bar, former minister of national defence and one of the chief lieutenants of W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition. He is a Bluenose; and one has not to get acquainted with him long to know it, because for the last seven years he has been performing the sacred task in Ottawa and elsewhere of putting the maritime provinces on the map and of battling robustly for recognition of their claims. Colonel Ralton is a lawyer, having gravitated towards that walk of life after leaving the public schools of his home town of Amherst. Admitted to the Nova Scotia bar in 1908, he practised for a while in his native town and then removed to Halifax. The natural ambition of capable and patriotic young Nova Scotians of 27 years of age is to sway the multitudes with fiery oratory, to invoke the shades of Joseph Howe, and fly on the wings of eloquence into the province House at Halifax. Young Ralston embarked—but ran on the shoals. Four years later he gained a provincial seat. In the war he saw action with the 85th, rising from rank of captain to battalion commander, gathering on his way three decorations, several mentions in dispatches and four wounds. He missed both the Victoria cross and a court martial when brass hats foregathered to pronounce on the spectacle of a battalion commander rescuing his wounded under fire. As a compromise he was made commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. His chief parliamentary triumph as minister was his handling of the Duncan report. In opposition he flays in pungent periods financial policy of the government. He can always gather an audience. He is a worker. A Rotarian, good fellow, and a driving force in any branch of endeavor to which he decides to devote his talents.

WANTING TO BE HAPPY

The most pathetic people are the ones who Want to Be Happy.

I mean the one who talk so much about being happy, who think they have a right to be happy, who search life over for happiness.... All the time. Every day. Constantly looking for happiness....As if it were a four leaf clover or a lost five dollar bill or a child that has wandered away from them in a department store and is crying out its heart in fear somewhere and will run to them with tears on its cheeks and cling to them desperately out of joyous relief when it is found at last.

I mean those people who think Life a game of hide-and-seek and they are It and Happiness is hiding somewhere and will come gladly when they give up their search and cry, "Allie, allie, outs in free!"

You know those people when you meet them. They have sad faces. Their eyes are a little haggard. The corners of their mouths droop pathetically. They rarely smile... They are looking for happiness, but they do not know it when they find it. How could they find it—when they think happiness is gold in a crevice, or precious underground water to be found with a forked stick, or that lost child in the store??

Because if happiness is anywhere it is surely not somewhere else than here. It is not lost beyond the mountains, or sleeping in a magic palace that is guarded by a dragon, no dreaming princess, no magical flower.

Instead, happiness must be something within us, inside of people. It must be that, because again and again you have found it in people who have no "logical" right to be happy—and you have missed it in mournful souls who have everything that is supposed to make for happiness. It is an arrangement, an adjustment of ourselves. It is a willingness to accept, an eagerness to enjoy, a courage to endure the life that is ours.

And when you WANT to be happy and INSIST on being happy, you break down that adjustment and destroy the very treasure you are seeking. And you know that it is true because, if you look back to the moments when you are happiest, your memory will tell you they were those times when you did not know you were happy but were living most completely.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 9

Jere Kane continued his study of the room. Once he paused to ask Holmes: "Where was Miss LeRoi sitting when she was shot?"

The actor jumped as if a bomb had been set off, but he quickly regained his composure and:

"She was sitting there," he indicated a high-back antique throne-like chair near an open window.

Kane was standing beside the chair when he asked the question. He looked at it thoughtfully for a moment, stared about the room again, and then sprawled down on a divan where he could look at the other two. Then:

"Tell me just what happened from the time you left the hotel until the shot was fired."

Holmes hesitated, but his eyes never left Kane's. He seemed to be striving to recall just what they had done, or perhaps whether to tell everything they had done. Finally:

"It was near midnight when we left the hotel. We——"

"By the way," Kane put in, "how did you happen to meet her at the hotel?"

"Why, she telephoned me to meet her. She said that Bailey had thrown her over for the evening and asked me if I would come to the aid of a lady in distress."

"I see. Go on."

"It was near midnight when we left the hotel," Holmes began again. "Nanette was distressed over Bailey's —er—death. She wanted to come right home, but I persuaded her to let me take her for a short driv first.

"There wasn't much traffic, so we drove out to Wilshire boulevard to the beach, up to Santa Monica and then back here. She insisted that I come in with her. I didn't want to—it was so late and I have to be on the set early tomorrow—but she was so persistent that I finally agreed.

"As we got out of the car another machine drove slowly by. A man shouted something, but neither of us paid any attention. We came in the house. She threw her wraps into the bedroom and then sat down there—" He indicated the throne chair again "—and I opened the window.

"A moment later a shot rang out and Nanette screamed. I saw her dress turning scarlet and I knew the bullet had struck her——"

"Where did the bullet strike her," Kane interrupted.

"About here—" He indicated a spot just below his right shoulder.

"What did you do then?"

"I leaped to her. She screamed that she had been shot. I ran outside but I didn't see anyone. Then I came back and telephoned the police."

"Were you here earlier in the evening?"

Holmes stared at the man. Was he a mind reader? Finally, he answered:

"Yes. I came here right after Nanette telephoned me. I thought she had asked me to call for her to take her to the hotel. By jove!" he exclaimed, slapping his thigh.

He sprang to his feet. "Why didn't I think of that before?"

"What?" Kane asked sharply.

"As I drove up I saw a man run out of the yard. He ran right past me and dodged across the street and disappeared."

Kane was instantly alert. "What time was that?"

"I should judge that it was about ten o'clock."

"Can you describe him?"

"It was dark," doubtfully. "But he seemed to be a young man. His clothes fit him badly. He wore a cap pulled down over his eyes. And he was as clumsy as a cow."

"I see," Kane said slowly. He didn't say anything for some time. He sprawled there on the divan staring at the floor until:

"But he was probably only some prowler," Holmes added. "The people living here in Beverly Hills are bothered frightfully with them."

At that moment the chief emerged from Nanette's room. He was frowning. "She wants to see you, Kane," he snapped.

Kane went in to Nanette. She was lying propped up in bed. Strangely, there was a deep color in her cheeks. Her eyes glistened. She smiled at him.

"It was so good of you to come," she said.

He drew up a chair beside the bed. The doctor discreetly withdrew. When they were alone:

"You found the three who were there tonight?" anxiously.

"You mean at Bailey's?"

She nodded.

"They voluntarily surrendered," he told her.

"It was so dumb of me not to tell you who they were," she went on. "But the news of Richard's death was such a shock I—I just didn't think of it."

Kane studied her frankly, openly.

What did she know? How much did she know? What was she hiding? Or was she hiding anything? These and a thousand other questions crowded themselves through his mind in that brief moment.

"I feel sorry for them," she said.

"Sorry?" quizzically, surprised.

"Yes. I don't think any of them know anything about his—murder."

"I don't understand," he prompted.

"Jere—" It was the first time she had ever called him by his first name "—I didn't tell you the exact truth tonight."

"I know it," he said coldly.

"Please don't look at me like that," she begged. "I've had my lesson. I know you would find out sooner or later——"

"I have already found out," sharply.

There was something of dismay in the look she bestowed on him. But, undaunted, she went on:

"Bailey was alone when I saw him last. The two women and that Larry Weldon were leaving when I got there."

And then her cloak of self-control slipped from her. Her eyes flashed angrily and the color fled from her countenance.

"There was a scene," she related huskily. "He accused me of breaking in on him. I reminded him of our engagement and he slapped me and told me to get out, that thereafter ours was to be a strictly business relationship.

"That was too much for me. Jere, there was never anything between us but a business relation. I swear it. But when he slapped me I saw red. I guess—I lost my head. I struck him with my fist. He staggered back and stumbled—on the carpet I guess—and fell. His head struck against a table.

"I didn't know what to do. I was afraid someone had heard. I ran from the house—I tried to think of something to do—I didn't know whether to call a doctor or not. Then I decided I would go to the hotel. If he was dead—I would have an alibi. That's why I called Rodolf to meet me there.

"But I didn't shoot him. I swear to God I didn't."

Kane listened intently to this impassioned recital. Nanette LeRoi—or Judy Banning, as he knew her—was an actress. She had been raised in the theater; acting had been a part of her daily life. But was she acting now? Or was she telling the truth?

He looked at her through half closed eyes, waiting to see if there was anything else she wanted to say.

She bolted up in bed. She winced as a pain shot through her wounded shoulder. "You don't believe me!" she screamed. "You don't believe me. I know you don't. I can see it in your face."

He sought to calm her. "I do believe you, Nanette," he said softly.

She sank back in bed. "You don't," she sobbed. "I can read it in your eyes."

He caught her hand in his. "Yes I do. Please believe in me. I want to help you."

She gazed at him through drooping eyes. "May I see Rodolf?" she asked in a whisper.

Without a word he arose and went to the door. She wanted Rodolf. Covertly, he glanced at her but her head was turned the other way. Then he made his decision.

Quietly, he opened the door and motioned to Holmes and Lillian Hull to come in.

The woman entered first. She tiptoed to the edge of the bed. Kane watched her closely. Holmes stood at his side.

Nanette turned over. Her eyes fell on the other woman. Her features became distorted. She half rose and grabbed at the other woman. Lillian leaped back, out of reach.

"You!" Nanette snarled. "Why have you come here?"

The little actress tried to speak but she couldn't.

"Get out!" Nanette LeRoi shrieked. "Get out before I kill you."

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

DUNKIN, EDITOR AND STATESMAN

On this date, in 1861, there died at Montreal an Englishman who made his mark in Canadian politics but of whom the present generation knows little. Christopher Dunkin was born in London, England, in 1811 of a middle class family and was destined to be a clerk in the civil service when the death of a relative left him a bequest and he decided to travel. After a tour of Europe he came to America, where he secured a position as editorial writer on the Herald, soon attaining such a reputation that he was made secretary of an education commission and afterwards of the post office commission. All the time he was studying law and was called to the bar in 1838. Like most educated Englishmen, he spoke French fluently, which made him an asset in politics, he earning more fees at first for stump-speaking than he did in court. In 1851 he was elected to the Assembly for Drummond, but defeated in 1854. But a vacancy in Brome fell to his lot and he represented that county continuously in the Assembly until 1867 and in the Commons for four more years. After Confederation he was elected to both the Federal Parliament and the Quebec Assembly and was the first of the long line of Protestants who have been treasurer of that province (curiously enough, his successor in Brome 65 years later, Hon. Colonel Stookwel, is now treasurer). Two years later Sir John Macdonald wanted a minister of agriculture and called Mr. Dunkin to his cabinet for that portfolio, but ministerial life was not to his taste and in 1871 he was made a judge of the Superior Court. He was one of the first of our legislators to demand temperance reform and, after many years, succeeded in 1864 in having an act passed giving counties and municipalities the right of local option. That act, known as the Dunkin Act, was later supplemented by the Canadian Temperance Act passed at the instance of Hon. R. W. Scott. Dunkin's memory should be revered by all supporters of moral reform.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, January 6 (C.P.).—The market showed little change in afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day, and at the close rains and losses were about evenly divided.

Interlisted issues were mixed with power stocks tending lower. The turnover was light throughout the day.

International Nickel eased ⅛ to 9¼, while Brazilian held unchanged at 9¾. Canadian Pacific improved with the rails in New York and closed ⅛ higher at 16¼. National Steel Car was also up ⅜ at 6½.

Consolidated Smelters moved up ½ to 64 following declaration of a stock dividend.

Montreal Power yielded ⅝ to 31, Shawinigan was off ¼ at 11, as was Canadian Industrial Alcohol at 2. Steel of Canada lost ⅜ at 16.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 6. (CP) The tone improved for the Toronto Stock Exchange market as the day advanced and the close was the best for the session. Active trading appeared in B.A. Oil, Walkers Common and Massey Harris but the implement stock was the only one of the trio to show a gain.

Considerable interest was shown in all the leading oil shares and Imperial and International Pete, after early weakness, recovered to close unchanged at 9 and 12 respectively. B.A. was off ⅛. Crown Dominion showed a fractional gain and McColl finished unchanged at 8.

Walkers Common was evidently under selling pressure and again sold off to 5.

In the heavy industries the tone was firm. Steel of Canada Common, selling ex-dividend traded at 16¾, which taking into account the 43 cent disbursement, had a small net advance. The interlisted shares were steady, C.P.R. showing a gain of ⅛ to 16¼, Smelters a fraction to 65, Nickel held unchanged at 9¼ and Brazilian closed down a fraction.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—The stock market resumed its advance to-day, with leadership shifted to the recently laggard rails. Many issues advanced 1 to nearly 3 points, reaching their best prices late in the session. The late tone was firm. Transfers aggregated 1,100,000 shares. Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Allied Chemical rose 2 and Norfolk and Western nearly 3 points, while shares up a point or more included Pennsylvania, New York Central, Southern Pacific, American Can, American Telephone and others.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, January 6 (C.P.). — The Standard Mining Market held almost to a horizontal line to-day in its price level, with few exceptions. Eldorado and Barry Hollinger put a couple of peaks in the line. The gold and base metal shares absorbed the profit-selling well and presented a firm appearance at the close. Volume was down considerably from the turnover of recent sessions.

Among the gold stocks Teck-Hughes advanced to 4.22 early and closed at 4.19, with a net gain of 4. Wright-Hargreaves lost a few points, and Lake Shore, McIntyre, and Hollinger closed practically unchanged. Dome lost 30, closing at $14.

Considerabe buying came in for Eldorado on reports of progress at the mine and the improved market for bar silver. It closed at 1.49 for a gain of 9. Copper shares were firm, Noranda holding around 10.50, unchanged ,and Nickel steady at 9 255.

LIBRARY BOARD CUTS SALARIES

Estimates for Current Year Struck and Sent to City Treasurer.

BALANCE OF $78 ON HAND.

Reductions in the salaries of the Librarian and staff of the local library made at a meeting of the Public Library Board last evening, represent an annual saving to the city of approximately $450, it is learned.

Salary cuts were made on the basis of ten per cent for employees in receipts of over $1,000 per annum; and five per cent. for employees who are getting $1,000 and under.

Estimates for the current year were struck at the meeting, and went forward to the City Treasurer today.

It was reported that the year 1932 opened with a deficit of $100.33 notwithstanding it closed with a credit balance of $78, in spite of the fact that the government grant was $100 less than had been figured on in striking of the estimates for the year.

Last year the revenue for the Public Library was derived by grants from the city which amounted to $10,700; a reduced Government grant of $100; a legacy in the form of debenture interest amounting to $700 and other extras amountingto $250.

It is generally considered that Peterborough Public Library is being operated as efficiently and more economically than any other Public Library in other cities of the same size in Ontario.

Increase of Circulation

In presenting his annual report F. M. Dela Fosse, the Librarian remarked there had been an actual increase in circulation of books during the past year of 7,749, and an estimated increase of attendance in the Reference Room of 6264.

"While the circulation has been most satisfactory in the way of numbers there is of course another factor to be considered, and that is the largely increased wear and tear in the books", the report states. "This is true of both the adult and juvenile branches of the Library. The number of books repaired during the year has been great ,as also has the number of books that have had to be discarded as useless for further service.

Certain important changes made in the Library during the year under review, are also noted in the report. The children's library has been moved to the old lecture hall, while a smaller lecture hall has been provided in the former children's section. The change was effected at small cost and is proving of benefit to that department of the library.

During the year Miss Isabel Thompson, who was in charge of the children's department for several years retired from service. Her place was filled by the appointment of Miss Genevieve Fowler, who it is stated, "has been carrying on the department in a highly efficient manner."

Altogether there were 192 books presented to the Library, most of them by the Dominion Government, but many by private persons who desired to remain anonymous. In the year previous the number of books presented was 73.

Among some of the moreimportant pieces of work accomplished by the staff in the reference room, has been the indexing of The Peterborough Examiner for the years 1915-1919 inclusive, and for the year 1932. The filing and indexing of a very large quantity of matter relative to Conferences that have taken place during the year and also the filing and indexing of a number of pictures for use when needed in the schools has also been undertaken.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, January 6 (C.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange will be closed to-morrow as a tribute of respect to Calvin Coolidge.

Negotiating Barter

February of last year Col. Mackie was active in endeavouring to negotiate a treaty between Canada and Soviet Russia for the transfer of farm implements for coal and gold. This month he is again active in pushing the proposed Russian barter treaty whereby Canada would exchange about $7,000,000 in Canadian cattle in return for Russian oil. It reported that Mackie is now in conference with Premier Bennett. Also in Ottawa for a similar purpose are G. G. Serkau and J. H. MacDonald. Mr. Serkau is a well-known western Canada barrister.

In South African Crisis

A critical situation is facing the government of British South Africa with the resignation from his post as minister of justice of Tielman Roos, and his later attack on the government. Roos now declares himself for coalition government with himself as premier. Roos is pledged to remove South Africa from the gold standard, it being estimated that more than $5,000,000 in gold has been sent out of the country since the present crisis developed last week. Meanwhile Premier Hertzog (right ABOVE) is in a dangerous position with his majority cut in half. The leader of the Opposition, General Jan Christian Smuts (upper LEFT) has also declared for dropping the gold standard, but has yet to agree with Hertzog on coalition. The whole position was further tangled, when N. C. Havenga, minister of finance, declared the present government would adhere to the gold standard, though curtailing export of gold. In the lower panel the government house at Pretoria, capital city.

GIVEN 3 MONTHS ON FRAUD COUNT

had been ordered to give it up to an officer of the society.

Mrs. Norton told the court that her first husband had been killed Overseas in 1916 while a member of the 21st Battalion. She had two children by her first husband. In 1917 she married Everett Norton and had three children by this marriage. About 1918, Norton deserted her going to the United States. All the children had been made wards of the Children's Aid Society, but the youngest, Mary, had been left in her charge.

She admitted that Young had been living with her in Picton and that in October they had come to Peterborough and lived on relief.

Sentence Withheld

Magistrate Langley withheld sentence, ordering the woman to go back to Picton, where she claimed to have a home, and that she be permitted by the Children's Aid Society to retain possession of the child until it was deemed that the home conditions were not proper for the rearing of the child.

John Hesmond, aged 17, of 200 London street, was charged with forgery. He was not allowed to plead or elect, being remanded until Tuesday for trial.

Police allege that Hesmond secured an Old Age Pension cheque sent through the mails to W. G. Stothart, forged Stothart's name to it and cashed it on a downtown store.

Not satisfied with obtaining the money from the aged man, police say that the youth sent Stothart a letter just previous to Christmas. The letter said in part—"Don't worry about your $20 cheque. I got it and the money came in handy. Hope you have a Merry Christmas." Signed "A Friend."

Given 20 Days

Despite the fact that it was clearly shown that Alfred Holden had lived in Peterborough for many years without running afoul of the police, it stood him in poor stead to-day when he appeared on a charge of breaking and entering T. Redner's on the afternoon of January 1.

Holden had pleaded guilty and to-day his counsel, J. A. O'Brien, in pleading for leniency, said that his client had been intoxicated from drinking too much wine when he foolishly broke into the store.

Magistrate Langley said that the offence could not be passed over lightly and sentenced Holden to 20 days in the county gaol.

WINNIPEG EXCHANGE.

WINNIPEG, January 6 (C.P.). — An attitude of watchful waiting seized traders during early trading in the wheat pit to-day. Opening fractionally lower prices later swung into slightly higher ground on the strength of commission and seaboard house support. Offerings were limited and no difficulty was found in holding the higher level.

At mid-session wheat prices were ¼ to ⅜ higher. May was quoted at 46⅝, July at 47½, and October at 48⅝. Some of the offerings were credited to southern interests, presumably in connection with spreading operations. Early reports indicate that only a small export business was worked in Canadian wheat overnight chiefly from Vancouver. Traders generally were awaiting new developments.

Not His Time

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 6 (C.P.)—Take a bottle of tincture of iodine, and several ounces of silver of nitrate crystals, mix the ingredients in a lard pail and add gasoline until thoroughly dissolved. Shake well before drinking.

That's the recipe tried by a middle-aged Loreburn, Sask., man, as a way out of the depression. The method failed. Still hopeful, the would-be pilgrim called on Police Chief Fuller seeking another scheme. The Chief was sympathetic. He arranged an interview with authorities at the mental hospital. A doctor said the patient showed no ill effects.

the services for the dead, and there will be a brief sermon.

Burial at Plymouth.

Afterwards a simple motor procession will start for Plymouth, Vt., more than 100 miles away, to lay the "Silent President" beside his father and his son Calvin. The burial, simpler even than the services, will take place in late afternoon.

Died As He Had Lived

Mr. Coolidge died much as he had lived—alone.

At "The Beeches," the home in which he sought seclusion, that tree-framed dwelling to which he repaired when the cares of a nation fell upon his shoulders, the former President succumbed to a fatal heart attack.

He had whipped alder-fringed Vermont streams—alone, and quickened to the plunge of a speckled trout.

He had heard, alone, the whirr of the partridge as it left its tangled covert, when frosted Autumn leaves called him to the hunting grounds of his ancestors.

So Calvin Coolidge was found, alone in his dressing room. No one saw the spirit depart, yesterday, after he had returned from his law office. His secretary waited below, until he should be dismissed for lunch. Grace, his wife, found him, as she returned home from marketing.

Earlier in the day Harry Ross, the secretary, had been called upon by the former President to consider a jig-saw puzzle, a New Year's gift.

Mrs. Coolidge had been away, to town, shopping, when the former President died. He had asked her if she cared to use the car, relic of the days they spent in Washington.

"It is too nice a day, I'd rather walk," she told him.

To Lie Beside Father

And so, home to that rugged land of his ancestors, all that was mortal of Calvin Coolidge will thread the hills and valleys that separate Massachusetts to Plymouth, Vermont, in a motor cortege Saturday; there to lie with his father, John, who swore him in by the light of an oil lamp as President many years ago, and his son, Calvin, Jr., cut off in young manhood.

Heartfelt tributes came from throughout the world.

The homefolk, back in Coolidge's native Vermant hills, were shocked by the suddenness of his death. There was no comment or visible signs of sorrow in Plymouth, Vt. Men and women went about their chores hiding their feelings, like the man they mourned.

ADVERTISING for the MERCHANT of TO-DAY

Conducted by HAROLD S. EDGAR

A series of weekly articles on advertising and merchandising prepared for the merchants of Peterborough district with the co-operation of The Peterborough Examiner.

FROM THE MEDICINE STANDPOINT

We have mentioned in previous articles the extent to which the manufacturer of food products gives advertising support to the grocer The manufacturer of package medicines and toiletry lines also gives very heavy support to the dealer over whose counters the products must reach the consumer.

A very large proportion of the lines sold over the dealers' counters are package medicines, many of which were born in the dispensing office of a family physician and are tried and tested prescriptions; others evolved from a druggist's formula which he also had tested through a large clientele of customers—still others are the result of the ceaseless experimenting of the research specialists on the staff of the manufacturing chemist.

Whatever their origin, before they become a successfully advertised product, they must have passed the fire test of time, as a product to become successful must not only have exceptional merit but the story of that merit must be told to the public.

We will mention in this article only a few of these products on the dealers' sheives, the story of which is being told and retold.

TONICS. Dr. Piere's Favorite Prescription, Burdock Blood Bitters, Pinkham's Compound are among the oldest remedies and have been known for over half a century. The story would make very interesting reading if there were time and space to tell it. Tanlac and Wincarnis have a more recent introduction.

COD LIVER OIL PREPARATIONS. Scott's, Squibb's, Wampole's, Vinol and Father John's have taken the place of the old-fashioned natural cod liver oil of our Grandmother's time.

We must not overlook Fellow's Syrup of Hypophosphites originally compounded in St. John, N.B. and Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. Two preparations of unusual character that are known and used all over the world.

TONICS IN PILL AND TABLET FORM. Fruitatives, a tested prescription of an Ottawa physician and Pink Pills created by a Brockville Doctor. Ironized Yeast and Nuxated Iron; products of later years.

SALINES The saline method of treatment comes to us from Great Britain and many of those of largest sale in Canada came originally from across the pond although to-day put up in Canadian laboratories. Enos, Abbeys, Andrews and Kkovah of the effervescent type. Kruschen, Jad and Sal-Hepatica of slightly different character.

In the sale of products for KIDNEY AND LIVER ILLS the druggist passes over the counter such advertised products as Gin Pills, Uratabs and products of Dr. Chase, Dodds, Doans, Carters, many of which are of Canadian origin.

HEADACHES. The old-fashioned headache, now that more attention is being paid to the eyes, is not as prevalent as a few decades ago, and while there are some well known advertised headache remedies on the market such as Bayer's Aspirin and Bromo Seltzer, a headache is only one of the ills for which they are beneficial. T.R.C.'s. for rheumatism is giving the druggist steady support. Among the products to improve digestion and help general stomach troubles are Pape's Diapepsin tablets, Stuart's tablets, Phillips Milk of Magnesia and Bisurated Magnesia.

ASTHMA, HAY FEVER AND CATARRH. While there are a number of established remedies the season is short and there are not many products that are doing continuous advertising. We might mention Dr. Kelloggs, Dr. Schiffmanns, Dr. Blossers, Catarrhozone, Rasmah and Nostraline.

COUGHS AND COLDS. The Canadian climate with its long period of cold weather, frequent snow falls with recurrent thaws produces continual colds and coughs, and in consequence many remedies have been evolved for the treatment of these ills, remedies which further years of testing have firmly established on the market and which are advertising regularly during the winter season. Owbridge's, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum are old established remedies; those of later introduction—Buckley's, Pertussin, Sirop Lambert, Mathieu's Syrup of Tar, Veno's, and many others.

MYSTERY MOSQUITO INDIANS TERRIFY HONDURAS NATIVES

But Former Toronto Boy Longs to Get Back to Jungle Life.

BORN IN LAKEFIELD.

TORONTO, Jan. 6. — Toronto's beautiful sunny Christmas weather holds but few charms for E. I. Moore, one time Toronto boy, for in spite of it he still longs for the jungles and heat of Spanish Honduras.

Mr. Moore is here on furlough from the southland where he has been for the past three years, an employee of the Tela Railroad Co., which in turn is subsidiary to the United Fruit Co.

This strange country has gotten into his blood. He has been home on furlough for only a week, but already he is anxious to get back to see his Honduranian "Mozos" wield their machetes, clearing fresh land in the jungles for the planting of bana trees, even though it is now the rainy season there.

It is a land of many contradictions and moods. The peace of the sun-bathed jungle seems a paradise until the peace is shattered by the guns of soldiery, or bandits as they wage civil war. One of the vines hanging down from that beautiful tree yonder may by a boa constrictor. Be careful of that clump of trees; that old hut over there, for it may harbor a nest of rattlers, a fer-de-lance; a coral snake, the most dangerous reptile in the reptile-infested country; or maybe a tree viper, ready to sink its poison fangs into your leg as you venture into its lair.

Spanish Honduras lies between Nicaragua which lies to the south, and Guatelama on the north. It is a comparatively small country with 800,000 citizens, a conglomeration of all Central American peoples with a small scattering of whites about the main centres.

Watched Pitched Battle

In his short stay there, Mr. Moore has come unscathed through three revolutions. He has stood atop the general offices of the company in Tela and watched soldiers of the Red and Blue factions, as the political parties there are called, wage a pitched battle 200 yards away. He has seen the streets of the native part of the city strewn with dead and dying soldiers, or being loaded on to trucks for burial. Once, when he first came to the country he came upon three soldats, or soldiers, spread-eagled over ant-hills, covered with honey and the insects making a meal off their tortured bodies after the manner of wild Arabian tribes and natives in the deepest jungles in Africa.

"The soldiers tried to rob some natives who were gambling just after they got their week's pay," Mr. Moore explained. "The 'Mozos' refused to be intimidated by the soldats, and fought back and drove them off. Two of them were wounded, and the 'Mozos' chased them into the jungle, following their trail. We went into the bush next day, and found the two of them stripped and tied over ant hills, all covered with honey. One of them was already dead and the other was stark, raving mad. We cut him loose, but there was nothing we could do for him, he was so far gone, and so badly eaten by the ants."

Clears New Land

Mr. Moore's job has been clearing new land for the planting of banana trees. It is his job to oversee the work. He must keep in touch with all the various gangs, see that they are working faithfully, and show them what to do. The camp rises at 4.15 a.m. and work is begun at daylight. At 11, in the heat of the day, work ceases and until 12.30 is siesta. Then work is resumed, and continues till sundown.

"It gets pretty hot," he confesses. "I've seen it go as high as 120 degrees, and even in the rainy season it never falls much below 60, but you soon get used to it. I find it pretty cold here now when I come, though."

These wild junglemen are no longer satisfied with these weapons. Experience has shown them the superiority of the firearm, and so periodically they sweep down on workmen's camps and plunder them in the hope of finding rifles or pistols.

"I've never seen a live Mosquito Indian," Mr. Moore admits. "I've seen a few dead ones though. Our story goes that no white man has ever penetrated to their country. Or if he has, he has never returned to tell the world of their habits. As weapons they carry arrows which they shoot both by bows and by blowpipes. The shafts shot from the latter weapon are usually poisoned, and are greatly feared by the other natives.

Among the perils of the jungle where he works are jaguars, Central American tigers; bush cats which resemble mountain lions, and last but not least, the Mosquito Indians. This is said to be the last of the savage tribes in the country, and much mystery surrounds them. They are known to be superb bushmen. The natives fear them very much."

Experience With Snake

One of his most thrilling experiences was with a boa constrictor. He was making his way up Death river, and the stream with the sinister name might well have seen his end. His was the first canoe, and in spots where trees overhung the bank, and almost blocked the course with vegetation, he was forced to wield a machete to let the boat through. Hanging from one of the trees was a sleeping boa constrictor about fifteen feet long. Thinking it was a stout vine, he cut at it with the machete, and wounded it.

The snake let go his hold on the tree, and dropped into the boat. The craft upset, throwing Mr. Moore and several natives into the river. The snake seized the nearest object, which happened to be the boat, and wrapping himself around it, proceeded to constrict. Those in boats behind came up, dispatched the reptile and rescued the men from the water.

A machete, as Mr. Moore explains, is a knife with a blade about two feet long. Usually it is as sharp as a razor, and the native uses it to clear jungle land; cut down banana bunches, to cut his food, pick his teeth, and to settle his disputes with his fellow workmen.

Mr. Moore, who is 25, is a native of Lakefield, Ont., and attended the Grove, the boys' school there. Four years ago he decided to see the world, making a trip to South America. On his return he got his present job, and hopes to remain in his new found country.

NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED BY KIWANIS

District Governor W. Cockburn of Toronto Conducts Ceremony.

"MORE FRIENDSHIP."

Ladies Were Guests at Annual Installation of Officers.

Although it was a decidedly proper assemblage, there was a little Scottish in the group of Kiwanians and their ladies who gathered at the Empress Hotel last night to see the new officers installed for the coming year. The touch of Gaelic spirit was manifested when Past District Governor W. R. Cockburn of the Riverdale club, Toronto, in a characteristically humorous speech, gave as the watchword for the new year: "Don't wait (Waite) until O'Brien does it" and the gathering did not see at once the double reference to the two new vice presidents, Dr. C. B. Waite and J. A. O'Brien.

It was an extremely cheerful and jolly gathering, totalling seventy-eight men and women, representing the Kiwanis membership, their ladies, and the eleven people who journeyed from Riverdale Kiwanis Club, Toronto, to take part in the installation of new officers, which was carried out in snappy style by Kiwanis Lieutenant-Governor J. A. Hearn of Toronto, assisted by Kiwanian W. R. Cockburn of Toronto.

A brief series of addresses from the installing officers and the new and retiring presidents followed an excellent dinner served in Mine Host Graham's usual splendid style, and there was also a program of music and entertainment before the company dispersed to proceed to the Capitol Theatre, where they were guests of Kiwanian Jack Stewart, for the second show.

Seated at tables centered by vases of pink carnations and white narcissus, the guests donned gaily colored paper hats and sang in community fashion several of the Kiwanis song favorites, led by Herb McCannan, with Martin Chenhall at the piano. The Harmonica quartette, composed of H. McCannan, Chas. Lawrence, Al Sharpe and J. J. Turner, played some tuneful music, Miss Dorothy Sager's lovely voice was heard in "Friend o'Mine" and its sweet encore, "Goin' Home" and novelty numbers in the program were introduced by Harry Lewis, versatile entertainer who did a ventriloquial stunt and drew some lightning sketches that got a big hand, also Harry Hotston, who whistled a delightful number, with Charles Shaw playing his piano accompaniment.

Mr. Lewis sketches were extremely good, portraying many of the favorite comic strip characters, and they were later auctioned off for goodly sums by Kiwanian John Turner.

Retiring president Harry Boyle occupied the chair for the major part of the dinner proceedings, relinquishing the gavel for 1933, to the newly appointed president, J. B. Nelson. Lieutenant-Governor Hearn of Toronto presented a past president's and president's button, respectively, to the two officers and went on, in a brief inspirational speech, to enthuse the members with regard to endeavors in the coming year.

"More Friendship"

"Kiwanis clubs in this district are in a splendid condition," he asserted. "At the end of 1932, there was less than two per cent. of membership loss. It ran as high as sixteen per cent. in clubs in the United States, but the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime rate stood at less than two per cent. at 1.8 per cent. This is a great credit to our clubs, which have in this district a total membership of nearly 3,100 men.

"If there ever was a time when Kiwanians had an opportunity to practise the precepts of their organiaztion, that time is now. In this district, we have adopted the slogan: "More friendship", as applied to individual members, to clubs, to the district and to the International organization. This old world needs all the friendship it can secure and more understanding of our individual needs.

"In the city of Toronto, it is a great credit to our mayor to note that he does not embark on any important enterprise without first coming into close conact with the heads of Toronto's service clubs."

The speaker stressed attendance as an important item in the success of any club, and he also asked for the moral and active support of the ladies in the endeavors being carried out by the members.

He concluded: "It is a privilege to belong to this organization and I am confident that if we start out in 1933 with our heads erect, that he will succeed in all our efforts and that each community will be the better for a strong Kiwanis organiation in its mids."

The Lieutenant-Governor also installed the vice presidents, the club possessing two instead of one, this year, in Dr. C. B. Waite and J. A. O'Brien, the secretary, J. A. McKone and the treasurer, H. C. Huffman.

The task of installing the new directors was a cheerful one, in the hands of Kiwanian W. R. Cockburn of Toronto, who mixed wisdom with pleasantry when he emphasied the work to be done by the directors in assisting to maintain law and order at the regular meeings. The new group of directors includes H. J. McCannan, L. J. Pettit, H. T. Cranford, A. B. Gates, Ivan iLlico, Al Sharpe and E. V. Morphet.

Past President Boyle

In a short speech which included a modest disclaimer for any of the year's successful endeavors, Past President H. J. Boyle gave a few interesting figures with regard to work accomplished and finished with likening the club as a whole to a spine, the vertebrae of which, he said, were the committeemen, and these he had but to manipulate in careful fashion to have each respond at once in the best possible fashion.

A unique event in the year's history, he said, was a hundred per cent. attendance, the first recorded since the club's formation in 1921. He referred to the splendid programs of addresses arranged by J. J. Turner, and also mentioned the fine work done by various chairmen: Charles Lawrence in the Sports committee, Herb McCannan on the Programs, Dr. Waite in the work carried on in the Jackson Park Camp, where 215 children were helped and over $1,000 was expended. Besides that amount, $518.37 was spent in direct relief; $10 for boys' work; $50 to the Boy Scouts; $50 to the Chamber of Commerce; $25 to the Junior Chautauqua, and $50 for swimming lessons in the Y.W.C.A. pool.

Only $900 was realized from the Carnival this year, and the Trust Fund totalled now $1,210.25. Mr. Boyle asked for the assistance of every member in augmenting the Trust Funds and asked also for the new president the same measure of co-operation that he had received during the past year.

President J. B. Nelson, assuming office for 1933, in a concise and graphic speech, said that present conditions were a challenge to service clubs.

"This year, we will carry on the work that was carried on by your executive of last year. There are two things which will receive our especial attention, the Underprivileged Child work and the study of conditions facing our committees so as to build ourselves into better citizens.

City and Country

"We hope that this year one activity and one objective of Kiwanis will be stressed more emphatically—that of developing a closer and finer relationship between those who live within the city boundaries proper and those who live on the other side of the street.

"We depend for leadership on our committee chairmen and they depend for success on the support of the individual members of the club. And we appeal to the members for support in two main ways—in attendance and in work. It is only by work done by the members that the various committees may be of the fullest service and that we may justify ourselves as a service club. Regular attendance is much to be desired."

The members sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and gave three cheers and a tiger, in honor of the incoming president.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies, a vote of appreciation of local hospitality was voiced by President George Coulter of the visiting Riverdale Club, and, in turn, an expression of gratitude to the visitors who had come so far for the occasion, the installing officers, the artists and musicians of the evening, and to Kiwanian Stewart for his hospitality in providing the theatre party, was worded very fittingly by Kiwanian L. J. Pettit, who included a special word of strong appreciation of the services rendered the club by retiring president Harry Boyle, "who has just concluded a whole year of the very hardest work that a man could put in."

Between the years 1690 and 1720 there were more than 2000 pirates afloat off the coast of the United States between Maine and Florida.

CAR CRACKS ICE

Antonio Comeau, 51, resident of Joliette, a former employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and father of nine children.

It was reported at Brethlerville that Leo Braconnier of Petite Riviere and an employee of the shipyards, was probably also in the car. He had failed to return home late last night and little hope was held that he was safe.

The spot where the ice broke was directly over the ship channel in the river, where there is a strong current. It was feared that if the occupants had struggled from the car before drowning their bodies might not be recovered for a long time, if ever. Divers were preparing to go down at dawn in an effort to retrieve the car and any bodies it still contained.

Rabbits Taboo

ORILLIA, Ont, Jan 6. (CP) Recipients of relief will not eat rabbits, it was revealed during a discussion at a meeting of the Public Welfare Board last night. Rev. D. M. Rose, acting chairman, stated he had given 64 rabbits for distribution among the needy. They refused them, and insisted upon rations of pork, beef, mutton, and other meats. "Lots of people don't like rabbits," it was explained by James McFerrin, unemployed delegate who represents the needy on the board.

legal services they may be called upon to render.

A Generous Offer.

"The matter of appointing a solicitor of course rests with you members of the Board," Mr. Peck stated, "but," he offered, "if we can offer any honorary services to the Board we shall be pleased to do so, and feel that we are rendering that service to the public. I hope you will always feel quite free to consult us if you wish in the interests of the Board."

Mr. Reid extended thanks on behalf of the Board for the generous offer made by the old established law firm through their senior partner, and the offer was accepted on motion of Mrs. W. R. Morris, seconded by I. P. McNabb.

Mrs. Morris remarked that in view of the kind offer, she would move that it be accepted, and that Peck, Kerr and McElderry remain as solicitors to the Board without remuneration.

G. H. Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Board, in reply to a question from The Examiner at the close of the meeting, said that while the retaining fee paid by the Board to the firm of Peck, Kerr and McElderry had been a nominal annual sum, it could be readily appreciated that if the Board ever became involved in any legal disputes in the future the possible saving to the public might be considerable.

Standing Committees Struck.

On motion of Dr. A. Moir, seconded by Mrs. W. R. Morris, the report of the committee appointed to strike the standing committees for the ensuing year was adopted as follows:

Finance Committee—C. J. Hancock, chairman; Dr. G. R. Scott, J. A. McKone, V. J. McElderry, K.C., M. Burnham.

Property Committee—Dr. G. R. Scott, chairman; R. T. Lillico, C. J. Hancock, I. P. McNabb, Dr. A. Moir.

Supervision Committee — I. P. McNabb, chairman; J. R. Marshall, Dr. J. J. Craig, Dr. A. Moir, J. A. Middleton

Committee on Appointments — (The Whole Board), Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman.

Advisory Vocational Committee—(To elect own chairman); G. A. Gillespie, H. C. Huffman, Harry Carter, Charles Westbrooke, E. J. McClelland, James Dutton, Mrs. W. R. Morris, E. F. Reid, J. A. Middleton, John R. Marshall, Dr. J. J. Craig, V. J. McElderry, K.C.

It was moved by Dr. Craig, and seconded by Mr. Burnham, "that the City Council be asked to furnish an interim grant of $25,000 to provide funds for carrying on the work on the schools until the final estimates are prepared for the year."

SURVEY URGED OF CHAIN STORES

Ontario Growers' Markets Council Criticizes Policies in Use.

NO CONSIDERATION USED.

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (C.P.)—Advisability of petitioning the Federal Government to make a survey of the chain store situation in Canada was presented to the Canadian Fruit and Vegetable Jobbers' Association to-day by C. W. Bauer, Hamilton, secretary of the Ontario Growers' Markets Council.

"The chain store and organized retailers readily may be classified as legitimate combines and, so far, their activities have been unhampered and they have been free to introduced any policy they desire without giving consideration to the helpless and unorganized producer," he said.

"There must be a joining of hands by the entire fruit and vegetable industry in this matter or we might just as well close shop and forget we were ever in the business."

The chain store was large responsible for the condition of the Canadian jam manufacturing industry, he maintained. "It is now practically impossible to buy a jar of pure jam. Chain stores in their competitive fights for lower and lower prices have forced manufacturers to process a product which could be sold a few cents below what other sellers pay," said Mr. Bauer.

SPRINGVILLE.

The December meeting and annual election of officers of the Springville W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. S. S. Staples, with an attendance of seventeen. Mrs. A. Hunter, president, was in the chair. Response was made to the roll call with a Christmas poem or verse by each person. The program had for its main theme, "Christmas." This was carried out in a duet by Mrs. Grandy and Miss Southam, accompanied by Miss A. Brown at the piano; readings by Miss Whittington and Miss Brown, and an address by the president. Miss J. Schaffer, in her interesting and concise manner, told the story found in the second chapter of the study book. Letters of thanks were read by the Strangers' secretary from those who have recently been remembered during illness. Mrs. S. S. Staples requested that subscriptions be handed in at an early date. Attention was brought to a quilt covering, the patches for which were donated by Mrs. Harry Clark, and the work of sewing them together was done by Mrs. D. Wood. Mrs. William Whitfield volunteered to give lining and wool and tie the quilt so that it would be ready to give to someone needing it this winter. The treasurer, Mrs. M. Johnston, reported a little over one hundred dollars in the treasury to date. The mite boxes have not all been returned.

Mrs. H. Clark extended an invitation to the ladies to meet at her home for the January meeting. She also kindly offered to take entire charge of the lunch for that day. The program committee for next month will consist of Miss J. Schaffer and Mrs. George Whitfield.

Modern living demands a modern fuel . . . burn

FORD COKE

PRODUCT OF THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY

GONE are the days when you had to pay a waste tax on fuel. Today, prudent homeowners burn Ford Coke.

This modern, economical fuel gives you all the comfort of coal without the soot, smoke and excess ash that mean work and waste. Clean. Light. It burns with a dependable, long-consuming fire that leaves little ash. Keeps an even flow of heat in your house.

This all-round efficiency is due to its high percentage of concentrated carbon. And carbon's what counts most when you buy fuel. The amount of it per ton determines the actual heat you'll get in return for the fuel-dollars you spend. Ford Coke is nearly all carbon . . . practically all heat.

Bring your heating methods up to date with this labor-saving, money-saving coke. It's a Ford product all the way through—ample proof of fuel-value that means thrifty warmth for you this winter.

SWITCHBOARD BUILDING OF C.G.E. ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN CANADA

Frank P. McKibben is to Address Local Engineering Institute.

DISTINCTIVE STRUCTURE.

Frank P. McKibben recognized by the engineering profession throughout America as an outstanding figure in the comparatively new field of welded steel structural engineering has been secured by the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada as guest speaker.

At the meeting to be held in Paragon Tea Rooms on Tuesday next at eight o'clock in the evening, under chairmanship of B. Ottwell, Mr. McKibben who is president of the American Welding Society, will present a paper entitled, "Erecting Steel Buildings and Strengthening Steel Bridges by Welding".

It is anticipated that the meeting will have a wide appeal to engineers and construction men throughout the district, and the officers of the branch extend a cordial welcome to anyone who is interested. The speaker will come here direct from Toronto branch of the Institute, and will go from here to the branches at Kingston and Ottawa.

He is author of many articles covering the design of welded connections and description of structures fabricated by welding. He has also designed and supervised construction on a number of welded structures, both bridges and buildings and has been one of the outstanding proponents of the adaptation of electric welding to structural work on this continent.

A Distinctive Structure

In visiting this city, it is interesting to note that Mr. McKibben will have the opportunity of inspecting what is stated to be, the only completed, arc-welded structure in the Dominion of Canada, namely the new switchboard building at the Peterborough works of the Canadian General Electric Company. As this was the first large building in Canada to be fabricated by the arc-welding method, its progress was closely watched by engineers, all over the continent.

Mr. McKibben is a bridge engineer of international reputation. He has acted as designing engineer and engineer of construction on a drawbridge of the City of New Bedford; as designing engineer of the elevated railway structure and buildings of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. At one time he was connected with the Berlin Iron Bridge Company and the Edge Moor Bridge Company. As assistant bridge engineer for the Massachusetts Railroad Commission he made calculations for and examined 1,500 railroad bridges and 800 highway bridges during a period of six years.

For ten years, he was in charge of the operation of the Fritz Testing Laboratory which he designed and equipped. He also acted as consulting engineer to the Attorney General's office of Pennsylvania in the investigation of the Austin, Pa. dam, and was consulting engineer for the Pennsylvania Water Supply Commission in 1914.

Mr. McKibben designed the following structures: Connecticut River Bridge at Chicopee, Mass., Merrimac River Bridge at Haverhill, Mass., Bridge at Gloucester, Mass., Bridge at Beverley, Mass., twenty-three bridges in Western Massachusetts; bridge in Central Park, Schenectady, N. Y. and drawbridge with revolving weight of two million pounds of steel work for New Bedford Saving Bank. He was also engineer in charge of design and construction of Venango County Bridge, Oil City, Pa., Smith Street Bridge, Rochester, N. Y., and Ridge Road Bridge (Veteran's Memorial) Rochester, N. Y.

Awarded Medal

He acted as City Engineer for the City of Schenectady for two years, having charge of the design and construction of sewers, streets, boulevards, costing several million dollars. He has also been consulting engineer for more than thirty different companies, including the Canadian General Electric Company. In 1931 he was awarded the Samuel Wylie Miller medal for his outstanding work in the development of the art of structural fusion welding.

During the period 1927 to date, has been connected with welding the following structures:

1. Montgomery County Court House, Norristown, Pa.
2. Dallas Power & Light Company's Office Building, Dallas, Tex.
3. DuPont Company's Office Building, Wilmington, Del.
4. Hotels Chalfinte and Haddon Hall Steam Power Plant, Atlantic City.
5. Edison Electric Illuminating Company's Office Bldg., Boston, Mass.
6. Pediatric Building City Hospotal, Boston, Mass.
7. General Electric Company's Shop, Bridgeport, Conn.
8. DuPont Company's Office Building, Addition, Wilmington, Dal.
9. General Electric Company's Shop, West Philadelphia, Pa.
10. Court House, Providence, R. I.
11. Welded Steel Facing, Penrose-Rosemont Dam, Colorado.
12. Railings Smith Street Bridge, Rochester, N.Y.

Arc-Welded Switchboard Building

In view of Mr. McKibben's visit to the local engineers and the subject of his address on arc-welding, the following excerpts from an article contained in the C.G.E. Monogram, October 1930 issue, and written by H. B. Hanna, plant engineer at Peterborough Works, are of unusual interest:

"The new addition to the Peterborough Plant of the Canadian General Electric Company is especially interesting to all users of structural steel, in that it is the first building in Canada of any appreciable size to be completely fabricated and erected by the electric welding method.

"For a number of years much experimental work has been done and innumerable tests made in the General Electric Laboratories to obtain data for use in the design of arc welded structures erected at different factories in the United States. This data has been published in the form of reports and papers and was available for reference when designing the recently erected arc welded structure at Peterborough.

General Description

"The new switchboard building has a floor area of 72,000 square feet. All bays are 80 feet wide and columns are spaced 25 foot centers. In addition to large areas of glass on all outside walls, additional natural illumination is obtained in the low bays and in that portion of the high bay adjacent to old buildings by the construction of skylights which have a glass area of 10 feet x 60 feet each, spaced 25 feet apart and having northern exposure. No glass is used in the ends of the skylights.

"The 3-inch wood block floor is laid on a 6-inch reinforced concrete base, sufficiently heavy to carry the lighter machines, without any special foundations. The permanent walls are of brick construction with large window areas, while the temporary walls are metal-covered wood sheathing on steel framework with large areas of window. All temporary side steelwork is bolt connected to facilitate the removal of these walls when further expansion takes place.

Erection

"That excellent progress was made in the erection of the steel work is indicated by the fact that only three weeks were required from th erection of the first column till the completion of the work. No great difficulties were experienced during erection, though it would appear that erection would be expedited by the more liberal use of bolted connections instead of clamps. While this is especially true on members which require punching from other reasons, it would also appears that time saved in erecting with bolt connections properly designed for erecting purposes only, instead of clamps, would more than justify the punching of these holes even though this work were done by the field forces just prior to erection of the members.

Welding

"The use of welding on this building resulted in a considerable saving in steel, in a steel frame of unusually good appearance due to the almost entire absence of gussets and in the elimination of the noise of riveting. Due to the final adoption of a lighter roof deck than originally designed for and the early decision to adopt welding methods, no exact figures are available to indicate any saving due to welding. The welded structure is, theoretically at least, undoubtedly the cheaper and practically should become so when the fabricating companies have obtained some experience in this type of work. Another outstanding feature of welding and one which, in many locations, will be given more and more consideration in the future, is the absence of the noise usually associated with steel erection.

"On the 600 tons of steel which passed through fabricating shops, as many as seven welders were used, each employing a single operator motor-generator welding set of Canadian General Electric manufacture. The field work was done on the steel work by two welders while a third welder was employed on the roof deck. All field welding was done with portable welding sets of Canadian General Electric manufacture.

"In the fabricating shop the trusses were assembled on timber skids, the diagonal and vertical members clamped to the chords in their proper location and all the joints welded. All trusses were assembled and welded lying flat on their sides.

"The 88 skylight trusses were assembled by clamping the members together on timber jigs in the field and all welded complete before erection started. These trusses were all nearly alike so that once the jigs were laid out no changes were needed till the completion of the work. No overhead welding was permitted either in shop or field work.

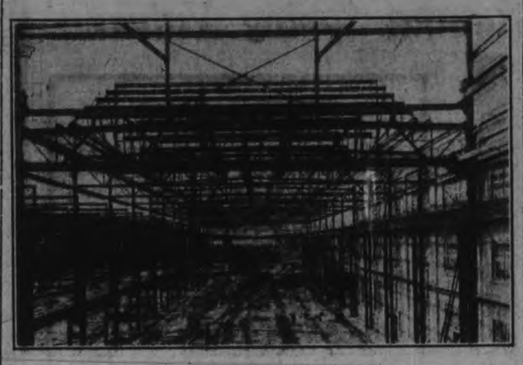
"No Canadian General Electric inspector was placed in the fabricating shops during the progress of the work, though all welds were inspected on the arrival of the steelwork on the site. Welds on both the shop and field work were uniformly good and in all cases erred on the side of larger sections and longer welds than called for on the drawings.

"Some 360 tons of steel were shipped directly from the rolling mills to the site. This steel was delivered out to proper lengths and the necessary punching was done by the field forces before starting erection operations. This steel was generally for use as crane girders, purlins, skylight trusses or longitudinal struts. Field forces were engaged on this work about one month before starting erection. The shop fabrication required about six weeks' time."

STARLINGS STUMP POLICE

NEW YORK—One hundred thousand birds are chirping defiance at police—and for once, police are stumped. Starlings in a dense cloud arrive each night to roost on the gigantic Metropolitan Museum of Art, perching on every window sill, on the roof and all the exterior statuary. The multitudinous chirping keeps apartment dwellers awake.

Only Building of its Kind in Canada



Top picture shows the new arc-welded building at the local plant of the C.G.E. as it looks in its present completed state. It demonstrates in a practical way, the advantages of arc-welding in building construction. The 960 tons of steel required were erected in three weeks without the clatter of riveters' hammers.

Below is a general view, showing one bay of the arc-welded switchboard building before completion.

Little Incidents in the Lives Of Famous Canadians

By J. H. MOSGROVE

CHIEF TRADER JOHN TOD—SUBDUES INDIANS WITH SMALLPOX

In 1864, when British Columbia was but a unit in the realm of the vast fur empire of the Hudson's Bay Company, Chief Trader John Tod ruled at Kamloops like a medieval baron from his feudal keep on the banks of the Thompson river. Over his mighty dominion his word was law among Indian, servant and "voyageur."

It was the custom each year in the early autumn to send a party from Kamloops to a point some miles distant on the Fraser, to procure the year's supply of salmon. In 1846, an Indian named Lolo, who acted occasionally as interpreter and otherwise employed about the post, was to command the expedition for the mutual benefit of the company and the Indians. During the summer, Lolo, an ardent horse lover, coveted a beautiful steed in the compound. He had often approached Tod upon the subject, but as often his requests had been refused. On the eve of his departure he again spoke to Tod of his wish, but Tod, as ever, bluntly turned his wishes aside.

On the second evening after the departure of the expedition, as Tod, alone with his wife and family, was sitting close to the fire in the great room of the fort with his youngest child upon his knee, a loud knocking sounded. Slowly the door opened until the black eyes of Lolo were seen glistening at the aperture.

Was Unperturbed

Though fearful that some misfortune had fallen upon the party, Tod, well tutored in the savage ways, continued to nurse the child without apparent concern. Left to himself, Lolo pushed open wider the door and walked in swiftly erect. Releasing the child from his knee, Tod arose and motioned the native to a seat by the table pushing forward pipe and tobacco.

"Your family will be glad to see you" said Tod, puzzled at the Indian's sudden return.

"The sorrel horse" said the Indian, "I would like the horse."

"The river has risen" broke in Tod.

"For twenty years I have worked for the Hudsons Bay Company," returned Lolo, "and never have I been denied a request."

"Fill your pipe" said Tod.

"Alas, my wife and little ones," sighed the Indian, "though I'm old and not afraid to die, what should become of them should I die?"

Who talks of dying? Where are the men? Why have you returned? Speak."

"When near our destination we met a young chief, who, on drawing me aside informed me that his father had entered into a conspiracy with the other chiefs of the Shuswaps for the extermination of the fur traders. Having agreed to the capture of the annual Kamloops fishing party as they reached the river, a warning was given me that I might save myself and family."

"Where are the men and horses?"

"I hid them behind some bushes, telling them I was going to hunt a better camping ground, and to let the animals graze until my return, knowing that an attack would not be made until the party reached the river."

"Go to your family," advised Tod and the Indian departed.

Tod was in a quandary. Was this a trick on the part of Lolo to get the horse? There was no provocation for such hostility on the part of the natives. While deeply perplexed over the situation, Tod heard the door open again and saw Lolo's head thrust in at the opening.

"Will you let me have the horse, Mr. Tod?"

"No, damn you, no, if you mention that horse again I'll break every bone in your body."

Speed Off to the Fraser

Almost before the door had closed upon the retreating figure, Tod ordered a half-bred boy to saddle two of the fleetest horses in the compound. Explaining the situation to his wife, and writing a statement to be forwarded to Victoria in case he should not return, he and the boy were soon on the way to the Fraser river.

Reaching the party by noon the following day, Tod without any show of alarm gave orders to move forward the next morning, by sunrise the expedition were on the trail, Tod riding in advance on a snow-white mare. It was noon when they came to an open plain by the river. Halting his men Tod rode forward into the very centre of the arena. Simultaneously from every rock and thicket the head of a painted savage appeared, and brandishing their knives and guns threateningly they advanced in a wide circle in war-like demonstration.

A Strange Scene

Spurring his horse forward, Tod drew forth his sword and pistol and threw them on the ground. Then turning his attention to horsemanship, manoeuvred the white mare gracefully over the plain, causing the beast to prance gaily to the right and to the left, and describing half-circles into their very midst.

"What is all this?" demanded Tod. "What is it you want of us?"

"We want to see Lolo," replied the astonishing Indians, mystified at Tod's strange antics of horsemanship. "Why have you come here?" Then you have not heard? Lolo is sick, poor fellow."

The Indians were aghast with curiosity.

"I am sorry for you," lied Tod, "the dreaded smallpox is on us."

The Indians were dumfounded at the words.

"I've come to save you" continued Tod, noticing their alarm, "you bring me furs and I give you blankets and guns. I love you. But you must not come to Kamloops. I've brought some medicine for I would not see you rotting on the bank like yonder salmon. But before I shall give you any of the medicine you must gather for me the year's supply of salmon and deliver the same to my men."

When the horses were loaded and the party returned to Kamloops with the harvest, Tod seated himself upon an old stump and with an old tobacco stained pocket knife began the tedious operation of vaccinating, cautioning them to hold their inoculated arms above their head until a scab formed.

And thus the war-like concourse, suddenly appeased, started homeward with one arm upraised and uncovered. The conspiracy of the Indians ended. Lolo was given the sorrel horse, and Tod worshipped throughout the land of the Shuswaps ever after.

30 DAY PERIOD OF MOURNING FOR COOLIDGE

Preparation Being Made in Washington to Attend the Funeral.

WHOLE NATION SHAKEN.

President Hoover Pays a Splendid Tribute to His Predecessor in Office.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. —(AP)— The U. S. capital mourned Calvin Coolidge today in such sorrow that it remained shaken out of its routine and slow to take up the thread of ordinary affairs.

President Hoover, his cabinet and chosen members of congress made preparations to go to Northampton for the funeral of the former president tomorrow.

Congress resumed the debates that were hushed yesterday by the tragic news, but the members showed plainly that the loss overshadowed to them even the pressing affairs with which they dealt.

The countless public buildings with their half-staffed flags indicated the 30-day period of mourning proclaimed by President Hoover.

Splendid Tribute

This obeisance to the dead was bespoken by the chief executive in the name of all the people. It contained a tribute to Calvin Coolidge hard to surpass:

'His name has become in his own lifetime a synonym for sagacity and wisdom."

The deep feeling Mr. Hoover put into these words and the others in which he eulogized his predecessor in office were matched from every side in an amazing stream of utterances almost all of which showed appreciation of the humanity of the man whose habit of silence and calm had become almost a national legend.

So shocked was the Senate yesterday that upon returning to work today it faced the duty of appointing members to represent it at Northampton. Neither Vice-president Curtis nor any of the members yesterday was able to think of that as their debate was choked off and they hurriedly adjourned in honor of the man who once presided over them.

Trpopers Ordered Back to Mine Area

WILDER, Tenn., Jan. 6. (AP)— National guard troopers were ordered back into the strike-torn coal fields of Fentress and Overton countries to-day as civil authoritities appealed for military aid to check new flares of violence.

Since recent withdrawal of the troops, Adjutant General W. C. Boyd said in Nashville last night, "The situation is worse than it was before." He said five men have been shot from ambush during absence of the guardsmen, and a dozen or more have been flogged by masked men.

SISTER SEEKS DETAILS OF LEGIONNAIRE'S DEATH

TORONTO, Jan. 6. (CP)—"Died, somewhere in Africa on July 2, Legionaire 22854." This meagre message, forwarded to Mrs. Frank Kellar here, told of the death of her brother, Cyril Arnaud, member of the famous foreign legion.

Arnaud's mother living in Chepstow, Montouthshire, England, wrote to her son's commandant when she became alarmed by the long silence on the part of her son, whose last letter was written in May. The reply stated her son had died.

Mrs. Kellar is appealing to the French consul here asking for further information on her brother's death.

TOBACCO MEN ASK AID

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 6. (CP)— Tobacco growers of Pelee Island have appealed to Eccles J. Gott, M.P., and Austin B. Smith, M.L.A., for assistance in placing their predicament before the Federal and Provincial governments to get some aid in disposing of the 1932 crop.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS ATTEND SPECIAL PRAYER WEEK SERVICES

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr Speaks in St. Andrew's Church Last Night.

MALE QUARTETTE.

That the members and adherents of Peterobrough churches are a prayer-believing people, has been clearly evidenced by the large assemblies which have congregated this week for special prayer.

Last night the service in St. Andrew's United Church was presided over by the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, who led the devotional period and introduced the speaker, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Assisting in the service of worship was the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, of Murray Street Baptist Church, who read the Scripture lesson chosen from Jeremiah 33:1-12, and offered the opening invocation.

Leading in the fine music of the evening was the church choir and the male quartette from St. Paul's Church, including Messrs. William Grieves (1st tenor), John Anderson (2nd tenor), John Fowler (1st bass), George East (2nd bass). The quartette gave two very fine selections—"When Jesus Was Here Among Men", and "When We Stand Before the King."

Introducing his subject for the evening, Rev. Dr. Barr said that he believed the purpose of these meetings to be the building up of a structure, decidedly positive, concerning prayer and communion with God.
